JOINT TRUSTEE MEET TONIGHT

Boundary Line Is the Agenda

BULLETIN

The joint meeting of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect village boards to discuss establishment of a common boundary line south to the tollway has been postponed by Mount Prospect Village Pres. C. O. Schlaver. Schlaver explained several Mount Prospect board members had made other plans for the evening.

Village boards of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect will meet together tonight, Thursday, to discuss drawing a line and solving a myriad of problems.

The line they will consider is a future joint boundary between the two villages extending south from Central Road to the Illinois Tollway.

It is only a small segment of the division between two villages hungrily annexing toward their maturity, but the connotations of a cooperative step here could reach north to the opposite boundaries of the villages, and into several other fields.

If such a line of demarcation were drawn between the unincorporated areas considered to be rightful territory of one or the other village, the immediate results would be twofold:

FIRST, boundaries would develop in their final form along clean lines, reducing the eventual cost of village services to the areas on either side of the common boundary as they built up.

Second, developers and landowners would no longer be able to play the villages one against the other, awarding the prize of annexation to the municipality willing to make the most concessions.

Village boards of both communities appear ready and eager to discuss the joint agreement, though problems between the two are not all in the past.

VILLAGE PRES. C. O. Schlaver of Mount Prospect told the Herald that all or nearly all of that village's board members would attend tonight's meeting.

Although he made it clear that no policy has been determined yet by the Mount Prospect board, he indicated that the possibility of a nearly straight boundary running south along an extension of Meier Road has been discussed.

The Arlington Heights village board met Tuesday night as a committee of the whole to consider a similar delineation, but concrete determination of that board's policy was again left for tonight's meeting.

MEMBERS of both boards indicated they have had informal discussions on the matter with their cross-boundary counterparts over an extended period of time.

Schlaver commented that he had worked for 10 months from an "amicable, friendly meeting between the two villages."

Expressing optimism at his board's Tuesday meeting Village Pres. John G. Woods of Arlington Heights said, "If this meeting is productive, I can see how we would achieve a greater degree of cooperation on other matters."

HE ADDED that it is the basic similarities between the two communities which have led to past rivalries.

But one of the main sore spots of rivalry in the past has been a lack of clearly defined goals of village expansion. Rather the two villages have annexed in spurts and strips to the Tollway—a natural barrier commonly termed the southern limit of both.

Where the area residents stand in relation to the drawing of an imaginary line, and just how firm the line should be, were questions lightly touched by the Arlington Heights board Tuesday.

IF THE LINE, as it is finally developed, doesn't proceed down an existing road, large plots under single ownership may disrupt its smoothness also—or be developed in two villages.

As minute as considerations may get in one area, the problem of boundaries is not devoted singly to this southern segment.

The same two villages face a similar situation north of their presently developed area, and each of the villages faces another problem with other neighbors.

The drawing of a line such as the one proposed for discussion tonight could be the key to avoiding village limits which look somewhat like an angry young cross-word puzzle.

Swipe Auto From Poole

A new car was reported stolen Aug. 22 from the south lot of George C. Poole Inc., 400 W. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights.

The car had no state vehicle license attached, and there were no keys in it. Also notable was a federal price label on one of the side windows.

SCHOOL CAN'T come soon enough for these four youngsters as they peer in a window at Park School to get a preview of the grand opening Sept. 3.

Board Disagrees With Plan Facets

The Old Orchard Country Club golf course should stay the way it is, but not the planned highrise development on the same ground.

This was the very firm consensus of the Arlington Heights village board meeting as a committee of the whole Tuesday night with members of the village plan commission.

Most striking of the faults board members found with the planned development in their discussion preliminary to adoption of a formal stand were height, density and placement of the high-rise units themselves.

THE BULK of the 12-story buildings—five of them — are planned to be adjacent to Camp McDonald Road at the north edge of the golf course.

Harold Carlson, chairman of the plan commission, expressed the opinion, with general concurrence of the board, that height of the apartments should hinge on their separation from the nearest residences.

Other problems in approval of the project which arose were precedent effect on undeveloped land across Camp McDonald Road, density in relation to alternate development possibilities, a flat maximum height, service and increased traffic.

THE BOARD also proposed to solicit an opinion on the propriety of the development from village planner Eugene Baughman.

Ranking second in terms of objection was the planned development of atrium townhouses along Euclid Avenue at the south edge of the course.

Again the density of the apartments on land actually to be used in their development was described as "very high." Another problem brought forth was the access to driveways for all 80 townhouse units directly from Euclid Avenue.

TRUSTEE Eugene Schlickman expressed the opinion that such a provision would cause congestion on the major thorofare due to necessary services and traffic flow from so many outlets.

Objections to the panned lodge development were tempered by the fact that it is placed on the interior of the area planned for development.

But Trustee Norval Stephens commented that the lodge would be hard to evaluate without an objective means of relating height to building setback.

THE VILLAGE does not yet have any ordinance making such a relation or setting a flat maximum on height of buildings.

Other aspects of the planned development passed through board discussion without concrete objection, but Schlickman questioned the advisability of even considering a position on proposed office development without a look at more detailed plans.

Those individual facets of the plan which escaped criticism were a retirement village, commercial area at the northeast corner of the course, and enlargement of existing dining and club facilities in close proximity to the planned lodge.

HEARING before the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals on the planned development was continued earlier this month to an indefinite date in September.

In requesting the continuance Village Atty. Jack Siegel said that the village had not had time for sufficient consideration of the plan and adoption of a firm policy.

The policy roughed out at Tuesday's meeting will go to the board's standing apartment committee for later representation and consideration of final form.

The village will also discuss the plan and specific objections with Mount Prospect before the zoning board hearing is reconvened.

Cost of Learning

Educational costs in the United States, up 250 per cent in the past decade, now total about $22 billion annually.

Hospital Bids Ready Tuesday

Specifications and detail drawings for the 14-bed intensive care unit at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, will be ready for prospective bidders Tuesday, Sept. 3, with bids due Oct. 1.

Selection of the contractor for the estimated $100,000 to $125,000 intensive care unit is expected shortly after bids are opened.

Harold Rose, chairman of the hospital board committee on building and grounds, stated this week that the early completion of drawings by Schmidt, Garden & Eriksen, hospital architects, and the start of construction this fall by the contractor selected could move the completion time of the unit to sometime in spring rather than in July, 1964, date set by early construction time estimates.

THE 14-BED intensive care unit, to adjoin the post-operative recovery room, surgical units and emergency room, will be a completely separate addition from the $4 million hospital expansion program now under way with a fund drive. The money for the intensive care unit will not be included in the fund campaign, Rose explained.

The intensive care unit will give a great deal of relief as an emergency center for seriously ill patients or those recovering from surgical procedures, Rose noted. Staff doctors have said it could save lives, Rose stated.

He explained the unit would have all types of emergency equipment on hand with a staff of highly-trained and skilled nurses.

THE UNIT will cut the need of private duty nurses for many hospital patients, Rose said—and will give a high level of care to children recovering from tonsillectomies.

Above all, Rose stressed, the new intensive care unit will enable the hospital to better serve the residents of the area.

Schools Open Tuesday

Enrollment Hits 6,900

Increases in enrollment, teaching staff and classroom facilities will strike a close balance as children head back to school Sept. 3 in Arlington Heights Elementary School District 25.

Attendance at all district schools is estimated to reach 6,900 for the opening day in comparison to 6,187 in attendance opening day last year.

But projected enrollment for the end of the school year, a truer picture of what the district must provide facilities for, is 7,250.

ENROLLMENT in June, 1963, was 6,507 by comparison.

In preparation for the increased enrollment 21.5 new teaching positions have been created in the district — 11 and one part time in kindergarten through fifth grade teaching staff, four in junior high school teaching, three in K-5 physical education and music departments, two in special education and psychology and one as librarian.

Additions to the physical plant include seven new classrooms—Dunton School—which may be used for more classes through triple kindergarten sessions if expanded enrollment creates space problems.

SCHOOL SUPT. R. E. Clabaugh says a total of 13 new classes may be added this year through triple sessions if needed. This figure includes use of the seven new rooms provided through construction of Dunton School.

No new classrooms have been made available this year at the junior high school level. Construction of Thomas Junior High School will be completed near the end of the coming school terms.

Teachers at all levels have already gone "back to school" for the district's 17th Annual Planning Conference which began Aug. 26 and runs through tomorrow, Aug. 30.

THE CONFERENCE includes system-wide orientation meetings, group meetings by class and school and individual preparation for the coming of children Sept. 3.

The first day of school, Tuesday, will be devoted to personal conferences for parents of children in kindergarten through second grade, but grades three through eight will attend a full day of class on the same day.

Classes for kindergarten through second grade will begin Sept. 4.

Coming to the district for the first time this year will be 78 teachers, most of whom fall into the K-5 teaching category.

ONE PRINCIPAL addition to this year's curriculum will be French instruction through educational television for all fifth grades in the district.

Each school is equipped with a television set to receive Channel 11, WTTW-TV. Other courses in the sciences, literature, music, art, social studies and even kindergarten will be supplemented through television programming.

French language instruction for fifth grades will be supplied entirely through television, however.

7,201 Set To Attend Dist. 214

Heading to District 214 high schools next Tuesday will be 7,201 students, an increase of 876 students from the 6,325 registration last year.

By the time school gets under way and enrollment levels off principals of Arlington, Prospect and Forest View High Schools feel the number of students will be 7,440 or an increase of 1,115.

To provide instruction for the extra 1,000-plus students, the school district has increased its teaching staff by 62.

IN PRACTICE, a larger number of new teachers must be hired each year to provide replacements for staff members who have left. This year the number of new teachers was set at 97.

For the first time, the number of students at Forest View High School—just opened last September — will exceed the number of pupils enrolled at either Arlington or Prospect.

Projected enrollment at Forest View will be 2,540, followed closely by Arlington with 2,500 students. Prospect will have 2,400 pupils.

NO MAJOR changes in curricula are planned for the 1963-64 school year. A new course, to be conducted on an experimental basis, will stress practical training and preparation for life.

Students who are listed as potential drop-outs and some students who previously dropped out of high school are being enrolled in the course.

Gas Stations Valuable for Mrs. Bittner

Mrs. Norman Bittner, 205 S. Dunton St., Arlington Heights, received a new car in a Marathon Oil travel game contest this week.

Mrs. Bittner reminisced that she got two other "prizes" from gas stations. The first was a camera, and the second was her husband.

She said she met her husband when he came with a friend to help start her car after she called a gas station.

William Annen Services Held

Funeral services were Aug. 17 at St. James Catholic Church for William Andrew Annen Sr., 82, an elected official of Wheeling Township for more than 30 years.

Wake preceding the services was held Aug. 16 at Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, Arlington Heights.

Mr. Annen died Aug. 15 of a heart ailment after a short illness.

HE WAS born Feb. 6, 1881, in Buffalo Grove, and moved to Arlington Heights in 1904. In September, 1911, he married Miss Bertha Schumaker of Barrington.

With the exception of a few years spent in Calumet City, Ill., after his marriage, he lived in Arlington Heights from 1904 until his death.

Survivors include his wife; a son, William Jr. of Mount Prospect; four daughters, Madonna Annen, Marjorie Carter and Geraldine BoLain, all of Arlington Heights, and Patricia Friday of Mount Prospect; eight grandchildren; two sisters, Regina Bode and Rose Westin, both of Chicago; and three brothers, John and Carl of Arlington Heights, and Joseph of Indiana.

BILL ANNEN

MR. ANNEN was first elected township tax collector in 1929 after an injury stalled his career in carpentry. He served eight consecutive terms — his last ending in 1961.

He was also one of the original members of St. James parish, a charter member of the Arlington Heights Kiwanis Club and a member of the Blue Island Council of the Knights of Columbus.

Burial after funeral services was at St. Mary's Cemetery, Buffalo Grove.

Alert Police Nab Robbers

Through cooperation of Arlington Heights and Wheeling police and a 15-year-old boy, three men were in custody in Wheeling only 15 minutes after an armed robbery in Arlington Heights.

The robbery was staged in Len and Irene's Delicatessen, 15 E. Eastman, a little after 9:30 a.m. yesterday. Two men entered the store where Leonard H. Weidner was tending shop alone.

One of the men, wearing a dark cloth jacket, commented it was cold after entering and moved to the back of the shop. The other then put a blue steel revolver on him and said, "This is a stickup," Weidner told police.

THE TWO MEN then took Weidner to the back of the store, tied him up, and took about $120 in currency and coin from the register.

But as they fled east on Eastman Street, Donald Baker, 15, of 4019 Wilke Road, entered the shop, saw Weidner tied up and returned to the street in time to see the men get into a car in which a third man was waiting.

He noted carefully the car and the men and returned to the store to untie Weidner, who then called the police.

POLICE received the complaint and Don's accurate description at 9:37. An alert went out to other departments in the area, and by 9:52 three suspects had been picked up by Wheeling police.

They stopped a car answering the description Don had given. One man was visible, but two others lay on the seat. Also in the car was a blue steel revolver and a paper bag containing about $120 in cash.

The three suspects, identified by Weidner at the Wheeling police station, are Benjamin Soehn, 4420 N. Winchester, Chicago; Delmar Miller, 1913 W. Foster, Chicago (an Ohio resident); and Charles Lorzel, 563 Ridge, Elk Grove.

The three were returned immediately to Arlington Heights police station.

Lions to Hear State Expert Examine Problems of Aged

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS LIONS Club will open up its meeting Tuesday night to the general public for an address by Mrs. Elizabeth Breckenridge, shown above with Charles E. Hayes, executive editor of Paddock Publications, during luncheon of recent Regional Conference on Developing Housing for Older People. Mrs. Breckenridge, one of the state's most knowledgeable authorities on problems of aged and aging, will discuss the major concerns confronting senior citizens in suburbia. The public program begins at 7:15 p.m. (Staff photo). (A

The problems of growing old will be examined Tuesday night by one of Illinois' top experts on aging and aged citizens.

Mrs. Elizabeth Breckinridge, an economist and gerontologist who has earned national recognition as a writer, lecturer and consultant on problems relating to an aging population, will address a special program meeting of Arlington Heights Lions Club.

"Because of the importance of the topic and widespread interest in retirement and old age problems, we are opening this program to the general public," explained Joseph Schneller, first vice president and program chairman for next week's Lions meeting.

THE REGULAR Lions dinner will begin at 6:30 p. m. in St. Peter Lutheran Church, 111 W. Olive St., Arlington Heights; the public will be admitted at 7:15 p. m. for Mrs. Breckinridge's talk.

She will discuss such concerns as retirement planning, housing, employment, health care, and leisure time activities for senior citizens.

One of the "pioneer" gerontologists in Illinois, Mrs. Breckinridge is supervisor of community resources development of the Illinois Department of Public Aid. She was supervisor of the section on services for the aged and aging of the former Illinois Public Aid Commission.

A graduate of Northwestern University, she engaged in professional research, budgeting, social and economic survey work before concentrating her efforts after World War II on the problems of older people.

IN 1947 SHE was named director of a unique community project for aged sponsored by the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago. This project, described by Mrs. Breckinridge in her book "Community Services for Older People," led to the development of the first comprehensive city plan for aging population.

She is also author of "Effective Use of Older Workers" and has had scores of articles published in various professional and government journals. Since 1957 she has been listed in "Who's Who in American Women."

A staff member of the State Advisory Council on the Improvement of the Economic and Social Status of Older People, Mrs. Breckinridge served as coordinator for the nation's first Regional Conference on Developing Housing for Older People held last month in Rockford.

MEMBER OF THE executive committee of the National Council on the Aging, Mrs. Breckinridge is a fellow of the American Gerontological Society. She was a delegate to the recent World Gerontological Congress in London and toured throughout Europe studying specialized programs and facilities for aged people.

The Lions Club program will be Mrs. Breckinridge's first appearance in northwest suburbs.

Plea for School's Opening

A "School's Open Day" proclamation was issued this week by Village Pres. John G. Woods stressing the need for extra safety precautions on the part of school children, motorists and police.

It is part of a statewide program sponsored by state and city officials and the Chicago Motor Club.

Woods said in connection with his proclamation: "Many children will be attending school for the first time. Parents and motorists must expect them to be excited by their first venture away from home alone. I urge motorists to be extremely careful of these young and inexperienced pedestrians in their first encounter with school.

"THE OLDER children may be more careless than usual on the first few school days," he added.

Woods pointed out that the lapse of vacation time coupled with the excitement of returning to school could cause youngsters to temporarily forget their usual safety practices.

He asked motorists and police officials to pay special attention to the children, and he urged parents to set a good example in safety. Parents were reminded to show their children the safest routes to and from school.

Formation of school safety patrols for the year probably will take a few days. Until then, the children will be on their own.

Through the motor club, school children and Patrol boys and girls receive traffic safety instruction throughout the year. The club also provides safety posters which are displayed in schools and in other places where children will see them.

'Heavy' Crime Week

It was a week for heavy crime in Arlington Heights last week. Loot in three separate burglaries included a welding machine, two typewriters, one adding machine, a calculator and a furnace.

The office machines were taken overnight Aug. 21-22 from a machine shop owned by William Cherney at 1440 E. Davis St. Cherney valued the four machines at $1,600.

Police discovered a pipe wrench on the premises which had apparently been used to gain entry to the shop.

THE WELDING machine, a portable model estimated to weigh over 150 pounds, was taken from the Yardley Created Products Co., 1430 E. Davis, the same night. The welder was valued at $175.

Again police theorized that a pipe wrench was used to gain entry through a back door.

The furnace was reported stolen Thursday from a new house under construction at 2112 N. Verde in Miller Builders' Greenbrier subdivision. Value was placed at $200.

A bathtub was also taken from a house under construction in the same subdivision earlier this month.

EVACUEES KEEP busy at North School while their homes are submerged in gas fumes in the Willow-Dunton area after construction work fractured a Northern Illinois Gas Co. main.

Gas Stub Breaks, 25 Homes Are Evacuated

Excavation led to evacuation last Thursday morning, Aug. 22, as gas from a broken stub blanketed a two square block area at Willow Road between Dunton and State in Arlington Heights.

The break was reported to village police at 7:45 a.m., and police and fire department personnel stood by until repairs were completed late in the afternoon.

A two-inch stub was partially severed from an eight-inch Northern Illinois Gas Co. main by a large shovel-crane operated by Reliance Sewer Contractors.

THE SHOVEL did not come in contact with the stub itself, but shoved a previously abandoned gas line into the stub during excavation at the southeast corner of Willow and Dunton.

Because there was not sufficient breeze to remove heavy gas fumes from the area, residents were removed from their homes pending repairs.

The Illinois Bell Telephone Co. also disconnected 10 phones in the immediate area to minimize possibility of fire ignition by sparks associated with phone operation.

POLICE reported about 20-25 homes were considered to be in the fire hazard area during repair work.

A repair crew from the gas company excavated to reach the eight-inch main, bending the cracked stub back into position to minimize leakage.

But before repairs could be completed the crew had to install a pressure control on the main and shut down a section, putting six customers out of service.

A WELD was then made over the cracked stub and service was resumed.

Residents removed from their homes were supplied shelter at North School, State Road and St. James Street.

The Arlington Heights Fire Department stood by until 4 p.m., when repairs had progressed to a degree which removed danger, but work was not completed until after 6 p.m.

No persons were reported injured by the fumes, and no property damage was reported other than that to the gas company.

THERE WAS no abnormal pressure drop in the remainder of the distribution system due to the break, the company reported — only inconvenience to the public in the immediate area.

The gas company wrote a letter to the village president after the incident commending both the police and fire departments for their quick response and thorough safety precautions at the scene.

Tag Days Slated in Arlington

Tag days for the Illinois Missionary Children's Home, Lake Zurich, will be Aug. 30 and 31 in Arlington Heights.

Volunteer taggers will represent the non-sectarian organization both days on street corners and in shopping centers. No funds are solicited house-to-house or from private businesses.

Prooceeds from the annual drive are used in the rehabilitation of broken homes, and in care for mothers and children from broken homes.

IN ANNOUNCING the tag tag days, C.P. Nelson, director of the home, said "Because of the high divorce rate in the state of Illinois we are anxious to continue our rehabilitation and will appreciate every donation, small or great."

Members of the group's advisory council include Robert A. Wilkie, Homo Milk Co., Arlington Heights.

Motorist Is Charged on 4 Counts

Kenneth A. Clark, 129 S. Vail Ave., Arlington Heights, was charged with four different counts Sunday after a car he was driving struck a telephone pole.

The accident, at 727 N. State Rd., was reported by the North Side fire department.

CITATIONS included reckless driving, unnecessary noise, driving too fast for conditions and damage to public property.

Police report indicated that Clark refused to take a breath analysis test to determine alcoholic consumption. He was also found to be carrying a false draft card.

He is scheduled to appear before Police Magistrate Robert C. Buckley Sept. 11.

Study Mechanizing Village Paper Work

The Arlington Heights village board is awaiting a report by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., certified public accountants, on feasibility of mechanizing the village's record and data procedures.

Representatives of the firm visited the village at the request of trustees Bud Beacham and Norval Stephens to determine how they might assist "village management in reviewing the records and procedures to identify those areas susceptible to mechanization and other data as described" in village specifications.

DURING THEIR visit they interviewed village officials and clerical employes and discussed present operations, workloads and procedures as well as future or desired records, information and operations.

"Based on those interviews, as well as a review of existing reports and financial and accounting practices," the firm offered to undertake the study desired by the village for an estimated fee of $2,000 to $2,500.

The village board approved expenditure of the fee at its last meeting.

Specifications for the procedures review, outlined by the village and to be followed by the accounting firm, requested "consideration of objectives, policies and master plans which will govern the village operation five to 10 years from now."

The specifications also stated that the study should encompass:

1. A review of present records and discussions with personnel of all departments to determine present as well as future needs not now provided for.

2. Recommendations on the form and content of all records and reports required by the village both at the present time and in the future.

3. Consideration of the feasibility of mechanizing all records on punched card equipment and this annual cost in comparison to present costs.

4. To the extent that additional records are required for statistical or other purposes, recommendations on how these records would be used and the purpose they would serve. (A

WHEN SHOULD YOU CALL A PHYSICIAN?
There is no doubt that everyone could enjoy a healthier life if they would consult a physician about any pain or discomfort.

THESE REQUIRE IMMEDIATE MEDICAL HELP:
1. Fever lasting more than 24 hours.
2. Fainting.
3. Vomiting which persists more than a few hours.
4. Diarrhea accompanied by severe abdominal pains or evidence of bleeding.
5. Eye irritations which do not clear up promptly after bathing. A few hours delay can be harmful if eyeball has an infected scratch.
6. A sprained ankle, knee, or foot which is extremely painful or shows bleeding under the skin.
7. Skin eruptions, including poison ivy, which involve large areas of the body.
8. Any scald, burn, or sunburn which affects large areas of the skin.
9. Any animal bite or scratch, because of a possible rabies or infection.
10. Any cut which will not stop bleeding.
11. Any pain or discomfort, even though bearable, which is constantly re-occurring.

DELAY COULD BE DANGEROUS.
We suggest you show this list to your physician. He may wish to delete or add to it to fit your particular state of health. Then, save it for future reference.

Lions to Hear State Expert Examine Problems of Aged

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS LIONS Club will open up its meeting Tuesday night to the general public for an address by Mrs. Elizabeth Breckenridge, shown above with Charles E. Hayes, executive editor of Paddock Publications, during luncheon of recent Regional Conference on Developing Housing for Older People. Mrs. Breckenridge, one of the state's most knowledgeable authorities on problems of aged and aging, will discuss the major concerns confronting senior citizens in suburbia. The public program begins at 7:15 p.m. (Staff photo). (A

The problems of growing old will be examined Tuesday night by one of Illinois' top experts on aging and aged citizens.

Mrs. Elizabeth Breckinridge, an economist and gerontologist who has earned national recognition as a writer, lecturer and consultant on problems relating to an aging population, will address a special program meeting of Arlington Heights Lions Club.

"Because of the importance of the topic and widespread interest in retirement and old age problems, we are opening this program to the general public," explained Joseph Schneller, first vice president and program chairman for next week's Lions meeting.

THE REGULAR Lions dinner will begin at 6:30 p. m. in St. Peter Lutheran Church, 111 W. Olive St., Arlington Heights; the public will be admitted at 7:15 p. m. for Mrs. Breckinridge's talk.

She will discuss such concerns as retirement planning, housing, employment, health care, and leisure time activities for senior citizens.

One of the "pioneer" gerontologists in Illinois, Mrs. Breckinridge is supervisor of community resources development of the Illinois Department of Public Aid. She was supervisor of the section on services for the aged and aging of the former Illinois Public Aid Commission.

A graduate of Northwestern University, she engaged in professional research, budgeting, social and economic survey work before concentrating her efforts after World War II on the problems of older people.

IN 1947 SHE was named director of a unique community project for aged sponsored by the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago. This project, described by Mrs. Breckinridge in her book "Community Services for Older People," led to the development of the first comprehensive city plan for aging population.

Plan Fun for All at Wheeling Family Fair

Begins Saturday At London School

Labor Day weekend the second annual Family Fair — a strictly non-profit, non-commercial enterprise — will be held at London Junior High School on Dundee Road in Wheeling.

Highlights this year are to be a arts and crafts show, a flower and vegetable show, horse show, dog show, hootenanny, and of course a parade. Homemaking arts are also to be featured prominently, and there will be the usual games and athletic events.

Sponsored by the Community Council of Wheeling, participation is practically unlimited. Any organization, institution or individual is welcome to either take part by entering one of the events or simply as a spectator.

All activities and displays are the responsibility of the individual or civic group sponsoring them, with the council, itself an "organization of organizations," servings as the coordinator.

PURPOSE IS to have an annual community-wide undertaking free of all, even charitable, money-making motivations and material promotions. All prices have been set to only cover fair expenses. But most events are donated.

The fair is designed to foster and give rein to creative imagination, to provide a showcase for the endeavors and achievements of persons and groups of the community, and to promote cooperation and harmony.

Atmosphere of the "end-o'-summer" fete is planned to be on the order of a Mardi Gras.

Entries in the art, flower and vegetable shows will be accepted all day Saturday, Aug. 31, at the school. Hobby and craft exhibits will be accepted from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday, and Sunday from noon on.

Judging of the flower show will be at 3 p.m. Saturday, and entrants must supply their own containers.

SEWING, needlework, canning and baking exhibits are also slated. Sewing entries are to be brought either to the Good Shepherd Church, 1111 N. Elmhurst Road (just south of Hintz Road), from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday, or to London Junior High from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 1.

Ribbons will be awarded for the best entries in the baking and canning exhibits. Entries are to be brought to the school from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday (following the parade). After they are judged, they may either be left for sale, display, or taken home.

The horse show will be from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, Sept. 2, at the rear of the school grounds. There will be 24 classes of competition and an all-show winner.

SPONSORED by the Wheeling merchants, the horse show is to include special categories for quarter horses, Appaloosas, stallions, mares and geldings, and children and adult events. Included will be barrel and flag races.

A children's hootenanny in the school gym will immediately follow the parade, which begins at 2 p.m. Sunday.

And a children's dog show will be the next major event following the songfest. There will be a special exhibition of "dog fashions."

Topping off Sunday will be an all-star baseball game and a water fight by the Wheeling Fire Department.

A HOOTENANNY for all ages and fireworks will cap the festivities Monday evening, with the folk singing beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Fair kickoff event will be a casual dress dance in the junior high gym from 8 to 12 p.m. Saturday.

A horse shoe pitching contest will begin Sunday following the parade, about which time there will also be a pie eating and egg throwing contest.

Field events, everything from sack to running races, will begin about 2:30 p.m. Monday.

WATERMELON, barbecues, roasted corn, hot dogs and pop will be among the food items available.

Monday there will be a train and a pony drawn cart for children to ride, and an Indian make-up booth and dart game will operate Sunday and Monday. The grand parade Sunday is to form at Hintz and Elmhurst Roads at 1 p.m. and proceed down Elmhurst to the junior high at 2 p.m. There are to be floats and antique cars as well as marching units.

Planning displays are Wheeling-Buffalo Grove School District 21, Wheeling Post Office, Northwest Mental Health Clinic, Northwest Suburban Peace Center, and the Wheeling Plan Commission and Park District.

IN NEIGHBORING Buffalo Grove, where that village board is sponsoring Buffalo Grove Days Sunday, Sept. 1, there will be sky divers (parachutists) in the afternoon and a band concert and dance beginning at 7 p.m. Sunday.

For information, contact: Art show, Mrs. Charles Anderson, LE 7-4325; hobby and crafts show, Mrs. Dean Hall or Mrs. Carl Schulien, LE 7-2051 and LE 7-2463; flower and vegetable show, Tom Edwards, LE 7-1046 or CL 3-1520; sewing and needelwork, Mrs. David Stueckeman, 255-6879.

For other information, contact Ray Roach, fair chairman, at LE 7-2871, or Mrs. Florance Crowley, LE 7-1012.

ONE PARTICIPANT in the Family Fair flower show Labor Day weekend will be Robert Stilwell, 726 N. Wayne, Wheeling. He is a member of the American Garden Association of Highwood. Above he is shown with some of the flowers he grows in his backyard. School Supt. Kenneth Gill will be another entrant in the vegetable exhibit. (B-9

Employers' Share

Employer payments for government-administered old-age survivor and disability insurance reached a total of $5.9 billion in 1962.

Dr. Shaffer To Talk in Minneapolis

Dr. James G. Shaffer, director of microbiology and hospital epidemiology at Lutheran General Hospital, will speak at the National Conference on Institutionally Acquired Infections Sept. 4-6 at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

The meeting, sponsored by the College of Medical Sciences, will draw physicians, hospital administrators, public health officials and medical educators from all over the United States. Banquet speaker is Dr. Luther L. Terry, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service.

Dr. John Orndorff, president of the Lutheran General medical staff, and T. L. Jacobsen, executive director of Lutheran General and Deaconess Hospitals, will attend the meeting.

Plan Fun for All at Wheeling Family Fair

Begins Saturday At London School

Labor Day weekend the second annual Family Fair — a strictly non-profit, non-commercial enterprise — will be held at London Junior High School on Dundee Road in Wheeling.

Highlights this year are to be a arts and crafts show, a flower and vegetable show, horse show, dog show, hootenanny, and of course a parade. Homemaking arts are also to be featured prominently, and there will be the usual games and athletic events.

Sponsored by the Community Council of Wheeling, participation is practically unlimited. Any organization, institution or individual is welcome to either take part by entering one of the events or simply as a spectator.

All activities and displays are the responsibility of the individual or civic group sponsoring them, with the council, itself an "organization of organizations," servings as the coordinator.

PURPOSE IS to have an annual community-wide undertaking free of all, even charitable, money-making motivations and material promotions. All prices have been set to only cover fair expenses. But most events are donated.

The fair is designed to foster and give rein to creative imagination, to provide a showcase for the endeavors and achievements of persons and groups of the community, and to promote cooperation and harmony.

Atmosphere of the "end-o'-summer" fete is planned to be on the order of a Mardi Gras.

Entries in the art, flower and vegetable shows will be accepted all day Saturday, Aug. 31, at the school. Hobby and craft exhibits will be accepted from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday, and Sunday from noon on.

Judging of the flower show will be at 3 p.m. Saturday, and entrants must supply their own containers.

SEWING, needlework, canning and baking exhibits are also slated. Sewing entries are to be brought either to the Good Shepherd Church, 1111 N. Elmhurst Road (just south of Hintz Road), from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday, or to London Junior High from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 1.

Ribbons will be awarded for the best entries in the baking and canning exhibits. Entries are to be brought to the school from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday (following the parade). After they are judged, they may either be left for sale, display, or taken home.

The horse show will be from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, Sept. 2, at the rear of the school grounds. There will be 24 classes of competition and an all-show winner.

SPONSORED by the Wheeling merchants, the horse show is to include special categories for quarter horses, Appaloosas, stallions, mares and geldings, and children and adult events. Included will be barrel and flag races.

A children's hootenanny in the school gym will immediately follow the parade, which begins at 2 p.m. Sunday.

And a children's dog show will be the next major event following the songfest. There will be a special exhibition of "dog fashions."

Topping off Sunday will be an all-star baseball game and a water fight by the Wheeling Fire Department.

A HOOTENANNY for all ages and fireworks will cap the festivities Monday evening, with the folk singing beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Fair kickoff event will be a casual dress dance in the junior high gym from 8 to 12 p.m. Saturday.

A horse shoe pitching contest will begin Sunday following the parade, about which time there will also be a pie eating and egg throwing contest.

Field events, everything from sack to running races, will begin about 2:30 p.m. Monday.

WATERMELON, barbecues, roasted corn, hot dogs and pop will be among the food items available.

Monday there will be a train and a pony drawn cart for children to ride, and an Indian make-up booth and dart game will operate Sunday and Monday. The grand parade Sunday is to form at Hintz and Elmhurst Roads at 1 p.m. and proceed down Elmhurst to the junior high at 2 p.m. There are to be floats and antique cars as well as marching units.

Planning displays are Wheeling-Buffalo Grove School District 21, Wheeling Post Office, Northwest Mental Health Clinic, Northwest Suburban Peace Center, and the Wheeling Plan Commission and Park District.

IN NEIGHBORING Buffalo Grove, where that village board is sponsoring Buffalo Grove Days Sunday, Sept. 1, there will be sky divers (parachutists) in the afternoon and a band concert and dance beginning at 7 p.m. Sunday.

For information, contact: Art show, Mrs. Charles Anderson, LE 7-4325; hobby and crafts show, Mrs. Dean Hall or Mrs. Carl Schulien, LE 7-2051 and LE 7-2463; flower and vegetable show, Tom Edwards, LE 7-1046 or CL 3-1520; sewing and needelwork, Mrs. David Stueckeman, 255-6879.

For other information, contact Ray Roach, fair chairman, at LE 7-2871, or Mrs. Florance Crowley, LE 7-1012.

ONE PARTICIPANT in the Family Fair flower show Labor Day weekend will be Robert Stilwell, 726 N. Wayne, Wheeling. He is a member of the American Garden Association of Highwood. Above he is shown with some of the flowers he grows in his backyard. School Supt. Kenneth Gill will be another entrant in the vegetable exhibit. (B-9

St. Viator Science Program Gets Enthusiastic Response

"It's getting harder to get in more courses that bright students should have and still maintain proper teaching schedules."

This was the explanation given by the Rev. Philip E. Kendall, CSV, for introduction of a four-week experimental science program this summer for a selected group of 15 top-level students at St. Viator Catholic Boys High School, Arlington Heights.

The experimental program met with enthusiastic response from the boys and from Fr. Kendall, young, dedicated and highly trained science instructor at the school.

THE CLASSES, held from 8 a.m. to noon, Monday through Friday, covered four distinct groups of experiments. The Monday session was given over to introduction of the week's work by Fr. Kendall; Tuesday through Thursday was spent in the school physical science laboratories working on experiments; on Friday the week's work was summarized, reported and discussed by the students.

Particular emphasis was given to analyses and preparation of scientific reports of the experiments, according to Fr. Kendall.

Of the boys who participated in the enrichment course 14 were first and second-year students at the school last spring. One boy of the 15 was a junior in the spring term.

THE SCIENCE course emphasized experimental techniques and proper scientific reporting. Equipment was used by the students which during the school year is only demonstrated by instructors because of the delicate nature of the instrument or the possible danger when used by unskilled pupils.

The summer course cost each student $25. Although it was offered as an enrichment course, no school credit toward graduation was given.

The summer program represented only one segment of an intensive effort by Fr. Kendall and Rev. Arnold Perham, CVS, science department chairman, to enlarge and enrich the science department offerings.

An enrichment course in physical science is being offered to top-level junior and senior students as a sixth major. This program includes an introduction to geology, astronomy, engineering principles and other physical sciences not normally covered in high school work.

THIS COURSE will give students at least an understanding of science fields in which they may find the most satisfaction.

Another effort under supervision of Fr. Perham saw four papers prepared by St. Viator students accepted by the Illinois Junior Academy of Science at the University of Illinois.

Fr. Perham recently returned from summer studies under a National Science Foundation grant at the University of Puerto Rico.

AMONG THE college and research type experimental investigations in physics and electronics included during the recent four-week summer course were Beta particle absorption, optical diffraction patterns, transformer theory, X-ray diffraction and absorption, strobe light analysis, gaseous discharge tube analysis, velocity of sound using oscilloscope technique, pitch and frequency of sound using a sonometer and rotational fluid analysis.

The success of the summer program in developing more mature techniques among the gifted science pupils could mean further similar summer courses next year, Fr. Kendall indicated.

THE OUTPUT OF radium sources is measured by geiger counter by St. Viator students Tom Pitello, Arlington Heights; Peter McCall, Palatine; and Tom Corr, Mount Prospect; under the friendly stimulation of Rev. Phillip E. Kendall, CSV. The experiment was one of almost 30 different experimental problems tackled by the 15 boys enrolled in the school's science enrichment course this summer. (B-8 DEEP IN STUDY and concentration on their experiment with a microwave generator are three members of the special summer enrichment science course at St. Viator High School. The boys — Michael Massey of Arlington Heights, Richard Plzak of Palatine and Bill Welky of Mount Prospect — will compare their results with those derived by another group of students working with a photoelectric setup. The summer science course, limited to 15 top-level science students, concentrated on experimental techniques, analysis and scientific reports. (B-8

Chicago and Suburbs Move For Teamwork on Charities

The organization of a combined metropolitan fund-raising campaign for welfare services now supported by the Crusade of Mercy in Chicago and 85 suburban community chests and united funds in the Chicago area will be explored within the next few months.

Approval of a "Memorandum of Understanding" by the trustees of the Crusade of Mercy and the board of directors of the Suburban Community Chest Council lays the groundwork for cooperative exploration of a situation described by both organizations as "confusing, complicated and competitive."

Joseph B. Lanterman, Crusade president, and Roland W. Kott, president of the Suburban Council, an organization which serves as distributing agent for funds raised in company campaigns and designated to suburban communities, hailed the memorandum as a first step toward solution of a problem which becomes more complex as the metropolitan area grows and welfare needs expand.

The memorandum calls for the formation of a committee of 10 representatives, five from the Crusade and five from the Suburban Council, who will be charged with developing a plan which can be discussed with both groups. Committee members are expected to be named within the next few weeks.

BOTH organizations stressed that no changes will be made in 1963 campaigns of the Crusade of Mercy or suburban chests and funds.

Under the present fund-raising structure, employes of Chicago firms are solicited for the Crusade of Mercy at their place of employment. The Crusade's annual campaign, which opens September 30 with a goal of $16,551,000, helps support 142 welfare services of the Community Fund of Chicago plus the Chicago Chapter of the Red Cross.

Suburban residents are also solicited by their local suburban chest or fund, which campaigns only for the welfare agencies in its own community.

In suburban communities where the Red Cross is not included in the local chest or fund, that organization conducts an independent campaign in March.

SOME Chicago-based firms with operations in suburban areas use the Suburban Community Chest Council as a distributing agent to channel contributions from their suburban employes to the various chests and funds designated by contributors.

Lanterman and Kott stated that the common objective of both groups and of the 10-man committee is to develop the best possible plan for financing the voluntary health and welfare services in the metropolitan area so that people who need such services will get them, regardless of where they live.

Lanterman is president of Amsted Industries, Inc. and Kott is vice president of General Finance Co. (B8

Candidates Line Up To Whack at Kerner

MARION, ILL., (UPI) — Several Republican state office hopefuls for the 1964 primary attended a get-acquainted meeting with southern Illinois GOP leaders Tuesday night and heard Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier describe the Democratic Kerner Administration as "a prime example of how government should not be run."

Carpentier, a contender for the gubernatorial nomination, hit at the fiscal policies of the Kerner Administration and described the governor as "vacillating."

"1964 will be the renaissance year for the Republican party," said Carpentier.

TWO OTHER GOP hopefuls for the governor's chair, Cook County GOP Chairman Hayes Robertson and Charles H. Percy, board chairman of Bell & Howell Co., were introduced, but did not speak.

State Treasurer William Scott told some 400 Republicans at the meeting that the state budget has increased 33 per cent during the Kerner Administration and said "Illinois is a wealthy state but not wealthy enough to withstand reckless spending."

He credited GOP legislators with saving taxpayers $50-to-$60 million during the past General Assembly.

Other candidates at the meeting included:

FOR LIEUTENANT Governor —John H. Altorfer, Peoria businessman.

For Attorney General — James Cunningham, Peoria County; Elroy Sandquist, Chicago; William Stiehl, Belleville, and State Sen. Robert Canfield, Rockford.

For Secretary of State—State Sen. John P. Meyer, Danville, and State Sen. John Graham, Barrington.

For State Auditor — Sherwin Willens, Niles Township Attorney, and State Sen. Gordon Kerr, Brookport.

Several of the candidates planned to do more handshaking Wednesday at the DuQuoin State Fair.

DANGEROUS EVENT

by ED LANDWEHR

Strange things that a TV man sees in his rounds! This could have been a tragedy, but the event turned out funny. A young fellow accidentally shot a rifle at the television screen when carried away by his desire to protect his favorite cowboy from the bad guys.

I guess the cowboy saved himself; they always do, but that TV tube lost the fight real good. His mother will be finding pieces of glass for a long time.

LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, returned the set a couple days later so the young fellow wouldn't miss too many episodes of the golden west, but the rifle is out of sight.

Arlington High Grad On TV—in Thailand!

Miss Bobbi Golden, former Arlington Heights resident, has hit the big time and bright lights of television—in Bangkok, Thailand.

Bobbi, a 1953 graduate of Arlington High School whose parents still reside at 1300 S. Highland in the village, is the leader of Four Plus Two Review, a band now touring the Far East.

So far the sextet has appeared in Korea, Japan, the Phillipines and Bangkok, where it made a television appearance from the Club Oasis on TV — Channel 4.

OTHER members of the sextet are from Manila, in the Philipines. They play all types of music — Latin, classic, jazz and rock-and-roll.

Bobbie, drummer for the group as well as their leader, has been on four USO tours to entertain cluded are one to Alaska and the United States, and three on the Far East circuit.

She has also been featured at several entertainment spots in Chicago and throughout the United States.

In addition to her drumming talents, Bobbi sings, dances, does inpersonations and plays the flute. She began her career in 4-H work, appearing at fairs throughout the Illinois region.

Any difficulty working in foreign countries with a foreign band?

Not for Bobbi — she speaks Japanese, Chinese, Korean, German and Tagola (the native tongue of the Phillipines).

Transport Plan Told If Rail Strike Comes

Acting Palatine Postmaster Martha K. Webster announced Wednesday that planes, trucks and buses will be pressed into service to move air and first class mail to its destination and to move other classes of mail within roughly a 150 mile radius of northwest suburbs in the event of a nationwide rail strike.

Other post offices will be affected similarly.

However, she has received instructions not to accept mailings other than first class, air mail and air parcel post which are destined for points beyond the second parcel post delivery zone for the duration of the rail strike, if it occurs.

"WE ARE prepared to handle any letter or parcel addressed to any point provided first class or air mail postage is paid on the item," Mrs. Webster said.

She cautioned that service will be temporarily suspended on second class magazines and newspapers, third class matter and fourth class parcel post packages addressed to points beyond the second parcel post zone —extending 150 miles from the point of mailing—as part of the national post office contingency plan for operating under a rail strike emergency.

Any emergency shipments such as medicines or badly needed spare parts should be sent first class or air mail during the strike, if it occurs, and if the shipments demand delivery beyond the 150 mile limit.

PERISHABLE items such as baby chicks and honeybees, should not be mailed for the duration of the strike.

Mailings of items covered by the temporary and limited service suspension, if deposited at post offices immediately prior to a strike, will be made at the risk of the mailer.

The department cannot guarantee early delivery of perishable items and other than first class and air mail parcels, letters and other matter if they are in transit at the time of the strike or within the post office of acceptance at the time the strike commences.

MRS. WEBSTER noted that Fort Wayne, Ind., and Milwaukee, Wis., are among cities within the 150 mile zone of Palatine which will continue to get full mail service from this post office if and when the strike occurs.

She urges the public and large mailers to call the post office at 358-1791 for detailed information or to get answers to technical questions involving their particular mailing problems.

New Tack Taken on Weller Flooding

Retention of Water Is Key

by JIM CARNS
Staff Writer

A new approach to flood problems in the Weller Creek drainage basin has been officially adopted as policy by the Weller Creek Action Committee — but implementation remains vague.

In adopting the policy, prepared for consideration by the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission, the action group recognized inadequacy of the "big ditch" method of storm water disposal now in use.

Instead, the NIMAPC-recommended policy calls for flood preparation and warnings and retention and utilization of storm water rather than its removal downstream.

The new policy, adopted at a meeting of the Action Committee last week, is a radical departure from present practice of channeling all storm water downstream as quickly as possible.

The creek now serves as principal drainage outlet for Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines, as well as adjacent incorporated areas which are fast-developing from rural to urban use.

Representatives of these municipalities and the Weller Creek Drainage District are fast developing from rural to urban use.

Representatives of these municipalities and the Weller Creek Drainage District are members of the Action Committee.

THIS SUMMER, Gov. Otto Kerner signed and approved a bill for widening and improving one portion of Weller Creek and vetoed a proposal to improve another portion.

At present the Weller Creek Drainage District is looking to meet its immediate and pressing flood control needs through existing methods of drain tile construction for fast runoff of storm flow.

The district has planned a special assessment project for construction of large storm sewers serving over 1,500 acres south of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

Rapid drainage of all areas in the upstream area of the drainage basin adds to flooding problems downstream.

Before consideration of the policy Village President Clarence O. Schlaver of Mount Prospect made his village's position clear to those attending the meeting at NIMAPC headquarters:

"We are concerned because we are getting the brunt of this (storm water) before it goes into the improved section in Des Plaines."

He referred to the lower stages of Weller Creek, lying in Des Plaines, which are to be improved under the bill recently signed by Gov. Kerner.

IMPROVEMENT OF sections of the creek in Mount Prospect was vetoed, but their improvement was labeled a task for the future.

Under Illinois statutes, all water from any given drainage basin may be removed as quickly as possible without consideration for downstream flooding problems.

The only restriction is that water may not be introduced to Weller Creek from any area other than the natural Weller drainage basin.

Schlaver mentioned that both he and Charles Payne, president of the Mount Prospect park board, are going to be unhappy with any increased flow of storm water from upstream. This would include plans for the $1.2 million Weller Drainage District project.

John Sheaffer, resources planning officer for NIMAPC, told the action committee that the policy his group had derived was not offered as a total solution to flood problems in the area.

He added that it was designed, to "avoid the common approach of putting water and flood problems off onto the next person downstream."

Principal consideration in the policy statement was that water be retained and used in the drainage basin, rather than shunted downstream as waste.

PROPOSED methods included excavation of retention basins for storm water, since the drainage basin is too flat to provide for natural valley storage with a simple dam.

The policy statement envisions these basins as providing recharge water for shallow, subsurface deposits. These in turn would recharge the deeper deposits through gradual seepage, Shaeffer contends.

The basins would also be available for recreational or industrial use, and for introduction of water into Weller Creek at extreme low periods on a controlled basis.

The statement also specified flood plain regulations, flood warnings, flood proofing and watershed treatment as elements in the complex solution of storm water problems in the basin.

Flood plain regulations, if adopted by municipalities in the drainage basin, would set forth special building and subdivision regulations for land within areas established as subject to flooding.

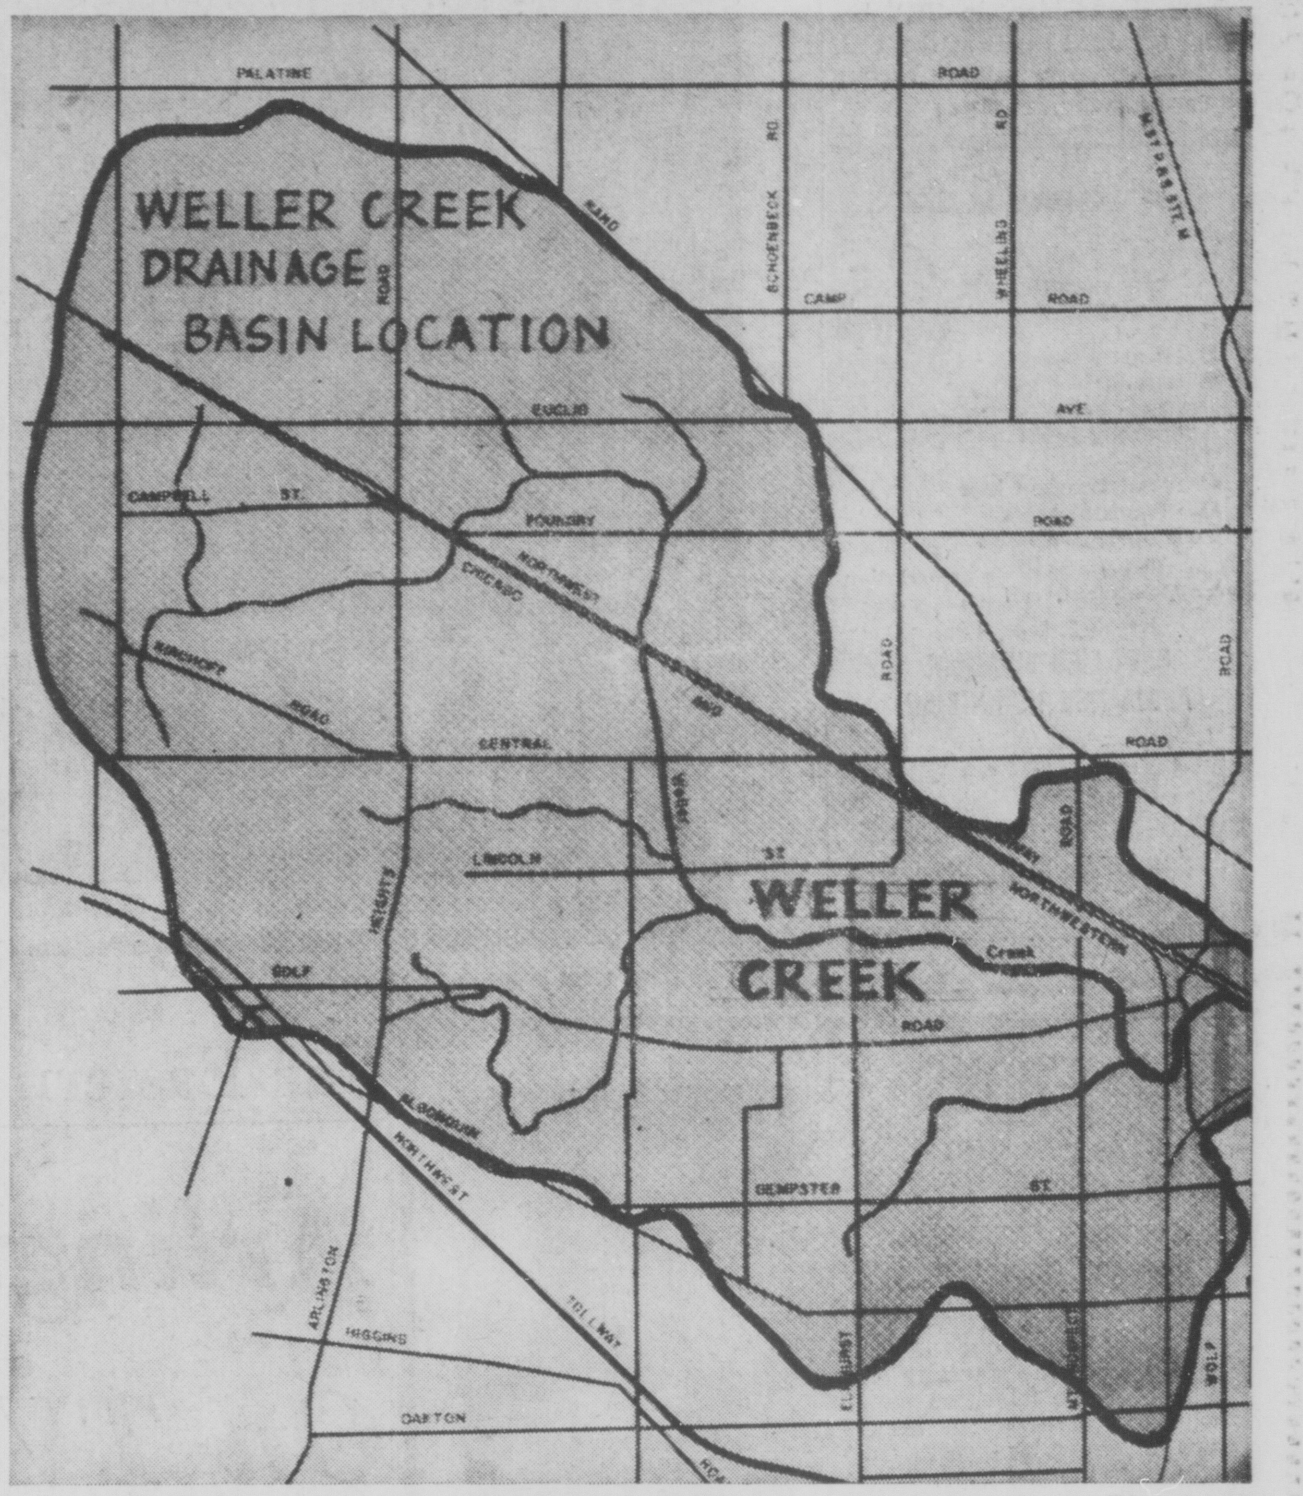
Forest View High School in Arlington Heights was built on a flood plain without the benefit of such regulations.

After hearing discussion and adoption of the action committee's policy, State Rep. John W. Carroll. (R.-6th), commented that if present flood control measures are inadequate, "It is foolish to throw good money after bad" by taking further steps without a change in concept.

IN RELATION to the immediate question of improvements by the Weller Drainage District, Arlington Heights Village President John G. Woods commented that the project is within the area of effective control by neighboring villages.

But he added that the boards of adjacent villages are "going to have to work together," specifically mentioning those of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

"Nobody is going to expect the impossible," said Paul Oppermann, executive director of NIMAPC; but he added that flood control is a mushrooming problem which defied the present simple solution. (B9



WELLER CREEK drainage basin, one of the fastest developing areas in the northwest suburbs, faces increasing flood control problems with every change in land use. Included in the basin, which sheds storm water into Weller's Creek and then into Des Plaines River, are Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Des Plaines and much unincorporated area. (B9

Regulations Proposed As Suburb Flood Curb

Village presidents of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect carried suggested subdivision, zoning and building regulations back to their respective boards last week as a possible answer to flood protection.

The suggestions came from the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission with the strong recommendation of John Sheaffer, resources planning officer.

PRESENTATION of the outline for regulations came during a meeting of the Weller Creek Action Committee, for which NIMAPC officials offered their headquarters and their advice.

The suggested regulations were only one of a number of possibilities offered as partial solutions to flooding problems in the Weller Creek drainage basin.

Both Pres. John G. Woods of Arlington Heights and Pres. Clarence O. Schlaver of Mount Prospect said they would look into the possibility of such regulations.

First of the suggested regulations for subdivisions would provide for free land along natural drainage channels and retention areas to prevent maximum flood damage.

OTHERS WOULD provide rear lot line easements for drainage; drainage facilities for ordinary and extreme runoff, both surface and underground; elevation of street pavements adjoining streams, and adequate bridge and culvert openings for development of a subdivision.

Recommended zoning regulations include similar provisions for reservation of land for runoff channels and storage basins. Also included are recommended uses of land within flood plains which could support floodwaters wtihout extensive damage.

ON THIS list are parks, playgrounds, forest preserves, golf clubs, driving ranges, pay fishing ponds, recreational lakes, parking lots, etc.

Recommended building construction regulations are outlined on sewer connections, prohibiting gravity connections between basements and street sewers.

Other sections recommend prohibition of any direct connection of hard-surface construction areas with street sewers, or obstruction of natural drainage on individual lots.

REMAINING sections concern actual building construction and site grading to increase flood protection in vulnerable areas.

Sheaffer described the proposed regulations as a method of relieving the "tremendous pressure" on municipal bodies for storm drain installations, which would only increase downstream problems.

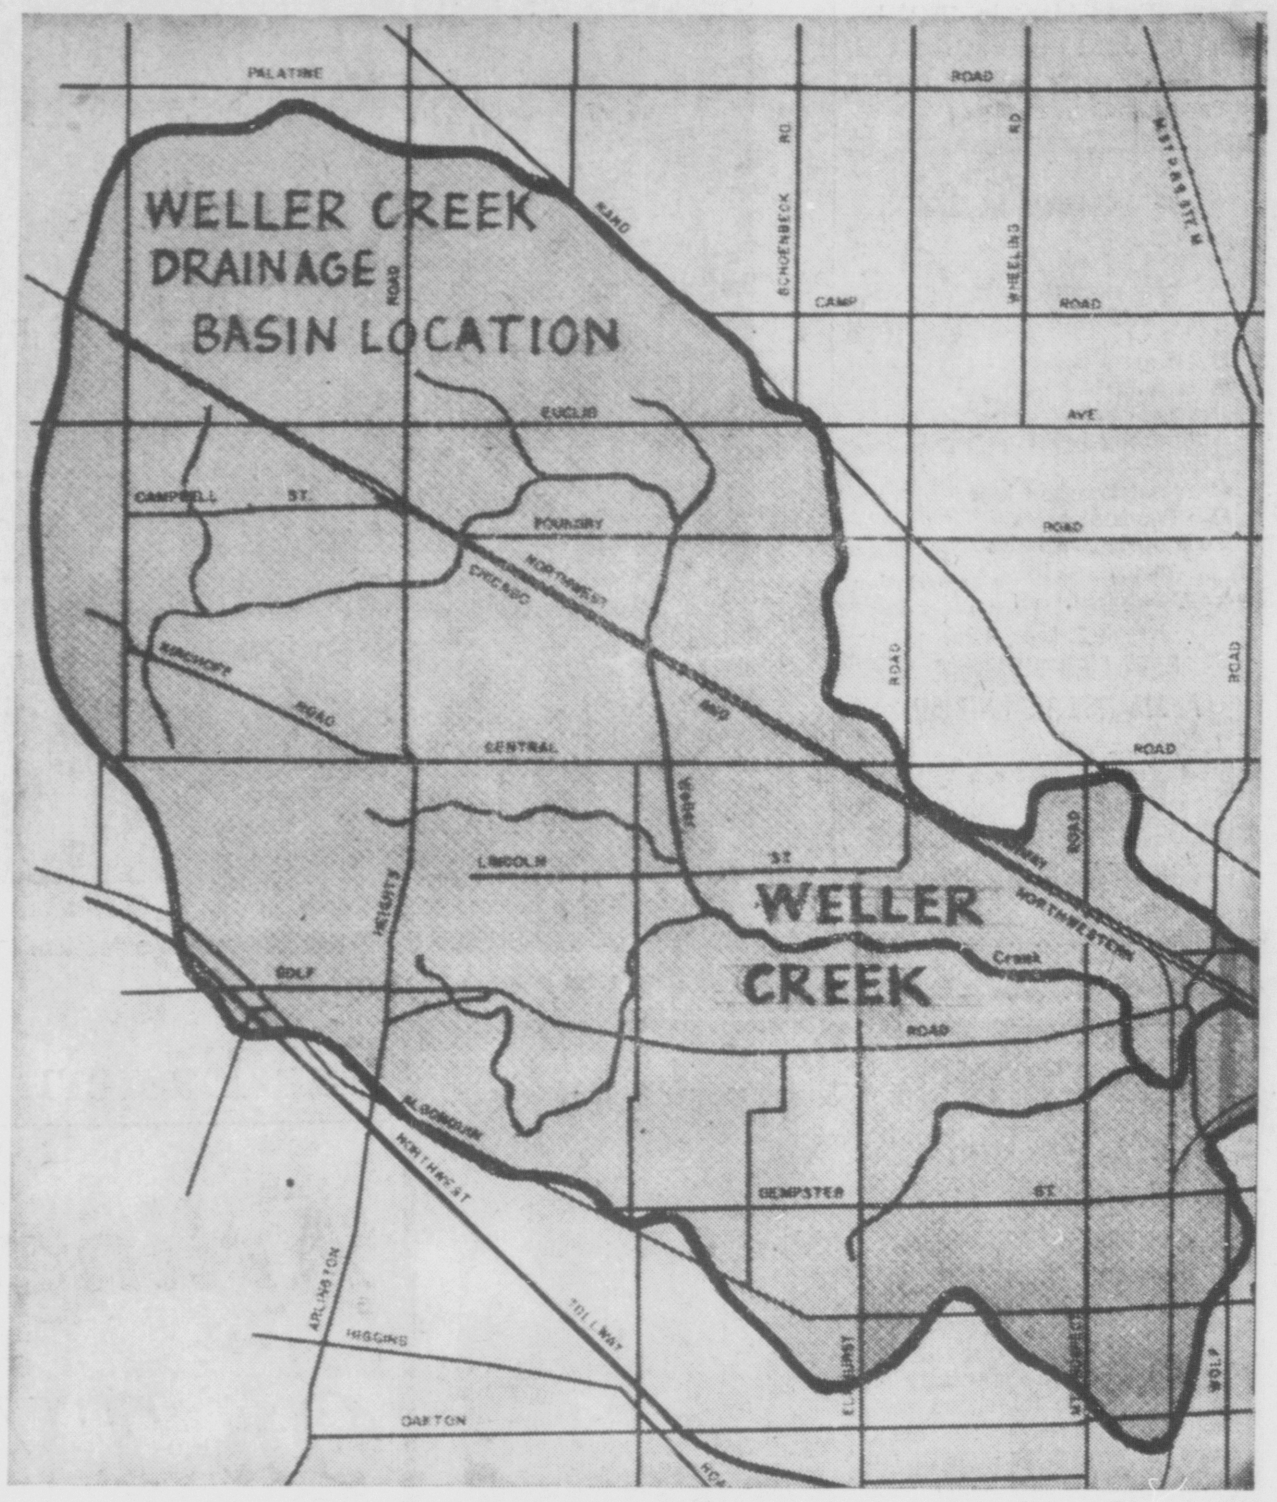
IN RELATION to the immediate question of improvements by the Weller Drainage District, Arlington Heights Village President John G. Woods commented that the project is within the area of effective control by neighboring villages.

But he added that the boards of adjacent villages are "going to have to work together," specifically mentioning those of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

"Nobody is going to expect the impossible," said Paul Oppermann, executive director of NIMAPC; but he added that flood control is a mushrooming problem which defied the present simple solution. (B9



WELLER CREEK drainage basin, one of the fastest developing areas in the northwest suburbs, faces increasing flood control problems with every change in land use. Included in the basin, which sheds storm water into Weller's Creek and then into Des Plaines River, are Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Des Plaines and much unincorporated area. Regulations Proposed As Suburb Flood Curb

Village presidents of Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect carried suggested subdivision, zoning and building regulations back to their respective boards last week as a possible answer to flood protection.

The suggestions came from the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission with the strong recommendation of John Sheaffer, resources planning officer.

PRESENTATION of the outline for regulations came during a meeting of the Weller Creek Action Committee, for which NIMAPC officials offered their headquarters and their advice.

The suggested regulations were only one of a number of possibilities offered as partial solutions to flooding problems in the Weller Creek drainage basin.

Both Pres. John G. Woods of Arlington Heights and Pres. Clarence O. Schlaver of Mount Prospect said they would look into the possibility of such regulations.

First of the suggested regulations for subdivisions would provide for free land along natural drainage channels and retention areas to prevent maximum flood damage.

OTHERS WOULD provide rear lot line easements for drainage; drainage facilities for ordinary and extreme runoff, both surface and underground; elevation of street pavements adjoining streams, and adequate bridge and culvert openings for development of a subdivision.

Recommended zoning regulations include similar provisions for reservation of land for runoff channels and storage basins. Also included are recommended uses of land within flood plains which could support floodwaters wtihout extensive damage.

ON THIS list are parks, playgrounds, forest preserves, golf clubs, driving ranges, pay fishing ponds, recreational lakes, parking lots, etc.

Recommended building construction regulations are outlined on sewer connections, prohibiting gravity connections between basements and street sewers.

Other sections recommend prohibition of any direct connection of hard-surface construction areas with street sewers, or obstruction of natural drainage on individual lots.

REMAINING sections concern actual building construction and site grading to increase flood protection in vulnerable areas.

Sheaffer described the proposed regulations as a method of relieving the "tremendous pressure" on municipal bodies for storm drain installations, which would only increase downstream problems.

Low Car Seats Lead to Longer No-Passing Zones

Cook County is preparing to cope with additional traffic hazards created by the low seats now found in sports cars and most late model stock cars, Seymour Simon, president of the Cook County Board of Commissioners, announced this week.

"The low look, which has become the style in cars, also gives the driver a low look when going over a hill," Simon declared.

"TO ALLEVIATE this situation," he explained, "our highway department will lengthen the no-passing zones and will erect signs bearing the wording 'Do Not Pass' and 'Pass With Care.' "

The zones not only will be lengthened on hills, but also on curves and at dangerous intersections, he stated.

This work, which will be done on the 600 miles of roadway maintained by the county, will follow recommendations made in the state's 1963 manual for uniform traffic controls. The signs will be painted and erected by the department's own force, starting immediately.

THE YELLOW stripes in the center of the pavement, which indicate areas in which passing is not permitted, also will be widened from the present three inches to five inches as a further precaution.

Surveys indicate that on standard models of stock cars, the average level of driver eyesight is four feet, as compared with four and one-half feet 10 years ago. Eye levels on sports cars now range downward to three and one-half feet.

Under the new procedure, the no-passing zones will be lengthened to 1,400 feet where speeds up to 60 m.p.h. are permitted.

Troop 135 Returns From Norway Lake

Boy Scout Troop 135 returned this week from Norway Lake in Michigan's Upper Penninsula where they held their second annual Lone Troop Camp.

Seven scout fathers and 35 Boy Scouts went on the weeklong outing in Ottawa National Forest.

Special citations were awarded to John Softy as outstanding Explorer scout, to Drew Smith as outstanding first-year camper, to the Panthers for being the leading patrol in all phases of camping, and to Norm Lees as the camp's outstanding scout.

ACTIVITIES during the group's eight days at the campsite included a climb up the Imp Lake fire tower and a five-mile overnight hike using only compass and map.

The major portion of each day was spent in fulfillment of rank and merit badge requirements, such as swimming, life-saving, canoeing, soil and water conservation, fishing, camping, pioneering, forestry and rowing.

In addition to Scouting activities, the troop, under supervision of forest ranger Blaine Fenstead, constructed a trail along the banks of Kidney Lake. The trail is now open to the public.

MEET TODD BOY
of Todd's Shoes

The rows and rows of shoes framing Todd Boy are an "old story" to this young man who grew up in the shoe business. Todd's Shoe store, a booming 6-year-old business at 20 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, is Todd's particular concern. But his father has owned Boy's Shoe Store in Aurora for 16 years, and Todd received much of his experience there as well as working as a Florsheim trainee for 3 years.

Todd's stresses Florsheim, Naturalizer, Stride Rite and Risque brands. Outside of Chicago-Based shoe stores, Todd's is one of the few Cook county shoe stores to be given the popular Naturalizer account. Todd's has always given a guarantee of fit and satisfaction which accounts for the daily parade of back-to-schoolers.

Todd Boy is a product of three distinct localities, having attended schools in Aurora, New Hampshire and Harrisburg, Pa. It was while in high school in New Hampshire that Todd met his wife. Later he served 2 years in the army at Fort Benning, Ga.

The midwest won out and Todd returned to make it his home. He and his wife and 3 children are residents of Hoffman Estates, halfway between the two family stores. However, his years in New Hampshire resulted in his love for outdoor life so he usually chooses fishing and camping vacations.

Todd's infectious smile and laugh are evidence of his fun-loving nature. Anyone who has been a fellow guest at a party is aware of his dancing ability. He can take on any partner, even a professional, and give a good show. Perhaps he encourages the twist as a good way to wear out shoes quickly!

Laundry Rooms Soak Up Vacation Tans of Surveyed Moms

Results of a recent telephone survey show why most just-home-from-vacation mothers lose their newly-acquired tans so soon. Two weeks' worth of vacation-mussed clothes is why. Immediately upon her return home Mom disappears into the laundry room and isn't heard from again until some social columnist calls and asks brightly, "Been doing anything interesting lately?"

The only less-than-wonderful aspect of the Peter Eriksen family vacation, aside from the laundry detail, was catching 21 Rainbow Trout and not being able to bring them home. The Colorado dude ranch where the family stayed for two weeks had everything from horses to dancing; but not the dry ice so necessary for trout transporting. It was still the best vacation the family had had in years, according to everybody at 5 W. Orchard. They reluctantly returned last Thursday.

Enroute home Mr. and Mrs. Eriksen had a 22nd wedding anniversary, an Aug. 20 event, which they celebrated with a dinner-out occasion in Chicago over the weekend.

REPORTS FROM the Robert Muldoon household at 702 S. Mitchell indicate such a busy summer that sorting out the details and setting them down correctly takes a bit of doing. The family had an early July vacation, came home with out-of-town guests right on their heels, then trailed the departing guests to Fort Wayne for a visit there and came home to more house guesting.

Right now the Muldoons' daughter and her family, the Joseph Whitacres, Laura Ann and Little Joe of Springfield, Ohio, are visiting here. They arrived Friday for a 2-week stay. Mrs. Muldoon had barely made it home from the Fort Wayne visit in time to greet her daughter. Earlier this month the Mulddons' son, Robert Jr., with his wife and son, Rob Jr., of Kalamazoo, Mich. were here for a week's visit that overlapped with the weekend visit of Fort Wayne friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harry O'Morrow. When the O'Morrows pulled out of the Muldoon driveway, Mrs. Muldoon was right behind them, beginning her Fort Wayne trip.

Somewhere betwixt and between, the Muldoons enjoyed the surprise weekend visit of friends they hadn't seen for 27 years, and a long and hilarious "remember when -" session developed. Otherwise the summer has been dull for Mr. and Mrs. Muldoon of 702 S. Mitchell.

THE DONALD Armstrong family is home again at 907 S. Dunton after a 2-week, 6300-mile motor tour to and through the West. Their to-the-west-coast route took them via the Grand Canyon trail and allowed time for stops at Pike's Peak, the canyon and Las Vegas.

In the Los Angeles area they visited two former Arlington Heights families, the Ray Tagtmeiers, now in Canoga Park, and the Walter Oetzells of the San Fernando Valley in Northridge. Both families asked that their greetings to old friends here be relayed to them via the Armstrongs.

A day at Disneyland and other visits to lesser points of interest in the area added a few more miles before the Armstrongs began the coastal drive to the San Francisco area for more sightseeing. They took the Salt Lake City route home, visiting with friends in Cedar Springs, Iowa before beginning the last lap to Arlington Heights.

MRS. FRANK Zale of Phoenix is here for a visit with her daughter and family, the Theodore Mendls, 745 S. Vail, and other relatives in the area.

The George Kendall family returned to 733 S. Dunton last Tuesday, reluctantly ending one of their finest vacations. They had "the time of our lives" at a dude ranch in Winter Park, Colo. where everything, including the weather, seemed dedicated to their pleasure.

The trip to the ranch included stops in the Badlands and the Black Hills, and the return route was through Rocky Mountain National Park. Only the fact they were heading away from the ranch made the Rocky Mountain tour less than perfect.

Sharon and Marilyn Smith came home to 909 S. Dunton last Thursday after two weeks with family friends in Long View, Wash. The girls gave each other the trip as graduation presents, Sharon being a recent graduate in nursing and Marilyn a 1963 high school graduate.

The girls made lots of side trips from their home base in Long View and enjoyed seeing the permanent "left-overs" from the World's Fair in Seattle.

THE JOHN KRAMER family, 919 S. Evergreen, returned last Tuesday from a month's vacation in the East. They toured some of the historic sites in West Virginia, then visited in Mrs. Kramer's home in Virginia before going to Ocean City, N. J. for the balance of their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Latta and the two boys came home to 805 N. Chestnut Friday after sharing a camp site in Wisconsin with congenial fellow-campers, a few bears and lots of pan fish. Fishing was just picking up as they left, but when the fish didn't cooperate there was canoeing, swimming or that all-American vacation favorite, loafing to keep them busy.

Recent visitors in the M. R. Kephart home, 801 S. Evergreen were Mrs. Kephart's brother, Paul Carroll of Huntsville, Ala., and the Rev. Clarence Green, recently of the Holy Lands. Mr. Carroll is currently travelling with the pastor, who for seven years has been the head of a missionary in the Holy Lands and is now on a lecture tour of the United States.

During his stay with the Kepharts, Pastor Green showed many of the slides he uses in his lecturing and provided the family with many hours of fascinating entertainment.

THE JUNIOR Willard Meyer, 1001 N. Dunton, recently enjoyed a day's visit with his twin brother, Richard, in Capuchian Seminary of St. Mary in Crown Point. Richard, who has taken the name Frater Theophilus, and Willard, studying at St. Mary of the Lake Seminary in Mundelein, are studying for the priesthood; Richard has five years of study until his ordination and Willard, returning soon to Mundelein, has four years left.

Mrs. Howard Lips, 1215 N. Chestnut, was hostess last week to eight fellow PEO members at a luncheon in her home that combined PEO business with showing her new home. Mr. and Mrs. Lips recently moved from 711 N. Evergreen, and have entertained local friends on several "new house showing" occasions in the past weeks.

Between enjoying luncheon and the hostess' new home, the PEO chapter made final plans for its Sept. 14 morning rummage sale to be held in the former Gieseke store.

AFTER THE luncheon the rummage sale took a temporary back seat in Mrs. Lips' interest as she helped two daughters prepare for their roles as Saturday bridesmaids, and packed one of them for a return to the East this week. The bridesmaid detail was complicated by the fact that the girls were serving in different wedding parties at different times in different places.

Nancy was part of the 4 o'clock nuptials of a friend being married in Crete, and Judy served Miss Gail Smith of Arlington Heights at her 8 o'clock wedding in the First Presbyterian Church Saturday evening. Judy leaves this week for West Hartford, Conn. where she resumes teaching, Nancy graduates Sept. 5 from Presbyterian-St. Luke's School of Nursing and their mother resumes thinking about the rummage sale Sept. 6.

A "CO-OP" barbecue at the Howard Zacharius home, 1321 N. Mitchell, followed a hayride party Saturday evening that was mutually given and enjoyed by 10 neighborhood couples. Although the rain and wind shift earlier in the day made the hayride a bit damp and chilly, everyone had fun and then warmed up with the barbecue, dancing and games that climaxed the evening.

Miss Sharon Barrett of Council Bluffs, Iowa, fiancee of Thomas Muran, 1319 N. Dunton, shared a party Sunday with a future uncle-in-law, Nick Herff, who is here with his family from California for a 2-week visit. The Murans joined about 50 other relatives in showering Miss Barrett with miscellaneous gifts at a party in Buffalo Grove, at the same time enjoying the reunion with the Herffs.

Among other local relatives adding to the double-barrelled fun Sunday was Herff's and Mrs. Muran's father, Nick Sr., who makes his home with the Murans. Sprightly, 85-year-old Grandpa is looking forward to the Oct. 12 wedding of his grandson and Miss Barrett, and a possible winter vacation in California with his son.

BRIDE-ELECT Miss Patricia Barker, daughter of the Donald Barkers, 635 S. Walnut, has been feted at two recent prenuptial parties given here and in St. Charles.

Hostesses at the first party, a surprise kitchen and linen shower given Aug. 11, were bridesmaids-to-be, Mrs. Wilbur Johnson and Miss Betty Burni. Since the party was assembled and given in the home of the bride-elect, the fact that the surprise element was successful is surprising in itself. Enjoying Miss Barker's total amazement were 30 former classmates, relatives and friends of the Barker family.

Miss Barker was next feted Aug. 14 at a miscellaneous shower, not intended as a surprise, given by sisters of the groom, Richard Baker, in the Baker home in St. Charles. Guests of Mrs. Jerome Dupuis and Mrs. Beryl Scott were 20 friends and members of the groom's family.

Miss Barker will change her name hardly at all Sept. 6 in the marriage ceremony to be performed in the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights.

VIVIAN AND Vince Weidner shared weekend parties in their home, 1135 N. Dunton, as relatives and friends offered birthday best wishes to the young pair. Vivian, self-named "VeeVee," was 2 years old Sunday, and her big brother was 11 Monday, and there were parties Friday, Saturday and Sunday. VeeVee thoroughly enjoyed all the excitement, but wonders why it stopped so suddenly Monday.

Three summertime baby showers for Mrs. Dale Meyer, 911 E. Miner, have provided the September-due little Meyer with ample he-or-she clothes and furnishings. Beginning the party fun was a surprise luncheon for 15 given in mid-July by Mrs. Meyer's sisters-in-law, Mrs. Glen Meyer, Mrs. Roger Meyer and Mrs. Donald Armstrong in the Armstrong home, 907 S. Dunton. Guests were members of the family of father-to-be.

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

Early in August Mrs. Meyer's aunt, Mrs. George Bachum of Mount Prospect, was hostess at a luncheon for 12 happy aunts - and cousins -to-be who showered the honor guest with baby gifts.

A final shower was given Sunday by seven Chicago aunts of Mrs. Meyer in the Mount Prospect home of her mother, Mrs. Marvin Dawson. Guests were Chicago and local relatives of the Dawson side of the baby's expectant family.

The Charles H. Watkins, 104 S. Drury, spent the past week vacationing at Lake Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Benedict, 218 S. Drury, are home from a 2-week vacation. The first week was spent in Lincoln, Neb., visiting friends and relatives, and the second week was spent at Miltona Lake near Alexandria, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle W. Ewing, 110 S. Stratford, and their four daughters joined their Stonegate neighbors, the Karl Shuarts and their family of four, at the Outer Banks for a week of camping on Ocracoke Island. Afterwards, the Ewings left to spend a week in Washington D. C., sight-seeing and visiting friends in nearby Falls Church.

Miss Peggy Kelly of Cleveland is spending several days in Arlington Heights visiting her aunt and uncle, the William A. Kellys, 317 S. Stratford.

THE ELDRED KOENIGS, 341 S. Windsor, and their children, Kim, Craig and Kate, recently returned from a 2-day visit to the Wisconsin Dells. Of special interest to the children was the Indian Ceremony and the boat trip through the Dells.

Miss Linda Lockwood, 312 S. Derbyshire, and her fiance, G. Marvin Lowry of Washington, Iowa, will be feted at two more parties before their marriage Aug. 31 in South Church, Mount Prospect.

Her aunt, Mrs. Frank O'Hearn of Evanston will give a spinsters' luncheon this week, and Saturday, another aunt and uncle, the Fred Lockwoods of Barrington, will give a luncheon for members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Mrs. C. S. Cline, 415 S. Belmont, gave her eighth and last children's party, Wednesday, Aug. 21, for her first grade pupils of the Fairview school in Mount Prospect. Mrs. Cline will be leaving the classroom to teach remedial reading. This year's party will be a re-union with some of her former pupils and will be held in the garden of her home.

Assisting as co-hostesses were Mrs. Charles Nelson, who brought a young alumnus, her son, Ross, and Mrs. D. A. Bartell, 404 N. Willie, and Mrs. C. A. Beck, 405 N. Eastwood.

MRS. BENEDICT Chaps, 740 S. Belmont, her son, Doug, and daughter, Nancy, spent the past two weeks in Richland Center, Wis., visiting her mother, Mrs. W. J. Bowen. Mr. Chaps joined his family for the latter part of their stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Doman arrived in Arlington Heights last Friday from Washington D. C. for a visit with her parents, the Ralph E. Clabaughs, 510 S. Beverly.

The Domans had an interesting stay in the East where he had taken a position for the summer. She spent her days doing water color sketches of homes of prominent Washington D. C. residents which she found fun and a successful venture. They will return to Bloomington, Ind. next week where he will resume his studies at the Indiana University and she will go back to her teaching position.

During her stay in Arlington Heights, Mrs. Doman and her mother were hostesses at a surprise wedding shower for Miss Judy Peterson, daughter of the Lloyd Petersens, who will be married to William Colby of Minneapolis Oct. 26 in First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights. Guests included high school friends of both Miss Petersen and Mrs. Doman and their mothers.

MR. AND MRS. O. F. Davenport moved Monday into their new home at 442 Banbury.

Mrs. Earl E. Odal, 734 S. Belmont, and daughter, Marcia, spent four days last week in Galesburg visiting her parents, the John A. Fenterers.

Mrs. Thomas W. Thackery, 612 Bristol, returned last week from the East, where she spent two weeks visiting former Scarsdale neighbors, the F. Hoders of Barrington, R. I. and with the Thomas J. Walshes in Norwalk, Conn.

Vacation plans of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Donchess, 518 S. Belmont, included a 3-week trip to the northwest by train, and included visits to Seattle and Victoria, a tour of Glacier National Park and a 10-day stay at a dude ranch in Montana. Their sons, Jim and Charles, accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Siegel and daughter, Lenaye, bid farewell to their parents, the Fred W. Siegels and the Cyrus E. Hills, this weekend, and left for the East, where Mr. Siegel will be working for his PhD at Harvard University in Cambridge, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Atwood Edwards, 429 Banbury, spent two weeks vacationing in Glen Lake, Mich. During their stay, they visited Scarsdale friends, the Norval Stephens who were also vacationing in nearby Ludington.

THE JOSEPH Sneeds, 441 S. Belmont, entertained 60 guests at a cocktail and buffet supper party Saturday.

The Ray Ericksons, 601 Burton, recently spent 10 days vacationing at Mercer, Wis. where they enjoyed golfing, boating and fishing. Best fisherman in the family proved to be the youngest member, 4-year-old Robby.

Mrs. Gordon Beckley, 737 S. Belmont, and her children, Greg and Debby, recently spent a week at Diamond Lake in Cassopolis, Mich. visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Habicht J.

Mrs. Robert Schwank, 526 S. Dryden, took her four children, Kristi, Jill, Mark and Heidi, to St. Paul for a 2-week visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Markus. She also visited former Scarsdale neighbors, the Robert Bohls, who recently moved to Morningside, Minn. Mr. Schwank joined his family for the last weekend of their stay.

Newcomers to Scarsdale are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Reid, who moved to 600 Lynden Lane August 16, from Beverly, Mass. They are parents of two sons, Bobby, who is stationed in Norfolk, Va. with the Navy, and Tommy, who willl be a sophomore at Arlington High School, and a daughter, Marcie Ann, who will enter second grade at the Dryden school. Mr. Reid is assistant regional manager of the Gold Seal Co. in Chicago.

Word was received here Monday of the death in Redondo Beach, Calif. of Harold Redeker, former Arlington Heights resident with many friends and relatives here. (A

Eastwood Events

A recent visitor to the neighborhood was John Nelson and his father, Wilbur, who formerly lived on Douglas Avenue. Fifteen-year-old John, who now lives with his parents in Pompano Beach, Fla., was in the area for the Men's Outdoor National Championship Swimming Meet in Oak Park.

John and his dad stopped by briefly at the Herman Raasches on N. Dryden, and told them he had qualified for the 1500 meter free style, the 400 meter free style and the 400 meter individual medley. The competition for qualifying for this meet was "real rough" and was a special achievement for one so young as John.

The Raasches' daughter, Barbara, has also been competing in swimming meets. Several weekends ago she and her parents spent the weekend in Bloomington where Barbara swam in the Central AAU Junior Olympics. She placed first in the 13-14 year-old girls' 100-yd. breast stroke, setting a new record. She swam butterfly in the 200-yd. medley, taking first place and setting another new record. She placed third in the 200-yd. free style relay. Barbara represents the Portage Park team from Chicago.

OTHER AREA athlete first place winners are Greg Inman and Rusty Walters, both of Douglas Avenue, who competed in the Waukegan Tennis Tournament. Greg and Rusty won the 18-and-over doubles, and Greg paired up with Bob Von-Boeckman to win the 16-year-old doubles.

Greg's older brother, Bob, also a tennis standout, competed in the Junior Davis Cup with the Chicago team in Cleveland, Ohio.

The Stephen Coha family of N. Beverly Lane and their children, Marny, Diane, Larry, Richard and Joanie, returned recently from an Eastern vacation. Places visited were Washington, D.C., New York, New Jersey and Gettysburg. In Washington they had the thrill of attending the Senate in session and lunching on the celebrated "Bean Soup" in the Senate Cafeteria.

IN NEW YORK they had fun doing all the sight-seeing famouses, such as the Staten Island Ferry, Statue of Liberty and the Music Hall. In New Jersey the Cohas visited with an old school friend of Mrs. Coha's.

Since returning home the Cohas have been hosts to Kathy Donahue, Mrs. Coha's niece from Okinawa. Kathy's parents are Major and Mrs. Robert Donahue, who are stationed on the island with the air force. She has returned to the States to start her freshman year at the University of Illinois this fall. The Cohas are planning to drive her down to Champaign,

Jackie Filley, niece of Mrs. William R. Wood of N. Dryden Avenue, has been visiting here from Kansas City most of the summer. Jackie left for home last Sunday, but she was here long enough to care for the Woods' son, Brian Robert, while Mrs. Wood was in Northwest Community Hospital welcoming a new daughter, Beth Renee, on July 29. Jackie's parents, the Henry Filleys, drove to Arlington to pick her up and visited awhile before leaving for home.

Visitors expected soon at the Wood home to see their new granddaughter are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood from Neenah, Wis.

THIS FRIDAY evening, Aug. 30, Lee Watson Jr., son of former Euclid Avenue resident, Mrs. H. Lee Watson, now of Tuscaloosa, Ala., will be married to Miss Mary Anderson at the Point Loma Presbyterian Church in San Diego, Calif.

The Eastwood Bridge Tournament will soon be starting up again. Each month four couples, making up two tables of bridge, meet in members homes. Anyone interested in playing is asked to call Dorothy Raasch at CLearbrook 3-7312 or Virginia Fritz at CLearbrook 9-2979.

Village Manager L. A. Hanson has advised that North Dryden Avenue will be included in the village's tree replacement program this fall. Many fine trees were lost to the bulldozer when Dryden was "improved." It is good to learn, therefore, that the village will accept its responsibility in replacing the felled trees.

Gets Scout Training in New Mexico

Stewart Grant of Arlington Heights, Vice Chairman, Blackhawk Boy Scout District is taking specialized training in district administration at the Philmont Volunteer Training Center operated by the Boy Scouts of America at Philmont Scout Ranch in the Sangre de Cristo range of the great Rocky Mountain chain in northeastern New Mexico.

National Scouting leaders are instructors for the 1,500 persons who will attend the 22 conferences being offered this summer at the 137,000 acre national Scout camp.

PARTICIPATING in the family program at the Volunter Training Center are Mrs. Grant, Michael, Susan and Patricia.

Grant, who has been active in Scouting for 12 years, is regional credit manager for General Mills. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

Wishes for good luck go to Chip Mertens, 425 S. Gibbons, leaving this week to study at Onarga Military School, 100 miles south of Chicago.

A warm welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. James McArdle, new Arlington Acres residents at 536 S. Phelps. James and Selina McArdle, with Chris, 2, and Joey, 7 months, came to Arlington Heights from Wallingford, Conn. Mr. McArdle is opening a branch office of Eyelet Specialty Division of International Silver in the Chicago area.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schmidt, 515 S. Gibbons, recently returned from a 5-day trip to Badaxe, Mich., their home town which is near Saginaw. The occasion was the wedding of Gerald Schmidt, Carl's brother.

A family cookout was the setting for a double celebration Sunday at the Rick Soukups' of 525 S. Prindle. Aug. 18, Esther's parents, the Gustav Sellmans of Evanston, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary, and Aug. 25 Mr. Sellman observed his 70th birthday. Offering congratulations were their son, Wally, his wife, Jeanne, and their children, Kathy, Sally, Wally and Rosemary Sellman of Chicago; their daughter, Nancy, husband, Loren, and their son, Bruce Welborn of Evanston; also Esther and Rick, their daughters, Kris, Karen and Karla, and Rick's parents, the George Soukups of Palatine.

SANDRA KUNZ, 9, of 505 S. Forrest, has recovered from her tonsillectomy of Aug. 21. Sandy entered St. Joseph Hospital, Elgin, in the morning and went home the same evening.

Susan Thorstad, 412 S. Phelps, celebrated her Aug. 7 birthday belatedly with a pajama party last Wednesday for her girlfriends. Cots and bedrolls turned the Thorstads' recreation room into a dormitory for the night, and the party was climaxed by an outdoor pancake breakfast Thursday morning. Susan's guests were her sister, Janice; Claudia and Cathy Connery, Roberta Novy, Maureen and Diane Cooper, Deborah Ways, and Susan's cousin, Paula Leist, who stayed with the Thorstads until Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Q. Yowell, 441 S. Forrest, entertained Peggy's nephew, Ricky Brown, for three days last week. Ricky, 13, is from Deerfield.

Swimming, boating and water-skiing added up to a busy vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dombrow, Greg, Mike and Julie, 428 S. Prindle. The Dombrows spent a week at a cottage on Bethany Beach, near Sawyer, Mich. The Ernest Johnson family of Chicago accompanied the Dombrows. Mrs. Johnson is Mrs. Dombrow's sister.

MR. AND MRS. Louis Brown and daughter, Pam, 413 S. Gibbons, are home from a trip through Illinois to St. Louis. The Browns toured New Salem near Springfield and saw a Lincoln play at the state park.

While in St. Louis the family saw "West Side Story" at the Municipal Opera, the city's open air theater. The Browns also made St. Louis the starting point for an excursion boat trip down the Mississippi.

The James Brady family, 508 S. Forrest, spent a relaxing week at the home of Mrs. Brady's mother, Mrs. Katherine Allen of Bethel Park, Pa. Jim spent a good part of the week on the golf course, while David, Jimmy and Paul did a lot of swimming. During the week the family visited Mrs. Brady's sister, Mrs. H. A. Wilson of Pittsburgh.

Terry Kulisch, 520 S. Prindle, spread his fifth birthday over several days. The family celebration, attended by his parents, Harry and June Kulisch; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Muenow of Park Ridge and Mrs. Harry Kulisch of Chicago; and his aunt and uncle, the James Lannings of Chicago, took place Aug. 18. Three days later Terry had another party, this one for K. J. Scharf, Kevin Donovan, Missy Slusser, Nancy Johnson and Beth Ann Harmon.

THE HOLT family, 421 S. Prindle, is home again after a trip to New York and Ontario. They visited relatives in Jamestown, N. Y., then crossed over to Canada to see Niagara Falls. Jana and Doug especially enjoyed the boat trip under Horseshoe Falls. From Niagara the Holts traveled to London, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. James K. Finley and children, 425 S. Prindle, have had a busy week. With Michael, Peter and Beth Anne, they spent five days in Decatur with the children's grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Finley. A small family celebration in Decatur marked James Finley's Aug. 21 birthday.

Michael Finley turned 6 Aug. 19 and celebrated Saturday. Rain spoiled plans for a trip to Adventureland, so Michael and his guests went instead to see "Flipper." Attending the party were Mike's brother, Peter, Boby McMullen, Ricky and Pam Sievert, Gary Kremer, Doug Holt and Kathy Hanson.

The Finleys finished off the week by attending a family get-together at Gary for 50 guests.

HAPPY anniversary wishes go to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Richardson, 520 S. Phelps, married 12 years on Aug. 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pipkin, Polly and Frank, 508 S. Prindle, spent five days at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krehbiel, Mrs. Pipkin's parents, at Camdentown, Mo. The Krehbiel home is on Lake of the Ozarks, and the Pipkins took advantage of swimming, fishing and boating facilities.

Happy seventh anniversary goes to Mr. and Mrs. James A. Moller, 416 S. Prindle, celebrating Aug. 25. The Mollers have just returned from two weeks with Carol's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Hudec, at Red Lake, Minn. (A

Parks to Teach Square Dancing

The Arlington Heights Park District will offer square dance lessons as a new part of the fall recreational program.

The announcement was made this week by Bill Appleby, superintendent of recreation for the district. Classes are scheduled to begin Monday, Sept. 9, from 8 to 10:30 p.m. at the Recreation Park fieldhouse.

CLASSES WILL be instructed by Merrill (Tib) Tibbetts, a professional caller. The course will consist of 16 lessons, lasting two and a half hours apiece, and cost $16 per couple.

Three local square dance clubs are cooperating with the park district in presentation of the new activity: the Swingin' Squares, Arlington Squares and Palatine Squares.

Interested persons may join the class by calling or visiting the park district office, 500 S. Fernandez, CL 3-0620. (A

Laundry Rooms Soak Up Vacation Tans of Surveyed Moms

Results of a recent telephone survey show why most just-home-from-vacation mothers lose their newly-acquired tans so soon. Two weeks' worth of vacation-mussed clothes is why. Immediately upon her return home Mom disappears into the laundry room and isn't heard from again until some social columnist calls and asks brightly, "Been doing anything interesting lately?"

The only less-than-wonderful aspect of the Peter Eriksen family vacation, aside from the laundry detail, was catching 21 Rainbow Trout and not being able to bring them home. The Colorado dude ranch where the family stayed for two weeks had everything from horses to dancing; but not the dry ice so necessary for trout transporting. It was still the best vacation the family had had in years, according to everybody at 5 W. Orchard. They reluctantly returned last Thursday.

Enroute home Mr. and Mrs. Eriksen had a 22nd wedding anniversary, an Aug. 20 event, which they celebrated with a dinner-out occasion in Chicago over the weekend.

REPORTS FROM the Robert Muldoon household at 702 S. Mitchell indicate such a busy summer that sorting out the details and setting them down correctly takes a bit of doing. The family had an early July vacation, came home with out-of-town guests right on their heels, then trailed the departing guests to Fort Wayne for a visit there and came home to more house guesting.

Right now the Muldoons' daughter and her family, the Joseph Whitacres, Laura Ann and Little Joe of Springfield, Ohio, are visiting here. They arrived Friday for a 2-week stay. Mrs. Muldoon had barely made it home from the Fort Wayne visit in time to greet her daughter. Earlier this month the Mulddons' son, Robert Jr., with his wife and son, Rob Jr., of Kalamazoo, Mich. were here for a week's visit that overlapped with the weekend visit of Fort Wayne friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harry O'Morrow. When the O'Morrows pulled out of the Muldoon driveway, Mrs. Muldoon was right behind them, beginning her Fort Wayne trip.

Somewhere betwixt and between, the Muldoons enjoyed the surprise weekend visit of friends they hadn't seen for 27 years, and a long and hilarious "remember when -" session developed. Otherwise the summer has been dull for Mr. and Mrs. Muldoon of 702 S. Mitchell.

THE DONALD Armstrong family is home again at 907 S. Dunton after a 2-week, 6300-mile motor tour to and through the West. Their to-the-west-coast route took them via the Grand Canyon trail and allowed time for stops at Pike's Peak, the canyon and Las Vegas.

In the Los Angeles area they visited two former Arlington Heights families, the Ray Tagtmeiers, now in Canoga Park, and the Walter Oetzells of the San Fernando Valley in Northridge. Both families asked that their greetings to old friends here be relayed to them via the Armstrongs.

A day at Disneyland and other visits to lesser points of interest in the area added a few more miles before the Armstrongs began the coastal drive to the San Francisco area for more sightseeing. They took the Salt Lake City route home, visiting with friends in Cedar Springs, Iowa before beginning the last lap to Arlington Heights.

MRS. FRANK Zale of Phoenix is here for a visit with her daughter and family, the Theodore Mendls, 745 S. Vail, and other relatives in the area.

The George Kendall family returned to 733 S. Dunton last Tuesday, reluctantly ending one of their finest vacations. They had "the time of our lives" at a dude ranch in Winter Park, Colo. where everything, including the weather, seemed dedicated to their pleasure.

The trip to the ranch included stops in the Badlands and the Black Hills, and the return route was through Rocky Mountain National Park. Only the fact they were heading away from the ranch made the Rocky Mountain tour less than perfect.

Sharon and Marilyn Smith came home to 909 S. Dunton last Thursday after two weeks with family friends in Long View, Wash. The girls gave each other the trip as graduation presents, Sharon being a recent graduate in nursing and Marilyn a 1963 high school graduate.

The girls made lots of side trips from their home base in Long View and enjoyed seeing the permanent "left-overs" from the World's Fair in Seattle.

THE JOHN KRAMER family, 919 S. Evergreen, returned last Tuesday from a month's vacation in the East. They toured some of the historic sites in West Virginia, then visited in Mrs. Kramer's home in Virginia before going to Ocean City, N. J. for the balance of their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Latta and the two boys came home to 805 N. Chestnut Friday after sharing a camp site in Wisconsin with congenial fellow-campers, a few bears and lots of pan fish. Fishing was just picking up as they left, but when the fish didn't cooperate there was canoeing, swimming or that all-American vacation favorite, loafing to keep them busy.

Recent visitors in the M. R. Kephart home, 801 S. Evergreen were Mrs. Kephart's brother, Paul Carroll of Huntsville, Ala., and the Rev. Clarence Green, recently of the Holy Lands. Mr. Carroll is currently travelling with the pastor, who for seven years has been the head of a missionary in the Holy Lands and is now on a lecture tour of the United States.

During his stay with the Kepharts, Pastor Green showed many of the slides he uses in his lecturing and provided the family with many hours of fascinating entertainment.

THE JUNIOR Willard Meyer, 1001 N. Dunton, recently enjoyed a day's visit with his twin brother, Richard, in Capuchian Seminary of St. Mary in Crown Point. Richard, who has taken the name Frater Theophilus, and Willard, studying at St. Mary of the Lake Seminary in Mundelein, are studying for the priesthood; Richard has five years of study until his ordination and Willard, returning soon to Mundelein, has four years left.

Mrs. Howard Lips, 1215 N. Chestnut, was hostess last week to eight fellow PEO members at a luncheon in her home that combined PEO business with showing her new home. Mr. and Mrs. Lips recently moved from 711 N. Evergreen, and have entertained local friends on several "new house showing" occasions in the past weeks.

Between enjoying luncheon and the hostess' new home, the PEO chapter made final plans for its Sept. 14 morning rummage sale to be held in the former Gieseke store.

AFTER THE luncheon the rummage sale took a temporary back seat in Mrs. Lips' interest as she helped two daughters prepare for their roles as Saturday bridesmaids, and packed one of them for a return to the East this week. The bridesmaid detail was complicated by the fact that the girls were serving in different wedding parties at different times in different places.

Nancy was part of the 4 o'clock nuptials of a friend being married in Crete, and Judy served Miss Gail Smith of Arlington Heights at her 8 o'clock wedding in the First Presbyterian Church Saturday evening. Judy leaves this week for West Hartford, Conn. where she resumes teaching, Nancy graduates Sept. 5 from Presbyterian-St. Luke's School of Nursing and their mother resumes thinking about the rummage sale Sept. 6.

A "CO-OP" barbecue at the Howard Zacharius home, 1321 N. Mitchell, followed a hayride party Saturday evening that was mutually given and enjoyed by 10 neighborhood couples. Although the rain and wind shift earlier in the day made the hayride a bit damp and chilly, everyone had fun and then warmed up with the barbecue, dancing and games that climaxed the evening.

Miss Sharon Barrett of Council Bluffs, Iowa, fiancee of Thomas Muran, 1319 N. Dunton, shared a party Sunday with a future uncle-in-law, Nick Herff, who is here with his family from California for a 2-week visit. The Murans joined about 50 other relatives in showering Miss Barrett with miscellaneous gifts at a party in Buffalo Grove, at the same time enjoying the reunion with the Herffs.

Among other local relatives adding to the double-barrelled fun Sunday was Herff's and Mrs. Muran's father, Nick Sr., who makes his home with the Murans. Sprightly, 85-year-old Grandpa is looking forward to the Oct. 12 wedding of his grandson and Miss Barrett, and a possible winter vacation in California with his son.

BRIDE-ELECT Miss Patricia Barker, daughter of the Donald Barkers, 635 S. Walnut, has been feted at two recent prenuptial parties given here and in St. Charles.

Hostesses at the first party, a surprise kitchen and linen shower given Aug. 11, were bridesmaids-to-be, Mrs. Wilbur Johnson and Miss Betty Burni. Since the party was assembled and given in the home of the bride-elect, the fact that the surprise element was successful is surprising in itself. Enjoying Miss Barker's total amazement were 30 former classmates, relatives and friends of the Barker family.

Miss Barker was next feted Aug. 14 at a miscellaneous shower, not intended as a surprise, given by sisters of the groom, Richard Baker, in the Baker home in St. Charles. Guests of Mrs. Jerome Dupuis and Mrs. Beryl Scott were 20 friends and members of the groom's family.

Miss Barker will change her name hardly at all Sept. 6 in the marriage ceremony to be performed in the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights.

VIVIAN AND Vince Weidner shared weekend parties in their home, 1135 N. Dunton, as relatives and friends offered birthday best wishes to the young pair. Vivian, self-named "VeeVee," was 2 years old Sunday, and her big brother was 11 Monday, and there were parties Friday, Saturday and Sunday. VeeVee thoroughly enjoyed all the excitement, but wonders why it stopped so suddenly Monday.

Three summertime baby showers for Mrs. Dale Meyer, 911 E. Miner, have provided the September-due little Meyer with ample he-or-she clothes and furnishings. Beginning the party fun was a surprise luncheon for 15 given in mid-July by Mrs.

Meyer's sisters-in-law, Mrs. Glen Meyer, Mrs. Roger Meyer and Mrs. Donald Armstrong in the Armstrong home, 907 S. Dunton. Guests were members of the family of father-to-be.

Early in August Mrs. Meyer's aunt, Mrs. George Bachum of Mount Prospect, was hostess at a luncheon for 12 happy aunts - and cousins -to-be who showered the honor guest with baby gifts.

A final shower was given Sunday by seven Chicago aunts of Mrs. Meyer in the Mount Prospect home of her mother, Mrs. Marvin Dawson. Guests were Chicago and local relatives of the Dawson side of the baby's expectant family.

The Charles H. Watkins, 104 S. Drury, spent the past week vacationing at Lake Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Benedict, 218 S. Drury, are home from a 2-week vacation. The first week was spent in Lincoln, Neb., visiting friends and relatives, and the second week was spent at Miltona Lake near Alexandria, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle W. Ewing, 110 S. Stratford, and their four daughters joined their Stonegate neighbors, the Karl Shuarts and their family of four, at the Outer Banks for a week of camping on Ocracoke Island. Afterwards, the Ewings left to spend a week in Washington D. C., sight-seeing and visiting friends in nearby Falls Church.

Miss Peggy Kelly of Cleveland is spending several days in Arlington Heights visiting her aunt and uncle, the William A. Kellys, 317 S. Stratford.

THE ELDRED KOENIGS, 341 S. Windsor, and their children, Kim, Craig and Kate, recently returned from a 2-day visit to the Wisconsin Dells. Of special interest to the children was the Indian Ceremony and the boat trip through the Dells.

Miss Linda Lockwood, 312 S. Derbyshire, and her fiance, G. Marvin Lowry of Washington, Iowa, will be feted at two more parties before their marriage Aug. 31 in South Church, Mount Prospect.

Her aunt, Mrs. Frank O'Hearn of Evanston will give a spinsters' luncheon this week, and Saturday, another aunt and uncle, the Fred Lockwoods of Barrington, will give a luncheon for members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Mrs. C. S. Cline, 415 S. Belmont, gave her eighth and last children's party, Wednesday, Aug. 21, for her first grade pupils of the Fairview school in Mount Prospect. Mrs. Cline will be leaving the classroom to teach remedial reading. This year's party will be a re-union with some of her former pupils and will be held in the garden of her home.

Assisting as co-hostesses were Mrs. Charles Nelson, who brought a young alumnus, her son, Ross, and Mrs. D. A. Bartell, 404 N. Willie, and Mrs. C. A. Beck, 405 N. Eastwood.

MRS. BENEDICT Chaps, 740 S. Belmont, her son, Doug, and daughter, Nancy, spent the past two weeks in Richland Center, Wis., visiting her mother, Mrs. W. J. Bowen. Mr. Chaps joined his family for the latter part of their stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Doman arrived in Arlington Heights last Friday from Washington D. C. for a visit with her parents, the Ralph E. Clabaughs, 510 S. Beverly.

The Domans had an interesting stay in the East where he had taken a position for the summer. She spent her days doing water color sketches of homes of prominent Washington D. C. residents which she found fun and a successful venture. They will return to Bloomington, Ind. next week where he will resume his studies at the Indiana University and she will go back to her teaching position.

During her stay in Arlington Heights, Mrs. Doman and her mother were hostesses at a surprise wedding shower for Miss Judy Peterson, daughter of the Lloyd Petersens, who will be married to William Colby of Minneapolis Oct. 26 in First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights. Guests included high school friends of both Miss Petersen and Mrs. Doman and their mothers.

MR. AND MRS. O. F. Davenport moved Monday into their new home at 442 Banbury.

Mrs. Earl E. Odal, 734 S. Belmont, and daughter, Marcia, spent four days last week in Galesburg visiting her parents, the John A. Fenterers.

Mrs. Thomas W. Thackery, 612 Bristol, returned last week from the East, where she spent two weeks visiting former Scarsdale neighbors, the F. Hoders of Barrington, R. I. and with the Thomas J. Walshes in Norwalk, Conn.

Vacation plans of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Donchess, 518 S. Belmont, included a 3-week trip to the northwest by train, and included visits to Seattle and Victoria, a tour of Glacier National Park and a 10-day stay at a dude ranch in Montana. Their sons, Jim and Charles, accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Siegel and daughter, Lenaye, bid farewell to their parents, the Fred W. Siegels and the Cyrus E. Hills, this weekend, and left for the East, where Mr. Siegel will be working for his PhD at Harvard University in Cambridge, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Atwood Edwards, 429 Banbury, spent two weeks vacationing in Glen Lake, Mich. During their stay, they visited Scarsdale friends, the Norval Stephens who were also vacationing in nearby Ludington.

THE JOSEPH Sneeds, 441 S. Belmont, entertained 60 guests at a cocktail and buffet supper party Saturday.

The Ray Ericksons, 601 Burton, recently spent 10 days vacationing at Mercer, Wis. where they enjoyed golfing, boating and fishing. Best fisherman in the family proved to be the youngest member, 4-year-old Robby.

Mrs. Gordon Beckley, 737 S. Belmont, and her children, Greg and Debby, recently spent a week at Diamond Lake in Cassopolis, Mich. visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Habicht Jr.

Mrs. Robert Schwank, 526 S. Dryden, took her four children, Kristi, Jill, Mark and Heidi, to St. Paul for a 2-week visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Markus. She also visited former Scarsdale neighbors, the Robert Bohls, who recently moved to Morningside, Minn. Mr. Schwank joined his family for the last weekend of their stay.

Newcomers to Scarsdale are Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Reid, who moved to 600 Lynden Lane August 16, from Beverly, Mass. They are parents of two sons, Bobby, who is stationed in Norfolk, Va. with the Navy, and Tommy, who willl be a sophomore at Arlington High School, and a daughter, Marcie Ann, who will enter second grade at the Dryden school. Mr. Reid is assistant regional manager of the Gold Seal Co. in Chicago.

Word was received here Monday of the death in Redondo Beach, Calif. of Harold Redeker, former Arlington Heights resident with many friends and relatives here. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

Wishes for good luck go to Chip Mertens, 425 S. Gibbons, leaving this week to study at Onarga Military School, 100 miles south of Chicago.

A warm welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. James McArdle, new Arlington Acres residents at 536 S. Phelps. James and Selina McArdle, with Chris, 2, and Joey, 7 months, came to Arlington Heights from Wallingford, Conn. Mr. McArdle is opening a branch office of Eyelet Specialty Division of International Silver in the Chicago area.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schmidt, 515 S. Gibbons, recently returned from a 5-day trip to Badaxe, Mich., their home town which is near Saginaw. The occasion was the wedding of Gerald Schmidt, Carl's brother.

A family cookout was the setting for a double celebration Sunday at the Rick Soukups' of 525 S. Prindle. Aug. 18, Esther's parents, the Gustav Sellmans of Evanston, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary, and Aug. 25 Mr. Sellman observed his 70th birthday. Offering congratulations were their son, Wally, his wife, Jeanne, and their children, Kathy, Sally, Wally and Rosemary Sellman of Chicago; their daughter, Nancy, husband, Loren, and their son, Bruce Welborn of Evanston; also Esther and Rick, their daughters, Kris, Karen and Karla, and Rick's parents, the George Soukups of Palatine.

SANDRA KUNZ, 9, of 505 S. Forrest, has recovered from her tonsillectomy of Aug. 21. Sandy entered St. Joseph Hospital, Elgin, in the morning and went home the same evening.

Susan Thorstad, 412 S. Phelps, celebrated her Aug. 7 birthday belatedly with a pajama party last Wednesday for her girlfriends. Cots and bedrolls turned the Thorstads' recreation room into a dormitory for the night, and the party was climaxed by an outdoor pancake breakfast Thursday morning. Susan's guests were her sister, Janice; Claudia and Cathy Connery, Roberta Novy, Maureen and Diane Cooper, Deborah Ways, and Susan's cousin, Paula Leist, who stayed with the Thorstads until Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Q. Yowell, 441 S. Forrest, entertained Peggy's nephew, Ricky Brown, for three days last week. Ricky, 13, is from Deerfield.

Swimming, boating and water-skiing added up to a busy vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dombrow, Greg, Mike and Julie, 428 S. Prindle. The Dombrows spent a week at a cottage on Bethany Beach, near Sawyer, Mich. The Ernest Johnson family of Chicago accompanied the Dombrows. Mrs. Johnson is Mrs. Dombrow's sister.

MR. AND MRS. Louis Brown and daughter, Pam, 413 S. Gibbons, are home from a trip through Illinois to St. Louis. The Browns toured New Salem near Springfield and saw a Lincoln play at the state park.

While in St. Louis the family saw "West Side Story" at the Municipal Opera, the city's open air theater. The Browns also made St. Louis the starting point for an excursion boat trip down the Mississippi.

The James Brady family, 508 S. Forrest, spent a relaxing week at the home of Mrs. Brady's mother, Mrs. Katherine Allen of Bethel Park, Pa. Jim spent a good part of the week on the golf course, while David, Jimmy and Paul did a lot of swimming. During the week the family visited Mrs. Brady's sister, Mrs. H. A. Wilson of Pittsburgh.

Terry Kulisch, 520 S. Prindle, spread his fifth birthday over several days. The family celebration, attended by his parents, Harry and June Kulisch; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Muenow of Park Ridge and Mrs. Harry Kulisch of Chicago; and his aunt and uncle, the James Lannings of Chicago, took place Aug. 18. Three days later Terry had another party, this one for K. J. Scharf, Kevin Donovan, Missy Slusser, Nancy Johnson and Beth Ann Harmon.

THE HOLT family, 421 S. Prindle, is home again after a trip to New York and Ontario. They visited relatives in Jamestown, N. Y., then crossed over to Canada to see Niagara Falls. Jana and Doug especially enjoyed the boat trip under Horseshoe Falls. From Niagara the Holts traveled to London, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. James K. Finley and children, 425 S. Prindle, have had a busy week. With Michael, Peter and Beth Anne, they spent five days in Decatur with the children's grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. K. Finley. A small family celebration in Decatur marked James Finley's Aug. 21 birthday.

Michael Finley turned 6 Aug. 19 and celebrated Saturday. Rain spoiled plans for a trip to Adventureland, so Michael and his guests went instead to see "Flipper." Attending the party were Mike's brother, Peter, Boby McMullen, Ricky and Pam Sievert, Gary Kremer, Doug Holt and Kathy Hanson.

The Finleys finished off the week by attending a family get-together at Gary for 50 guests.

HAPPY anniversary wishes go to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Richardson, 520 S. Phelps, married 12 years on Aug. 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pipkin, Polly and Frank, 508 S. Prindle, spent five days at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Krehbiel, Mrs. Pipkin's parents, at Camdentown, Mo. The Krehbiel home is on Lake of the Ozarks, and the Pipkins took advantage of swimming, fishing and boating facilities.

Happy seventh anniversary goes to Mr. and Mrs. James A. Moller, 416 S. Prindle, celebrating Aug. 25. The Mollers have just returned from two weeks with Carol's grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Hudec, at Red Lake, Minn. (A

Eastwood Events

A recent visitor to the neighborhood was John Nelson and his father, Wilbur, who formerly lived on Douglas Avenue. Fifteen-year-old John, who now lives with his parents in Pompano Beach, Fla., was in the area for the Men's Outdoor National Championship Swimming Meet in Oak Park.

John and his dad stopped by briefly at the Herman Raasches on N. Dryden, and told them he had qualified for the 1500 meter free style, the 400 meter free style and the 400 meter individual medley. The competition for qualifying for this meet was "real rough" and was a special achievement for one so young as John.

The Raasches' daughter, Barbara, has also been competing in swimming meets. Several weekends ago she and her parents spent the weekend in Bloomington where Barbara swam in the Central AAU Junior Olympics. She placed first in the 13-14 year-old girls' 100-yd. breast stroke, setting a new record. She swam butterfly in the 200-yd. medley, taking first place and setting another new record. She placed third in the 200-yd. free style relay. Barbara represents the Portage Park team from Chicago.

OTHER AREA athlete first place winners are Greg Inman and Rusty Walters, both of Douglas Avenue, who competed in the Waukegan Tennis Tournament. Greg and Rusty won the 18-and-over doubles, and Greg paired up with Bob Von-Boeckman to win the 16-year-old doubles.

Greg's older brother, Bob, also a tennis standout, competed in the Junior Davis Cup with the Chicago team in Cleveland, Ohio.

The Stephen Coha family of N. Beverly Lane and their children, Marny, Diane, Larry, Richard and Joanie, returned recently from an Eastern vacation. Places visited were Washington, D.C., New York, New Jersey and Gettysburg. In Washington they had the thrill of attending the Senate in session and lunching on the celebrated "Bean Soup" in the Senate Cafeteria.

IN NEW YORK they had fun doing all the sight-seeing famouses, such as the Staten Island Ferry, Statue of Liberty and the Music Hall. In New Jersey the Cohas visited with an old school friend of Mrs. Coha's.

Since returning home the Cohas have been hosts to Kathy Donahue, Mrs. Coha's niece from Okinawa. Kathy's parents are Major and Mrs. Robert Donahue, who are stationed on the island with the air force. She has returned to the States to start her freshman year at the University of Illinois this fall. The Cohas are planning to drive her down to Champaign.

Jackie Filley, niece of Mrs. William R. Wood of N. Dryden Avenue, has been visiting here from Kansas City most of the summer. Jackie left for home last Sunday, but she was here long enough to care for the Woods' son, Brian Robert, while Mrs. Wood was in Northwest Community Hospital welcoming a new daughter, Beth Renee, on July 29. Jackie's parents, the Henry Filleys, drove to Arlington to pick her up and visited awhile before leaving for home.

Visitors expected soon at the Wood home to see their new granddaughter are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood from Neenah, Wis.

THIS FRIDAY evening, Aug. 30, Lee Watson Jr., son of former Euclid Avenue resident, Mrs. H. Lee Watson, now of Tuscaloosa, Ala., will be married to Miss Mary Anderson at the Point Loma Presbyterian Church in San Diego, Calif.

The Eastwood Bridge Tournament will soon be starting up again. Each month four couples, making up two tables of bridge, meet in members homes. Anyone interested in playing is asked to call Dorothy Raasch at CLearbrook 3-7312 or Virginia Fritz at CLearbrook 9-2979.

Village Manager L. A. Hanson has advised that North Dryden Avenue will be included in the village's tree replacement program this fall. Many fine trees were lost to the bulldozer when Dryden was "improved." It is good to learn, therefore, that the village will accept its responsibility in replacing the felled trees.

Gets Scout Training in New Mexico

Stewart Grant of Arlington Heights, Vice Chairman, Blackhawk Boy Scout District is taking specialized training in district administration at the Philmont Volunteer Training Center operated by the Boy Scouts of America at Philmont Scout Ranch in the Sangre de Cristo range of the great Rocky Mountain chain in northeastern New Mexico.

National Scouting leaders are instructors for the 1,500 persons who will attend the 22 conferences being offered this summer at the 137,000 acre national Scout camp.

PARTICIPATING in the family program at the Volunteer Training Center are Mrs. Grant, Michael, Susan and Patricia.

Grant, who has been active in Scouting for 12 years, is regional credit manager for General Mills. (A

Parks to Teach Square Dancing

The Arlington Heights Park District will offer square dance lessons as a new part of the fall recreational program.

The announcement was made this week by Bill Appleby, superintendent of recreation for the district. Classes are scheduled to begin Monday, Sept. 9, from 8 to 10:30 p.m. at the Recreation Park fieldhouse.

CLASSES WILL be instructed by Merrill (Tib) Tibbetts, a professional caller. The course will consist of 16 lessons, lasting two and a half hours apiece, and cost $16 per couple.

Three local square dance clubs are cooperating with the park district in presentation of the new activity: the Swingin' Squares, Arlington Squares and Palatine Squares.

Interested persons may join the class by calling or visiting the park district office, 500 S. Fernandez, CL 3-0620. (A

900 New Cases a Month

Kerr-Mills Medical Aid Program Enters 3rd Year

by BRUCE B. BAKKE

United Press International

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., (UPI) — The controversial Kerr-Mills program of medical care for the aged, after a slow start, has leveled off at about 900 new cases a month in Illinois.

The Illinois program now is in its third year. It was started Aug. 1, 1961, when Gov. Otto Kerner signed the Arrington-Kaplan bills implementing federal Kerr-Mills legislation for Illinois. Although the program was initiated with a fanfare of publicity, there were only 49 applicants for medical care the first month.

The total climbed steadily until about six months ago, when it leveled off near 900 applications a month. One month there were more than a thousand applications and sometimes there have been slightly over 800.

The cost of the program for the first two years is not yet known, since payments have not been made on many recent cases. Many applications are submitted late, according to a spokesman for the Illinois Public Aid Department, which administers the program. However, through April, 1963, the most recent month for which complete figures are available, the program had handled 5,304 unduplicated cases.

THE PROGRAM had cost $3,537,602 through April. The average payment per case was $666.97. No payments were made before November, 1961.

In Illinois, the program now is limited to:

1. Hospital care, and
2. Care by a physician during hospitalization in downstate hospitals and care by a physician for 30 days after the patient's released from the hospital in all counties.

Gershom Hurwitz of the Department of Public Aid said department officials now were considering an increase in the services. Such an increase is dependent upon the availability of funds. The appropriation for the coming two years is $20.8 million.

The program is available to persons 65 or over. If they are already receiving public assistance, they are ineligible, but may apply for medical aid under the Kerr-Mills program instead of under the old age public assistance program. Payment is made only for medical expenses which exceed 10 per cent of a qualified person's income and are not payable by insurance.

TO BE QUALIFIED, an applicant for the program must not make more than $1,800 a year if living alone or $2,400 if living with a spouse or other dependent. His property and other resources may not exceed $1,800 in value if living alone or $2,400 if living with another dependent. Clothing, a homestead, household effects and automobiles are deducted from the property limitation.

Also deducted from this consideration is tangible personal property used in earning an income having a fair market value of $1,000 or less.

Hurwitz said the program in Illinois is to help aged persons, who can take care of their ordinary living expenses, meet extra costs created by illness. Without such assistance, he said, the expenses incurred by sickness could put many persons on public aid for the rest of their lives.

HE SAID the majority of the persons under the program were "just above the fringe" of public assistance.

There is very little fraud in this program, Hurwitz said. "Old folks in this age level are very proud and very honest," he explained.

"There have been cases where they have returned their monthly relief checks to us because they got a little money that month from a son or daughter, or because they were able to earn a little bit."

Profit Reported By Insurance Firm

Investors Security Life Insurance Co., last week reported a net profit after provision for dividends to its policyholders of $44,235.61 for the first six months of 1963, acording to its founders, James H. Hall and Garry F. Connell Jr.

The report was released today at the close of the Arlington Heghts firm's quarterly board meeting.

Showing a profit during the first four years of its operation is considered an unusual achievement for a life insurance company, the two founders said. Investors was founded August 5, 1959.

Hall indicated the net profit follows provisions for dividends to policyholders of $75,346.79 for the remainder of the current year (Dec. 31) and $81,048.92 for the first six months of next year (June 30).

During the past three months sales amounted to $13,349,763 — May, $4,623,135, June $4,253,676 and July $4,472,925.

On the basis of this, more than $1,000,000 per week in sales which has been maintained over the past three months, officials of the company predict second behalf sales of the Illinois firm to be even higher than those during the first half of the year.

In its year-end statement Dec. 31, Investors Security had reported life insurance written and in force of $155,900,000. Today, as of June 30, Hall reported that figure had climbed to $165,000,000.

Income to the company during the first six months of the year totaled $1,447,509. Endowment, death and other benefits to policyholders amounted to $417,988.

Policy reserves increased to 1,766,516 during the six-month period. Capital and surplus funds rose to $1,289,446. (A

92 New Teachers Attend Workshop

With the arrival of 92 teachers new to the High School District 214 on Monday, Aug. 26, the teachers' fall workshop officially got under way. Meeting with the new teachers in the schools to which they have been assigned were the principals, assistant principals, department chairmen and any second year teachers interested in attending.

On Tuesday, approximately 300 returning teachers joined with the new teachers in their respective high schools for a general meting.

On Monday the newly hired teachers of the district were guests of the Teachers Association at a luncheon held at the Old Orchard Country Club. The objectives of the association were explained and teachers invited to join.

OPEN WORK sessions were held during the four-day workshop to permit district-wide committee meetings and other special meetings involving faculty of more than one high school to get together and plan their activities for the 1963-64 school year.

Following the work shop on Tuesday a faculty golf tournament was held.

Tomorow (Friday), teachers from Forest View, Prospect and Arlington High Schools will all come together at Arlington High for a combined breakfast, combined department meeting and a final general meeting of the Teacher's Association.

Assessor's Trailer To Visit Township

The county assessor's mobile office will be parked at the Wheeling Township Hall, 1818 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, on Sept. 10-13 and Sept. 16-20.

The primary purpose of the mobile unit is to bring the county assessor's records direct to those property owners living in the outlying areas, as it is often a hardship to make the long trip downtown to obtain the desired information.

IN ADDITION, the field office is used in making field surveys to ascertain if all improvements are assessed and also in appraising new construction covered by local building permits.

All taxpayers seeking information about their assessment should bring along their last tax bill or their permanent number card to expedite pulling their property record card from the files.

All taxpayers are invited to visit the mobile office and discuss with the staff any problems relating to their assessment.

Attorney to Speak On Aid to Latins

Antonio R. Sarabia, an attorney specializing in international commercial law, will discuss the Alliance for Progress at 8 p.m. Sept. 12 at a public meeting at Recreation Park, 500 E. Miner St., Arlington Heights.

The meeting is sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights and Palatine.

SARABIA is a professor of international law at John Marshall Law School and author of a number of articles concerning international commercial law that have appeared in legal journals.

The meeting on Sept. 2 is open to both men and women. Interested citizens may obtain further information by calling Mrs. Keith Atkins, HE 7-4385, or Mrs. Paul Erler, FL 8-3508.

Handwriting Analyst To Speak

The Women's Guild of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, Palatine and Schoenbeck Roads, Prospect Heights, will meet Thursday, Sept. 5, at 8 p.m. in the church's social hall.

Miss Elvira Behrens of Arlington Heights, a certified graphoanalyst, will speak on graphanalysis and will be available for personal analysis during the refreshment period.

OPENING devotions will be led by Mrs. Alex Liesik and a descussion on the topic "How to Read the Bible" will follow.

Refreshment hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Al Griesch, Mrs. Arthur Streccius and Mrs. Eugene Wiecek.

All Guild members and ladies of the congregation are invited to attend the first session of the fall program. (ACM

Kerr-Mills Medical Aid Program Enters 3rd Year

Also deducted from this consideration is tangible personal property used in earning an income having a fair market value of $1,000 or less.

Hurwitz said the program in Illinois is to help aged persons, who can take care of their ordinary living expenses, meet extra costs created by illness. Without such assistance, he said, the expenses incurred by sickness could put many persons on public aid for the rest of their lives.

HE SAID the majority of the persons under the program were "just above the fringe" of public assistance.

There is very little fraud in this program, Hurwitz said. "Old folks in this age level are very proud and very honest," he explained.

"There have been cases where they have returned their monthly relief checks to us because they got a little money that month from a son or daughter, or because they were able to earn a little bit."

Profit Reported By Insurance Firm

Investors Security Life Insurance Co., last week reported a net profit after provision for dividends to its policyholders of $44,235.61 for the first six months of 1963, acording to its founders, James H. Hall and Garry F. Connell Jr.

The report was released today at the close of the Arlington Heghts firm's quarterly board meeting.

Showing a profit during the first four years of its operation is considered an unusual achievement for a life insurance company, the two founders said. Investors was founded August 5, 1959.

Hall indicated the net profit follows provisions for dividends to policyholders of $75,346.79 for the remainder of the current year (Dec. 31) and $81,048.92 for the first six months of next year (June 30).

During the past three months sales amounted to $13,349,763 — May, $4,623,135, June $4,253,676 and July $4,472,925.

On the basis of this, more than $1,000,000 per week in sales which has been maintained over the past three months, officials of the company predict second behalf sales of the Illinois firm to be even higher than those during the first half of the year.

In its year-end statement Dec. 31, Investors Security had reported life insurance written and in force of $155,900,000. Today, as of June 30, Hall reported that figure had climbed to $165,000,000.

Income to the company during the first six months of the year totaled $1,447,509. Endowment, death and other benefits to policyholders amounted to $417,988.

Policy reserves increased to 1,766,516 during the six-month period. Capital and surplus funds rose to $1,289,446. (A

92 New Teachers Attend Workshop

With the arrival of 92 teachers new to the High School District 214 on Monday, Aug. 26, the teachers' fall workshop officially got under way. Meeting with the new teachers in the schools to which they have been assigned were the principals, assistant principals, department chairmen and any second year teachers interested in attending.

On Tuesday, approximately 300 returning teachers joined with the new teachers in their respective high schools for a general meting.

On Monday the newly hired teachers of the district were guests of the Teachers Association at a luncheon held at the Old Orchard Country Club. The objectives of the association were explained and teachers invited to join.

OPEN WORK sessions were held during the four-day workshop to permit district-wide committee meetings and other special meetings involving faculty of more than one high school to get together and plan their activities for the 1963-64 school year.

Following the work shop on Tuesday a faculty golf tournament was held.

Tomorow (Friday), teachers from Forest View, Prospect and Arlington High Schools will all come together at Arlington High for a combined breakfast, combined department meeting and a final general meeting of the Teacher's Association.

FARM ACCIDENTS ARE COVERED BY

Paddock Publications
Suburbanite Emergency Protection
Personal Accident Policy

ISSUED EXCLUSIVELY TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS AND THEIR FAMILY HOUSEHOLD MEMBERS

- The farmer is constantly exposed to accident hazards while working around the barns and in the field with mechanized equipment such as the automobile, truck, tractor, planter, cultivator, picker, sheller, combine, conveyer, pumps and tools. Care of fowl and animals often results in the farmer being bitten, kicked, gored or trampled.
- The entire family should have this protection—man, woman and children.
- Policy will help pay those expenses resulting from bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike at home, while traveling, at work, on the farm, at school, or at play.
- Subject to its provisions, the policy includes indemnity for: Loss of Life, from $500 to $10,000; Loss of Limb, $250 to $10,000; Loss of Sight, $175 to $10,000; Total Disability, up to $500, pro-rated on a daily basis; First Aid, up to $5 for non-disabling injury; Ambulance, up to $10 for this service; Hospital, up to $200, pro-rated on a daily basis; X-Ray, up to $10 for injury examination.
- Issued without medical examination.
- No age limits (Specific Loss and Total Disability Indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when insured is or becomes age 70 or over).
- Pays in addition to other personal accident insurance carried.
- Pays on work accidents that are covered by State Compensation Laws.
- Specific Loss Indemnities increase in value ten per cent (10%) each year during first 5 years of consecutive renewal.
- The policy is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois. Protection begins at NOON on the actual date of issuance of the policy.

Assessor's Trailer To Visit Township

The county assessor's mobile office will be parked at the Wheeling Township Hall, 1818 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, on Sept. 10-13 and Sept. 16-20.

The primary purpose of the mobile unit is to bring the county assessor's records direct to those property owners living in the outlying areas, as it is often a hardship to make the long trip downtown to obtain the desired information.

IN ADDITION, the field office is used in making field surveys to ascertain if all improvements are assessed and also in appraising new construction covered by local building permits.

All taxpayers seeking information about their assessment should bring along their last tax bill or their permanent number card to expedite pulling their property record card from the files.

All taxpayers are invited to visit the mobile office and discuss with the staff any problems relating to their assessment.

Attorney to Speak On Aid to Latins

Antonio R. Sarabia, an attorney specializing in international commercial law, will discuss the Alliance for Progress at 8 p.m. Sept. 12 at a public meeting at Recreation Park, 500 E. Miner St., Arlington Heights.

The meeting is sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights and Palatine.

SARABIA is a professor of international law at John Marshall Law School and author of a number of articles concerning international commercial law that have appeared in legal journals.

The meeting on Sept. 2 is open to both men and women. Interested citizens may obtain further information by calling Mrs. Keith Atkins, HE 7-4385, or Mrs. Paul Erler, FL 8-3508.

Handwriting Analyst To Speak

The Women's Guild of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, Palatine and Schoenbeck Roads, Prospect Heights, will meet Thursday, Sept. 5, at 8 p.m. in the church's social hall.

Miss Elvira Behrens of Arlington Heights, a certified graphoanalyst, will speak on graphanalysis and will be available for personal analysis during the refreshment period.

OPENING devotions will be led by Mrs. Alex Liesik and a descussion on the topic "How to Read the Bible" will follow.

Refreshment hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Al Griesch, Mrs. Arthur Streccius and Mrs. Eugene Wiecek.

All Guild members and ladies of the congregation are invited to attend the first session of the fall program. (ACM

Important 'Firsts' Loom For Catholic High School

Next Tuesday will mark the start of a big week for Sacred Heart of Mary High School.

—The new five-building high school complex on Central Road in Rolling Meadows will be used for the first time;

—The school enrollment will almost double from 330 girls last year to a starting group of about 600 girls this year;

—Faculty will be greatly enlarged, including the addition of three nuns from overseas;

A new principal for the school, Mother M. Thomas, will arrive from Umtali, Southern Rhodesia; and —A junior class will be added to the school for the first time.

Finishing details are being rushed this week for the slated school opening next Tuesday, Sept. 3, for all freshmen girls. Sophomores will start school on Wednesday, with the junior class reporting on Thursday. The first week of school will be devoted to orientation.

The basic construction of the five buildings is complete, but finishing details are still being installed.

The floor of the combination gymnasium-auditorium is still missing, as are the laboratory facilities. Cafeteria equipment is being installed, and shelves and furniture is now being placed in the library.

The administration offices are finished, but a delay in furniture deliveries has left the office area with only two desks to start the new year.

FINAL CLEANUP of the school, installation of draperies and distribution of classroom equipment will follow the blacktopping of the parking lot and the sodding of the front school property this week. This will end the mass of dust and dirt which has complicated final cleaning of the school.

The 16 rooms in the regular classroom east wing are completely finished and will be used for most classes pending completion of equipment installation in the west special classroom building.

The convent, designed to accommodate 40 nuns, will not be completed for several weeks. The convent, with attached walled garden and chapel, will house the high school teaching sisters as well as the sisters who teach at St. Colette elementary school in Rolling Meadows. St. Colette church, rectory and school border the high school on the north.

The present group of 28 nuns assigned to the two schools has outgrown the temporary convent facilities built in three Rolling Meadows homes. A large group of the sisters is living at the convent of Our Lady of the Wayside parish, Arlington Heights, pending completion of the new Rolling Meadows convent.

For the past two years the high school on a two-year basis has been housed in St. Viator High School, Arlington Heights.

THE GIRLS' new high school represents the first venture in secondary education in the Midwest by the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary. The French-founded order has its United States mother house at Tarrytown, N.Y., where they operate Marymount College.

Emphasis of the order's teaching in the United States (primarily in the East and on the West Coast) has been on small, select academy-type high schools with many students from influential families.

High intellectual attainments are stressed at the schools in addition to the development of "Christian women who radiate Christ," according to Mother M. Loyola, superior of the order here. Graduates are expected to have a "dignified concept of their lives," she noted. This is reflected in the school program with courses which stress the refinements of life such as drama, art and speech.

Mother Loyola, who has acted as principal of the high school as well as superior of the local sisters, will turn over her school leadership duties to Mother M. Thomas, who has been principal of Marymount High School in Umtali, Southern Rhodesia, for the past six years. Mother Thomas founded the African high school which is operated on British school standards. The new principal originally comes from New York.

A NEW English instructor, Mother M. Campion, will come to the new high school directly from her previous assignment in Rome. Two schools are operated by the order in Rome — one an international-type high school and the second a 12-year school organized on Italian school lines. Mother Campion, a native of Long Island, has been at the Italian school.

Straight from the land of Goya, a new art instructor is arriving at the school. She is Mother M. St. Helen, who has been teaching at an international-style high school in Barcelona, Spain, for the past five years.

In addition to the religious, the school will have the group of two full-time and three part-time lay teachers who were on the staff last year. A new lay teacher, Miss Carol Wynne of Oak Park, has been added to the faculty to teach physical education.

Explains Carson's Plan to 'Salvage' School Dropouts

American industry may be asked by Congress to take a much larger role in solving the related problems of unemployment, juvenile delinquency and lack of education as they relate to millions of high school dropouts.

This prediction was made last week by Frederick W. Englund, divisional vice-president, Carson Pirie Scott & Co., who early this month testified before the Subcommittee on Employment and Manpower of the U. S. Senate Committee on Labor and Welfare.

Englund was invited to report to the subcommittee on the operations of the now well-known "Double EE" program instituted by Carson's two years ago at the request of Dr. Benjamin C. Willis of the Chicago Board of Education which cooperated in the program.

The name "Double EE" was coined by C. Virgil Martin, Carson's president, to highlight the principal feature of the program — combining work experience with education.

MEMBERS OF the Senate Subcommittee were told by Englund, before a packed house of legislators, press and gallery, how 59 Chicago high school dropouts, selected to represent a true cross-section, were given jobs at which they worked three days a week. On the other two days they went to school, studying subjects carefully selected to relate to their work experience and to emphasize the importance of education.

"Only one-third of the original group was lost along the way," said Englund. "The rest, after the first year, are either working full-time and going to school evenings or have returned to their regular schooling."

Many other firms are now cooperating in the program, both here in Chicago and, as a result of the national publicity and honors awarded Carsons, throughout the nation.

"Both Supt. Willis and we at Carson's are eager to help other firms in establishing programs similar to the Double EE," Englund said. "Many important things we have learned, such as the importance of 'big brother' and 'big sister' assignments by regular employees assigned to the program, are essential to solving the personal and emotional problems which cause students to become dropouts in the first place.

"THE KNOWLEDGE we have acquired as we now enter our third year is available to any firm wishing to participate."

Englund reported that the subcommittee seemed most interested in how the Double EE technique could be voluntarily adopted by more business and industrial firms.

"This should not be difficult," said Englund, "for the program contains no element of charity. Dropouts fill regular jobs and, from our experience, do them well under this program.

"More important, their employment —their salvaging, if you will — reduces enormously the social and economic loss to every citizen, to every businessman, which these dropouts represent. Restoring them to potential usefulness as taxpayers and customers means a double savings to society, since it also means less of a drain on tax money to support them."

SEN. JOSEPH Clark of Pennsylvania and other subcommittee members expressed deep interest in the Chicago program and gave it high praise. Clark, former mayor of Philadelphia, is familiar with the dropout problem and especially anxious to solve it.

Rep. Elmer J. Holland, also of Pennsylvania and a sponsor of current dropout legislation, has received permission from Englund to enter his report to the Senate subcommittee as testimony in the House hearings.

Completes Photography Course

Delmar R. Funk of Elmhurst, a free lance photographer for Paddock Publications, has completed an intensive week-long course in Direct Color in Commercial Photography at Winona School of Professional Photography and has received a certificate of merit from the school. It is located at Winona Lake, Ind.

DELMAR FUNK

The course was designed for commercial photographers who are expanding their work in color photography. It covered composition and psychology of color, and advanced instruction in color photography of foods, illustrative and architectural subjects, industrial and residential interiors and general product photography. The latest techniques in processing color films and making color prints also were included.

Uniquely designed for photographic instruction, the Winona campus includes air conditioned studios and workrooms, a 25-foot revolving stage in the auditorium, enabling all students to see lighting and posing techniques from every angle, closed circuit television equipment, the latest in camera, lighting, and projection equipment and a complete new library. Scout Leaders at Training Meeting

Frank B. Newton, Scout executive of the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout Council, has been named national chairman of the host committee for a training conference which will be held at the University of Illinois.

Over 3,500 professional leaders of the Boy Scouts of America will gather at the University of Illinois in Champaign for their 12th National Training Conference, Aug. 29 through Sept. 4.

EVERY FOUR years Scout executives from all parts of the nation undergo an intensive period of training under the direction of the organization's national officials.

Also attending are Kenneth Jarchow, assistant Scout executive, of Arlington Heights; Norman Campbell, director of education and camping, of Des Plaines; Hubert Pietschmann, district executive, of Des Plaines; Gordon Wickstrom, district executive, of Palatine; David Fredin, district executive, of Des Plaines; and Richard Duke, district executive, of Arlington Heights.

Two recently employed and new men to the staff on the council will also attend the conference. They are Ronald Philippo of Milwaukee and Jack Starke of Battle Creek, Mich.

GOP Club Program Features Talk on 'Race Relations'

Sherwood Ross, 30-year-old public relations director for the Chicago Urban League, will address the Wheeling Township Young Republican Club next Thursday on the topic, "Race Relations and Suburban Responsibility."

The YR club meets at the Old Orchard Country Club, Rand Road and Euclid Avenue, at 8 p.m. Meetings are open to the public.

"This is another in the club's series of informational and educational programs designed to widen our members' knowledge on a variety of subjects," explained Bruce Ladd, club program chairman.

THE URBAN League's goal is the improvement of race relations through research, education and community organization.

Ross, a former Chicago Daily News reporter, majored in human relations at the University of Miami and is a frequent contributor to the nation's magazines and newspapers, including Paddock Publications.

He wrote the first full account of Chicago's master plan for the next 50-year period while working for the Daily News. His wife is a reporter for a Chicago community newspaper.

THE YR meeting Sept. 5 will also feature a tape recording by Dr. Edward Teller, scientist and authority on atomic energy. The tape will disclose Teller's testimony before a Congressional committee on the proposed nuclear test ban treaty.

Club president George Coker announced the YR club is planning to establish a speaker's bureau to provide speakers and information on current issues involving government and politics. (B-9

YMCA Announces Fall Dance Class Schedule

The fall series of adult and teen ballroom dance classes will begin the week of Sept. 16 at Northwest Suburban YMCA. Lessons are scheduled for Monday and Friday evenings for all groups.

Classes for adults will be conducted at beginner, intermediate and advanced levels. The "Ay Bo Le," latest ballroom dance from Haiti, will be featured.

THE GRADED system offers the dance-minded student an opportunity of progressing rapidly to the advanced level. In advanced classes there is no repetition, and students learn to execute graceful step patterns.

The Couples Club is an "extra" for those who like to dine, dance and swim. The club, open to both 'Y' members and non-members, meets four Saturday evenings during the season. The first three include buffet dinner, dancing to records and a splash party. The final meeting is an orchestra dance and splash party.

Early registration is advisable because of the club's popularity and limited membership.

JUNIOR high and high school students are also offered classes on Monday and Friday evenings, these teaching proper manners, good grooming and the popular ballroom steps. Teens are invited to a free evening of dancing to records and a splash party the fourth Saturday of each month.

The junior high group meets at 7 p.m.; high schoolers at 8 p.m.

All classes are conducted by Mrs. Grace Hansen, director of the dance department of the Metropolitan YMCA of Chicago and suburbs.

Registration and information is available by calling CY 6-3376. (B-9

Explains Carson's Plan to 'Salvage' School Dropouts

American industry may be asked by Congress to take a much larger role in solving the related problems of unemployment, juvenile delinquency and lack of education as they relate to millions of high school dropouts.

This prediction was made last week by Frederick W. Englund, divisional vice-president, Carson Pirie Scott & Co., who early this month testified before the Subcommittee on Employment and Manpower of the U. S. Senate Committee on Labor and Welfare.

Englund was invited to report to the subcommittee on the operations of the now well-known "Double EE" program instituted by Carson's two years ago at the request of Dr. Benjamin C. Willis of the Chicago Board of Education which cooperated in the program.

The name "Double EE" was coined by C. Virgil Martin, Carson's president, to highlight the principal feature of the program — combining work experience with education.

MEMBERS OF the Senate Subcommittee were told by Englund, before a packed house of legislators, press and gallery, how 59 Chicago high school dropouts, selected to represent a true cross-section, were given jobs at which they worked three days a week. On the other two days they went to school, studying subjects carefully selected to relate to their work experience and to emphasize the importance of education.

"Only one-third of the original group was lost along the way," said Englund. "The rest, after the first year, are either working full-time and going to school evenings or have returned to their regular schooling."

Many other firms are now cooperating in the program, both here in Chicago and, as a result of the national publicity and honors awarded Carsons, throughout the nation.

"Both Supt. Willis and we at Carson's are eager to help other firms in establishing programs similar to the Double EE," Englund said. "Many important things we have learned, such as the importance of 'big brother' and 'big sister' assignments by regular employees assigned to the program, are essential to solving the personal and emotional problems which cause students to become dropouts in the first place.

"THE KNOWLEDGE we have acquired as we now enter our third year is available to any firm wishing to participate."

Englund reported that the subcommittee seemed most interested in how the Double EE technique could be voluntarily adopted by more business and industrial firms.

"This should not be difficult," said Englund, "for the program contains no element of charity. Dropouts fill regular jobs and, from our experience, do them well under this program.

"More important, their employment —their salvaging, if you will — reduces enormously the social and economic loss to every citizen, to every businessman, which these dropouts represent. Restoring them to potential usefulness as taxpayers and customers means a double savings to society, since it also means less of a drain on tax money to support them."

SEN. JOSEPH Clark of Pennsylvania and other subcommittee members expressed deep interest in the Chicago program and gave it high praise. Clark, former mayor of Philadelphia, is familiar with the dropout problem and especially anxious to solve it.

Rep. Elmer J. Holland, also of Pennsylvania and a sponsor of current dropout legislation, has received permission from Englund to enter his report to the Senate subcommittee as testimony in the House hearings.

Completes Photography Course

Delmar R. Funk of Elmhurst, a free lance photographer for Paddock Publications, has completed an intensive week-long course in Direct Color in Commercial Photography at Winona School of Professional Photography and has received a certificate of merit from the school. It is located at Winona Lake, Ind.

DELMAR FUNK

The course was designed for commercial photographers who are expanding their work in color photography. It covered composition and psychology of color, and advanced instruction in color photography of foods, illustrative and architectural subjects, industrial and residential interiors and general product photography. The latest techniques in processing color films and making color prints also were included.

Uniquely designed for photographic instruction, the Winona campus includes air conditioned studios and workrooms, a 25-foot revolving stage in the auditorium, enabling all students to see lighting and posing techniques from every angle, closed circuit television equipment, the latest in camera, lighting, and projection equipment and a complete new library. Scout Leaders at Training Meeting

Frank B. Newton, Scout executive of the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout Council, has been named national chairman of the host committee for a training conference which will be held at the University of Illinois.

Over 3,500 professional leaders of the Boy Scouts of America will gather at the University of Illinois in Champaign for their 12th National Training Conference, Aug. 29 through Sept. 4.

EVERY FOUR years Scout executives from all parts of the nation undergo an intensive period of training under the direction of the organization's national officials.

Also attending are Kenneth Jarchow, assistant Scout executive, of Arlington Heights; Norman Campbell, director of education and camping, of Des Plaines; Hubert Pietschmann, district executive, of Des Plaines; Gordon Wickstrom, district executive, of Palatine; David Fredin, district executive, of Des Plaines; and Richard Duke, district executive, of Arlington Heights.

Two recently employed and new men to the staff on the council will also attend the conference. They are Ronald Philippo of Milwaukee and Jack Starke of Battle Creek, Mich.

GOP Club Program Features Talk on 'Race Relations'

Sherwood Ross, 30-year-old public relations director for the Chicago Urban League, will address the Wheeling Township Young Republican Club next Thursday on the topic, "Race Relations and Suburban Responsibility."

The YR club meets at the Old Orchard Country Club, Rand Road and Euclid Avenue, at 8 p.m. Meetings are open to the public.

"This is another in the club's series of informational and educational programs designed to widen our members' knowledge on a variety of subjects," explained Bruce Ladd, club program chairman.

THE URBAN League's goal is the improvement of race relations through research, education and community organization.

Ross, a former Chicago Daily News reporter, majored in human relations at the University of Miami and is a frequent contributor to the nation's magazines and newspapers, including Paddock Publications.

He wrote the first full account of Chicago's master plan for the next 50-year period while working for the Daily News. His wife is a reporter for a Chicago community newspaper.

THE YR meeting Sept. 5 will also feature a tape recording by Dr. Edward Teller, scientist and authority on atomic energy. The tape will disclose Teller's testimony before a Congressional committee on the proposed nuclear test ban treaty.

Club president George Coker announced the YR club is planning to establish a speaker's bureau to provide speakers and information on current issues involving government and politics. (B-9

Hospital's First X-Ray Grad Joins Peace Corps

The first graduate of the x-ray technician program at Northwest Community Hospital will leave Saturday for training as a Peace Corps volunteer, helping fill a gap in medical projects.

Lynn Christopherson, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Christopherson of 1010 W. Euclid, hadn't even taken the Peace Corps admission test yet when she was notified two weeks ago that her application had been accepted.

"After I wrote Peace Corps headquarters about two and a half months ago, asking about applying, I got a personal letter from director, Sargeant Shriver, saying they are very short on medical personnel," Miss Christopherson explains.

"I filled out the questionnaires, then I got the form telegram telling me I was accepted." She took the entrance exam last Saturday before beginning a brief vacation.

SHE WILL report at the University of Wisconsin Saturday for training for a Peace Corps medical project in Brazil. She will probably spend about two months at Wisconsin, then a month at the corps camp at Puerto Rico before going to Brazil.

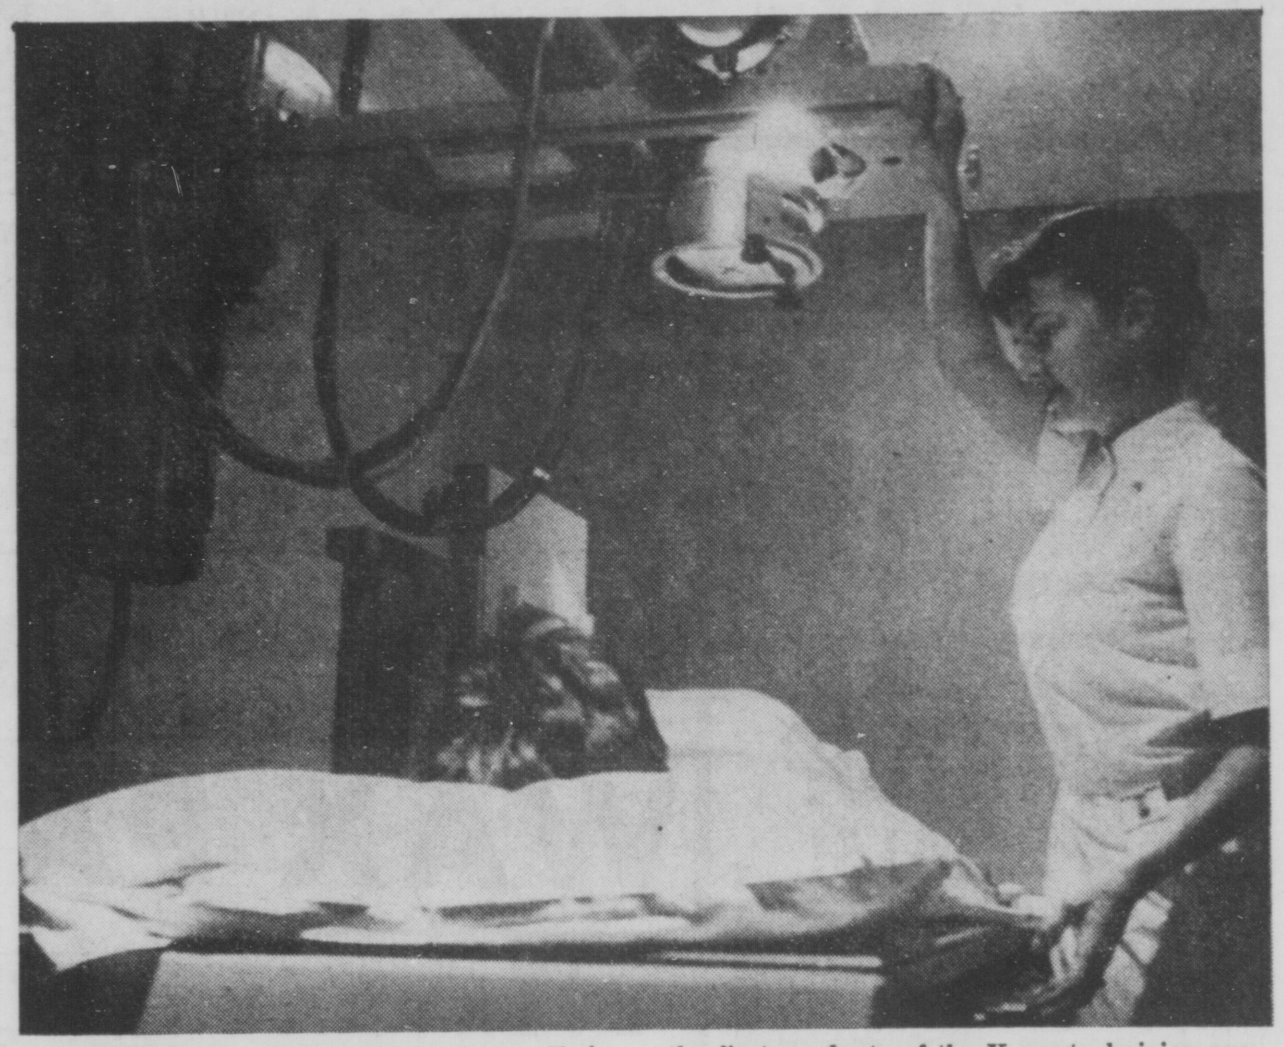
Now technically clasified as a radiological technician, Miss Christopherson started training as an x-ray technologist at Northwest Community Hospital March 1, 1961, under supervision of Dr. Constantine S. Sotor. A June, 1960, graduate of Arlington High School, she started work as a nurse's aide on the surgical floor in August 1960, then switched to the x-ray department in January.

Hospital staff members marked her graduation last March as a technician — first in the new program — with a "congratulations" party.

SHE BECAME a registered technician after passing tests of the American Registered Technicians in May, and she joined both the American and Illinois Societies of X-Ray Technicians.

The hospital staff celebrated Miss Christopherson's entry into the Peace Corps with another "congragulations" party Aug. 21. Their gift was a camera, to record her experiences and education as a volunteer in Brazil, where she says, "I may be helping them, but it will also work in reverse—they'll be giving me an education."

A second trainee joined Miss Christopherson in the hospital's program about a year ago, and another will start next month.



RADIOLOGICAL TECHNICIAN Lynn Christopherson, 21, of 1010 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights, will leave Saturday to begin training in the Peace Corps. Miss Christopherson was the first graduate of the X-ray technician program at Northwest Community Hospital. (Staff Photo).

Davis St. to Close

Work to Begin Soon on Bank's Drive-in Windows

Improvement of Commuter Street, south of the Arlington Heights railroad station between Evergreen and Dunton Streets, is only the beginning of modifications surrounding the Arlington Heights National Bank.

As soon as the street is completed, Davis Street in the same block will be closed to traffic, according to Douglas Dodds, executive vice president of the bank.

The bank has improved Commuter Street as part of a negotiated trade with the village. In return, village officials have agreed to vacate Davis Street between Evergreen and Dunton.

As soon as the street is closed, work will begin on four drive-in teller windows, Dodds says. He anticipates the drive-in modification will be completed by Nov. 1.

As planned, the addition will extend the existing building 80 feet east from the thin end along Campbell Street.

CARS WOULD then enter from Dunton onto vacated Davis Street, drive through one of the four planned teller windows and exit directly onto Campbell Street.

Tellers' access to the windows will be through an overhead walkway from the main building, with spiral stairs leading down to each window. There will be no doors leading to the street.

The bank will be open with "no curtailing of normal activities during remodeling," according to Dodds.

LATER improvements scheduled for the bank include general remodeling of the building and improvement of parking facilities in line with municipal parking lots proposed for adjacent plots recently purchased by the village.

The bank has also purchased a triangle park at the northwest corner of State Road and Northwest Highway to serve as an employe parking lot. (A

Coed Caught in Whirl of European Study and Travel

Elaine Schiel celebrated her 19th birthday last Saturday somewhere in France — but you might say she's been celebrating all summer as a student and tourist in Europe.

Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schiel, 505 S. Vail Ave., Arlington Heights, left June 16 with a student group from the University of Wisconsin on a charter flight to London.

ELAINE SCHIEL

She is now a sophomore at the university after graduating from Arlington High School as recipient of the French honors award in 1962.

Upon arrival in London the students separated, some in groups, some alone, to pursue a variety of interests on the Continent, using all means of travel from hitch - hiking to horse-packing.

After pre-enrollment in classes in French literature and history of French art at the University of Bordeaux - Toulouse in Pau, France, Elaine took off to see a bit of Europe.

She had to be back in Pau, in Southern France at the foot of the Pyrenees mountains, for the start of classes July 15.

But before starting clases she toured London, visited friends in Paris and stayed with American friends in Turin, Italy.

ELAINE arrived in Rome the day before the coronation of Pope Paul VI and lodged in a convent there. Her next destination was Brindisi, Italy, to board a Mediterranean tanker bound for Athens, Greece. On her way she visited Venice, Naples, Milan, Genoa and Pisa.

In a letter to her parents she commented that the voyage for two days and nights to Athens was scorching hot during the day and freezing cold at night.

In Athens she stayed with a Greek family she met through the University's Union of Students Travel Bureau, and saw the city from a resident's viewpoint.

She travelled back to Pau to commence her studies on trains through Yugoslavia and Italy, writing home that her rides on slow rail equipment and old trackage were interesting, but uncomfortable.

ENTERING school, Elaine renewed her friendship with Flo Berger, a French student from Pau who attended Arlington High School in 1961-62 as an American Field Service foreign exchange student.

She again wrote home that, though she was pleased to acquire her education in French studies offered by the university, she found it very difficult to settle down to her studies after her initial taste of Europe.

On school weekends she resumed her sight-seeing, this time primarily through France and Spain.

But one trip took her to Casablanca and Tangier with a school friend where they dipped their fingers into a common bowl of food and shared a dirt floor for sleeping with an Arab family.

ELAINE completed her foreign studies Aug. 25, and has begun a journey through Switzerland. She will then head for Paris, and finally for London and the flight home to Arlington Heights.

She will arrive home Sept. 8 and resume her studies at the University of Wisconsin a week later, but has already expressed the hope to return to France and other parts of Europe after completing her education. (A

VIRGINIA TERRACE

Linda Brown, daughter of the Richard Browns, 1413 N. Chicago, is spending two weeks at Hastings YMCA Camp at Lake Villa.

A 5-week vacation at their summer home in Lewiston, Mich., ended last Thursday for Phil and Lee Pods and daughters, Susan and Trudi, 1208 N. Race. A few days were spent in Detroit with Lee's parents, the Max Gamperts, who will soon be leaving for Florida to retire. They journeyed to Petoskey, a resort city, for one day, and Indian River Shrine at Indian River was another highlight.

Another happy event of the summer for Phil and Lee is the recent engagement of their daughter, Pamela, to Joseph Switzenberg.

Visiting relatives in Wisconsin for two weeks was a vacation for Robert and Sandra Nelson and children, Robyn and Robert, 1710 Oakton. The Nelsons visited Sandra's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Johnson, in Frederic.

RONNIE STANLEY, son of Leonard Stanleys, 1408 Oakton, celebrated his 10th birthday Aug. 21. The Sunday before, he was honored at a party given by his aunt and uncle, the Leonard Marshalls of Chicago. Guests were Ronnie's parents, his brother and sister, Tim and Diane, and his grandmother, Mrs. Walter Batchelor. Ronnie was treated to a trip to Riverview after birthday dinner.

Ray and Vaneta Kellogg and children, Whitney and Jean, 1341 N. Wilke, spent last weekend camping at Apple River Canyon near Galena.

Aug. 18 the Terrace Sewing Group had a picnic at Willow Park on Druce Lake. Families attending were the Robert Rodens, Paul Pedersens, John Noons and Michael Capraras.

Guy and Alice Eisenhuth and sons, Guy III, Wayne, Glenn and Richard, recently spent nine days at Summit Lake, Wis., where they visited Guy's parents, the senior Eisenhuths. The family took several side trips while in Wisconsin, one to Pleasure Island at Eagle River and also to Rhinelander. They returned home to 1321 N. Chicago on Aug. 19.

Al and Rosemary Shellander and son, Tom, 1716 W. Olive, spent last weekend in Wisconsin. Saturday, they visited Rosemary's parents, the Walter Jonases, in Lake Geneva and traveled to Kenosha Sunday to see the Richard Hunkelers. They were joined there by the Ralph Karlsons of Racine. Rosemary formerly taught at Kenosha High School with Mrs. Hunkeler and Mrs. Karlson.

BOBBY Buonincontro was one on Aug. 21. A family birthday party was given by his parents, Donn and Carol, 1247 N. Race, the Sunday before. Thirty relatives were present for the patio party, among them Bobby's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Buonincontro and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Forbrich.

Mrs. Le Roy Leister and children, Marsha, Eddie, Delores and Sharon, returned Sunday to 1440 N. Yale from a week's vacation with Mrs. Leister's parents, the Wesley Yoders of Forrest, Ill. Le Roy Leister spent the weekend in Forrest and brought his family home. The children enjoyed their grandparent's farm and spent a day at Fairbury Fair. Sharon Leister returned home just in time to celebrate her fifth birthday on Aug. 26 with a family dinner.

The Terrace welcomes the William Boyce family, who moved from Chicago to 1200 N. Chicago on Aug. 18. There are two children, Paul, 16, and Cheryl, 13. William is employed at Coronato's Shoes in Franklin Park, and both he and his wife enjoy golf as a hobby.

Sunday guests of the Richard Sobys, 1208 N. Chicago, were Mr. and Mrs. Klaus Werdermann and daughter, Mona, of Chicago.

RALPH AND Barbara Wiederhold and sons, Kim and Kyle, 1322 N. Chicago, journeyed to Bloomington-Normal last Thursday, where Kyle competed in the Junior Sports Jamboree on Friday and Saturday. The Jamboree was sponsored by the Illinois Youth Commission and Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce. Kyle raced Friday to qualify for Saturday's state finals and on Saturday placed third in the 50-yard dash. After the races, the 600 competing boys and girls were honored at a banquet and award ceremony in the auditorium. Governor Kerner, John A. Troike, Chairman of the Illinois Youth Commission, and the National President of the Junior Chamber of Commerce were all present. Kyle was among those receiving a large trophy for placing first to sixth in the various events. Kyle stayed at a new college dorm in Normal and his parents at Holiday Inn.

Recent arrivals in the Terrace are Ronald and Joanne Peters and sons, Jeffrey, 3, and Greg, 22-months. The Peters family moved from Winthrop, Iowa, which is near Cedar Rapids, to 1110 N. Yale. Ronald is employed by WGN Television and his hobby is servicing television sets. The Peterses plan to join St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Church. (A

Rotarians Visited By District Leader

Addressing local Rotarians today (Thursday) Richard G. Longtin, Rotary governor of Illinois District 664, linked Arlington Heights Rotary Club members with more than a half million other business and professional men who belong to Rotary around the world.

"Rotary clubs are functioning in more than 11,500 communities in 129 countries," he said, "and despite the diversity of their languages, customs and political and religious beliefs they are working toward such mutually desired goals as community betterment, the promotion of high standards in business, and the advancement of world understanding."

LONGTIN is in Arlington Heights making his official visit to the local club, as he does to all other Rotary clubs in his district.

Referring to the program of aCrl P. Miller, president of Rotary International for 1963-64,

RICHARD G. LONGTIN

Longtin told club members his district has been matched with another district in Brazil as a means of furthering better understanding and relations between Rotarians of the two countries.

"Our contacts with our sister district are now taking shape," he said, "and all other Rotary districts have been similarly matched."

IN THE FIELD of youth, Longtin spoke of a new club for boys which has become part of the Rotary program. Called INTERACT, it is for boys in the upper three years of high school.

"It is a club for international action," he said, "and is designed to turn the attention of young men to service and international understanding."

Longtin was elected district governor for 1963-64 at Rotary's 54th annual convention in St. Louis last June. (A ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of teller windows soon to be constructed at Arlington Heights National Bank in downtown area reveals modern design. Exit, shown here, will be directly onto Campbell Street. (A

Davis St. to Close

Work to Begin Soon on Bank's Drive-in Windows

Improvement of Commuter Street, south of the Arlington Heights railroad station between Evergreen and Dunton Streets, is only the beginning of modifications surrounding the Arlington Heights National Bank.

As soon as the street is completed, Davis Street in the same block will be closed to traffic, according to Douglas Dodds, executive vice president of the bank.

The bank has improved Commuter Street as part of a negotiated trade with the village. In return, village officials have agreed to vacate Davis Street between Evergreen and Dunton.

As soon as the street is closed, work will begin on four drive-in teller windows, Dodds says. He anticipates the drive-in modification will be completed by Nov. 1.

As planned, the addition will extend the existing building 80 feet east from the thin end along Campbell Street.

CARS WOULD then enter from Dunton onto vacated Davis Street, drive through one of the four planned teller windows and exit directly onto Campbell Street.

Tellers' access to the windows will be through an overhead walkway from the main building, with spiral stairs leading down to each window. There will be no doors leading to the street.

The bank will be open with "no curtailing of normal activities during remodeling," according to Dodds.

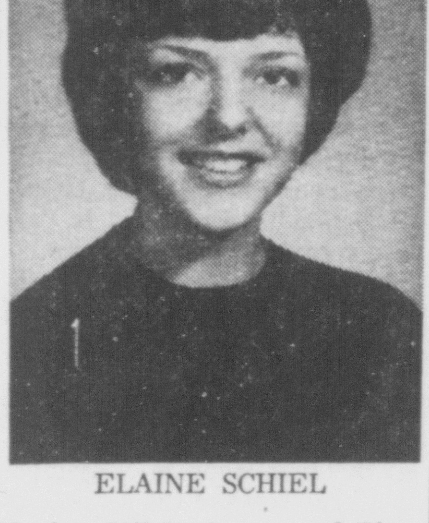
LATER improvements scheduled for the bank include general remodeling of the building and improvement of parking facilities in line with municipal parking lots proposed for adjacent plots recently purchased by the village.

The bank has also purchased a triangle park at the northwest corner of State Road and Northwest Highway to serve as an employe parking lot. (A

Coed Caught in Whirl of European Study and Travel

Elaine Schiel celebrated her 19th birthday last Saturday somewhere in France — but you might say she's been celebrating all summer as a student and tourist in Europe.

Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schiel, 505 S. Vail Ave., Arlington Heights, left June 16 with a student group from the University of Wisconsin on a charter flight to London.



ELAINE SCHIEL

She is now a sophomore at the university after graduating from Arlington High School as recipient of the French honors award in 1962.

Upon arrival in London the students separated, some in groups, some alone, to pursue a variety of interests on the Continent, using all means of travel from hitch-hiking to horse-packing.

After pre-enrollment in classes in French literature and history of French art at the University of Bordeaux - Toulouse in Pau, France, Elaine took off to see a bit of Europe.

She had to be back in Pau, in Southern France at the foot of the Pyrenees mountains, for the start of classes July 15.

But before starting clases she toured London, visited friends in Paris and stayed with American friends in Turin, Italy.

ELAINE arrived in Rome the day before the coronation of Pope Paul VI and lodged in a convent there. Her next destination was Brindisi, Italy, to board a Mediterranean tanker bound for Athens, Greece. On her way she visited Venice, Naples, Milan, Genoa and Pisa.

In a letter to her parents she commented that the voyage for two days and nights to Athens was scorching hot during the day and freezing cold at night.

In Athens she stayed with a Greek family she met through the University's Union of Students Travel Bureau, and saw the city from a resident's viewpoint.

She travelled back to Pau to commence her studies on trains through Yugoslavia and Italy, writing home that her rides on slow rail equipment and old trackage were interesting, but uncomfortable.

ENTERING school, Elaine renewed her friendship with Flo Berger, a French student from Pau who attended Arlington High School in 1961-62 as an American Field Service foreign exchange student.

She again wrote home that, though she was pleased to acquire her education in French studies offered by the university, she found it very difficult to settle down to her studies after her initial taste of Europe.

On school weekends she resumed her sight-seeing, this time primarily through France and Spain.

But one trip took her to Casablanca and Tangier with a school friend where they dipped their fingers into a common bowl of food and shared a dirt floor for sleeping with an Arab family.

ELAINE completed her foreign studies Aug. 25, and has begun a journey through Switzerland. She will then head for Paris, and finally for London and the flight home to Arlington Heights.

She will arrive home Sept. 8 and resume her studies at the University of Wisconsin a week later, but has already expressed the hope to return to France and other parts of Europe after completing her education. (A

Linda Brown, daughter of the Richard Browns, 1413 N. Chicago, is spending two weeks at Hastings YMCA Camp at Lake Villa.

A 5-week vacation at their summer home in Lewiston, Mich., ended last Thursday for Phil and Lee Pods and daughters, Susan and Trudi, 1208 N. Race. A few days were spent in Detroit with Lee's parents, the Max Gamperts, who will soon be leaving for Florida to retire. They journeyed to Petoskey, a resort city, for one day, and Indian River Shrine at Indian River was another highlight.

Another happy event of the summer for Phil and Lee is the recent engagement of their daughter, Pamela, to Joseph Switzenberg.

Visiting relatives in Wisconsin for two weeks was a vacation for Robert and Sandra Nelson and children, Robyn and Robert, 1710 Oakton. The Nelsons visited Sandra's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Johnson, in Frederic.

RONNIE STANLEY, son of Leonard Stanleys, 1408 Oakton, celebrated his 10th birthday Aug. 21. The Sunday before, he was honored at a party given by his aunt and uncle, the Leonard Marshalls of Chicago. Guests were Ronnie's parents, his brother and sister, Tim and Diane, and his grandmother, Mrs. Walter Batchelor. Ronnie was treated to a trip to Riverview after birthday dinner.

Ray and Vaneta Kellogg and children, Whitney and Jean, 1341 N. Wilke, spent last weekend camping at Apple River Canyon near Galena.

Aug. 18 the Terrace Sewing Group had a picnic at Willow Park on Druce Lake. Families attending were the Robert Rodens, Paul Pedersens, John Noons and Michael Capraras.

Guy and Alice Eisenhuth and sons, Guy III, Wayne, Glenn and Richard, recently spent nine days at Summit Lake, Wis., where they visited Guy's parents, the senior Eisenhuths. The family took several side trips while in Wisconsin, one to Pleasure Island at Eagle River and also to Rhinelander. They returned home to 1321 N. Chicago on Aug. 19.

Al and Rosemary Shellander and son, Tom, 1716 W. Olive, spent last weekend in Wisconsin. Saturday, they visited Rosemary's parents, the Walter Jonases, in Lake Geneva and traveled to Kenosha Sunday to see the Richard Hunkelers. They were joined there by the Ralph Karlsons of Racine. Rosemary formerly taught at Kenosha High School with Mrs. Hunkeler and Mrs. Karlson.

BOBBY Buonincontro was one on Aug. 21. A family birthday party was given by his parents, Donn and Carol, 1247 N. Race, the Sunday before. Thirty relatives were present for the patio party, among them Bobby's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Buonincontro and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Forbrich.

Mrs. Le Roy Leister and children, Marsha, Eddie, Delores and Sharon, returned Sunday to 1440 N. Yale from a week's vacation with Mrs. Leister's parents, the Wesley Yoders of Forrest, Ill. Le Roy Leister spent the weekend in Forrest and brought his family home. The children enjoyed their grandparent's farm and spent a day at Fairbury Fair. Sharon Leister returned home just in time to celebrate her fifth birthday on Aug. 26 with a family dinner.

The Terrace welcomes the William Boyce family, who moved from Chicago to 1200 N. Chicago on Aug. 18. There are two children, Paul, 16, and Cheryl, 13. William is employed at Coronato's Shoes in Franklin Park, and both he and his wife enjoy golf as a hobby.

Sunday guests of the Richard Sobys, 1208 N. Chicago, were Mr. and Mrs. Klaus Werdermann and daughter, Mona, of Chicago.

RALPH AND Barbara Wiederhold and sons, Kim and Kyle, 1322 N. Chicago, journeyed to Bloomington-Normal last Thursday, where Kyle competed in the Junior Sports Jamboree on Friday and Saturday. The Jamboree was sponsored by the Illinois Youth Commission and Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce. Kyle raced Friday to qualify for Saturday's state finals and on Saturday placed third in the 50-yard dash. After the races, the 600 competing boys and girls were honored at a banquet and award ceremony in the auditorium. Governor Kerner, John A. Troike, Chairman of the Illinois Youth Commission, and the National President of the Junior Chamber of Commerce were all present. Kyle was among those receiving a large trophy for placing first to sixth in the various events. Kyle stayed at a new college dorm in Normal and his parents at Holiday Inn.

Recent arrivals in the Terrace are Ronald and Joanne Peters and sons, Jeffrey, 3, and Greg, 22-months. The Peters family moved from Winthrop, Iowa, which is near Cedar Rapids, to 1110 N. Yale. Ronald is employed by WGN Television and his hobby is servicing television sets. The Peterses plan to join St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Church. (A

Addressing local Rotarians today (Thursday) Richard G. Longtin, Rotary governor of Illinois District 664, linked Arlington Heights Rotary Club members with more than a half million other business and professional men who belong to Rotary around the world.

"Rotary clubs are functioning in more than 11,500 communities in 129 countries," he said, "and despite the diversity of their languages, customs and political and religious beliefs they are working toward such mutually desired goals as community betterment, the promotion of high standards in business, and the advancement of world understanding."

LONGTIN is in Arlington Heights making his official visit to the local club, as he does to all other Rotary clubs in his district.

Referring to the program of aCrl P. Miller, president of Rotary International for 1963-64,

RICHARD G. LONGTIN

Longtin told club members his district has been matched with another district in Brazil as a means of furthering better understanding and relations between Rotarians of the two countries.

"Our contacts with our sister district are now taking shape," he said, "and all other Rotary districts have been similarly matched."

IN THE FIELD of youth, Longtin spoke of a new club for boys which has become part of the Rotary program. Called INTERACT, it is for boys in the upper three years of high school.

"It is a club for international action," he said, "and is designed to turn the attention of young men to service and international understanding."

Longtin was elected district governor for 1963-64 at Rotary's 54th annual convention in St. Louis last June. (A

With the addition of more extension college credit courses, together with new courses that are being added to the curriculum, the Adult Education Program of High School District 214 is expected to reach an all time high in the number of registrations for the fall term, according to W. L. Randle, director of extended services.

Registration is scheduled for the evenings of Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 16 and 17 at Arlington High School and Wednesday, Sept. 18, at Forest View High School. Registration hours are from 7 to 9 p. m. at both schools and will be held in the library.

Mail registrations are accepted at any time and are to be sent to the adult education office in Arlington High School, 502 W. Euclid St., Arlington Heights. One may also register in person during the day from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Monday through Friday.

SEVERAL SUBJECTS are being slated for the first time this fall to boost the offerings to a total of 91 different courses. Due to popular demand it is necessary to offer some of the classes additional nights at all three schools, thus bringing the total to 120 classes.

Among the new offerings are: "Know Your Car," which will be held at the George Poole Ford agency, and will deal with maintenance and care of the amily car;

"Statistics simplified," for those persons who deal with statistics in their daily lives;

"History of art," for people of artistic temperament who feel the need of a greater understanding and appreciation of the works of the masters;

—"Modern math for parents," which is being offered in answer to a demand for information concerning the methods employed in teaching modern math on the eliementary and high school level;

—"Mathematics I," a survey course in basic math for those who feel a need for more competency in this area.

Ten weekly meetings will be devoted to PTA leadership training and will involve both individual and group dynamics.

Fencing is being returned to the program, after an absence of a year, for those who desire the grace and poise developed through this ancient art.

"Audio visual methods and materials" will be of interest to persons who have need for presenting ideas or information to classes or groups, through projection, maps, graphs, or other means.

THE UNIVERSITY of Illinois is offering extension classes in English, accounting, political science, engineering, and psychology. Northern Illinois University offerings are in the area of outdoor education, safety education and a course in the teaching of social science on the elementary level.

These courses for the most part carry three semester hours of college credit.

The evening school will continue to offer many courses popular in the past. These include algebra, aviation, ballroom dancing, blue print reading, safe boating, bookkeeping, bridge, business law, and dozens of others.

The well-attended Travel and Adventure Series this year will include film trips to South Africa, Chili, Ireland, Austria and other points of interest.

More than 100 men and women are regularly involved in high school credit coures working for a high school diploma. Each year high school listrict 214 presents this award to persons completing the program.

Further information is available from the adult education office, Arlington High School, CLearbrook 3-1700.

Brochures describing the adult education program will be mailed the first week in September to all residents of the school district.

Accused Of Driving 79 M.P.H.

James Woods, 4738 W. Flournoy, Chicago, was picked up by Arlington Heights police Sunday for driving 79 miles per hour on Rand Road and booked on five charges, but returned to Chicago to answer standing charges there.

He was charged in Arlington Heights with driving while intoxicated, improper lane usage, speeding, driving without a license in his possession and driving on a revoked license.

HE POSTED $770 bond here and was returned to Chicago on a warrant from that city.

Other passengers in the car were minors Alfred R. Desparrois and Ronald Woods, both of Chicago, who were booked for possession of alcohol under age and possession of open liquor in a car.

The two posted bond of $200 apiece.

Annual Audit Meeting

Legislators Succeed As Budget Watchdogs

By HELENE BRISTOL
Staff Writer

A local display of Illinois legislators working to save money for the state—and succeeding at their task—was provided Chicago-area newcomers last week in Evanston.

The occasion was the annual meeting of the Legislative Audit Commission, a "watchdog committee" established in 1957 to keep tabs on state officials and departments in the wake of the Orville Hodge scandal.

The watchdog has done so well that $1,332,314 has been recovered or collected for the state general fund with an additional $202,511 for special state funds.

THESE AMOUNTS, reported by the auditing commission, came as the result of intensive follow-up of recommendations made by private auditing firms.

The recovery or saving of state funds is running at a rate of about 10 to one cost-wise since the $1.5 million saved has cost taxpayers about $150,000 for the operation of the audit commission.

The August meeting of the commission has, by several years tradition, been held at the home of State Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston), chairman of the group. Other meetings are held in Springfield where state officials are more readily accessible for testimony. The audit commission maintains its office in the Illinois Capitol building.

MANY OF THE savings reported by the commission during its first six years of operation are of a recurring nature and will continue to accrue to the state.

During the last session of the legislature the audit commission submitted 12 bills aimed at saving further state funds. Eleven were enacted into law and one vetoed by the governor. At the 1961 session of the legislature a series of 25 bills were recommended by the commission, all of which were enacted.

The audit commission has the official duty of checking audits, revenues and expenditures of the state, its departments and agencies. Through the reports of the auditing firms, the Auditor General and other financial statements, the audit commission determines whether special studies or investigations are required. The commission has the power to conduct studies and hearings and may summon persons to testify under oath.

COMMISSION membership is evenly divided between Republicans and Democrats and between state senators and representatives. Present members, in addition to Arrington, are Senators Robert E. Cherry (D-Chicago), Richard R. Larson (R-Galesburg), Fred J. Smith (D-Chicago), and Arthur W. Sprague (R-LaGrange) and Representatives Paul F. Elward (D-Chicago), James P. Loukas (D-Chicago), Dean McCully (R-Minonk), Paul Powell (D-Vienna), and George F. Stastny (R-Chicago).

The commission meeting last week covered the audits of the retirement systems for state employees, teachers, judges and general assembly members; the Illinois Racing Board; the Illinois Harness Racing Commission; the Waukegan Port Authority, and the Illinois Armory Board.

The audit of the teachers retirement fund included the suggestion that the state withhold retirement payment amounts direct from state funds paid to local school districts, cutting state expense of bookkeeping and bringing funds to the state more rapidly. Under present practice deductions for the retirement fund are taken from teachers salaries and sent to the state at varying times by the 1,700 local school boards. The auditors note that a sizable portion of the funds used for teachers salaries comes from state funds. By taking the retirement payments direct from state funds before sent to local school districts savings in accounting could be realized by both the state and local school boards.

THE recommendation was approved by the Pension Laws Commission, but the School Problems Commission indicated it was not in favor of the idea until more details were available. Further study on this is continuing under the prodding of the audit commission.

Officials of the Waukegan Port District were targets of advice, criticism and firm warning by the audit commission. The audit report of the district noted several instances where the port district had violated state laws by authorizing purchase of steel for port construction in an amount $7,500 larger than the state appropriation. The officials were told that no matter how worthy local officials might feel purchases to be, the state law prohibits contracting of any indebtedness in an amount in excess of the money appropriated by the legislature.

The commission meeting ended with a luncheon for the audit commission members, their families, officials of the state boards who had testified at the meeting, local political leaders and members of the Chicago-area press. The luncheon was hosted by Sen. and Mrs. Arrington in their lakeshore home, site of the meeting.

Annual Audit Meeting

Legislators Succeed As Budget Watchdogs

By HELENE BRISTOL
Staff Writer

A local display of Illinois legislators working to save money for the state—and succeeding at their task—was provided Chicago-area newcomers last week in Evanston.

The occasion was the annual meeting of the Legislative Audit Commission, a "watchdog committee" established in 1957 to keep tabs on state officials and departments in the wake of the Orville Hodge scandal.

The watchdog has done so well that $1,332,314 has been recovered or collected for the state general fund with an additional $202,511 for special state funds.

THESE AMOUNTS, reported by the auditing commission, came as the result of intensive follow-up of recommendations made by private auditing firms.

The recovery or saving of state funds is running at a rate of about 10 to one cost-wise since the $1.5 million saved has cost taxpayers about $150,000 for the operation of the audit commission.

The August meeting of the commission has, by several years tradition, been held at the home of State Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston), chairman of the group. Other meetings are held in Springfield where state officials are more readily accessible for testimony. The audit commission maintains its office in the Illinois Capitol building.

MANY OF THE savings reported by the commission during its first six years of operation are of a recurring nature and will continue to accrue to the state.

During the last session of the legislature the audit commission submitted 12 bills aimed at saving further state funds. Eleven were enacted into law and one vetoed by the governor. At the 1961 session of the legislature a series of 25 bills were recommended by the commission, all of which were enacted.

The audit commission has the official duty of checking audits, revenues and expenditures of the state, its departments and agencies. Through the reports of the auditing firms, the Auditor General and other financial statements, the audit commission determines whether special studies or investigations are required. The commission has the power to conduct studies and hearings and may summon persons to testify under oath.

COMMISSION membership is evenly divided between Republicans and Democrats and between state senators and representatives. Present members, in addition to Arrington, are Senators Robert E. Cherry (D-Chicago), Richard R. Larson (R-Galesburg), Fred J. Smith (D-Chicago), and Arthur W. Sprague (R-LaGrange) and Representatives Paul F. Elward (D-Chicago), James P. Loukas (D-Chicago), Dean McCully (R-Minonk), Paul Powell (D-Vienna), and George F. Stastny (R-Chicago).

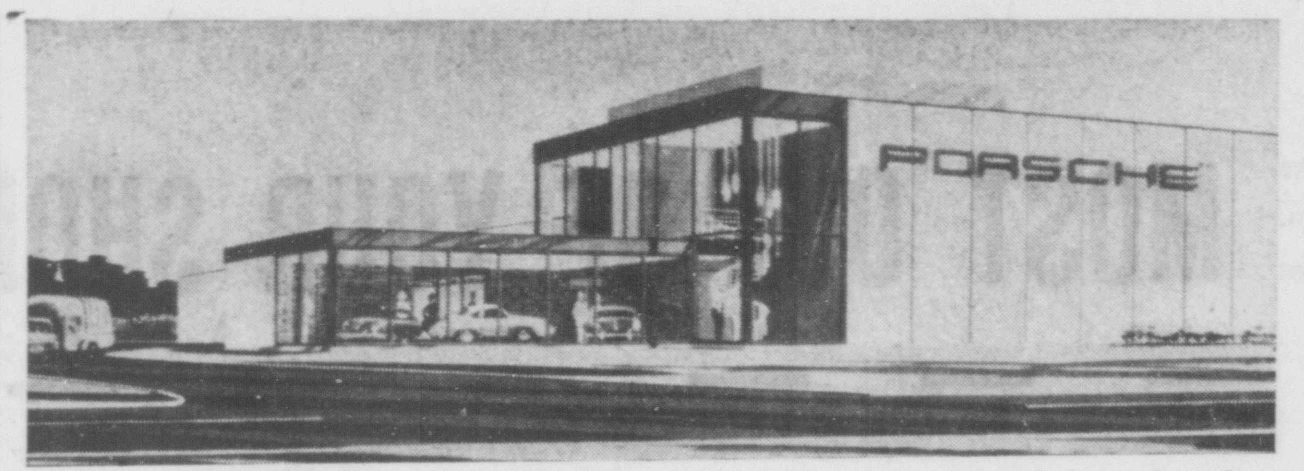
The commission meeting last week covered the audits of the retirement systems for state employees, teachers, judges and general assembly members; the Illinois Racing Board; the Illinois Harness Racing Commission; the Waukegan Port Authority, and the Illinois Armory Board.

The audit of the teachers retirement fund included the suggestion that the state withhold retirement payment amounts direct from state funds paid to local school districts, cutting state expense of bookkeeping and bringing funds to the state more rapidly. Under present practice deductions for the retirement fund are taken from teachers salaries and sent to the state at varying times by the 1,700 local school boards. The auditors note that a sizable portion of the funds used for teachers salaries comes from state funds. By taking the retirement payments direct from state funds before sent to local school districts savings in accounting could be realized by both the state and local school boards.

THE recommendation was approved by the Pension Laws Commission, but the School Problems Commission indicated it was not in favor of the idea until more details were available. Further study on this is continuing under the prodding of the audit commission.

Officials of the Waukegan Port District were targets of advice, criticism and firm warning by the audit commission. The audit report of the district noted several instances where the port district had violated state laws by authorizing purchase of steel for port construction in an amount $7,500 larger than the state appropriation. The officials were told that no matter how worthy local officials might feel purchases to be, the state law prohibits contracting of any indebtedness in an amount in excess of the money appropriated by the legislature.

The commission meeting ended with a luncheon for the audit commission members, their families, officials of the state boards who had testified at the meeting, local political leaders and members of the Chicago-area press. The luncheon was hosted by Sen. and Mrs. Arrington in their lakeshore home, site of the meeting.



GRAND OPENING of the new Porsche distribution center in Northbrook was Wednesday, Aug. 28. Oliver Schmidt, head of the agency, announced that he would display a Porsche racing car, the Elva-Porsche. It will be the "world's largest sales distribution and mechanical training center" for the German built car, it is stated. The two-story building has 27,000 square feet of floor space. Above is an artist's drawing of it. (A14

Symphony to Play In Park Tonight

The Arlington Heights Civic Symphony will present Pioneer Park's second concert of this summer's season at 8 p.m. tonight.

The program, set just outside the park's main building, will begin with an overture, "Music for the Royal Fireworks," by George F. Handel.

Following will be interpretations of "Summer Evening," by Delius; "A Manx Overture," by Haydn Wood, and "Sound of Music," by Rogers and Hammerstein, arranged by Robert Russell Bennett.

The concert will be concluded by "London Suite for Orchestra" in three movements, by Eric Coates.

The three movements, "Covent Garden," "Westminster," and "Knightsbridge," progress through portrayal of a swinging dance, meditation and the march.

Conductor of the symphony orchestra is Melvin D. Kasen, 1104 N. Haddow, Arlington Heights.

Admission to the concert will be free, and those attending are urged to bring chairs or blankets for lawn seating. (A

Transferred to Chicago? . . .

Have to buy a home? Been looking 'til you're frustrated, beat and discouraged? If that home you're leaving in good old Siwash looks more and more like a mansion by comparison, and you're wondering if the kids will think you got demoted instead of promoted, here's one suggestion before you tell the Boss to find a new boy . . .
See RESEDA! If you're used to nice living, Reseda is designed for you. It has the class you hoped to find at the price you WANT to pay. Read this letter to you from RESEDA'S first occupants!

Dear HOUSE HUNTER:

Thought you might like to hear of my good luck. About the house I found, I mean.

I'm writing this on the bar in the family kitchen of my new balconied colonial that's called the NATCHEZ. It's an ell shaped room about 20x24. In the "business" end, setting handsomely under a decorative soffit, are beautiful provincial cherrywood cabinets covering 2 11 ft. walls. These are topped with all the Formica counter space anybody could want. There's a G.E. extra big oven and range and a double bowl heavy porcelain sink with a disposer. The floor is a new vinyl design that looks like mosaic. It hasn't been mopped yet (we're still moving in) and while I know it must need it, it doesn't show any soil. To my right is a door (solid mahogany trimmed) to a full basement that's got that good, real quality equipment like Lennox 120,000 output, Rheem glass lined 40-gallon 10 year heater, 100 amp. 12 circuits, etc. Even a fully automatic softener. There's a swell spot for a big rec room, too.

As I turn around, I face my pride and joy! Set in a 20 ft. wall of rustic paneling is a great big raised hearth fireplace. It must be 8 ft. across! It's made of antique brick which goes clear to the ceiling. The firebox is arched, like an old fashioned Dutch oven. The floor is a soft walnut stained oak parquet, rich looking and a perfect compliment to the oval braided rug and maple furniture we already had. The TV is hooked up to the antenna that came with the house. The room looks wide open, yet I count seating for 10 plus 5 assorted tables! My wife and I had cocktails here at the bar last night. It was quiet and peaceful, and the luxury of this room really made me feel BIG! The kids? We have to pry them out of their 16x14 dormitory. Man, do they love that room! Our bedroom's a knockout, too. Same size, it has a dressing room, walkin closet, a vanity that my wife can sit at for her make-up, and its own ceramic bath. There are 2 more bedrooms and a huge 2nd bath, also ceramic, with a double bowl vanity 7 ft. long!

I'm so anxious to tell you about the surrounding neighborhood that I almost forgot to mention the big powder room, slate foyer, and the living and dining rooms. The gold carpeting that came with the house makes our furniture look like a million bucks. Great wall space and lovely windows. We had no trouble getting in our 100" sofa, 2 wingbacks, 2 lounge chairs, 5 assorted tables and stereo. The dining room took the 9 pieces (including a 60" hutch) like a dream.

Outside we have a full width concrete drive to the 2-car attached garage. The landscaper puts in the lawn tomorrow—for FREE! We also got triple track storms and screens. Doors, too.

And, Fella, let me tell you—when I turn in the garden wall boulevard entrance to RESEDA and drive down Topanga Drive past those other beautiful colonials, split levels and ranches like the Lexington, the Plantation, the Marblehead, the Vermont and the Savannah, all on wide, at least 76 ft. frontages, and pull up to my NATCHEZ, that cost me $28,250, I KNOW I got the BEST BUY IN THE WORLD!

Reseda is in Palatine. Schools, recreation and shopping are second to none. commuting by car or train is a breeze and takes less than 45 minutes. Take Route 14 (Northwest Hwy.) to Hicks Rd. (Route 53). Go north 4 blocks to the end of Palatine Golf Club. Reseda is on your right. We'll be glad to have you aboard!

Yours truly,

One Happy Guy

Forest View News

School days will be here again Sept. 3. We hope the summer was pleasant and that all thinking caps are on tight and ready to remain for the next nine months.

Dorlene Rithamel celebrated her fifth birthday with a long awaited visit from her cousin, Sgt. Lloyd Lachmidt, and wife, Marlene. Sgt. Lachmidt had been stationed in England for three years, Michigan for several months, and is now in the vicinity, so all the guests remained glued to their seats while listening to his many experiences.

Sunday the Victor Louises of E. Golf hosted Mr. and Mrs. H. Studtmann, Patricia, Christine, Jennifer and Douglas of Kenosha.

Mrs. Mabel Butenschoen of Marengo helped her daughter, Violet Piske, celebrate her birthday. The W. Butenschoens, H. Beilfusses, C. Maceys and Mrs. Irene Gundelach and Richard also came.

TUESDAY DINNER guests of the Otto Gorgiuses were Otto's aunt, Mrs. Agnes Miller, and Mrs. Elsie Himmelberg of Chicago. Last Thursday Loraine drove Lynne and Laurie, Scoop Larson and Giorgio Bonazza to Sand Lake to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Wilhelm. The children had a great time showing Giorgio, from Italy, how they can enlarge on "fish" stories.

Saturday the Robert Engelhardts attended the Newcomers theatre party and buffet, seeing "Wedding Breakfast" at the Stagelite Theatre. Wednesday the Engelhardts had dinner and saw the play, "Champagne Complex," at Old Orchard Country Club with the Raymond Projahns of Des Plaines. The occasion celebrated Ray's and Bob's birthdays. Saturday night, the Englehardts attended a family birthday party at Bob's folks' in Franklin Park to celebrate Bob's, his father's and sister's birthdays.

Linda Englehardt spent five days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lynn, in Chicago. They put their car on the Clipper in Milwaukee and docked in Muskegan to spend three days in Michigan.

BIRTHDAY greetings this week are extended to Jonas Mata, Paul Pratt, Alicia Garcia, Nanette Holfeld and Nancy Larson. May there be many more years of happiness for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rauba and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Paus when they celebrate their anniversaries.

Wade, Marge, Gregg and Terry Gale spent the week in Los Angeles, visiting Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, the Movieland Wax Museum, Pacific Ocean Park and Hollywood.

The Augie Neitzels hosted Donna Coudek and family all day Tuesday.

The Bill Camerons are enjoying Bill's vacation this week. Monday he and daughter, Deanne, took a train ride to the Loop where some shopping was accomplished, and Wednesday found the Camerons at Kiddyland, followed by supper "out." Thursday Nadine and Bill shopped in the Loop, and Saturday the Senior Camerons of Elmwood Park joined the whole Cameron clan to dine at the Oasis on the Tollway.

JO ANN PECK celebrated her fifth birthday twice in one week. She had 10 neighborhood girls to an afternoon party and also had relatives to another one.

Al Roach celebrated his birthday last Friday evening with friends and relatives.

Keith Bongirno is slowly on the mend, having fractured his left arm on Aug. 13. Friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Waller Smith have congratulations coming as they became grandparents for the second time. The new grandson is called Robert Harvey Warren IV. The Smiths have house guests this week from their home town, Mrs. Anne Marinoff and daughter, Alexes.

Mary Ellen Howerton celebrated her sixth birthday Aug. 22 with a party for her neighborhood friends.

Tuesday Virginia, Steve and Kenny Anderson spent the day at Druce Lake. Swimming and boating with the Andersons were Virginia's two brothers and their families. Steve left the Lake with his aunt and uncle to spend the rest of the week with them.

A STEAK cookout was the menu for the Wuchterls when they entertained Judy's two aunts, Tess Brophy and Catherine Brophy from Texas.

The Carceranos have returned from their vacation spent driving through Michigan. They visited the Kellogg Plant in Battle Creek, the Irish Hills, Frontier City and Mystery Hill, among other sights.

The James Colamatteo family have returned after a busy vacation on the East Coast. The family visited relatives for a few days, went down the coast of Connecticut to Hartford and then to Mystic Village, which is a restored seaport from the 1700's. They found New York City fascinating and Washington, D. C. awe-inspring.

The tentative date for the next general meeting of Forest View Improvement Association is Thursday, Sept. 12, at 8 p.m. in Forest View Elementary School. This column will give further details later. (AME

Symphony to Play In Park Tonight

The Arlington Heights Civic Symphony will present Pioneer Park's second concert of this summer's season at 8 p.m. tonight.

The program, set just outside the park's main building, will begin with an overture, "Music for the Royal Fireworks," by George F. Handel.

Following will be interpretations of "Summer Evening," by Delius; "A Manx Overture," by Haydn Wood, and "Sound of Music," by Rogers and Hammerstein, arranged by Robert Russell Bennett.

The concert will be concluded by "London Suite for Orchestra" in three movements, by Eric Coates.

The three movements, "Covent Garden," "Westminster," and "Knightsbridge," progress through portrayal of a swinging dance, meditation and the march.

Conductor of the symphony orchestra is Melvin D. Kasen, 1104 N. Haddow, Arlington Heights.

Admission to the concert will be free, and those attending are urged to bring chairs or blankets for lawn seating. (A

Forest View News

School days will be here again Sept. 3. We hope the summer was pleasant and that all thinking caps are on tight and ready to remain for the next nine months.

Dorlene Rithamel celebrated her fifth birthday with a long awaited visit from her cousin, Sgt. Lloyd Lachmidt, and wife, Marlene. Sgt. Lachmidt had been stationed in England for three years, Michigan for several months, and is now in the vicinity, so all the guests remained glued to their seats while listening to his many experiences.

Sunday the Victor Louises of E. Golf hosted Mr. and Mrs. H. Studtmann, Patricia, Christine, Jennifer and Douglas of Kenosha.

Mrs. Mabel Butenschoen of Marengo helped her daughter, Violet Piske, celebrate her birthday. The W. Butenschoens, H. Beilfusses, C. Maceys and Mrs. Irene Gundelach and Richard also came.

TUESDAY DINNER guests of the Otto Gorgiuses were Otto's aunt, Mrs. Agnes Miller, and Mrs. Elsie Himmelberg of Chicago. Last Thursday Loraine drove Lynne and Laurie, Scoop Larson and Giorgio Bonazza to Sand Lake to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. Wilhelm. The children had a great time showing Giorgio, from Italy, how they can enlarge on "fish" stories.

Saturday the Robert Engelhardts attended the Newcomers theatre party and buffet, seeing "Wedding Breakfast" at the Stagelite Theatre. Wednesday the Engelhardts had dinner and saw the play, "Champagne Complex," at Old Orchard Country Club with the Raymond Projahns of Des Plaines. The occasion celebrated Ray's and Bob's birthdays. Saturday night, the Englehardts attended a family birthday party at Bob's folks' in Franklin Park to celebrate Bob's, his father's and sister's birthdays.

Linda Englehardt spent five days with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lynn, in Chicago. They put their car on the Clipper in Milwaukee and docked in Muskegan to spend three days in Michigan.

BIRTHDAY greetings this week are extended to Jonas Mata, Paul Pratt, Alicia Garcia, Nanette Holfeld and Nancy Larson. May there be many more years of happiness for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rauba and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Paus when they celebrate their anniversaries.

Wade, Marge, Gregg and Terry Gale spent the week in Los Angeles, visiting Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, the Movieland Wax Museum, Pacific Ocean Park and Hollywood.

The Augie Neitzels hosted Donna Coudek and family all day Tuesday.

The Bill Camerons are enjoying Bill's vacation this week. Monday he and daughter, Deanne, took a train ride to the Loop where some shopping was accomplished, and Wednesday found the Camerons at Kiddyland, followed by supper "out." Thursday Nadine and Bill shopped in the Loop, and Saturday the Senior Camerons of Elmwood Park joined the whole Cameron clan to dine at the Oasis on the Tollway.

JO ANN PECK celebrated her fifth birthday twice in one week. She had 10 neighborhood girls to an afternoon party and also had relatives to another one.

Al Roach celebrated his birthday last Friday evening with friends and relatives.

Keith Bongirno is slowly on the mend, having fractured his left arm on Aug. 13. Friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Waller Smith have congratulations coming as they became grandparents for the second time. The new grandson is called Robert Harvey Warren IV. The Smiths have house guests this week from their home town, Mrs. Anne Marinoff and daughter, Alexes.

Mary Ellen Howerton celebrated her sixth birthday Aug. 22 with a party for her neighborhood friends.

Tuesday Virginia, Steve and Kenny Anderson spent the day at Druce Lake. Swimming and boating with the Andersons were Virginia's two brothers and their families. Steve left the Lake with his aunt and uncle to spend the rest of the week with them.

A STEAK cookout was the menu for the Wuchterls when they entertained Judy's two aunts, Tess Brophy and Catherine Brophy from Texas.

The Carceranos have returned from their vacation spent driving through Michigan. They visited the Kellogg Plant in Battle Creek, the Irish Hills, Frontier City and Mystery Hill, among other sights.

The James Colamatteo family have returned after a busy vacation on the East Coast. The family visited relatives for a few days, went down the coast of Connecticut to Hartford and then to Mystic Village, which is a restored seaport from the 1700's. They found New York City fascinating and Washington, D. C. awe-inspring.

The tentative date for the next general meeting of Forest View Improvement Association is Thursday, Sept. 12, at 8 p.m. in Forest View Elementary School. This column will give further details later. (AME

Transferred to Chicago? . . .

Have to buy a home? Been looking 'til you're frustrated, beat and discouraged? If that home you're leaving in good old Siwash looks more and more like a mansion by comparison, and you're wondering if the kids will think you got demoted instead of promoted, here's one suggestion before you tell the Boss to find a new boy . . .

See RESEDA! If you're used to nice living, Reseda is designed for you. It has the class you hoped to find at the price you WANT to pay. Read this letter to you from RESEDA'S first occupants!

Dear HOUSE HUNTER:

Thought you might like to hear of my good luck. About the house I found, I mean.

I'm writing this on the bar in the family kitchen of my new balconied colonial that's called the NATCHEZ. It's an ell shaped room about 20x24. In the "business" end, setting handsomely under a decorative soffit, are beautiful provincial cherrywood cabinets covering 2 11 ft. walls. These are topped with all the Formica counter space anybody could want. There's a G.E. extra big oven and range and a double bowl heavy porcelain sink with a disposer. The floor is a new vinyl design that looks like mosaic. It hasn't been mopped yet (we're still moving in) and while I know it must need it, it doesn't show any soil. To my right is a door (solid mahogany trimmed) to a full basement that's got that good, real quality equipment like Lennox 120,000 output, Rheem glass lined 40-gallon 10 year heater, 100 amp. 12 circuits, etc. Even a fully automatic softener. There's a swell spot for a big rec room, too.

As I turn around, I face my pride and joy! Set in a 20 ft. wall of rustic paneling is a great big raised hearth fireplace. It must be 8 ft. across! It's made of antique brick which goes clear to the ceiling. The firebox is arched, like an old fashioned Dutch oven. The floor is a soft walnut stained oak parquet, rich looking and a perfect compliment to the oval braided rug and maple furniture we already had. The TV is hooked up to the antenna that came with the house. The room looks wide open, yet I count seating for 10 plus 5 assorted tables! My wife and I had cocktails here at the bar last night. It was quiet and peaceful, and the luxury of this room really made me feel BIG! The kids? We have to pry them out of their 16x14 dormitory. Man, do they love that room! Our bedroom's a knockout, too. Same size, it has a dressing room, walkin closet, a vanity that my wife can sit at for her make-up, and its own ceramic bath. There are 2 more bedrooms and a huge 2nd bath, also ceramic, with a double bowl vanity 7 ft. long!

I'm so anxious to tell you about the surrounding neighborhood that I almost forgot to mention the big powder room, slate foyer, and the living and dining rooms. The gold carpeting that came with the house makes our furniture look like a million bucks. Great wall space and lovely windows. We had no trouble getting in our 100" sofa, 2 wingbacks, 2 lounge chairs, 5 assorted tables and stereo. The dining room took the 9 pieces (including a 60" hutch) like a dream.

Outside we have a full width concrete drive to the 2-car attached garage. The landscaper puts in the lawn tomorrow—for FREE! We also got triple track storms and screens. Doors, too.

And, Fella, let me tell you—when I turn in the garden wall boulevard entrance to RESEDA and drive down Topanga Drive past those other beautiful colonials, split levels and ranches like the Lexington, the Plantation, the Marblehead, the Vermont and the Savannah, all on wide, at least 76 ft. frontages, and pull up to my NATCHEZ, that cost me $28,250, I KNOW I got the BEST BUY IN THE WORLD!

Reseda is in Palatine. Schools, recreation and shopping are second to none. commuting by car or train is a breeze and takes less than 45 minutes. Take Route 14 (Northwest Hwy.) to Hicks Rd. (Route 53). Go north 4 blocks to the end of Palatine Golf Club. Reseda is on your right. We'll be glad to have you aboard!

Yours truly,

One Happy Guy

Warn That Old Paint Is Danger to Child

Lead poisoning in children descends tragically on the City of Chicago every summer; over 200 cases, about 20 deaths, and many children mentally retarded for life.

These victims, usually infants and toddlers, ate peeling paint flakes or nibbled on painted woodwork in old, poorly maintained tenement houses.

DuPage County, more recently populated and with individual homes, has escaped this annual tragedy. But cases of lead poisoning in children do occasionally occur in DuPage County. A case was reported to the health depatment last week.

If a house is more than 20 years old, the chances are that the interior was painted with heavily leaded paint, as well as the exterior. If the old interior paint has not been removed it can still be a threat to a child nibbling on it.

MODERN interior house paint does not as a rule contain lead and consequently is not a threat to Children. Modern children's furniture, cribs, beds highchairs, playpens, etc. are safe too. When lead is used in modern interior paint, it constitutes only one per cent or less of the contents and is not considered a threat to children. Nevertheless the paint containing one per cent of lead, or less, carries a warning label prescribed by the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association and the Federal and State Hazardous Substances Acts.

Why does lead poisoning, from eating old paint, occur mostly during the summer months? For some reason still unknown to medical science the lead eaten during the cooler months is stored, relatively harmlessly, in the long bones of the body. With the coming of summer weather the lead leaves the bones and invades the soft tissues and organs of the body, damaging tissues, causing inflamation and swelling, and producing toxic symptoms.

In very young children the brain is one of the larger organs and particularly subject to damage from the invading lead. Damaged brain tissue is irreparable and can leave the child, if he recovers, mentally retarded.

WHEN symptoms of lead poisoning from eating paint appear in a child physicians do not believe that they are solely indicative of a recent episode. Evidence usually points out that the child has a history of paint eating for at least three months before symptoms appear. The usual symptoms are stomach pain, frequent vomiting, headaches, muscular weakness, irritability and spasms.

Don't wait for symptoms to apear. If you are aware that your child nibbles on leaded paint, take him to the physician immediately for an examination. Modern urine and blood tests reveal the presence of lead in the body.

Ooutside the house do not permit a child to nibble on piazza rails, or fences, or eat paint flakes falling from exterior surfaces. Exterior paint is usually heavily leaded. (A14

Get Federal Grant For Area Planning

A year-long comprehensive planning study for Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will counties will be ifnanced by a $148,268 grant from the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan planning Commission received word of the grant last week. It will be supplemented by $74,135 in local contributions to the planning commission.

Projects to be undertaken:

—Formulation of alternative metropolitan development policies. This would involve determination of future population densities.

—Projection of capital expenditures until 1980. Planners would survey local governments and taxing bodies to learn plans for streets, sewers, public buildings, schools. Purpose of this study is to show local governments what it will cost to remedy such ills as flooding.

—Industrial and commercial structure survey.

—HOUSING inventory. Purpose is to identify areas of substandard housing where urban renewal might be indicated or which "might require special consideration in the development of a comprehensive metropolitan" area.

—Sanitary sewer inventory. Purpose is to draw a composite map of sanitary sewer systems for the six-county area and to show proportions of vacant land provided with 'sewers.

—Population and housing projections to 1980. This will merely be an editing and printing job for completed survey.

—Land use survey, to be conducted in cooperation with business interests. This will show how the land is being used and what will be needed by 1980. (A-14

At Randhurst

Montgomery Ward to Take Over The Fair

J. P. Hansen, vice president of Montgomery Ward and president of The Fair stores, this week announced that the suburban Fair store in Mount Prospect's Randhurst Shopping Center will be converted into a full-line Montgomery Ward retail department store in November.

Responsibility for management of the Mount Prospect store will be transferred from The Fair to the Chicago metropolitan district of Montgomery Ward under the supervision of Robert L. Daly.

Hansen stated the conversion of the Randhurst store will not affect operations of the other Fair stores at Oak Park, Evergreen Plaza, Old Orchard and State Street. Ward and Fair credit services will continue to be available to customers of all stores.

DALY STATED that the Montgomery Ward store at Randhurst will be the first of several full-line retail department stores which are to be established by Montgomery Ward in the Chicago area. The Randhurst store was selected to be the first store because it meets all the shopping center requirements of Wards in its strategy of locating new stores. Furthermore, the 16-car auto service center at the Randhurst location has been operated as a Montgomery Ward facility since the center's opening one year ago.

Special product-training courses for the employes of the Randhurst store are being scheduled to acquaint them with the full line of Montgomery Ward products and services.

Work on the project already is under way. Display cases and fixtures will be moved to the State Street Fair store as new Montgomery Ward standardized equipment is installed.

'Popcorn Belt' Expects Smaller Crop This Year

by RICHARD NORBRATEN
United Press International

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — Illinois popcorn farmers, who rank fifth in the nation in production, have cut their 1963 planting acreages by more than half of last year's crop.

Farmers will harvest 11,000 acres this year, compared with 23,000 acres last year. This year's harvest is a 52 per cent decrease from last year and 55 per cent below the 1957-61 crop.

Farm experts say the reason behind this year's cut is the record yield the last two years. Too much popcorn has caused a "glut" in popcorn stalks.

The 1962 crop yielded 2,800 pounds an acre and the 1961 crop yielded 2,600.

ALL THE "Popcorn Belt" states in the United States plan to harvest considerably less this year because of the large stocks.

Indiana will still lead the nation by harvesting 25,500 acres.

Yields have been high in Illinois since 1956. Yields from 1935 to the high production years had averaged only 1,400 to 1,600 lbs. an acre with the exception of 1948 which produced 2,250 lbs.

Processors this year have been reluctant to contract for good prices in the hopes the action will trim supply to meet demand. It is their contention that smaller acreages will help get rid of the surplus.

THE LARGEST share of Illinois' popcorn is grown in the southeastern part of the state. It is also produced in small areas in the north.

Popcorn is a special variety of corn with tiny, round kernels. It is isolated from the other varieties to between cross pollination.

If cross-pollination occurs, the popcorn won't pop.

Department Store Sales Up from '62

CHICAGO (UPI) — Department store sales rose 12 per cent over a year ago in metropolitan Chicago during the week ended Aug. 17, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago said.

Unseasonably cool weather and back-to-school promotions in the bank's seventh district prompted purchases of fall clothing. The bank recorded a 5 per cent gain in Midwest sales for the year to date.

CHICAGO led the district with an increase of 18 per cent with State Street stores rising only 5 per cent and other Chicago outlets up 24 per cent.

Sales in Detroit, Mich., rose 14 per cent, Milwaukee, Wis., 9 per cent, Indianapolis 7 per cent with its downtown area also up 7 per cent. In the other cities, Grand Rapids, Mich., was 8 per cent higher.

Nationally, department store sales were up 7 per cent with 4 per cent higher for the year so far. (B-9

Delicatessen Thief Escapes on Bicycle

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — A gunman made good his escape from a delicatessen holdup riding a bicycle.

John Cuddy, 65-year-old store owner, was the victim. Cuddy said the man held a handkerchief over his face and pointed a gun at him.

THE GUNMAN grabbed about $100 from the cash register, then warned Cuddy not to leave the store for five minutes.

Cuddy said he climbed out a rear window and saw the man on a bike going down the alley. He said he fired two shots with his own gun, but thought he missed the man.

Sees 339,920 Pupils In Suburban Schools

Enrollment at suburban schools will be about 339,920 as compared with 324,605 last year, according to preliminary figures given by Noble J. Puffer, Cook County Superintendent of Schools.

The new elementary school enrollment figure is 240,590, compared to last year's 230,817. This year's high school enrollment figure is 99,330, compared to 1962's total of 91,237.

FOR ELEMENTARY pupils, there will be 396 new classrooms, 164 of them in 17 new buildings, and 232 in additions to existing elementary schools.

In addition, 7 multi-purpose rooms, 6 gymnasiums, 1 auditorium, 6 libraries, 2 audio-visual rooms, 6 special subjects rooms, and 12 administrative rooms have been built at a total cost of $12,316,000.

"Unfortunately," reports Dr. Puffer, "there are still 46 classes on half-day sessions in four suburban school districts."

IN THE HIGH schools, 179 new classrooms will be available, plus five gymnasiums, one auditorium, three libraries, one study hall, five special subject rooms and one administrative room. The total cost was $8,022,000.

Dr. Puffer said school construction demands would continue in coming years, because of extremely heavy enrollments pouring into high schools from ever - increasing elementary school graduating classes.

6 Schools for Retarded Ready for Fall Semester

Special schools for mentally retarded children and young adults will reopen Labor Day week at six west area locations.

The schools are non-profit operations of member associations of the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children. Altogether, the council has 43 member units serving approximately 1,200 pupils throughout the state.

West area schools are: Beverly Lake School, Rte. 72 and Beverly Lake Rd., near Dundee, operated by the Elgin Cardunal Assn. for Retarded Children; Bonaparte School, Thorndale Road, Bensenville, operated by Community Welfare for Mentally Retarded Children, and Seguin School, 6223 Ogden Av., Berwyn, a joint operation of Mentally Retarded Children's Aid and the Berwyn School Board.

OTHERS ARE Austin Special School, 411 N. Long Ave., Chicago, operated by West Side Mentally Retarded Children's Aid; Valley School for Exceptional Children, 355 First St., Batavia, operated by Valley Parent Group for Exceptional Children, and the Oak Community School, 909 S. Lombard Ave., Oak Park, operated by the Oak Park-River Forest Assn. for Retarded Children.

The schools will welcome queries from parents for information on enrollment or placement on waiting lists. In most cases, the schools are recruiting volunteers to assist teachers in classroom work or to supervise play for several hours each week.

Classes for retarded children stress social adjustment, self-care and economic usefulness. For younger pupils, economic usefulness means training in home chores. Teens and young adults learn industrial skills in vocational training programs. Language development, simple academic studies, arts and crafts and physical education are included.

Beginning in September, the Illinois Council will recruit volunteers for its 1963 Chicago area Retarded Children's Appeal which will culminate in a door-to-door drive for funds Sunday, Nov. 24. Proceeds will aid expansion of local educational facilities and preventive research. A-14

Square Dance
Club News

Dorothy Meyer CLearbrook 3-2298

RANDHURST SPECIAL

The second annual under-the-stars dance at the Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect was such a swingin', zingin' success that masterminder Bob Luebbe is still walking around in a daze.

By actual head count and registration there were 61 squares dancing and 46 north, east, south and west suburban towns represented at the Aug. 17 shebang. That little hamlet, Chicago, had quite a few citizens there, too. By estimate there were an additional 700 onlookers, plus a few police to handle the crowd, enjoying the sights and sounds of happy hoe-downers having a ball.

One vacationing couple from Ironwood, Mich., were on the Indiana Tollroad when they heard a radio announcement of the Randhurst Special. They headed for the nearest exit that would bring them this-a-way, and they too were part of the crowd. Another couple came the 140 miles from Milford to dance with the rest of 'em and best of 'em.

Luebbe says that there will very likely be Saturday night dancing in the Randhurst mall again, in response to the many requests from last season's Triangle R dancers. Details are still to be worked out, and when they are, all the pertinent info will appear here.

BUCK AND DOES

The Elk Grove dancers are issuing an open invitation to their free get-acquainted dance, coming Sept. 10. Caller Bob Lewis will square'em up at 8 o'clock in Higgins School, Touhy and Higgins, in Elk Grove. Everybody's welcome.

Instruction classes sponsored by the club will begin Tuesday, Sept. 17, at 8 p.m., with Lewis at the head of the class in the Higgins School.

Anyone wishing further information about the get-acquainted dance or the instruction classes is invited to call GL 5-4642 or CL 3-5838. (A-14

"My son traded a '59 Chevrolet for a '63 Ford. He liked Ford's styling better. The smooth ride and the way the Ford takes the bumps also impressed us. And he likes Ford's padded ceiling. Friends who've ridden in the car commented on this, too. You can reach up and feel the thick insulation in Ford's ceiling—that's a good sign that the car is well made."
—Mrs. E. Banaszek, Elmhurst, Illinois

"Ford has the best performance . . ."

"I traded a '58 Oldsmobile for the 1963 Ford. This is my first Ford. I looked around pretty carefully and took a test ride in several of the cars. Ford had the best performance . . . on top of that it costs much less than the medium-price cars. It's a solid car, well made. The pickup and ride are wonderful. I'm satisfied with it from one end to the other."
—L. Linder, Elgin, Illinois

"What surprised me was how luxurious Ford was . . ."

"We traded a '58 Buick wagon for a Ford Country Squire. We wanted a nine-passenger wagon without a seat facing the rear. What really surprised me was how luxurious the Ford was—more luxurious than you'd expect a wagon to be. And it rides very smoothly and quietly. We have seven children, ages 1½ to 10. I wish they all rode as quietly as the Ford."
—W. Snellgrove, Elgin, Illinois

"When are you going to turn the motor on?"

"We owned some Fords in the past but our new '63 Ford is the best of all. I've never driven in a car that's so quiet. We were driving down the street with my three-year-old grandson and he said, 'When are you going to turn the motor on?' Our last car wasn't a Ford—and it didn't handle as easily as Ford. You can see better in the Ford—the windshield is larger and the shape of the hood gives you a better view of the road."
—Mrs. C. O. Smith, Oak Park, Illinois

"You get more head room and leg room . . ."

"We traded a '60 Chevrolet for a '63 Ford Sports Hardtop. The performance is outstanding—smooth and quiet. I find it easy to handle and park . . . and it has real good pickup. You get more head room and leg room in a Ford—it's more comfortable. The interior is lovely—very easy to clean. Some cars have hard-to-clean spots, but not this Ford. We're really enjoying the Ford."
—Mrs. G. J. Schmidt, Chicago, Illinois

"The test drive sold me . . ."

"It was the test drive that sold me. After driving for about 15 minutes—I knew the Ford was for me. It performs just beautifully. Handling, parking, pickup—all excellent. I owned a Ford some years ago—they've really come a long way. And the dealer is reputable. I like the way he treats me and treats my car. Good car, good dealer—I'm satisfied with both."

Warn That Old Paint Is Danger to Child

Lead poisoning in children descends tragically on the City of Chicago every summer; over 200 cases, about 20 deaths, and many children mentally retarded for life.

These victims, usually infants and toddlers, ate peeling paint flakes or nibbled on painted woodwork in old, poorly maintained tenement houses.

DuPage County, more recently populated and with individual homes, has escaped this annual tragedy. But cases of lead poisoning in children do occasionally occur in DuPage County. A case was reported to the health depatment last week.

If a house is more than 20 years old, the chances are that the interior was painted with heavily leaded paint, as well as the exterior. If the old interior paint has not been removed it can still be a threat to a child nibbling on it.

MODERN interior house paint does not as a rule contain lead and consequently is not a threat to Children. Modern children's furniture, cribs, beds high-chairs, playpens, etc. are safe too. When lead is used in modern interior paint, it constitutes only one per cent or less of the contents and is not considered a threat to children. Nevertheless the paint containing one per cent of lead, or less, carries a warning label prescribed by the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association and the Federal and State Hazardous Substances Acts.

Why does lead poisoning, from eating old paint, occur mostly during the summer months? For some reason still unknown to medical science the lead eaten during the cooler months is stored, relatively harmlessly, in the long bones of the body. With the coming of summer weather the lead leaves the bones and invades the soft tissues and organs of the body, damaging tissues, causing inflamation and swelling, and producing toxic symptoms.

In very young children the brain is one of the larger organs and particularly subject to damage from the invading lead. Damaged brain tissue is irreparable and can leave the child, if he recovers, mentally retarded.

WHEN symptoms of lead poisoning from eating paint appear in a child physicians do not believe that they are solely indicative of a recent episode. Evidence usually points out that the child has a history of paint eating for at least three months before symptoms appear. The usual symptoms are stomach pain, frequent vomiting, headaches, muscular weakness, irritability and spasms.

Don't wait for symptoms to apear. If you are aware that your child nibbles on leaded paint, take him to the physician immediately for an examination. Modern urine and blood tests reveal the presence of lead in the body.

Ooutside the house do not permit a child to nibble on piazza rails, or fences, or eat paint flakes falling from exterior surfaces. Exterior paint is usually heavily leaded. (A14

Sees 339,920 Pupils In Suburban Schools

Enrollment at suburban schools will be about 339,920 as compared with 324,605 last year, according to preliminary figures given by Noble J. Puffer, Cook County Superintendent of Schools.

The new elementary school enrollment figure is 240,590, compared to last year's 230,817. This year's high school enrollment figure is 99,330, compared to 1962's total of 91,237.

FOR ELEMENTARY pupils, there will be 396 new classrooms, 164 of them in 17 new buildings, and 232 in additions to existing elementary schools.

In addition, 7 multi-purpose rooms, 6 gymnasiums, 1 auditorium, 6 libraries, 2 audio-visual rooms, 6 special subjects rooms, and 12 administrative rooms have been built at a total cost of $12,316,000.

"Unfortunately," reports Dr. Puffer, "there are still 46 classes on half-day sessions in four suburban school districts."

IN THE HIGH schools, 179 new classrooms will be available, plus five gymnasiums, one auditorium, three libraries, one study hall, five special subject rooms and one administrative room. The total cost was $8,022,000.

Dr. Puffer said school construction demands would continue in coming years, because of extremely heavy enrollments pouring into high schools from ever-increasing elementary school graduating classes.

6 Schools for Retarded Ready for Fall Semester

Special schools for mentally retarded children and young adults will reopen Labor Day week at six west area locations.

The schools are non-profit operations of member associations of the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children. Altogether, the council has 43 member units serving approximately 1,200 pupils throughout the state.

West area schools are: Beverly Lake School, Rte. 72 and Beverly Lake Rd., near Dundee, operated by the Elgin Cardunal Assn. for Retarded Children; Bonaparte School, Thorndale Road, Bensenville, operated by Community Welfare for Mentally Retarded Children, and Seguin School, 6223 Ogden Av., Berwyn, a joint operation of Mentally Retarded Children's Aid and the Berwyn School Board.

OTHERS ARE Austin Special School, 411 N. Long Ave., Chicago, operated by West Side Mentally Retarded Children's Aid; Valley School for Exceptional Children, 355 First St., Batavia, operated by Valley Parent Group for Exceptional Children, and the Oak Community School, 909 S. Lombard Ave., Oak Park, operated by the Oak Park-River Forest Assn. for Retarded Children.

The schools will welcome queries from parents for information on enrollment or placement on waiting lists. In most cases, the schools are recruiting volunteers to assist teachers in classroom work or to supervise play for several hours each week.

Classes for retarded children stress social adjustment, self-care and economic usefulness. For younger pupils, economic usefulness means training in home chores. Teens and young adults learn industrial skills in vocational training programs. Language development, simple academic studies, arts and crafts and physical education are included.

Beginning in September, the Illinois Council will recruit volunteers for its 1963 Chicago area Retarded Children's Appeal which will culminate in a door-to-door drive for funds Sunday, Nov. 24. Proceeds will aid expansion of local educational facilities and preventive research. A-14

RANDHURST SPECIAL

The second annual under-the-stars dance at the Randhurst Shopping Center in Mount Prospect was such a swingin', zingin' success that masterminder Bob Luebbe is still walking around in a daze.

By actual head count and registration there were 61 squares dancing and 46 north, east, south and west suburban towns represented at the Aug. 17 shebang. That little hamlet, Chicago, had quite a few citizens there, too. By estimate there were an additional 700 onlookers, plus a few police to handle the crowd, enjoying the sights and sounds of happy hoe-downers having a ball.

One vacationing couple from Ironwood, Mich., were on the Indiana Tollroad when they heard a radio announcement of the Randhurst Special. They headed for the nearest exit that would bring them this-a-way, and they too were part of the crowd. Another couple came the 140 miles from Milford to dance with the rest of 'em and best of 'em.

Get Federal Grant For Area Planning

A year-long comprehensive planning study for Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will counties will be ifnanced by a $148,268 grant from the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

The Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan planning Commission received word of the grant last week. It will be supplemented by $74,135 in local contributions to the planning commission.

Projects to be undertaken:

—Formulation of alternative metropolitan development policies. This would involve determination of future population densities.

—Projection of capital expenditures until 1980. Planners would survey local governments and taxing bodies to learn plans for streets, sewers, public buildings, schools. Purpose of this study is to show local governments what it will cost to remedy such ills as flooding.

—Industrial and commercial structure survey.

—HOUSING inventory. Purpose is to identify areas of substandard housing where urban renewal might be indicated or which "might require special consideration in the development of a comprehensive metropolitan" area.

—Sanitary sewer inventory. Purpose is to draw a composite map of sanitary sewer systems for the six-county area and to show proportions of vacant land provided with 'sewers.

—Population and housing projections to 1980. This will merely be an editing and printing job for completed survey.

—Land use survey, to be conducted in cooperation with business interests. This will show how the land is being used and what will be needed by 1980. (A-14

At Randhurst

Montgomery Ward to Take Over The Fair

J. P. Hansen, vice president of Montgomery Ward and president of The Fair stores, this week announced that the suburban Fair store in Mount Prospect's Randhurst Shopping Center will be converted into a full-line Montgomery Ward retail department store in November.

Responsibility for management of the Mount Prospect store will be transferred from The Fair to the Chicago metropolitan district of Montgomery Ward under the supervision of Robert L. Daly.

Hansen stated the conversion of the Randhurst store will not affect operations of the other Fair stores at Oak Park, Evergreen Plaza, Old Orchard and State Street. Ward and Fair credit services will continue to be available to customers of all stores.

DALY STATED that the Montgomery Ward store at Randhurst will be the first of several full-line retail department stores which are to be established by Montgomery Ward in the Chicago area. The Randhurst store was selected to be the first store because it meets all the shopping center requirements of Wards in its strategy of locating new stores. Furthermore, the 16-car auto service center at the Randhurst location has been operated as a Montgomery Ward facility since the center's opening one year ago.

Special product-training courses for the employes of the Randhurst store are being scheduled to acquaint them with the full line of Montgomery Ward products and services.

Work on the project already is under way. Display cases and fixtures will be moved to the State Street Fair store as new Montgomery Ward standardized equipment is installed.

'Popcorn Belt' Expects Smaller Crop This Year

by RICHARD NORBRATEN
United Press International

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — Illinois popcorn farmers, who rank fifth in the nation in production, have cut their 1963 planting acreages by more than half of last year's crop.

Farmers will harvest 11,000 acres this year, compared with 23,000 acres last year. This year's harvest is a 52 per cent decrease from last year and 55 per cent below the 1957-61 crop.

Farm experts say the reason behind this year's cut is the record yield the last two years. Too much popcorn has caused a "glut" in popcorn stalks.

The 1962 crop yielded 2,800 pounds an acre and the 1961 crop yielded 2,600.

ALL THE "Popcorn Belt" states in the United States plan to harvest considerably less this year because of the large stocks.

Indiana will still lead the nation by harvesting 25,500 acres.

Yields have been high in Illinois since 1956. Yields from 1935 to the high production years had averaged only 1,400 to 1,600 lbs. an acre with the exception of 1948 which produced 2,250 lbs.

Processors this year have been reluctant to contract for good prices in the hopes the action will trim supply to meet demand. It is their contention that smaller acreages will help get rid of the surplus.

THE LARGEST share of Illinois' popcorn is grown in the southeastern part of the state. It is also produced in small areas in the north.

Popcorn is a special variety of corn with tiny, round kernels. It is isolated from the other varieties to between cross pollination.

If cross-pollination occurs, the popcorn won't pop.

Department Store Sales Up from '62

CHICAGO (UPI) — Department store sales rose 12 per cent over a year ago in metropolitan Chicago during the week ended Aug. 17, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago said.

Unseasonably cool weather and back-to-school promotions in the bank's seventh district prompted purchases of fall clothing. The bank recorded a 5 per cent gain in Midwest sales for the year to date.

CHICAGO led the district with an increase of 18 per cent with State Street stores rising only 5 per cent and other Chicago outlets up 24 per cent.

Sales in Detroit, Mich., rose 14 per cent, Milwaukee, Wis., 9 per cent, Indianapolis 7 per cent with its downtown area also up 7 per cent. In the other cities, Grand Rapids, Mich., was 8 per cent higher.

Nationally, department store sales were up 7 per cent with 4 per cent higher for the year so far. (B-9

Delicatessen Thief Escapes on Bicycle

ST. LOUIS, (UPI) — A gunman made good his escape from a delicatessen holdup riding a bicycle.

John Cuddy, 65-year-old store owner, was the victim. Cuddy said the man held a handkerchief over his face and pointed a gun at him.

THE GUNMAN grabbed about $100 from the cash register, then warned Cuddy not to leave the store for five minutes.

Cuddy said he climbed out a rear window and saw the man on a bike going down the alley. He said he fired two shots with his own gun, but thought he missed the man.

Good Students Look the Part

Where does the time go to? Last June when the schools let out, it seemed that September was centuries away. All of a sudden it dawns on me that Labor Day is next week and the children will be going back to school. In so short a time, how can children grow so much and wear out so many clothes?

DAVIS

It seems that every child I've seen this summer was barefoot, dressed in either a playsuit or bathing suit . . . so how could they possibly wear out their shoes and school clothes? Or is it that children, like gardens, grow better in the summer time. Whatever the cause, the cost of children seems to rise prior to the fall reopening of school.

This all came about while strolling around the mall the last few days and watching the parents outfitting their children with back-to-school garments and supplies. What happens to all those little red pencil boxes, petite lunch pails and the school supply holders the children carry the first few days of school? Somewhere there must be warehouses full of the items the children seem to discard somehow during the first few days after they return to school. Well, no matter, when little "Johnny" and "Mary" go back to school, they go back well dressed. The look of pride in a mother's eye when she transforms her wild, little, summer pixie into a well-groomed "now, you behave" angel, is gratitude enough.

College and high school students, however, look forward to their return to the campus. With this age group, styles change overnite, and you're not "in" if you're not properly dressed when school opens. Sloppiness and Beatnick attire will put you "out" quicker than anything. Shaggy and unkept hair, and stage make-up are strictly "taboo." Young American students are the best dressed students in the world and they like to reflect that image.

Good grooming, good marks and good conduct are the three things employes look for when young people go out into the business world. These three elements plus initiative and personality will open many doors.

As an example — opportunity knocks at the door of Arlington High School! In the very near future, three students will be given the opportunity to preside as "Manager For a Day" at Maurice L. Rothschild's. Of course, Mr. Frank Gaebel, the manager, will be supervising each student and offering his guidance and experience obtained from his many years in retailing. I'm sure the three fortunate students will enjoy "their day" and appreciate the fact that it takes many years of training, selling and experience in retailing to "fill the shoes" of a manager. This is one phase of the business world that one must start from the bottom and work up!

. . . Stop . . . Look . . . and Listen! Randhurst will be presenting a 2nd annual Police Show on September 26, 27 and 28. Don't miss this chance to meet your police force . . . chat with them and see their latest equipment. Many of us only have an opportunity to meet our policemen under "unpleasant" circumstances — that is, when we lose track of our speedometer reading, to name one instance. You know, a policeman has a duty to perform and he always has the public's best interests at heart.

They're a great group of men and are looking forward to meeting each one of you in a friendly, relaxed atmosphere.

. . . "Easel-in" early for Randhurst's 2nd Autumn Art Exhibit and write to the Randhurst Art Committee, 999 Elmhurst Road for an entry form. (Rh

Tax Laxity Costly, Kerner Says

STERLING, (UPI) — Gov. Otto Kerner said Monday that a crackdown in tax collections will produce more money in the next two years than would a half-cent increase in the sales tax.

"By more strictly enforcing our tax laws, we have every reason to believe that Illinois will add approximately $170 million to its revenue in this fiscal period," Kerner told a Whiteside County dinner.

KERNER SAID legislation to plug tax loopholes that was passed by the legislature early this year will account for $70 million in additional revenue.

"The early passage of this legislation constituted one of the major accomplishments of this administration and the legislature," he said. (A-14

They say, "This is Local 727."

PHYLLIS HAEGER and her popular "Sweet Adelines" performed at Randhurst Friday evening, Aug. 30 as part of the giant center's first anniversary celebration. They presented a program of barber shop harmony, distaff style.

A CONCERT OF favorite dance tunes by The Aristocrats preceded the giant fireworks display Friday night at Randhurst, shopping center at Rand, Elmhurst, and Foundry Roads. The concert was part of the center's first anniversary observance.

$6 Million Center Begun

Kerner Hails Illinois' Mental Health Progress

HARRISBURG, (UPI) — "Mental health is on the move in Illinois," Gov. Otto Kerner said last week as he broke ground for the $6 million A. L. Bowen Children's Center here.

Kerner said that with the completion of the 300-bed center and the Warren G. Murray Center at Centralia "There is no doubt that Illinois will have the finest physical facilities in the nation for treatment of mental illness and retardation in children."

THE GOVERNOR said Illinois' mental health zone clinic program is two years ahead of the nation .

The Bowen Center is expected to be completed in from 18 months to two years. It will employ some 200 persons and include administration and hospital buildings, special education and assembly buildings, 50-bed research and training building and two buildings for residential training.

Kerner said the faculty and students of Southern Illinois University will assist in research programs.

THE GOVERNOR said there is no waiting list at state institutions for mentally ill adults, but that there are 2,000 children on the waiting lists at state institutions at Lnicoln and Dixon.

The new facility was named in honor of the late A. L. Bowen, former Springfield newspaper editor and former director of the Department of Public Welfare. Special guests at the ceremony included his son, Dr. Robert E. Bowen, Springfield, and his daughter, Mrs. Mary Bowen Stephenson, Chicago.

A 100-vehicle motorcade met Kerner's plane at the Harrisburg-Raleigh airport north of here and moved slowly through the city to the site of the children's center just west of here on Illinois 13. (A-14

This all came about while strolling around the mall the last few days and watching the parents outfitting their children with back-to-school garments and supplies. What happens to all those little red pencil boxes, petite lunch pails and the school supply holders the children carry the first few days of school? Somewhere there must be warehouses full of the items the children seem to discard somehow during the first few days after they return to school. Well, no matter, when little "Johnny" and "Mary" go back to school, they go back well dressed. The look of pride in a mother's eye when she transforms her wild, little, summer pixie into a well-groomed "now, you behave" angel, is gratitude enough.

College and high school students, however, look forward to their return to the campus. With this age group, styles change overnite, and you're not "in" if you're not properly dressed when school opens. Sloppiness and Beatnick attire will put you "out" quicker than anything. Shaggy and unkept hair, and stage make-up are strictly "taboo." Young American students are the best dressed students in the world and they like to reflect that image.

Good grooming, good marks and good conduct are the three things employes look for when young people go out into the business world. These three elements plus initiative and personality will open many doors.

As an example — opportunity knocks at the door of Arlington High School! In the very near future, three students will be given the opportunity to preside as "Manager For a Day" at Maurice L. Rothschild's. Of course, Mr. Frank Gaebel, the manager, will be supervising each student and offering his guidance and experience obtained from his many years in retailing. I'm sure the three fortunate students will enjoy "their day" and appreciate the fact that it takes many years of training, selling and experience in retailing to "fill the shoes" of a manager. This is one phase of the business world that one must start from the bottom and work up!

. . . Stop . . . Look . . . and Listen! Randhurst will be presenting a 2nd annual Police Show on September 26, 27 and 28. Don't miss this chance to meet your police force . . . chat with them and see their latest equipment. Many of us only have an opportunity to meet our policemen under "unpleasant" circumstances — that is, when we lose track of our speedometer reading, to name one instance. You know, a policeman has a duty to perform and he always has the public's best interests at heart.

They're a great group of men and are looking forward to meeting each one of you in a friendly, relaxed atmosphere.

Kerner Hails Illinois' Mental Health Progress

HARRISBURG, (UPI) — "Mental health is on the move in Illinois," Gov. Otto Kerner said last week as he broke ground for the $6 million A. L. Bowen Children's Center here.

Kerner said that with the completion of the 300-bed center and the Warren G. Murray Center at Centralia "There is no doubt that Illinois will have the finest physical facilities in the nation for treatment of mental illness and retardation in children."

THE GOVERNOR said Illinois' mental health zone clinic program is two years ahead of the nation .

The Bowen Center is expected to be completed in from 18 months to two years. It will employ some 200 persons and include administration and hospital buildings, special education and assembly buildings, 50-bed research and training building and two buildings for residential training.

Kerner said the faculty and students of Southern Illinois University will assist in research programs.

THE GOVERNOR said there is no waiting list at state institutions for mentally ill adults, but that there are 2,000 children on the waiting lists at state institutions at Lnicoln and Dixon.

The new facility was named in honor of the late A. L. Bowen, former Springfield newspaper editor and former director of the Department of Public Welfare. Special guests at the ceremony included his son, Dr. Robert E. Bowen, Springfield, and his daughter, Mrs. Mary Bowen Stephenson, Chicago.

Tax Laxity Costly, Kerner Says

STERLING, (UPI) — Gov. Otto Kerner said Monday that a crackdown in tax collections will produce more money in the next two years than would a half-cent increase in the sales tax.

"By more strictly enforcing our tax laws, we have every reason to believe that Illinois will add approximately $170 million to its revenue in this fiscal period," Kerner told a Whiteside County dinner.

KERNER SAID legislation to plug tax loopholes that was passed by the legislature early this year will account for $70 million in additional revenue.

"The early passage of this legislation constituted one of the major accomplishments of this administration and the legislature," he said. (A-14

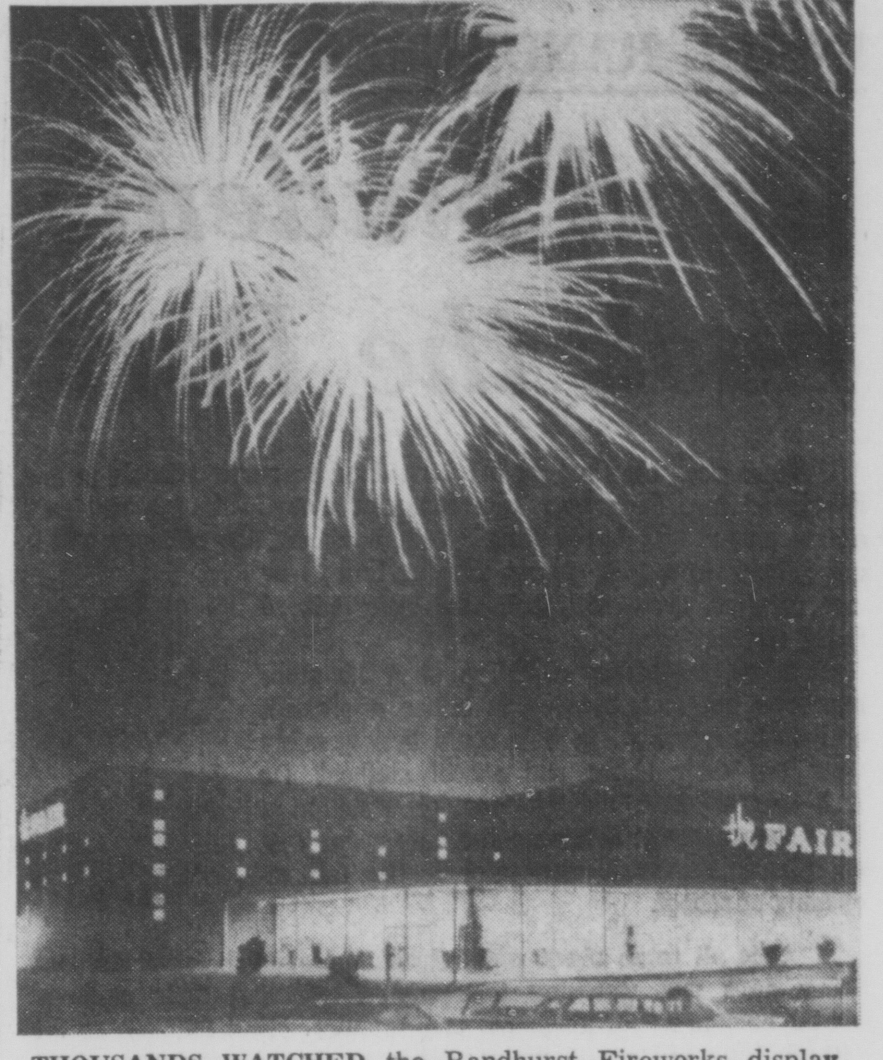
OPEN MONDAY THROUGH FRIDAY 8 A.M. TO 10 P.M., SATURDAYS TO 5:30



THOUSANDS WATCHED the Randhurst Fireworks display fired from the Fair store roof last Friday night. One low burst blew out three windows on the Professional Terrace, but otherwise the 20-minute show went off in fine style.

Teenage Musicians Entertain

Late shoppers at Randhurst last Thursday night were treated to the almost forgotten sound of a 13-piece dance band composed of local high school seniors and June grads.

The group had been rehearsing in one of the Town Hall meeting rooms where they were heard by Charles MacKenzie, promotion director of Randhurst, who asked them to move up to the Mall level. They played a half-hour concert.

KNOWN AS "The Chicagoans," the band members were John Colombe of Arlington High School, first alto sax; George Rissler of Forest View High School, second tenor sax; Dick Anderson of Forest View, third alto sax; John Paddock of Arlington, baritone sax; Bill Sturtevant of Arlington, first trombone; Dave Liddell of Northwestern University, second trombone; Tom Dunham of Arlington, third trombone and leader; Larry Smith of Kendall college, first trumpet; Rich Crandell of Palatine High School, second trumpet; Bill Banta of Northwestern, third trumpet; Ken Gruenes of DeVry Institute, drums; John Higgins of Prospect High School, piano; and Bill Fiedler of Forest View, string bass.

"Their music was excellent and brought back memories of the big name dance bands of the late 30's and early 40's to many of those who were present," said MacKenzie.

Admits 23 Fires

BELLEVILLE, (UPI) — Police blamed a nine-year-old boy today for setting 23 fires which did damage amounting to nearly $200,000.

Police said the boy told them he "likes to see fires." The arrest came when the boy was seen setting fire to a parked automobile. Questioning led to his story that he had set a series of fires during the past six months, including the July 10 furniture store blaze which caused an estimated $100,000 damages. (B9

Ordinance No. 929

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING ARTICLE II, CHAPTER 19 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT, COUNTY OF COOK, ILLINOIS, RELATIVE TO GARBAGE AND REFUSE.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Mount Prospect, County of Cook, Illinois:

SECTION 1 - That Article II of Chapter 19 Garbage and Refuse is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Article II
GARBAGE AND REFUSE.

Section 19.201 (a) RECEPTACLE REQUIRED. It shall be the duty of every owner, agent, tenant or occupant of any house, building, flat, apartment building or other place where people reside, board or lodge, or where animal or vegetable matter is prepared or served, to place all garbage, refuse or waste in approved receptacles as defined herein and to maintain same in good order.

(b) NO CONTAINERS ARE NECESSARY for such items as large and bulky appliances (refrigerators, washing machines, stoves, dryers, etc.) large toys, furniture, empty cartons, empty crates, newspapers and magazines when securely tied in bundles convenient to handle, brush and branches when securely tied in bundles and not exceeding four feet in length, Christmas trees and other such large discarded household objects.

Section 19.202 (a) APPROVED RECEPTACLES. An approved receptacle for purpose of this article shall be a container of standard waterproof construction with handles and a tight fitting cover or lid and shall be no larger than thirty gallons in capacity. There is no limit as to the number of such containers used by any family unit.

(b) BUSHEL BASKETS are approved receptacles for such items as:

General household trash, Ashes, Empty cartons, Crates, Boxes, Wrapping materials, Small amounts of earth, sod, rocks and building materials resulting from do it yourself projects, Newspapers, Magazines, Cloth materials, Empty cans (if clean), Small toys, Appliances, Grass clippings, Yard materials, Small brush and all other items of similar nature which do not exceed the size of the approved receptacle.

(c) RECEPTACLES FURNISHED by a Village approved scavenger for commercial or industrial establishments including multi-dwelling units when curb service for each family is not in effect, is an approved receptacle.

Section 19.203 COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ESTABLISHMENTS. All commercial or industrial establishments are required to make private arrangements for the collection and disposal of all garbage, refuse and waste in a prompt and sanitary manner, which includes air tight drip-proof containers. Each owner or tenant of a business or industrial establishment shall on October 1 of each year commencing October 1, 1963 file a written report with the Village Board of Health on the form provided by the village indicating that private arrangements for the collection and disposal of its garbage, refuse and waste have been made, the nature of the service and the name of the scavenger, as well as the number and type of receptacles which are in use for such purpose.

Section 19.204 SPECIFICATIONS. All garbage and disposed of animal or vegetable matter shall be wrapped in paper before being placed in an approved receptacle.

Section 19.205 LOCATION OF CONTAINERS AND OTHER ABOVE APPROVED DISCARDED ITEMS. Containers and other approved discarded items shall be placed on the parkway or alley if garbage collections are made from the alley, on the day designated for the collection of said garbage, refuse or waste. Any resident or multi-dwelling unit not wishing to avail themselves of such curb service, may by separate contract with the scavenger company serving the village, secure any special service offered by said scavenger on a private basis.

Section 19.206 ACCUMULATION OF GARBAGE. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to burn or bury garbage within the Village of Mount Prospect or to permit same to accumulate in any manner so as to create a nuisance and to attract flies, vermin or rats, and any garbage accumulated for more than seven (7) days unless interrupted by a holiday, shall be considered a violation of this ordinance, provided, however, that approved gas incinerators or such similar approved equipment when properly installed and inspected may be used for the burning of garbage and also, properly installed kitchen garbage disposal units may be used for the disposal of garbage into the sewer lines within the village.

Section 19.207 TRANSPORTATION OF GARBAGE. No vehicle shall be used for the transport of garbage or disposed of animal or vegetable matter unless said vehicle is a fully enclosed, leakproof, modern packer type truck.

Section 19.208 PENALTY. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this Article shall be fined not more than Two Hundred ($200.00) Dollars for each offense. Each day that a violation is permitted to exist constitutes a separate offense."

SECTION 2 - That this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication according to law.

PASSED AND APPROVED this 20th day of August, 1963.

Ordinance No. 929

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING ARTICLE II, CHAPTER 19 OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT, COUNTY OF COOK, ILLINOIS, RELATIVE TO GARBAGE AND REFUSE.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Mount Prospect, County of Cook, Illinois:

SECTION 1 - That Article II of Chapter 19 Garbage and Refuse is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Article II
GARBAGE AND REFUSE.

Section 19.201 (a) RECEPTACLE REQUIRED. It shall be the duty of every owner, agent, tenant or occupant of any house, building, flat, apartment building or other place where people reside, board or lodge, or where animal or vegetable matter is prepared or served, to place all garbage, refuse or waste in approved receptacles as defined herein and to maintain same in good order.

(b) NO CONTAINERS ARE NECESSARY for such items as large and bulky appliances (refrigerators, washing machines, stoves, dryers, etc.) large toys, furniture, empty cartons, empty crates, newspapers and magazines when securely tied in bundles convenient to handle, brush and branches when securely tied in bundles and not exceeding four feet in length, Christmas trees and other such large discarded household objects.

Section 19.202 (a) APPROVED RECEPTACLES. An approved receptacle for purpose of this article shall be a container of standard waterproof construction with handles and a tight fitting cover or lid and shall be no larger than thirty gallons in capacity. There is no limit as to the number of such containers used by any family unit.

(b) BUSHEL BASKETS are approved receptacles for such items as:

General household trash, Ashes, Empty cartons, Crates, Boxes, Wrapping materials, Small amounts of earth, sod, rocks and building materials resulting from do it yourself projects, Newspapers, Magazines, Cloth materials, Empty cans (if clean), Small toys, Appliances, Grass clippings, Yard materials, Small brush and all other items of similar nature which do not exceed the size of the approved receptacle.

(c) RECEPTACLES FURNISHED by a Village approved scavenger for commercial or industrial establishments including multi-dwelling units when curb service for each family is not in effect, is an approved receptacle.

Section 19.203 COMMERCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL ESTABLISHMENTS. All commercial or industrial establishments are required to make private arrangements for the collection and disposal of all garbage, refuse and waste in a prompt and sanitary manner, which includes air tight drip-proof containers. Each owner or tenant of a business or industrial establishment shall on October 1 of each year commencing October 1, 1963 file a written report with the Village Board of Health on the form provided by the village indicating that private arrangements for the collection and disposal of its garbage, refuse and waste have been made, the nature of the service and the name of the scavenger, as well as the number and type of receptacles which are in use for such purpose.

Section 19.204 SPECIFICATIONS. All garbage and disposed of animal or vegetable matter shall be wrapped in paper before being placed in an approved receptacle.

Section 19.205 LOCATION OF CONTAINERS AND OTHER ABOVE APPROVED DISCARDED ITEMS. Containers and other approved discarded items shall be placed on the parkway or alley if garbage collections are made from the alley, on the day designated for the collection of said garbage, refuse or waste. Any resident or multi-dwelling unit not wishing to avail themselves of such curb service, may by separate contract with the scavenger company serving the village, secure any special service offered by said scavenger on a private basis.

Section 19.206 ACCUMULATION OF GARBAGE. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to burn or bury garbage within the Village of Mount Prospect or to permit same to accumulate in any manner so as to create a nuisance and to attract flies, vermin or rats, and any garbage accumulated for more than seven (7) days unless interrupted by a holiday, shall be considered a violation of this ordinance, provided, however, that approved gas incinerators or such similar approved equipment when properly installed and inspected may be used for the burning of garbage and also, properly installed kitchen garbage disposal units may be used for the disposal of garbage into the sewer lines within the village.

Section 19.207 TRANSPORTATION OF GARBAGE. No vehicle shall be used for the transport of garbage or disposed of animal or vegetable matter unless said vehicle is a fully enclosed, leakproof, modern packer type truck.

Section 19.208 PENALTY. Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of this Article shall be fined not more than Two Hundred ($200.00) Dollars for each offense. Each day that a violation is permitted to exist constitutes a separate offense."

SECTION 2 - That this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication according to law.

PASSED AND APPROVED this 20th day of August, 1963.

Christmas lights in August? Just part of the going-away block party in honor of the Martin Saidikowskis of Salem Street. They were feted by the 800 block in a weekend gala party. Presenting them with a handsome fireplace set for their new home were the Wallace Daughtrys, Stanley Juhls, Donald Holmes, Frank Kiecas, Jim Grants, John O'Briens, Mrs. Wagner, Edwin Laws and Henry Fullers, as well as the Charles Jones and Howard Olsen families from Kaspar Street.

Festivities started Saturday around five o'clock, as the street was closed off and picnic tables and barbecue sets carried out. Douglas Daughtry and Ron Saidikowski were in charge of decorations, stringing the street with colored lights, setting up a PA system and record player, and tape recording the party.

Donnie Holmes, Melanie Jones, Marty Saidikowski and Frank Kieca won twist contests, with Lorraine and Wally Daughtry taking first place in the husband-wife tie-tying contzst. Ronnie and Douglas presented Wallace Daughtry with a door prize — an honest-to-goodness wrapped up old door.

As the evening porgressed, so did the bonfire, with everyone tossing in contributions. There were marshmallows to roast, an ice relay contest and a water balloon fight.

Sunday someone discovered that in all the excitement no one had remembered the watermelons, so Sunday evening the neighbors blocked off the street again and started on a second evening of fun.

The Saidikowskis were presented with a large decorated cake and a picture scrapbook compiled by Frank Kieca and Jim Grant.

NEW ADDRES for Martin and Agnes will be 1312 E. Northwest Hwy. until their new home is completed. Then they'll move to N. Hickory Street. Coming in on the block will be Mrs. Barbara Dix and children, Ray, Leslie, and Linda.

Happy birthday goes to Susan Inselberger, 11, who'll enter junior high school next week. She's the daughter of the Hank Inselbergers, 640 N. Salem. Susan celebrated with an outdoor picnic luncheon for Marjorie Phillipp, Patti Shumate, LeAnne Niell, Libby Griffith, Deborah Vogel, John Oertel, Todd Shumate and her brother, Greg.

That evening the Inselbergers took slides of their recent eastern trip to the Deane Shumate home, 717 N. Salem, and after a joint barbecue were joined by the John Oertels and Harry Phillipss.

Ridge Park bridge lovers are preparing for the fall season. Any couples wanting information on the area group are asked to call the William Gradys, 818 N. Harvard, at 392-3664.

It has been a busy month for the John McNamaras, formerly of 924 N. Kaspar. Baby Mary Patricia arrived ahead of time in Evanston Hospital, and while Mrs. McNamara was away her other five children visited their uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Garrity, of Aurora. Aug. 19 the McNamaras moved to their new home at 706 N. Douglas.

The Don Mohrs had an exciting vacation. Now home at 927 N. Fernandez after their trip to northern Ontario and the upper peninsula of Michigan, they were surprised and pleased to be stopped by a newspaper photographer at Houghten. A story about their trip appeared in the Daily Mining Gazette there and made a memento of their visit. Danny and Mike enjoyed the trip through the copper mine.

Kerry and Carol, the Mohrs' other children, stayed with their grandparents, the E. P. Manns, in Bloomington. Kerry, who'll be a first grader next week, entered the local fishing derby there and walked off with first prize of a fishing reel for catching the biggest bluegill.

"Right on the borderline of Minnesota and South Dakota" is how Mrs. William Hannum describes Big Stone Lake, their vacation destination. They're home at 1020 N. Fernandez after a week of swimming and fishing. Mark is preparing for his sophomore year at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo.

Birthday congratulations go to Corky Buechner, 1012 N. Fernandez, now 6. His family party included grandparents, Mrs. Margaret Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hoyer, all of Rolling Meadows, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Somogye of Chicago. The Buechners are home from a week at a cottage on Delavan Lake, where fishing, riding, boating and swimming were daily treats.

A "FIRST" for LeAnne and Nancy Niell was their witnessing the marriage and reception of a relative in Chicago recently. Along with their parents, the J. H. Niells, 630 N. Salem, they saw Dolores' nephew, Clyde Ericson, married to Marcia Mediema.

The Niells recently were surprised by a visit from Dolores' father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Nelson, here from Tampa, Fla. While in the area, they're staying with her daughter, and family, the Oke Funks of Prospect Heights, and plan family get-togethers.

Sympathy and speedy recovery wishes go to Mark Rubenking, son of Glen and Barbara, 948 N. Fernandez, who has a cast on his shoulder bone, broken while wrestling.

A lively souvenir of a vacation came home with the Fred Holubs from their cottage near Rhinelander, Wis. Three frogs have joined the family circle, and are currently residing in fish bowls in the living room at 920 N. Fernandez, lovingly tended by Tommy and Gary.

WEATHER SEEMED against the Jim Kunnens, 1016 N. Fernandez, on their recent around-the-lake vacation trip. They crossed the Big Mac bridge and toured the Soo Locks, but the rain was so heavy that they couldn't even see Mackinac Island and had to cancel their proposed trip there. At 1016 N. Fernandez, they welcomed Jim's aunt and uncle from Michigan City, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Stinchcomb.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heinz recently attended the 15th reunion of Joe's class from Campion High School at Prairie du Chien, Wis. A long-remembered family event was the 50th anniversary celebration of Joe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heinz of Oak Park. Mass was celebrated for the family in St. Giles Church in Oak Park. About 50 of the 66 grandchildren attended the family breakfast at Brookwood Country Club, Addison, and relatives and friends feted the couple at an evening dinner reception there.

Kennicott neighbors will remember the Platts as the family of the mastedon bones. It comes as no surprise, therefore, that their camping vacation to the Upper Peninsula included agate hunting and rock collecting. Terrence, Jeff and Karen enjoyed the copper mines and open-pit operations, their stay at Fort Wilkins, next to Fanny Hooe Lake, as well as Porcupine Mountains.

Birthday congratulations go to John Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stevens, 736 N. Kennicott, now 7. John invited Eddie Oliver, David Mills, Barry and Howie Brimm and Joey Urban to his party.

HOME FROM their Missouri vacation are the Walter Barnak family, now at 916 N. Fernandez. They visited Mrs. Barnak's mother, Mrs. Margaret Kister, in Ferguson, where brothers and sisters gathered to welcome them. Among them was Mrs. Nat Bifano and family, who flew from Pittsburgh and had not seen the Barnaks for four years. With school starting Tuesday for Donny, he's glad to have his recent tonsillectomy behind him. (A

GREENBRIER GLEANINGS

CL 5-2917

In spite of the cool weather, many families attended the first picnic of the Greenbrier Civic Association at Deer Grove Sunday. Prior to the games, a clown, in the person of Fran Miller, mingled among the youngsters, passing out bubble gum.

Running races for the 4-6 age group, Gary Richards won first; in ages 7-9, Johnny Bird; in ages 10-14, Bill Bird.

Gary Swanson and Mark Vleck won the 7-14 year boys and girls wheelbarrow race, while Gail Vleck won the bubble gum blowing contest. Mark Vleck was most agile, placing first in finding his shoes in the shoe scramble.

No picnic would be complete without games for the adults. Winning couples were the Hank Belzers in the egg throwing contest, and they were also winners of the 3-legged race. The Jack Karrs were first to cross the finish line in the wheelbarrow race, while Dan O'Neil sprinted, "with vigor" in the mens backward running race.

All winners received prizes, awarded by the social committee.

Free pop and ice cream were available for the youngsters, as well as refreshments for the adults. Each family attending brought basket lunches.

August 25 marked the seventh wedding aniversary for Jack and Nancy Volkman, 2235 N. Champlain. The Volkmans have three sons, Mark, 4, Bobbie, 3, and Jimmy, 21 months. The family moved here from Chicago.

A brother and sister combined birthday parties Aug. 24, taking their guests to see the movie "Flipper."

John Karr, who was 7, Aug. 16, played host to Gary Ipsen, Steve Burger and Mike McGrath, while Kimberly Karr, who will be 6 Aug. 30, was hostess to Robbie Hamersley, Kathy Mikols, Pam Dahlstream and Peggy O'Neil. The Karrs live at 2312 N. Lafayette and moved here from Park Forest.

JUST RECENTLY settled in their new home, Fred and Ruth Mitchell of 2310 N. Verde, had as guests the latter's mother, Mrs. William Evans of Meadville, Pa., and her sister, Mrs. Howard Reichel, and children, Robin and Billy. A visit from former Erie, Pa., neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Samsel, also took place.

Invited to spend last Wednesday evening playing cards with several of ther neighbors, Sally Cauthen of Plymouth Court was most surprised to find the event planned as a birthday celebration in her honor. Hostess was Audrey Conrad, 1315 W. Plymouth Court, and guests were Sue Larsen, Kay O'Neil, Marge Cratty, Coradee Ferree, Shirley Mason and Pat Olson. (A

Arlington Greens

Cool breezes failed to chill the spirit of the Greens residents and friends who attended the annual street dance Saturday evening. Colored spotlights illuminated the Beverly-Hickory dancing area, and fluttering multi-hued pennants added a festive touch. Refreshments and music lasted until midnight when the cleanup committee took over to restore order. As yet unclaimed is a key and chain, owner of which is invited to call CL 5-1965. The affair was sponsored by Arlington Greens Community Association.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. Len Brune, Dryden Avenue, for several days last week were the James Kaltefleiters of Burlington, Iowa, and the Alfred Kruse family of nearby Houghton. The three women are sisters. Mrs. Brune's parents arrival ended a week's visit for teenagers Peggy Kruse and cousins Janet and Peggy Brune of St. Paul.

A vacation trip for Mr. and Mrs. Al Puccetti and sons, Mark and Alan, ended Aug. 16. New Orleans was their destination, with a day's stop at Vicksburg Battleground National Park. Besides touring the native quarters and seeing historic sights, they visited cousins Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cavallino. Biloxi and a resort on the gulf provided swimming and boating fun for the remaining 10 days of their holiday.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Luehrs, Clarendon Avenue, were former Greens residents, Mr. and Mrs. William Foote. Now of Hudson, Ohio, they motored in for a weekend visit.

SIX-YEAR-OLD Scott Hill, N. Douglas Avenue, returned home last Friday after several days in Northwest Community Hospital where he was treated for a foot injury. Sister Sue Ann left that afternoon for a week's visit with Karen Winklehacke in Roselle.

Last Wednesday afternoon DeeDee Testa, N. Beverly Lane, celebrated her sixth birthday. Lianne Morrisett, Patti Shannon, Allison Brown, Janet Wilkiewicz, the Harrison girls, Mary Lu and Cheryl, all enjoyed a trip to kiddieland.

Steven and David Fisher, N. Douglas Avenue, accompanied their mother for a week's visit with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wermuth, in Milwaukee. They returned home last Friday.

The Bill Millers, N. Hickory Avenue, and son, Don, returned Saturday after a 2-week holiday at Outing, Minn. They stopped overnight in the Minneapolis home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lillquist, who joined them the following weekend for water-skiing, swimming and fishing at the lodge. Monday young Bill arrived home for a week's visit with the family. He had completed his sophomore year at Parsons College in Fairfield, Iowa.

The Al Kargol family, E. Clarendon Avenue, "took to the air" again last Thursday for a 4-day stay in Toronto, where they attended the Canadian National Exhibition, a trade fair show. The Sunday before they joined the Douglas Banz family in Wyoming, Ill., to celebrate their 13th wedding anniversary. It was a home-town visit for Mrs. Kargol.

MARILYN COMPTON, N. Douglas Avenue, ended her 5-day vacation visit with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. G. Houghlund, in their summer home at Silver Lake Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lynn, N. Beverly Lane, motored to Lake Elizabeth, Wis., Sunday. They joined the senior Lynns, who were celebrating their 34th wedding anniversary. A dinner party observed the occasion.

A flight home Sunday ended a week's vacation visit for Mrs. Ken Jennings, N. Beverly Lane, with her sister and family, the Len Smedbergs, in Johnson City, Tenn. During her stay they took day trips into the nearby Blue Ridge Mountains for hiking and sightseeing at Asheville, N.C.

The Ben Lockhart family, E. Clarendon Avenue, vacationed recently in the Tomahawk, Wis., area. During their week's stay at a resort, 8-year-old Mary celebrated her birthday, complete with cake, ice cream and friends from home. Paul, Laura and Allison Helbling, Clarendon Avenue neighbors vacationing there, attended the party.

HOUSE GUESTS of the Tony Tomasos, E. Clarendon Avenue, last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. William Eggers of Omaha. Also visiting in the Tomaso home is the grandmother, Mrs. A. F. Ourada of Streator, who plans to end her holiday on Labor Day weekend.

The Don Schreiner family, N. Beverly Lane, motored to Des Moines last Friday for a four-day visit with the grandmother, Mrs. Harry Schreiner, and other relatives.

Diane Brown, N. Dryden Avenue, spent many hours during the summer preparing for the fashion show held in Town Hall, Randhurst, Monday evening. Her efforts were well rewarded as she modeled her red plaid overblouse and black skirt at the affair. Competing with other "tween" seamstresses, her ensemble was chosen best and makes her eligible for the November show of statewide entrants at McCormick Place.

HICKORY MEADOWS

Six-year-old Tammy Ann Caron, E. Thomas Street, celebrated her birthday Saturday afternoon. Guests at a luncheon were Gail Broscovak, Kristen Ahnquist, Jan and Marianne Stenger, Laurie Wendell and Gloria Calkin. Threatening weather forced the party indoors for games.

Members of Hickory Meadows canasta group saw the evening performance of "Champagne Complex" last Wednesday evening. The ladies will begin their new season in September. Mrs. Caron will host the first games Sept. 25th. Those interested in joining the group may call 255-5718. Hickory Meadows bridge round robin will soon begin the fall games, and those interested are also invited to call Mrs. Caron. (A

This ad is 6 years late.

For 6 years this car has mystified millions. People have called it an Alfa Romeo, a Ferrari.

You may have seen one on the road and wondered what it was. Brace yourself . . . .

It's a Volkswagen. Our Karmann Ghia.

The Ghia is a limited production car. Only about 9,000 are made for this country each year. (Because of the handwork that goes into the body, it's impossible to build in our VW plant.)

Most auto bodies are designed for assembly lines. One stamping per part. Thunk, a fender. Thunk, a door. The Ghia stopped us on the first thunk.

Designed by Ghia of Turin, Italy, its lines are too sculptured for mass production. The fender curve alone is two parts, welded and hand-shaped. You can't stop for this in mass production. Karmann, Europe's leading custom coachmaker, builds the body. An assembly line can make 3 ordinary cars in the time they need for one Ghia. (That's the handwork.)

Underneath, the Ghia's all business. Its low center of gravity holds bumpy, barreltop roads at 70.

You've got VW's rear engine traction in snow, mud and sand. Air-cooling. (No water to freeze up or boil over.) 40,000-mile tires. And 32 miles to the gallon. Regular gas; regular driving.

Service? Simple. This is no temperamental prima donna. VW parts fit — you can get them anywhere.

Inside, you'll find things like adjustable bucket seats, a rear window defroster, 3 position doorstops.

How much? The coupe, $2,384.00; convertible, $2,584.00. Fully equipped. Sorry, can't do a thing about doormen who think it's a $5,000 car — and expect bigger tips.

But nothing's ever quite perfect, is it?

Answers LL Criticism

(The following is a statement by Mert Taylor, administrator of the Arlington Heights Little League, in answer to a letter of criticism published in the Fence Post section of the Aug. 22 Herald.)

I feel a great injustice has been done to the reputation of the Arlington Heights Little League by a letter sent in to the Fence Post by a Mr. N. P. Leighton.

Because I am as close to the overall program as anyone in the village, I feel I should clear up this injustice and give the readers of the Fence Post and Mr. Leighton a clearer picture of the fine organization that we have in our community.

Some of the facts that the general public is not aware of are that the Arlington Heights Little League is composed of 86 teams in 13 leagues with the ages of the boys running from eight years through 16 years.

WE DIFFER from other boys' baseball organizations in that we allow every boy, regardless of ability, to play ball in this program. Many leagues in other communities conduct tryouts and only those boys who demonstrate baseball talents are allowed to join up.

We have tryouts for the Senior and Major Leagues, but all those boys who fail to qualify for these leagues are assigned to the Varsity or Intermediate Leagues.

All eight and nine year olds are placed on a team regardless of experience or ability. In 1963 we had a total of 1,455 boys, who participated in baseball in Arlington Heights. This means that we not only had to please 1,455 boys but also 2,910 parents. I take that back, some of the boys had brothers playing so that would cut down on the number of parents.

THE A.H.L.L. is led by a board of directors consisting of six officers and 10 committee chairmen. I, as administrator, have no voting power but do have complete supervision and authority to carry out the orders of the Board of Directors.

These men not only serve on these committees during the baseball season, but they work with the baseball and football programs 12 months out of the year. Each September a new group takes over and anyone interested is welcome to come forward and express his desire to help conduct the program.

I won't go into all of the details involved in running a league of 86 teams because a report will be sent to each family within the next month to acquaint people with all of the facts and figures.

I would like to stress a few points and compare a few facts and figures to show that Mr. Leighton's experiences in the A.H.L.L. program are like a grain of sand on the shores of Lake Michigan.

First of all, Mr. Leighton's sons are not "Little Leaguers" but are "Pony" and "Colt" leaguers, which we call Varsity and Senior League. He is not talking about the actions of boys eight, nine, 10, 11 and 12 years of age but those 13, 14, 15 and 16 years of age.

THIS AGE group consisted of only 294 boys of the total of 1,455 boys playing. Of the total number of boys registered to play ball, we know that at least 10 per cent are signing up not because they love the game but because their friends are playing and they do not care to be left out or else their parents want to see them join just to keep them out of mischief. We are perfectly willing to give the boys an equal opportunity with the other 90 per cent.

For this reason we had a special rule and a special committee formed to see that each boy played a required minimum number of innings per week. All complaints on this matter were to be referred to me as administrator. AT NO TIME did Mr. Leighton complain that his boys were not playing.

Those persons who did, had immediate action taken and in some cases, the manager was replaced, in others he was warned, and in most cases in checking with the coaches and managers and the boys we found that the boys would either be missing practices, be late for the games, show no desire to hustle, be insubordinate and in general, just not give a darn.

THE ONLY ones concerned seemed to be the parents who happened to come to one ball game where their little Johnny didn't get in.

In the younger leagues we felt, or I should say I felt as there is always a difference of opinion on such things, that the younger boys are more apt to do such things until they are properly schooled not to and therefore we took steps to see that they would still get to play but would be made to realize that baseball is still a sport and those who hustle and try hard would get as much chance to play as those with exceptional ability.

In the older leagues, with teenagers, they are old enough to realize that only those who co-operate, who want to play ball, who attend all games and above all, all practice sessions, who listen to the coaches and managers, who respect all adults in the program including their opponent's coaches and manager as well as the umpires and spectators, will get a chance to play in the games.

I AGREE with Mr. Leighton that there was a shortage of umpires in the older leagues. The Senior League was very well staffed with the most capable umpires in the program but the Varsity League in which he umpired, was very low on help.

Most fathers who have more than one son in the program seem to want to help the younger one, and I feel that is as it should be, but that leaves us short in the older leagues.

We may be able to remedy this during the coming months by discussing and listening to any and all suggestions written to us, but we won't be able to gain a thing by just picking up the Herald and reading in the Fence Post that the umpiring in the A.H.L.L. was terrible in the Varsity League.

The same people who manage, coach and umpire in the younger leagues have no problems, but when they get in the older leagues where the boys know as much about the game as the adults, it's pretty discouraging for all concerned when the managers, coaches and umpires fail to maintain law and order.

I WONDER if Mr. Leighton realizes that not only do umpires "hurry home from the office on a hot summer night" but the managers do this at least 3 times a wetk plus many more evenings before the season starts.

I will grant him that umpiring is one of the toughest assignments in the program as far as putting an individual on the spot in a tight situation, but it takes a certain breed to be an umpire. I'll say this, if Mr. Leighton umpired for 5 years and only this year did he THREATEN to throw someone out of the game, I don't think he's been doing a very good job if this has been going on all of these years.

If it has not, then I say that only threatening to throw someone out of a game once in 5 years indicates that our baseball program has been going along smoothly except for these 3 instances that he relates. When you consider that we have our 86 teams playing a total of 774 games a year, 3,870 in 5 years, plus championship and playoff games, you can see that Mr. Leighton's criticism is not warranted.

IN REGARDS to it's the "kids who suffered, not the parent managers or parent umpires," I completely disagree. I've seen boys completely broken up over a close play or a close game in which they lost and 10 minutes after it's over, they're playing around with their buddies as if nothing had happened while their parents are "overcoming impulses to write nasty letters."

As I stated before, a letter explaining the operation of our program will be sent to all parents. We don't believe we have halos and we are forever looking for ways and means of improving our program.

We welcome new faces and fresh ideas. We are attempting to police the program so that we do not have managers who "only want to win," but who will be fair to all of the boys. In this respect, we maintain that the boys, too, have an obligation to our program.

I maintain that we have the finest program in the midwest area because of the excellent leadership we have had in the past 10 years. I only hope that I can contribute something of a constructive nature in the next 10 years as I have two younger sons that will keep me interested at least that length of time.

Now that Fall is imminent and it's time to think about creating heat rather than escaping heat, a check-up on the household heating system is in order. The National Fuel Oil Council reminds that almost 18 million families were warmed by oil heat in the United States last year.

It's easier to forget the mechanical needs of an oil burner hidden away in a utility room or basement than the mechanical needs of an appliance or the car in the family garage. Has it ever occurred to you that heat is the most important single investment in the home, a few hours of time and the moderate fees of an expert to tune-up the heating system can save money—hundreds of dollars over the period of a mortgage.

One firm in the Northwest Area whose personnel is equipped by training and experience to serve you in these matters is Gaare Oil Company, conveniently located at Northwest Highway and Rohlwing Road in Palatine. Public confidence has won them a large and increasing list of customers over the past 42 years. These will testify to the unfailing quality of their service, fuel oil, and the promptness of their deliveries with their Radio Dispatched Trucks. To eliminate worries and lower the cost of heating your home, procure a year-round contract with the Gaare Oil Company for the servicing of your heating system.

Modern Teaching Methods &
Safety Formula offers a New Concept in Driver Education

"When police tests are made," writes one of our leading traffic engineers, "Records show that only a few of the drivers involved have had systematic instruction on how to drive." It is a pity that men and women who are otherwise careful and considerate of the rights of others should neglect to take the necessary precautions for safety in the operation of their automobiles. The majority of drivers involved in accidents just "took it up."

An inexperienced driver is as much a menace on the road as a car with faulty brakes. There is no excuse for this driver hazard, especially when the Northwest Area has at its disposal the experienced and capable service of the Universal Driving School, Inc., conveniently located in Room 221 of the Professional Building located at 64 Old Orchard in Skokie.

If folks in our area would heed this advice, it would mean that auto accidents would be reduced to a minimum. Lives and thousands of dollars worth of property would be saved. Answers LL Criticism

(The following is a statement by Mert Taylor, administrator of the Arlington Heights Little League, in answer to a letter of criticism published in the Fence Post section of the Aug. 22 Herald.)

I feel a great injustice has been done to the reputation of the Arlington Heights Little League by a letter sent in to the Fence Post by a Mr. N. P. Leighton.

Because I am as close to the overall program as anyone in the village, I feel I should clear up this injustice and give the readers of the Fence Post and Mr. Leighton a clearer picture of the fine organization that we have in our community.

Some of the facts that the general public is not aware of are that the Arlington Heights Little League is composed of 86 teams in 13 leagues with the ages of the boys running from eight years through 16 years.

WE DIFFER from other boys' baseball organizations in that we allow every boy, regardless of ability, to play ball in this program. Many leagues in other communities conduct tryouts and only those boys who demonstrate baseball talents are allowed to join up.

We have tryouts for the Senior and Major Leagues, but all those boys who fail to qualify for these leagues are assigned to the Varsity or Intermediate Leagues.

All eight and nine year olds are placed on a team regardless of experience or ability. In 1963 we had a total of 1,455 boys, who participated in baseball in Arlington Heights. This means that we not only had to please 1,455 boys but also 2,910 parents. I take that back, some of the boys had brothers playing so that would cut down on the number of parents.

THE A.H.L.L. is led by a board of directors consisting of six officers and 10 committee chairmen. I, as administrator, have no voting power but do have complete supervision and authority to carry out the orders of the Board of Directors.

These men not only serve on these committees during the baseball season, but they work with the baseball and football programs 12 months out of the year. Each September a new group takes over and anyone interested is welcome to come forward and express his desire to help conduct the program.

I won't go into all of the details involved in running a league of 86 teams because a report will be sent to each family within the next month to acquaint people with all of the facts and figures.

I would like to stress a few points and compare a few facts and figures to show that Mr. Leighton's experiences in the A.H.L.L. program are like a grain of sand on the shores of Lake Michigan.

First of all, Mr. Leighton's sons are not "Little Leaguers" but are "Pony" and "Colt" leaguers, which we call Varsity and Senior League. He is not talking about the actions of boys eight, nine, 10, 11 and 12 years of age but those 13, 14, 15 and 16 years of age.

THIS AGE group consisted of only 294 boys of the total of 1,455 boys playing. Of the total number of boys registered to play ball, we know that at least 10 per cent are signing up not because they love the game but because their friends are playing and they do not care to be left out or else their parents want to see them join just to keep them out of mischief. We are perfectly willing to give the boys an equal opportunity with the other 90 per cent.

For this reason we had a special rule and a special committee formed to see that each boy played a required minimum number of innings per week. All complaints on this matter were to be referred to me as administrator. AT NO TIME did Mr. Leighton complain that his boys were not playing.

Those persons who did, had immediate action taken and in some cases, the manager was replaced, in others he was warned, and in most cases in checking with the coaches and managers and the boys we found that the boys would either be missing practices, be late for the games, show no desire to hustle, be insubordinate and in general, just not give a darn.

THE ONLY ones concerned seemed to be the parents who happened to come to one ball game where their little Johnny didn't get in.

In the younger leagues we felt, or I should say I felt as there is always a difference of opinion on such things, that the younger boys are more apt to do such things until they are properly schooled not to and therefore we took steps to see that they would still get to play but would be made to realize that baseball is still a sport and those who hustle and try hard would get as much chance to play as those with exceptional ability.

In the older leagues, with teenagers, they are old enough to realize that only those who co-operate, who want to play ball, who attend all games and above all, all practice sessions, who listen to the coaches and managers, who respect all adults in the program including their opponent's coaches and manager as well as the umpires and spectators, will get a chance to play in the games.

I AGREE with Mr. Leighton that there was a shortage of umpires in the older leagues. The Senior League was very well staffed with the most capable umpires in the program but the Varsity League in which he umpired, was very low on help.

Most fathers who have more than one son in the program seem to want to help the younger one, and I feel that is as it should be, but that leaves us short in the older leagues.

We may be able to remedy this during the coming months by discussing and listening to any and all suggestions written to us, but we won't be able to gain a thing by just picking up the Herald and reading in the Fence Post that the umpiring in the A.H.L.L. was terrible in the Varsity League.

The same people who manage, coach and umpire in the younger leagues have no problems, but when they get in the older leagues where the boys know as much about the game as the adults, it's pretty discouraging for all concerned when the managers, coaches and umpires fail to maintain law and order.

I WONDER if Mr. Leighton realizes that not only do umpires "hurry home from the office on a hot summer night" but the managers do this at least 3 times a wetk plus many more evenings before the season starts.

I will grant him that umpiring is one of the toughest assignments in the program as far as putting an individual on the spot in a tight situation, but it takes a certain breed to be an umpire. I'll say this, if Mr. Leighton umpired for 5 years and only this year did he THREATEN to throw someone out of the game, I don't think he's been doing a very good job if this has been going on all of these years.

It's easier to forget the mechanical needs of an oil burner hidden away in a utility room or basement than the mechanical needs of an appliance or the car in the family garage. Has it ever occurred to you that heat is the most important single investment in the home, a few hours of time and the moderate fees of an expert to tune-up the heating system can save money—hundreds of dollars over the period of a mortgage.

One firm in the Northwest Area whose personnel is equipped by training and experience to serve you in these matters is Gaare Oil Company, conveniently located at Northwest Highway and Rohlwing Road in Palatine. Public confidence has won them a large and increasing list of customers over the past 42 years. These will testify to the unfailing quality of their service, fuel oil, and the promptness of their deliveries with their Radio Dispatched Trucks. To eliminate worries and lower the cost of heating your home, procure a year-round contract with the Gaare Oil Company for the servicing of your heating system.

Modern Teaching Methods & Safety Formula offers a New Concept in Driver Education

"When police tests are made," writes one of our leading traffic engineers, "Records show that only a few of the drivers involved have had systematic instruction on how to drive." It is a pity that men and women who are otherwise careful and considerate of the rights of others should neglect to take the necessary precautions for safety in the operation of their automobiles. The majority of drivers involved in accidents just "took it up."

An inexperienced driver is as much a menace on the road as a car with faulty brakes. There is no excuse for this driver hazard, especially when the Northwest Area has at its disposal the experienced and capable service of the Universal Driving School, Inc., conveniently located in Room 221 of the Professional Building located at 64 Old Orchard in Skokie.

If folks in our area would heed this advice, it would mean that auto accidents would be reduced to a minimum. Lives and thousands of dollars worth of property would be saved. Perhaps the modest cost of professional instructions at Universal Driving School, Inc., will save your life savings and the terrible recrimination that results from a fatal accident. NEW ARRIVALS FROM A famous salad bar in Madrid are Queen's Caprice and Nicoise. Both salads are marinated in Spanish olive oil, vinegar and seasonings, and are marvelous with barbecue cookery.

Queen's Caprice, Nicoise

Salad Bar in Madrid Shares Popular Fare

As soon as the sun shines warm enough on the patio, barbecue grills get cleaned up and rolled out of doors once more. Whatever the meat chosen for the barbecue, the question of what else to serve that will be easy and yet satisfying is always something of a problem.

Salads have a double advantage—not only can the salad replace any other vegetables for the meal (except, perhaps, corn on the cob), but if the barbecue fire is temperamental and dinner delayed while the coals slowly develop their white ash, the salad can always serve as the first course.

SALADS OF mixed vegetables or of fruit and vegetables are particularly delicious when marinated beforehand in a mixture of Spanish olive oil, vinegar and delicate seasonings. The two following salads are favorites with American tourists at the Castellana Hilton Hotel in Madrid, whose salad bar is famous.

QUEEN'S CAPRICE SALAD

4 to 6 Belgian endives
1 lage tart aple, cored, unpeeled, cut in thin slices
½ cup diced celery
4 large mushrooms, (uncooked), thinly sliced
1 tablespoon Spanish olive oil
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
1 medium can grapefruit sections, drained
½ cup mayonnaise
Watercress

Separate leaves of the endives, soak in ice-cold water, pat dry, then chill in vegetable freshener. Core and thinly slice the apple, combine with celery and mushrooms, toss with the olive oil, lemon juice and salt and let stand half an hour before serving.

Pile this mixture in center of endive, arrange grapefruit sections around it. Sprinkle grapefruit sections with few drops of olive oil and salt. Place watercress leaves between the grapefruit sections. Pass mayonnaise. This makes 4 servings.

SALAD NICOISE

1 can tender whole green beans, drained
2 tomatoes, quartered
2 small potatoes, cooked, diced
4 to 6 black olives, sliced
¼ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
1 tablespoon capers
2 fillets of anchovy, chopped
3 tablespoons Spanish olive oil
1 tablespon wine vinegar
½ to ½ teaspoon salt
Freshly-ground black pepper

Combine first seven ingredients in a bowl, make a sauce of the remaining ingredients and pour over the vegetables. Marinate at room temperature 30 minutes to 1 hour, toss to blend lightly.

Arrange on salad greens: separate the beans in two or three piles, the potatoes and tomatoes between them, then spread olives, capers and anchovy over the top. Sprinkle sauce left in bottom of bowl over the vegetables. Makes 4 servings.

Lady Mail Carrier To Face Challenge

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — They won't exactly put lace around the pickup boxes, but the Milwaukee post office will have to make some changes to accommodate its first woman carrier starting next week.

Miss Rose Vicari, 36, who quit her job on the assembly line of an electronics firm doing some hush-hush work for the government, was sworn into the postal service Monday and will start as a substitute carrier next Tuesday.

"On the whole they were pretty nice to me today," said Miss Vicari after the swearing in ceremonies. "But I'll really have to prove myself."

PREVIOUS FEMALE applicants for a carrier's job on this 1,329 man force, flunked out mainly in the driving test, where they had to wheel huge trucks through intricate maneuvers.

Miss Vicari, who heard about the job opening in a circular that came to her home through the mail, passed this hurdle with little trouble. She drove trucks previous to her assembly line work and has also worked part time as a school bus driver.

"I passed all the tests," she said proudly.

Officials earlier said they would try to dissuade Miss Vicari from going through with her application. One of the chief concerns was that most of the postal substations are equipped only with men's washrooms.

POSTMASTER Frederick C. T. John said Miss Vicari's assignments will necessarily depend on facilities at substations.

Chief problem for Miss Vicari, however, is not washrooms or trucks or even the thought of delivering mail in 20 degree weather or in snow, sleet, rain and the rest of the elements the service is noted for mastering.

The problem is a uniform.

She stepped before a mirror, applied lipstick and touched up her hair in her best feminine manner before trying on the highly unattractive postman's hat.

SHE BEAMED and the drab postal hat took on a new look.

Miss Vicari said she will wear the hat and her badge with her own clothes for the first three months until a uniform can be decided on.

"After all," she said, "there are other mail women in the country. Our uniforms will soon become standard."

Americans Eating Less Food: Prof

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — Americans are eating about 100 pounds less of food per year than they did 20 years ago a University of Kansas agricultural economist said this week.

Prof. Robert Rudd told the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin that the cause was "movement of population from farms to cities, the lighter work effort necessary, and more awareness of the problems of overeating and obesity."

Supply Is National Problem

by NANCY ANDERSON

(First of Two Articles)

Lack of knowledge about water, its qualities and its effects, may be costing the American people as much as $718 million a year. This startling fact emerged from a survey and report prepared by Dr. Cornelia A. Tyler for the Water Conditioning Council.

As the suburban homemaker pushes her grocery cart down the supermarket aisles, she matter-of-factly adds softeners, bleaches, bluing, detergents, soap — standard items on her shopping list.

She knows from experiences that she needs those products to combat the gray sheets, streaked glassware and bathtub rings which result when she does nothing to change the water piped into her home.

She may not realize that those items add up to about 10 per cent of her weekly grocery bill or that her family might save as much as $16.70 a month with proper home water refining facilities.

MUCH OF THAT sum goes for the grocery store additives, but a substantial portion of it cannot be so readily identified. That is the cost of replacing worn linens, torn because hard water has reduced their tensile strength; the purchase of creams to replace natural skin oils removed from the homemaker's hands by some of the laundry products she uses. The cost which is perhaps the greatest is the hidden destruction of plumbing by mineral deposits accumulating from the hard tap water flowing through the pipes.

That flowing water is taken for granted; turn on the faucet and you have at once both the earth's single greatest resource and one of the necessities of life.

In the past few years people have become more water conscious because the flow hasn't been as ready as it once was. In communities all over the country residents have had to curtail their use of water during dry spells.

INCREASED population has had its effect, too. Since 1900 our population has doubled, the use of water has tripled.

As the population figures continue to soar the threat of a national or worldwide water shortage becomes more real. One of the major factors is pollution which President Kennedy says has reached "alarming proportions" in the country's rivers and streams. "In all areas we must protect the supplies we have," he urges.

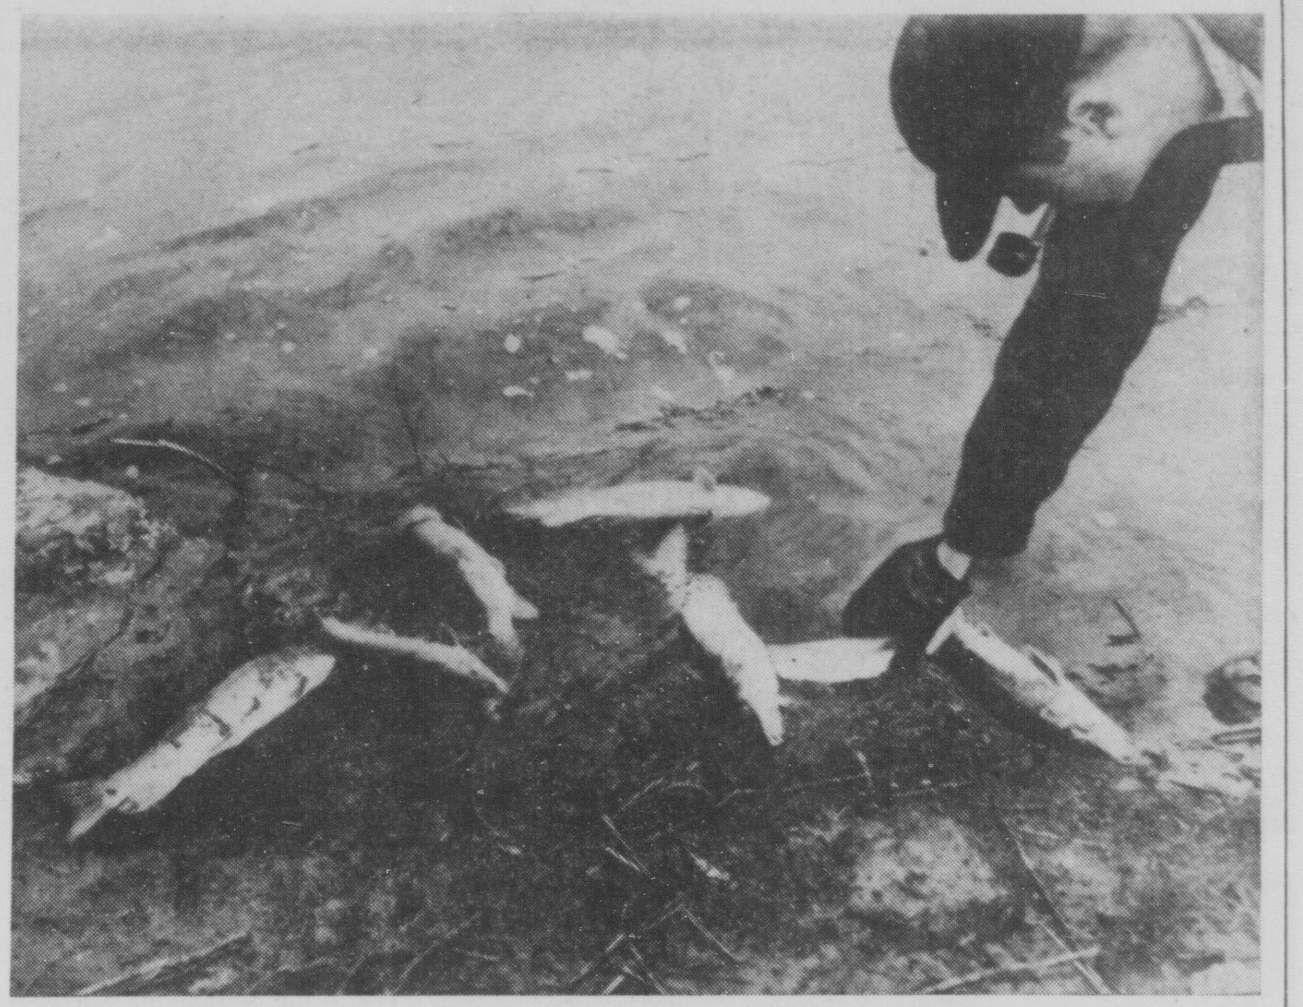
Nature has provided some built-in protection, its own way of cleaning up refuse, but careless dumping of industrial waste and mountains of detergent in the rivers and streams has over-burdened nature's capacity for purifying the water supply.

Fish can no longer live in many polluted streams and the snow-like mounds forming on inland waters have taken the joy out of boating and water skiing.

Worse, this water is unfit for human consumption and the job of treating it becomes fantastically expensive.

What can be done to protect our water supply?

EVERY FAMILY can help — and by helping can also find the solution to many of its own water problems.



DOMESTIC SEWAGE discharged into rivers and lakes of the United States in 1962 killed 3,362,000 fish, according to the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. This represents more than half of all fish killed by pollution in 1962. How does domestic sewage get into lakes and streams? Overuse of products to improve hard water often results in municipal treatment plants being unable to handle the load. Thus raw sewage gets into our inland waters and kills millions of fish annually.

Refined water is effective with a minimum amount of soap or detergent. Thus, wide use of refined water could greatly relieve the burden of pollution piling up in streams. For the homemaker it means a saving in soap costs.

Hard water is a chief cause of leaking faucets, too, and leaks waste water. One drop every two seconds adds up to 54 gallons a month; several leaking faucets in a home mean thousands of gallons a year are wasted.

IN SPITE of these facts only one and a half million of the 45 million families in the United States use any water refining or softening device in their homes. This is rather alarming in the light of the fact that our very lives may depend upon the cooperation of household water users and those agencies, governmental and other, which are seeking a solution to the national water crisis.

(Next week's article will tell what cities are doing to improve their water, why this is necessarily insufficient and how suburban water users, now constituting about one-third of our population, can join homeowners everywhere in seeking to help to conserve our water resources.)

Back-to-School Tip

Dental Fitness Vital To Children's Health

With the opening of school, now is the time to schedule a dental appointment for your child, advises the Chicago Dental Society.

To be physically fit for the school year ahead, every child must be dentally fit. No physical examination is complete without a dental examination.

POOR DENTAL health can hamper a child's progress at school. No child can do his best when pain or infection from dental disease upsets him. The importance of taking the child to the dentist is to make sure he starts the school year with a healthy mouth—and then supervise his dental hygiene every day at home.

The dental examination at the start of the school term is as important for high school students as it is for those entering kindergarten or continuing in elementary grades.

This is particularly true of students who take part in athletic programs. It is mandatory for high school football players to wear mouthguards to protect their teeth. Even so, it is esential to remember that sound teeth are more resistant to dental injury. Every player should have a dental examination before the season starts.

AT THE SAME time, school days can be "broken-tooth" time and children should be urged to use caution in their school and after-school play.

You can help your child keep that "perfect smile" by encouraging these precautions:

Use the ladder to climb out of the swimming pool indoor or out. Never climb a wet tree. Keep roller skates under control and never hitch rides. Don't jump from a moving swing or walk under it. Don't hit, push or throw at anyone drinking from a fountain or container. Wear a catcher's mask when receiving pitched baseballs.

These tips will help your child keep all his teeth intact. If the child does fall or there is a blow to the mouth area, be sure to inspect the teeth. There can be a hidden damage. Also, remember that sensitivity to pain differs in children so the child may not complain.

THE DENTIST can discover and treat any early defects, both dental decay and diseases of the gums and the mouth. The dentist will be able to correct any bad habits of mouth hygiene or irregularities of the teeth. A thorough clinical and dental examination should be obtained every six months.

New clothes, new shoes and new books call for a new look at the child's teeth to make certain that general health is not affected by poor dental health.

Las Vegas Theme For Hairdressers

"Highlights and Sidelights of Las Vegas" is to be the theme of the Wednesday, Sept. 4 meeting of Unit 47, Northwest Suburban Hairdressers Association. The evening will include reports on the annual convention with emphasis on the "Dandy" line, new fall and winter trend in hair styling.

MEMBERS will also discuss plans for their annual fashion show and luncheon to be held Monday, Sept. 30, at the Flying Carpet Motor Inn. Fashions will be furnished by Carson Pirie Scott & Co. and hair styles will be by members of the Association. Tickets are now available at all member beauty salons.

All licensed cosmetologists are invited to the Sept. 4 meeting, to be held at Campbell's Hearthstone in Palatine.

AAUW to Reveal Studies at Coffee

Material to be used by study groups of the Arlington Heights Branch of the American Association of University Women during the coming year will be shown to prospective members at a "coffee" to be held in their honor Monday evening, Sept. 9, at Pioneer Park.

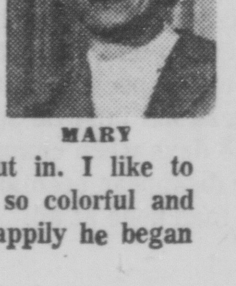
Although invitations to this coffee are being mailed to known AAUW prospects in the area, anyone interested in attending or in learning more about the Arlington Heights Branch is invited to telephone the president, Mrs. Charles Toot, 392-3186, or the membership chairman, Mrs. Ted Meyer, CL 9-1049.

The first regular meeting of the Branch is scheduled for Thursday evening, Sept. 12.

Quite Contrary by Mary

Project Runs Rampant

It is perfectly amazing how a do-it-yourself project can mushroom and get all out of proportion. I've had it happen to me. Like washing a spot off a wall and ending up washing the whole wall and the ceiling to boot. I watched one of these projects the other day and it was a dilly.



MARY

It all started with a leaky faucet. The lady of the house set up a clamor to have something done and right now. Man of the house looked the situation over carefully and decided that a repair job was out of the question. What was needed was brand new faucets. Under the none too gentle prodding of his wife, he finally procured same and they were works of art. All shiny, modern and efficient as all get out.

The day finally arrived for them to be put in. I like to watch things like this as the language used is so colorful and one is never too old to learn something new. Happily he began ripping the old drippers out but it suddenly dawned on him that he needed bigger wrenches. Off to the wrench store.

No sooner had he torn the old out than he decided as long as he was this far, how about that new stainless steel sink they had been talking about. I reeled slightly at the casualness of it all for such a large purchase. But, it was off to the sink store. In hubby's absence, I asked wifey if he was really and truly going to buy a sink. She shrugged and said she guessed so.

I did inquire timidly as to how he was going to put the disposal into the new sink. I have one and it looks pretty complicated and welded to me. She shrugged once more, she is a very good shrugger, and said that the disposal had been acting funny lately anyway. I tottered out of there as I could see a trip to the disposal store in the offing and it was time for me to get dinner anyway.

Must remember to run over there one of these days to see if he made a trip to the kitchen cabinet store.

Grilling Hint

When grilling steaks or chops over the coals, place 1-inch thick cuts about 3 inches from the heat and 2-inch thick cuts about 5 inches from the heat.

Garden Sauce

Fresh cooked green beans welcome this sauce. Cook bacon until crisp, then dice. Add minced onion and ½ cup tomato juice. Simmer a few minutes, then pour over cooked beans.

½ cup mayonnaise
Watercress

Separate leaves of the endives, soak in ice-cold water, pat dry, then chill in vegetable freshener. Core and thinly slice the apple, combine with celery and mushrooms, toss with the olive oil, lemon juice and salt and let stand half an hour before serving.

Pile this mixture in center of endive, arrange grapefruit sections around it. Sprinkle grapefruit sections with few drops of olive oil and salt. Place watercress leaves between the grapefruit sections. Pass mayonnaise. This makes 4 servings.

SALAD NICOISE

1 can tender whole green beans, drained
2 tomatoes, quartered
2 small potatoes, cooked, diced
4 to 6 black olives, sliced
¼ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed olives
1 tablespoon capers
2 fillets of anchovy, chopped
3 tablespoons Spanish olive oil
1 tablespon wine vinegar
½ to ½ teaspoon salt
Freshly-ground black pepper

Combine first seven ingredients in a bowl, make a sauce of the remaining ingredients and pour over the vegetables. Marinate at room temperature 30 minutes to 1 hour, toss to blend lightly.

Arrange on salad greens: separate the beans in two or three piles, the potatoes and tomatoes between them, then spread olives, capers and anchovy over the top. Sprinkle sauce left in bottom of bowl over the vegetables. Makes 4 servings.

Lady Mail Carrier To Face Challenge

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — They won't exactly put lace around the pickup boxes, but the Milwaukee post office will have to make some changes to accommodate its first woman carrier starting next week.

Miss Rose Vicari, 36, who quit her job on the assembly line of an electronics firm doing some hush-hush work for the government, was sworn into the postal service Monday and will start as a substitute carrier next Tuesday.

"On the whole they were pretty nice to me today," said Miss Vicari after the swearing in ceremonies. "But I'll really have to prove myself."

PREVIOUS FEMALE applicants for a carrier's job on this 1,329 man force, flunked out mainly in the driving test, where they had to wheel huge trucks through intricate maneuvers.

Miss Vicari, who heard about the job opening in a circular that came to her home through the mail, passed this hurdle with little trouble. She drove trucks previous to her assembly line work and has also worked part time as a school bus driver.

"I passed all the tests," she said proudly.

Officials earlier said they would try to dissuade Miss Vicari from going through with her application. One of the chief concerns was that most of the postal substations are equipped only with men's washrooms.

POSTMASTER Frederick C. T. John said Miss Vicari's assignments will necessarily depend on facilities at substations.

Chief problem for Miss Vicari, however, is not washrooms or trucks or even the thought of delivering mail in 20 degree weather or in snow, sleet, rain and the rest of the elements the service is noted for mastering.

The problem is a uniform.

She stepped before a mirror, applied lipstick and touched up her hair in her best feminine manner before trying on the highly unattractive postman's hat.

SHE BEAMED and the drab postal hat took on a new look.

Miss Vicari said she will wear the hat and her badge with her own clothes for the first three months until a uniform can be decided on.

"After all," she said, "there are other mail women in the country. Our uniforms will soon become standard."

Americans Eating Less Food: Prof

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — Americans are eating about 100 pounds less of food per year than they did 20 years ago a University of Kansas agricultural economist said this week.

Prof. Robert Rudd told the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin that the cause was "movement of population from farms to cities, the lighter work effort necessary, and more awareness of the problems of overeating and obesity."

Back-to-School Tip

Dental Fitness Vital To Children's Health

With the opening of school, now is the time to schedule a dental appointment for your child, advises the Chicago Dental Society.

To be physically fit for the school year ahead, every child must be dentally fit. No physical examination is complete without a dental examination.

POOR DENTAL health can hamper a child's progress at school. No child can do his best when pain or infection from dental disease upsets him. The importance of taking the child to the dentist is to make sure he starts the school year with a healthy mouth—and then supervise his dental hygiene every day at home.

The dental examination at the start of the school term is as important for high school students as it is for those entering kindergarten or continuing in elementary grades.

This is particularly true of students who take part in athletic programs. It is mandatory for high school football players to wear mouthguards to protect their teeth. Even so, it is esential to remember that sound teeth are more resistant to dental injury. Every player should have a dental examination before the season starts.

AT THE SAME time, school days can be "broken-tooth" time and children should be urged to use caution in their school and after-school play.

You can help your child keep that "perfect smile" by encouraging these precautions:

Use the ladder to climb out of the swimming pool indoor or out. Never climb a wet tree. Keep roller skates under control and never hitch rides. Don't jump from a moving swing or walk under it. Don't hit, push or throw at anyone drinking from a fountain or container. Wear a catcher's mask when receiving pitched baseballs.

These tips will help your child keep all his teeth intact. If the child does fall or there is a blow to the mouth area, be sure to inspect the teeth. There can be a hidden damage. Also, remember that sensitivity to pain differs in children so the child may not complain.

THE DENTIST can discover and treat any early defects, both dental decay and diseases of the gums and the mouth. The dentist will be able to correct any bad habits of mouth hygiene or irregularities of the teeth. A thorough clinical and dental examination should be obtained every six months.

New clothes, new shoes and new books call for a new look at the child's teeth to make certain that general health is not affected by poor dental health.

Las Vegas Theme For Hairdressers

"Highlights and Sidelights of Las Vegas" is to be the theme of the Wednesday, Sept. 4 meeting of Unit 47, Northwest Suburban Hairdressers Association. The evening will include reports on the annual convention with emphasis on the "Dandy" line, new fall and winter trend in hair styling.

MEMBERS will also discuss plans for their annual fashion show and luncheon to be held Monday, Sept. 30, at the Flying Carpet Motor Inn. Fashions will be furnished by Carson Pirie Scott & Co. and hair styles will be by members of the Association. Tickets are now available at all member beauty salons.

All licensed cosmetologists are invited to the Sept. 4 meeting, to be held at Campbell's Hearthstone in Palatine.

AAUW to Reveal Studies at Coffee

Material to be used by study groups of the Arlington Heights Branch of the American Association of University Women during the coming year will be shown to prospective members at a "coffee" to be held in their honor Monday evening, Sept. 9, at Pioneer Park.

Although invitations to this coffee are being mailed to known AAUW prospects in the area, anyone interested in attending or in learning more about the Arlington Heights Branch is invited to telephone the president, Mrs. Charles Toot, 392-3186, or the membership chairman, Mrs. Ted Meyer, CL 9-1049.

The first regular meeting of the Branch is scheduled for Thursday evening, Sept. 12.

Grilling Hint

When grilling steaks or chops over the coals, place 1-inch thick cuts about 3 inches from the heat and 2-inch thick cuts about 5 inches from the heat.

Garden Sauce

Fresh cooked green beans welcome this sauce. Cook bacon until crisp, then dice. Add minced onion and ½ cup tomato juice. Simmer a few minutes, then pour over cooked beans.

Quite Contrary by Mary

Project Runs Rampant

It is perfectly amazing how a do-it-yourself project can mushroom and get all out of proportion. I've had it happen to me. Like washing a spot off a wall and ending up washing the whole wall and the ceiling to boot. I watched one of these projects the other day and it was a dilly.

It all started with a leaky faucet. The lady of the house set up a clamor to have something done and right now. Man of the house looked the situation over carefully and decided that a repair job was out of the question. What was needed was brand new faucets. Under the none too gentle prodding of his wife, he finally procured same and they were works of art. All shiny, modern and efficient as all get out.

MARY

The day finally arrived for them to be put in. I like to watch things like this as the language used is so colorful and one is never too old to learn something new. Happily he began ripping the old drippers out but it suddenly dawned on him that he needed bigger wrenches. Off to the wrench store.

No sooner had he torn the old out than he decided as long as he was this far, how about that new stainless steel sink they had been talking about. I reeled slightly at the casualness of it all for such a large purchase. But, it was off to the sink store. In hubby's absence, I asked wifey if he was really and truly going to buy a sink. She shrugged and said she guessed so.

I did inquire timidly as to how he was going to put the disposal into the new sink. I have one and it looks pretty complicated and welded to me. She shrugged once more, she is a very good shrugger, and said that the disposal had been acting funny lately anyway. I tottered out of there as I could see a trip to the disposal store in the offing and it was time for me to get dinner anyway.

Must remember to run over there one of these days to see if he made a trip to the kitchen cabinet store.

Lincoln Show Draws Crowds

Opening night last Thursday for "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" at New Salem State Park broke all previous attendance records.

"Abe Lincoln in Illinois" as presented at New Salem State Park has become one of the outstanding summer attractions for the state of Illinois. On opening night, tourists attended from more than 10 states.

The dates for the last week of the show are Aug. 29, 30, 31, and Sept. 1.

Tourists Get Break

The Pacific Area Travel Association has received word of a new rate of monetary exchange in Indonesia. The exchange rate for tourists and visitors staying a short time in that country is now 315 rupiahs to one United States dollar.

The new rate gives tourists a better exchange than at any time previously, and is an added incentive for travelers to visit Indonesia, and its fabled island of Bali.

Take Cruise in Fiji

'Island Hopping' Is Tourist Treat

by JEAN GREGOR

SUVA, FIJI — It has been said that the "Fijian believes that the man who made time made plenty of it," and the visitor to this South Pacific island group would do well to share this philosophy, at least while in Fiji.

One of the commonest mistakes made by tourists here is allowing too little time to include an island-to-island cruise in their visit. Situated halfway between New Zealand and the equator, the group covers 250,000 square miles of the blue Pacific. Only 106 of the 322 islands is inhabited, the largest being Viti Levu, which is about the same size as the island of Hawaii.

By visiting only one island, tourists miss some of the loveliest and most fascinating sights in this British Crown Colony. Best time to visit is May to November, according to the Pacific Area Travel Association.

THE FIJIANS are a proud, cultured race with a colorful background of customs, pagentry and legends. Much of their history lives on, and by traveling only a few miles from their hotels, tourists can see natives carrying on daily activities as they did more than 100 years ago.

One of the most unusual ceremonies is performed on the island of Kadavu, which lies about fifty miles south of the capital city of Suva. At the village of Namuana of Kadavu, giant turtles are called from the sea by a strange chant known only by the women of this village. Schooners with visitors anchor in a beautiful bay right under the cliffs of a rocky headland, and passengers disembark to watch from the beach or from the top of a rocky track some 150-200 feet above the bay.

All the Namuana women gather and begin their song which drifts out over the water. Soon one or two of the giant turtles appear as dark forms below the surface, then rise and rock back and forth as if to listen to the chant. No other tribe can successfully perform the ritual.

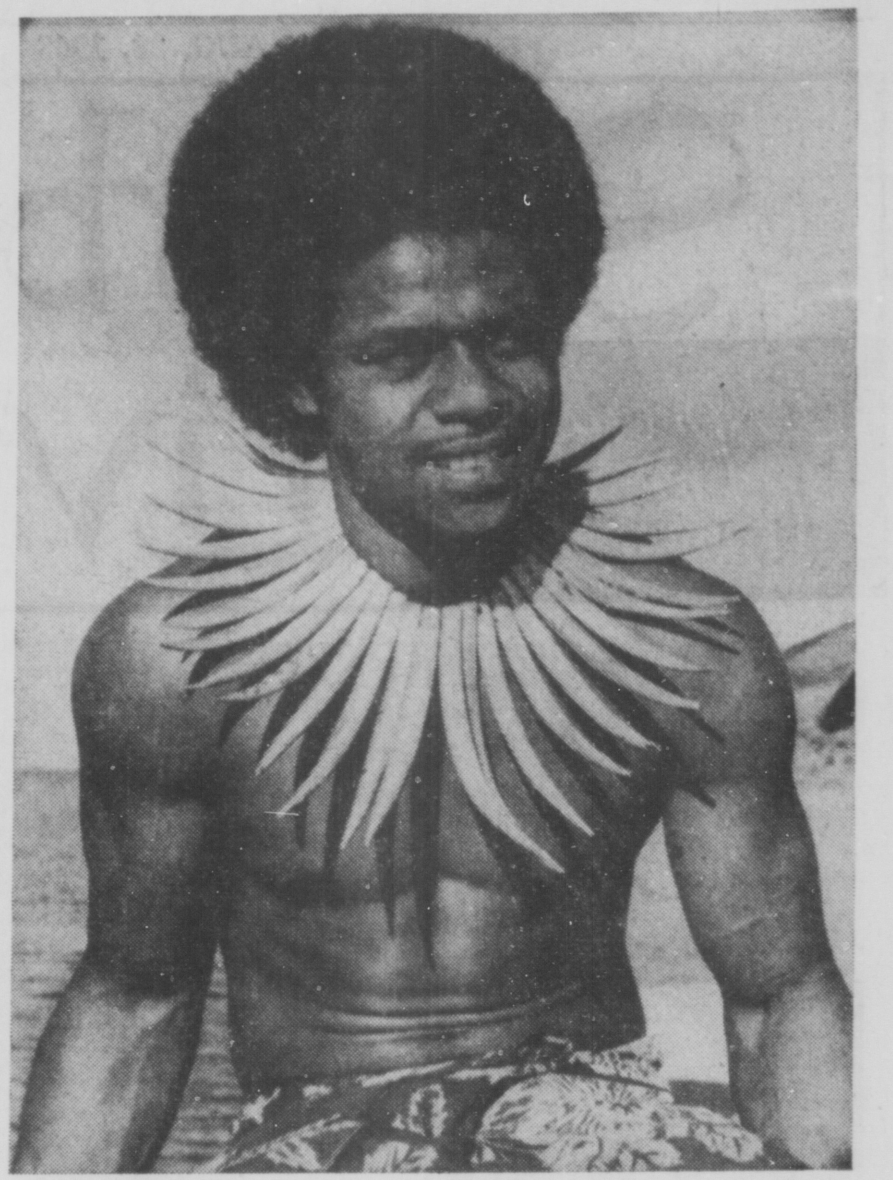
IN FACT, if a member of the traditional enemy tribe of the Nabukelevu village is present, no turtles can be persuaded to appear. Legend has it that the turtles which respond are descendants of two Namuana maidens who were captured by Nabukelevu tribesmen, and then saved by the god of the seas by being turned into turtles.

Beqa island, lying between the adavu group and Viti Levu, is the site of one of the most interesting performances in the Pacific. The firewalking ceremony of the Sawau tribe of this island may still be seen on special occasions, and visitors should make every effort to time their stay accordingly.

For two weeks before the event, the participants segregate themselves from all women and must eat no coconut. A large circular pit is dug some 15 feet in diameter, three to four feet deep, lined with large stones, and a roaring log fire is built on top.

ABOUT EIGHT hours is allowed for the stones to become red hot. Under the direction of the Bete, or high priest, ceremonial rites are executed, the logs are removed, and the men burst from their place of concealment to walk barefoot on the fiery rocks. Although a handkerchief tossed into the pit will immediately burst into flames, no marks of any kind are evident on their feet after the ceremony.

Fijian legend explains the skill as an ancient gift from a spirit god in exchange for his life. He had been captured by a Sawau warrior. No other satisfactory explanation has been offered to date.



FOR VISITORS—A Fiji chief proudly wears a necklace of whale teeth during a cruise for tourists near Suva, Fiji's capital. This is not everyday wear, but is brought out for special occasions.

Cruises may also be taken to the beautiful off-the-beaten-path islands of the Yasawa group. These leave from Lautoka, which is just north of Nadi and the airport of Viti Levu. Calls are made at Fijian villages where passengers participate in ancient ceremonies of welcome, and at night a swim may be enjoyed in a clear, reef-protected lagoon, either from the boat or from one of the many fine swimming beaches.

OTHER BOATS tour the stunning coral reef areas around the islands. Floats are provided so that with a face-mask, snorkle and fins if desired, swimmers may dive down for a close-up view of the unbelievably variegated beauty of underwater scenery. Add a simple hand spear and with a little luck one can bring back some dinner.

The unique island pleasures of a cruise are not all that Fiji has to offer. Without leaving Viti Levu, visitors may enjoy a beautiful 135 mile drive along the coast from Nadi to Suva. While riding along, graceful coconut palms lean out toward the water on one side, and verdant hills recede to the central mountains on the other.

If desired, a stop may be made at lively Korolevu Beach Hotel, where many rooms consist of a well-constructed thatched hut. In Suva shopping is excellent for native arts and crafts, as well as for imported Indian items. Native wood carvings, mats and pottery are always good buys.

AN IMPORTANT asset to any destination, the handsome Fijian people, Melanesians with a strong Polynesian strain, are always smiling, always friendly and willing to help. Their frizzy upstanding hair is carefully groomed with coconut oil, and while western taste may not think it flattering, Fijians are very proud of this part of their appearance.

In fact, it is very bad manners to touch another person's head, and at one time meant certain death. Their clothing is simple, functional and cool, as is fitting for a south seas island life.

Huge Crafts Show Planned in Norway

Thirty Oslo shops will present a square-mile display of the finest in Norwegian arts and crafts as their contribution to the annual Scandinavian Design Cavalcade, the four-nation showcase of modern design and creative art presented each September in Norway, Sweden, Finland and Denmark.

The Oslo event represents a departure from previous Cavalcade programs, where the concentration was on exhibits at two or three museums and showrooms.

This year, the Norwegian capital's whole shopping area will be the scene of a grand exhibit, and the visitor making a walking tour of Karl Johansgate and its neighboring streets will find more than 100 window displays here—some glittering with silver enamelware, glass and ceramics; others showing colorful textiles and wood articles; still others inviting attention to the graceful lines of Norway's modern furniture and home furnishings.

IN ALL cases, the exhibited items represent the latest in Norwegian design, for the Cavalcade is not only a review of the best work produced during the past year by more than 70 participating designers and craftsmen but also a preview of smart designs that will influence tastes in homefashions throughout the world.

A special Design Cavalcade jury has selected the works to be included in the 100 displays.

Detailed programs on the Design Cavalcade in Norway are available from the Norwegian National Travel Office, 290 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y., 10017.

Travel Tip

Visit Gotham During Fall

by JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

If you subscribe to the cliche, "New York is a wonderful place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there," then surely you must agree that the most wonderful time to visit Gotham is in the fall. Some years ago a Holiday Magazine editor suggested that New Year's Day should properly be celebrated in September in New York City for it is then that in reality a new year begins.

The excitement and enthusiasm of a new year is in the air. New plays are opening, the musical season begins, there is a staccato feeling that is contagious. Although I deplore the insularity of many New Yorkers I must admit that in early fall they have a "Wonderful Town."

WELCH

One of the nice things about a New York City fall vacation is that it can be as lavish or as inexpensive as you wish. You may lunch at one of the name restaurants, rather austerely, for about $30 for two, or find Greenwich Village hideaways where dinner is $2.00 with a glass of wine to boot. You can buy scalper's tickets for the big opening of the season or stroll Fifth Avenue and watch the human drama unfold.

One of New York's most unusual treasures is one which too many visitors seem to miss, perhaps because it is located far off the usual beaten track of the tourist. It is Fort Tryon Park, known to most New Yorkers by the name of its memorable museum, "The Cloisters."

The Cloisters houses a museum of medieval art, but even if you think you aren't interested in art you'll want to travel to 190th Street just for the spectacular view. Overlooking the Hudson, the park is the city's highest point. To the west are the Palisade cliffs. To the south the George Washington Bridge is an arc in the sky. Here was once the ramparts of Fort Tryon, built and briefly held in 1776 by Washington's retreating soldiers.

It is, however, The Cloisters itself which exerts such a feeling of serenity. Its name comes from a series of colonnaded walks each containing elements of a different medieval monastery, yet so skillfully have they been linked together that there is no feeling of incongruity. This in spite of the fact that they include parts of a Romansque chapel, of Gothic cathedrals, and reproductions which simulate 12th century architecture. Unless you're an expert you won't know which are originals and which are reproductions.

In a special gallery some of the world's most valuable tapestries, from the 15th and 16th centuries, are displayed.

Admission to The Cloisters is free but check a current guide book for full information as to hours and days when it is open.

And speaking of guide books, don't take the short-sighted view that it is unsophisticated to consult one. You'll save precious vacation time and add to your enjoyment, too, if you know in advance what you want to see, what special points to look for, and how to get to a particular location. Just be sure your guide book is an up-to-date one. In these days when change is the order of the day, and whole city blocks disappear seemingly over night an out-of-date guide book is worse than none at all.

VACATIONING IN THE "Land of the Sun" recently was Roselle resident, Miss Bonnie Jacobia. She was guest at the beachfront Trade Winds Hotel in scenic Lauderdale and returned to her home at 128 W. Rosemont on Aug. 5.

The unique island pleasures of a cruise are not all that Fiji has to offer. Without leaving Viti Levu, visitors may enjoy a beautiful 135 mile drive along the coast from Nadi to Suva. While riding along, graceful coconut palms lean out toward the water on one side, and verdant hills recede to the central mountains on the other.

If desired, a stop may be made at lively Korolevu Beach Hotel, where many rooms consist of a well-constructed thatched hut. In Suva shopping is excellent for native arts and crafts, as well as for imported Indian items. Native wood carvings, mats and pottery are always good buys.

AN IMPORTANT asset to any destination, the handsome Fijian people, Melanesians with a strong Polynesian strain, are always smiling, always friendly and willing to help. Their frizzy upstanding hair is carefully groomed with coconut oil, and while western taste may not think it flattering, Fijians are very proud of this part of their appearance.

In fact, it is very bad manners to touch another person's head, and at one time meant certain death. Their clothing is simple, functional and cool, as is fitting for a south seas island life.

Travel Tip

Visit Gotham During Fall

by JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

If you subscribe to the cliche, "New York is a wonderful place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live there," then surely you must agree that the most wonderful time to visit Gotham is in the fall. Some years ago a Holiday Magazine editor suggested that New Year's Day should properly be celebrated in September in New York City for it is then that in reality a new year begins.

The excitement and enthusiasm of a new year is in the air. New plays are opening, the musical season begins, there is a staccato feeling that is contagious. Although I deplore the insularity of many New Yorkers I must admit that in early fall they have a "Wonderful Town."

WELCH

One of the nice things about a New York City fall vacation is that it can be as lavish or as inexpensive as you wish. You may lunch at one of the name restaurants, rather austerely, for about $30 for two, or find Greenwich Village hideaways where dinner is $2.00 with a glass of wine to boot. You can buy scalper's tickets for the big opening of the season or stroll Fifth Avenue and watch the human drama unfold.

One of New York's most unusual treasures is one which too many visitors seem to miss, perhaps because it is located far off the usual beaten track of the tourist. It is Fort Tryon Park, known to most New Yorkers by the name of its memorable museum, "The Cloisters."

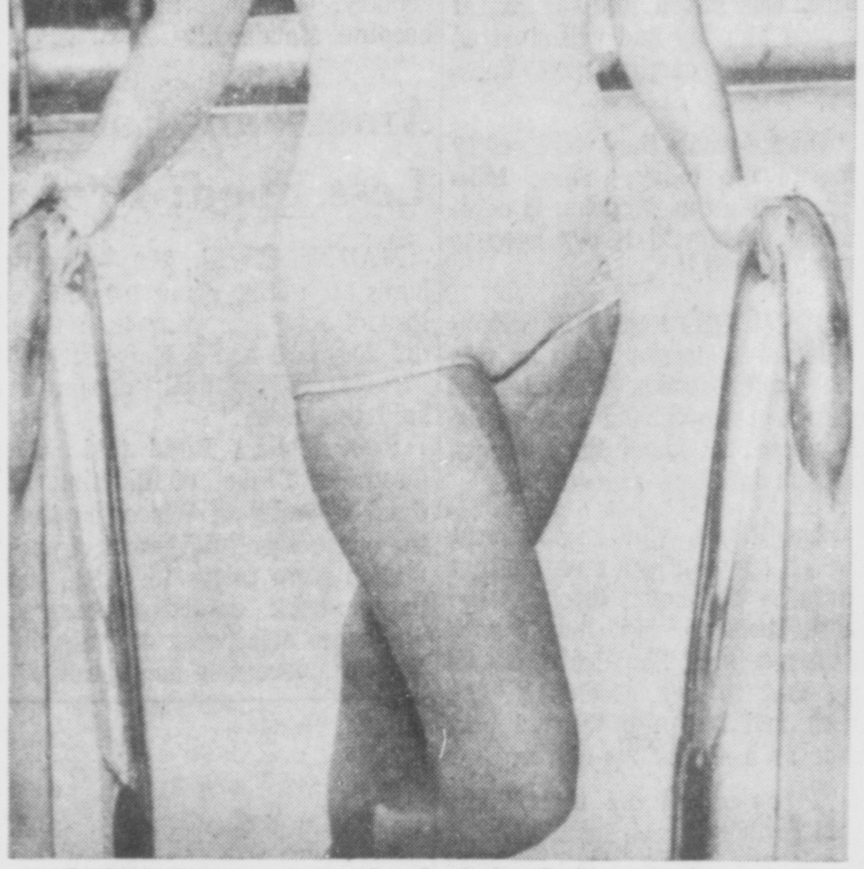
The Cloisters houses a museum of medieval art, but even if you think you aren't interested in art you'll want to travel to 190th Street just for the spectacular view. Overlooking the Hudson, the park is the city's highest point. To the west are the Palisade cliffs. To the south the George Washington Bridge is an arc in the sky. Here was once the ramparts of Fort Tryon, built and briefly held in 1776 by Washington's retreating soldiers.

It is, however, The Cloisters itself which exerts such a feeling of serenity. Its name comes from a series of colonnaded walks each containing elements of a different medieval monastery, yet so skillfully have they been linked together that there is no feeling of incongruity. This in spite of the fact that they include parts of a Romansque chapel, of Gothic cathedrals, and reproductions which simulate 12th century architecture. Unless you're an expert you won't know which are originals and which are reproductions.

In a special gallery some of the world's most valuable tapestries, from the 15th and 16th centuries, are displayed.

Admission to The Cloisters is free but check a current guide book for full information as to hours and days when it is open.

And speaking of guide books, don't take the short-sighted view that it is unsophisticated to consult one. You'll save precious vacation time and add to your enjoyment, too, if you know in advance what you want to see, what special points to look for, and how to get to a particular location. Just be sure your guide book is an up-to-date one. In these days when change is the order of the day, and whole city blocks disappear seemingly over night an out-of-date guide book is worse than none at all.



VACATIONING IN THE "Land of the Sun" recently was Roselle resident, Miss Bonnie Jacobia. She was guest at the beachfront Trade Winds Hotel in scenic Lauderdale and returned to her home at 128 W. Rosemont on Aug. 5.

Science Helps End 'Yellow Laundry'

Discovery of a new product that completely removes all rust from both soft and hard water is a development announced by B. Lewis, director of the Water Specialties Research Institute. This remarkable advance ends the rural and suburban housewives' main laundry problem.

Rust stains and the yellow in clothes can now be completely eliminated. This is a problem most prevalent in midwest areas using well water, and it's accentuated when this water contains rust.

BY USING a product that includes the rust-stopping additive while doing laundry, there is a further advantage since there is a reduced amount of soap or detergent necessary, and no bleach is necessary. This breakthrough insures advantages for the homemaker unheard of till now.

The new special rust removing ingredient has been included in a new consumer liquid cleaner water softener called Miracle White, now on the market. The Water Specialties Research Institute study also verified the fact that hot water heaters and pipes, water storage tanks and water softeners can be safely cleaned to eliminate rust with only this product and without use of tools. Science Helps End 'Yellow Laundry'

Discovery of a new product that completely removes all rust from both soft and hard water is a development announced by B. Lewis, director of the Water Specialties Research Institute. This remarkable advance ends the rural and suburban housewives' main laundry problem.

Rust stains and the yellow in clothes can now be completely eliminated. This is a problem most prevalent in midwest areas using well water, and it's accentuated when this water contains rust.

BY USING a product that includes the rust-stopping additive while doing laundry, there is a further advantage since there is a reduced amount of soap or detergent necessary, and no bleach is necessary. This breakthrough insures advantages for the homemaker unheard of till now.

The new special rust removing ingredient has been included in a new consumer liquid cleaner water softener called Miracle White, now on the market. The Water Specialties Research Institute study also verified the fact that hot water heaters and pipes, water storage tanks and water softeners can be safely cleaned to eliminate rust with only this product and without use of tools. May Gavel Doesn't Sound Summer Adjournment for Arlington Jrs.

Although the final gavel sounding adjournment at the May banquet of Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club marked the close of general membership meetings for the 1962-63 club year, summer adjournment did not call a halt to all activities of the club.

Included in the club's summer business has been the presentation of two local scholarships, help in sponsoring the summer reading program at Arlington Heights Public Library, the continuation of efforts to establish a community-sponsored recreation center for high school age youngsters, and a summer membership coffee.

Scholarships were received by Noreen Alsdorf, daughter of the Harry M. Alsdorfs of Wheeling and by Vicki MacIntyre, daughter of the Donald K. MacIntyres of Arlington Heights.

NOREEN received a week's full scholarship at Robert Allerton Memorial Summer School of Art at Monticello. The school, sponsored by the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, in cooperation with the art department of the University of Illinois, is designed to give talented high school students an opportunity to work under direction of competent teachers. Attendance is limited to those sponsored by IFWC.

An annual teaching scholarship program was continued this year by the club with the granting of a $200 scholarship to Vicki, who was the recipient of last year's scholarship grant. Vicki will enter her second year at Illinois State Normal University as a student of elementary education and speech correction.

CONTINUING its interest in youth and education, the club contributed funds to help finance the special movie shown at Arlington Theatre as a reward to children completing the reading program prescribed by the library. The club is also making plans to continue a weekly story hour for preschoolers, which was successfully conducted at the library during the past year.

Arlington Juniors have been instrumental in forming the new Arlington Heights Youth Organization, which with the cooperation of Arlington Heights Park District, will conduct year 'round youth activities in modernized club rooms in the basement of Recreation Park Field House. Temporary student directors of the new youth group have been assisted in their summer program by adult supervisors representing school and park administrations and civic organizations.

Members of the Juniors' 1962-63 Youth Committee, who have continued to be active through the summer are Mrs. Donald Carrara, Mrs. Roger Ericson, Mrs. Elmore Lechelt and Mrs. Robert Staebler.

ARLINGTON JUNIORS supported the organization of the youth center program with a $100 advance to the AHYO for summer expenses.

Club funds used for scholarships and community service projects, as well as those donated to deserving philanthropies, are earned through fund raising affairs supported by the community. Mrs. Howard Schick, club president, reports that total donations on the local and federation level reached $2,001 during the past year.

Preparing for the beginning of the 1963-64 club year, the membership committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Richard Fagala, held a summer membership coffee Aug. 28 at the home of Mrs. Phil Pickett, 426 S. Dryden Place. Prospective members were told of the club's many and varied activities and invited to attend the first fall meeting scheduled for Sept. 10 at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Building. Hospital Auxiliary Benefit is Sept. 10

"The Running of the Fifth Annual Luncheon and Style Show" is the apt title of this year's benefit party sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to Northwest Community Hospital.

Taking place in the swank Post and Paddock and Classic Clubs at Arlington Park on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 10, the affair will have a race track flavor for its parade of fashions. Phil Georgeff, rising young caller of races at Arlington Park, will be one of the show's emcees.

PROFESSIONAL models will form the fashion line, showing off the newest fall ensembles as seen at Carson Pirie Scott & Co.

Proceeds of the benefit will be applied to the auxiliary's pledge to the hospital building fund, which promises additional space and improvement of present facilities.

TICKETS ARE now available on a reservation basis. Area women are invited to make up a table and call in their reservations to Cl 3-0208.

Tickets will be mailed out one week prior to the luncheon. Gate 2, Wilke Road, and Gate 8, Rohlwing Road, will be open for the guests of the luncheon and parking will be directed from the Post and Paddock entrance.

Palatine Man Exchanges Vows on College Campus

The Annie Merner Chapel on the campus of MacMurray College, Jacksonville, was the setting July 27 of a candlelight wedding service which united a Palatine man, Lawrence E. Larsen, son of the Einar B. Larsens, 528 E. Lincoln, and Miss Diane Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Thomas of Jacksonville.

Dr. Frank Marston officiated the double ring rites at 2 p.m.

FOR HER summer wedding Miss Thomas wore a gown of white silk organza and chantilly lace on taffeta, detailed with full skirt and modified cathedral train. Her crown of pearl studded lace held a three-quarter-length illusion veil and a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, stephanotis and ivy completed the ensemble.

Pink dresses with matching headpieces and slippers were sharply contrasted with cascades of flaming pink asters and ivy chosen by Mrs. Richard Sellars of Jacksonville, who served the bride as matron of honor, and Mrs. Jack Larsen of Arlington Heights, bridesmaid.

Phalaenopsis orchids accented the outfits of both mothers, Mrs. Thomas was attired in a pastel blue silk organza on taffeta sheath with lace over-blouse and matching accessories. For her son's wedding Mrs. Larsen selected a mauve lace sheath with slippers and hat in the same color.

THE GROOM'S brother-in-law, Jack Larsen of Arlington Heights, was best man. Ushers were Bill Bucholz of Dallas and David Dresser, also of Arlington Heights.

After the service the newlyweds were feted at a reception at the Holiday Inn in Jacksonville. They traveled to Northern Wisconsin for their honeymoon and are now residing in Palatine.

Mr. Larsen is associated with the Vapor Corp. in Niles and his bride teaches second grade at Ridge School in Arlington Heights. (S

Womans Club Plans Tea, Bridge Date

Members of the Palatine Womans Club are asking area women to mark their calendars for the date of Sept. 17. That afternoon they will host a membership tea and bridge party in Arlington Heights VFW Hall, Northwest Highway at Yale. The party begins at 12:30 p.m. and prospective members are especially welcome.

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Henry Wood, ways and chairman, and Mrs. Ralph Trenchard, membership chairman. (S

KAREN SUE SCHLECT'S 6-year-old twin brothers, Kenneth and Richard Schlect, carried the double rings for her June marriage to Richard M. Leckband. The couple, both of Arlington Heights, are now living in Fairbanks, Alaska, the groom stationed at Ft. Wainwright and the bride working at the same army base as a civil service secretary. The new Mrs. Leckband is the daughter of Mrs. Edwin A. Schlect, 1735 N. Fernandez, and her husband's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Norbert Leckband, 302 N. Pine. A large bridal party, attired in orchid silk dresses with matching picture hats, came down the aisle of the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights for the evening rites. A reception followed in the church hall for 200 guests. (S

Get-Acquainted Parties Set by Northwest AAUW

Northwest Suburban Branch of the American Association of University Women is sponsoring get-acquainted parties for members and prospective members of this organization. The parties will be held in members' homes on the following dates:

In this area, prospective members are being invited to the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. J. J. Atkinson, 310 N. Emerson, at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 11, for an afternoon tea. Other parties are being held Sept. 10 and 12 in Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

ANY WOMAN with a degree from a college or university which neets AAUW standards may apply for membership in the Northwest Suburban branch.

Among the 20 colleges and universities which were added to the AAUW list of qualified institutions by vote of the 1963 convention in Denver are the following midwestern colleges: Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Ashland College, Ashland, Ohio; Edgewood College of the Sacred Heart, Madison; Marian College, Indianapolis; Sienna Heights College, Adrian, Mich.; Webster College, St. Louis; Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point; Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh.

A GENERAL BRANCH meeting is held the third Thursday of each month, September through May, at 8:15 p.m. in the South Park Field House, Des Plaines. As a result of the newly-adopted structural changes in the Association's program, the AAUW study program will center on four topics: Bridging the Gap Between Science and the Layman, The American Family in a Changing World, Occident and Orient, and Expectations for Education.

Prospective members are requested to contact Mrs. R. S. Ruffolo, Mount Prospect, 392-2889, for information and reservations. (S

Radio Talent For WMS September 3

Frances Beerthuis, who conducts the "Woman to Woman" program over WMBI, Chicago, and WDLM, Moline, will speak at the Sept. 3 meeting of the Women's Missionary Society at the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church at 8 p.m.

FRANCES BEERTHUIS

Mrs. Beerthuis is a widow, the mother of three grown sons, and a grandmother. She brings to her program the experience gained in 30 years as a pastor's wife and as a mother. Her program, heard daily Monday through Friday at 11:15 a.m., is designed to help women through a spiritual approach to their problems.

An invitation is extended to women in the area who are interested in meeting Mrs. Beerthuis.

Old Fashioned Hanky, Pendant Accent Bride's Taffeta Gown

A lace handkerchief made by her paternal great-grandmother and carried by her grandmother at her wedding was just one of the family heirlooms that added a touch of yesteryear to the wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Gard, daughter of the William R. Gards, 336 S. Windsor, Arlington Heights, when she became the bride Aug. 10 of Carl Graf, son of the Charles Grafs, 910 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights. A pearl and diamond pendant, also worn by her grandmother at her wedding, graced the sabrina neckline of Miss Gard's traditional gown of ivory silk taffeta.

The gown, simply fashioned, featured re-embroidered Alencon lace edging the neckline, a fitted bodice, long sleeves and a wateau back and panels, caught above the waist by two tiny self-fabric bows and frosted with alencon lace. The skirt flowed into a chapel train, and her French silk illusion veil cascaded from a headpiece of Alencon lace and pearl petals.

THE SERVICE took place in St. Simon Episcopal Church, Arlington Heights, with Rev. Samuel N. Keys performing the 1:30 p.m. rites. Two altar vases of white glads and mums and two palms decorated the altar as Mr. Gard escorted his daughter down an aisle marked with white pew bows and ribbons.

Organist for the service was Mrs. Robert L. Howard and soloist was Mrs. Herbert P. Tosch. Selections sung by Mrs. Tosch were "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride's sister, Miss Catherine Gard, served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Judy Rankine of Arlington Heights, Miss Sarah Skelton of Hammond and Mrs. Mark L. Shannon of Des Plaines.

The attendants were attired in matching street-length dresses of lilac organza over taffeta with scoop necklines, three-quarter sleeves and controlled bell skirts. Their headpieces of lilac organza were fashioned into tiny rosebuds and they carried cascades of white fuji mums, tipped in lilac. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of lilac delphinium with a white orchid center.

THE BRIDE'S mother chose a champagne silk sheath embroidered with white eyelets, and a coordinated silk organza coat. Her corsage was of brown cymbidiums. Mrs. Graf chose a moss green silk shantung sheath with matching jacket, white accessories and a corsage of green cymbidium.

James Shartle of Arlington Heights was the groom's best man and ushers were the bride's cousin, David Diggle of Cleveland, Herbert Beer of Chicago, Richard Winters of Barrington and Mark Shannon of Des Plaines.

Following the double ring service, a garden reception with champagne buffet was held at the home of the bride's parents where 200 guests greeted the couple.

Mr. Graf and his bride honeymooned at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton and are now making their home at 8035 Foster Lane, Niles. The new Mrs. Graf was graduated from Arlington High School in 1962 and just recently was graduated from the Patricia Stevens Career College. The bridegroom was graduated from Arlington High School in 1960, attended the DeVry Institute of Technology, and is now with Bell and Gossett in Morton Grove. (S

Presidents' Council Day Is Sept. 9

Members of the many affiliated garden clubs in Illinois are looking forward to one of the favorite autumn events of The Garden Club of Illinois. Monday, Sept. 9, Mrs. R. G. Beardsley of Atlanta, Ga., will present a flower arranging program at the annual Presidents' Council Day, to be held in the Red Lacquer Room of the Palmer House.

The meeting is open to all members of affiliated clubs and affords them an opportunity to meet state officers and chairmen, and members of other clubs and to exchange information on the many phases of garden club work.

ANOTHER "FIRST" will be added to Garden Club of Illinois history early in September when a course in Landscape Design is offered to the public. It will also be the first time this course has ever been offered in Illinois.

Set for Sept. 4-6, the Garden Club of Illinois, Inc., working with the University of Illinois College of Agriculture Landscape Extension Service, will present Landscape Design Study Course I. It will be held in the 8th Floor Auditorium of the Carsen, Pirie Scott & Co., Chicago, beginning at 9:30 each day. (S

May Gavel Doesn't Sound Summer Adjournment for Arlington Jrs.

Although the final gavel sounding adjournment at the May banquet of Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club marked the close of general membership meetings for the 1962-63 club year, summer adjournment did not call a halt to all activities of the club.

Included in the club's summer business has been the presentation of two local scholarships, help in sponsoring the summer reading program at Arlington Heights Public Library, the continuation of efforts to establish a community-sponsored recreation center for high school age youngsters, and a summer membership coffee.

Scholarships were received by Noreen Alsdorf, daughter of the Harry M. Alsdorfs of Wheeling and by Vicki MacIntyre, daughter of the Donald K. MacIntyres of Arlington Heights.

NOREEN received a week's full scholarship at Robert Allerton Memorial Summer School of Art at Monticello. The school, sponsored by the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, in cooperation with the art department of the University of Illinois, is designed to give talented high school students an opportunity to work under direction of competent teachers. Attendance is limited to those sponsored by IFWC.

An annual teaching scholarship program was continued this year by the club with the granting of a $200 scholarship to Vicki, who was the recipient of last year's scholarship grant. Vicki will enter her second year at Illinois State Normal University as a student of elementary education and speech correction.

CONTINUING its interest in youth and education, the club contributed funds to help finance the special movie shown at Arlington Theatre as a reward to children completing the reading program prescribed by the library. The club is also making plans to continue a weekly story hour for preschoolers, which was successfully conducted at the library during the past year.

Arlington Juniors have been instrumental in forming the new Arlington Heights Youth Organization, which with the cooperation of Arlington Heights Park District, will conduct year 'round youth activities in modernized club rooms in the basement of Recreation Park Field House. Temporary student directors of the new youth group have been assisted in their summer program by adult supervisors representing school and park administrations and civic organizations.

Members of the Juniors' 1962-63 Youth Committee, who have continued to be active through the summer are Mrs. Donald Carrara, Mrs. Roger Ericson, Mrs. Elmore Lechelt and Mrs. Robert Staebler.

ARLINGTON JUNIORS supported the organization of the youth center program with a $100 advance to the AHYO for summer expenses.

Club funds used for scholarships and community service projects, as well as those donated to deserving philanthropies, are earned through fund raising affairs supported by the community. Mrs. Howard Schick, club president, reports that total donations on the local and federation level reached $2,001 during the past year.

Preparing for the beginning of the 1963-64 club year, the membership committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Richard Fagala, held a summer membership coffee Aug. 28 at the home of Mrs. Phil Pickett, 426 S. Dryden Place. Prospective members were told of the club's many and varied activities and invited to attend the first fall meeting scheduled for Sept. 10 at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Building. Hospital Auxiliary Benefit is Sept. 10

"The Running of the Fifth Annual Luncheon and Style Show" is the apt title of this year's benefit party sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to Northwest Community Hospital.

Taking place in the swank Post and Paddock and Classic Clubs at Arlington Park on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 10, the affair will have a race track flavor for its parade of fashions. Phil Georgeff, rising young caller of races at Arlington Park, will be one of the show's emcees.

PROFESSIONAL models will form the fashion line, showing off the newest fall ensembles as seen at Carson Pirie Scott & Co.

Proceeds of the benefit will be applied to the auxiliary's pledge to the hospital building fund, which promises additional space and improvement of present facilities.

TICKETS ARE now available on a reservation basis. Area women are invited to make up a table and call in their reservations to Cl 3-0208.

Tickets will be mailed out one week prior to the luncheon. Gate 2, Wilke Road, and Gate 8, Rohlwing Road, will be open for the guests of the luncheon and parking will be directed from the Post and Paddock entrance.

Womans Club Plans Tea, Bridge Date

Members of the Palatine Womans Club are asking area women to mark their calendars for the date of Sept. 17. That afternoon they will host a membership tea and bridge party in Arlington Heights VFW Hall, Northwest Highway at Yale. The party begins at 12:30 p.m. and prospective members are especially welcome.

Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Henry Wood, ways and chairman, and Mrs. Ralph Trenchard, membership chairman. (S

Palatine Man Exchanges Vows on College Campus

The Annie Merner Chapel on the campus of MacMurray College, Jacksonville, was the setting July 27 of a candlelight wedding service which united a Palatine man, Lawrence E. Larsen, son of the Einar B. Larsens, 528 E. Lincoln, and Miss Diane Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Thomas of Jacksonville.

Dr. Frank Marston officiated the double ring rites at 2 p.m.

FOR HER summer wedding Miss Thomas wore a gown of white silk organza and chantilly lace on taffeta, detailed with full skirt and modified cathedral train. Her crown of pearl studded lace held a three-quarter-length illusion veil and a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, stephanotis and ivy completed the ensemble.

Pink dresses with matching headpieces and slippers were sharply contrasted with cascades of flaming pink asters and ivy chosen by Mrs. Richard Sellars of Jacksonville, who served the bride as matron of honor, and Mrs. Jack Larsen of Arlington Heights, bridesmaid.

Phalaenopsis orchids accented the outfits of both mothers, Mrs. Thomas was attired in a pastel blue silk organza on taffeta sheath with lace over-blouse and matching accessories. For her son's wedding Mrs. Larsen selected a mauve lace sheath with slippers and hat in the same color.

THE GROOM'S brother-in-law, Jack Larsen of Arlington Heights, was best man. Ushers were Bill Bucholz of Dallas and David Dresser, also of Arlington Heights.

After the service the newlyweds were feted at a reception at the Holiday Inn in Jacksonville. They traveled to Northern Wisconsin for their honeymoon and are now residing in Palatine.

Mr. Larsen is associated with the Vapor Corp. in Niles and his bride teaches second grade at Ridge School in Arlington Heights. (S

KAREN SUE SCHLECT'S 6-year-old twin brothers, Kenneth and Richard Schlect, carried the double rings for her June marriage to Richard M. Leckband. The couple, both of Arlington Heights, are now living in Fairbanks, Alaska, the groom stationed at Ft. Wainwright and the bride working at the same army base as a civil service secretary. The new Mrs. Leckband is the daughter of Mrs. Edwin A. Schlect, 1735 N. Fernandez, and her husband's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Norbert Leckband, 302 N. Pine. A large bridal party, attired in orchid silk dresses with matching picture hats, came down the aisle of the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights for the evening rites. A reception followed in the church hall for 200 guests. (S

Get-Acquainted Parties Set by Northwest AAUW

Northwest Suburban Branch of the American Association of University Women is sponsoring get-acquainted parties for members and prospective members of this organization. The parties will be held in members' homes on the following dates:

In this area, prospective members are being invited to the Mount Prospect home of Mrs. J. J. Atkinson, 310 N. Emerson, at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 11, for an afternoon tea. Other parties are being held Sept. 10 and 12 in Park Ridge and Des Plaines.

ANY WOMAN with a degree from a college or university which neets AAUW standards may apply for membership in the Northwest Suburban branch.

Among the 20 colleges and universities which were added to the AAUW list of qualified institutions by vote of the 1963 convention in Denver are the following midwestern colleges: Elmhurst College, Elmhurst, Ashland College, Ashland, Ohio; Edgewood College of the Sacred Heart, Madison; Marian College, Indianapolis; Sienna Heights College, Adrian, Mich.; Webster College, St. Louis; Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point; Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh.

A GENERAL BRANCH meeting is held the third Thursday of each month, September through May, at 8:15 p.m. in the South Park Field House, Des Plaines. As a result of the newly-adopted structural changes in the Association's program, the AAUW study program will center on four topics: Bridging the Gap Between Science and the Layman, The American Family in a Changing World, Occident and Orient, and Expectations for Education.

Prospective members are requested to contact Mrs. R. S. Ruffolo, Mount Prospect, 392-2889, for information and reservations. (S

Radio Talent For WMS September 3

Frances Beerthuis, who conducts the "Woman to Woman" program over WMBI, Chicago, and WDLM, Moline, will speak at the Sept. 3 meeting of the Women's Missionary Society at the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church at 8 p.m.

FRANCES BEERTHUIS

Mrs. Beerthuis is a widow, the mother of three grown sons, and a grandmother. She brings to her program the experience gained in 30 years as a pastor's wife and as a mother. Her program, heard daily Monday through Friday at 11:15 a.m., is designed to help women through a spiritual approach to their problems.

An invitation is extended to women in the area who are interested in meeting Mrs. Beerthuis.

Old Fashioned Hanky, Pendant Accent Bride's Taffeta Gown

A lace handkerchief made by her paternal great-grandmother and carried by her grandmother at her wedding was just one of the family heirlooms that added a touch of yesteryear to the wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Gard, daughter of the William R. Gards, 336 S. Windsor, Arlington Heights, when she became the bride Aug. 10 of Carl Graf, son of the Charles Grafs, 910 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights. A pearl and diamond pendant, also worn by her grandmother at her wedding, graced the sabrina neckline of Miss Gard's traditional gown of ivory silk taffeta.

The gown, simply fashioned, featured re-embroidered Alencon lace edging the neckline, a fitted bodice, long sleeves and a wateau back and panels, caught above the waist by two tiny self-fabric bows and frosted with alencon lace. The skirt flowed into a chapel train, and her French silk illusion veil cascaded from a headpiece of Alencon lace and pearl petals.

THE SERVICE took place in St. Simon Episcopal Church, Arlington Heights, with Rev. Samuel N. Keys performing the 1:30 p.m. rites. Two altar vases of white glads and mums and two palms decorated the altar as Mr. Gard escorted his daughter down an aisle marked with white pew bows and ribbons.

Organist for the service was Mrs. Robert L. Howard and soloist was Mrs. Herbert P. Tosch. Selections sung by Mrs. Tosch were "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride's sister, Miss Catherine Gard, served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Judy Rankine of Arlington Heights, Miss Sarah Skelton of Hammond and Mrs. Mark L. Shannon of Des Plaines.

The attendants were attired in matching street-length dresses of lilac organza over taffeta with scoop necklines, three-quarter sleeves and controlled bell skirts. Their headpieces of lilac organza were fashioned into tiny rosebuds and they carried cascades of white fuji mums, tipped in lilac. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of lilac delphinium with a white orchid center.

THE BRIDE'S mother chose a champagne silk sheath embroidered with white eyelets, and a coordinated silk organza coat. Her corsage was of brown cymbidiums. Mrs. Graf chose a moss green silk shantung sheath with matching jacket, white accessories and a corsage of green cymbidium.

James Shartle of Arlington Heights was the groom's best man and ushers were the bride's cousin, David Diggle of Cleveland, Herbert Beer of Chicago, Richard Winters of Barrington and Mark Shannon of Des Plaines.

Following the double ring service, a garden reception with champagne buffet was held at the home of the bride's parents where 200 guests greeted the couple.

Mr. Graf and his bride honeymooned at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton and are now making their home at 8035 Foster Lane, Niles. The new Mrs. Graf was graduated from Arlington High School in 1962 and just recently was graduated from the Patricia Stevens Career College. The bridegroom was graduated from Arlington High School in 1960, attended the DeVry Institute of Technology, and is now with Bell and Gossett in Morton Grove. (S

Presidents' Council Day Is Sept. 9

Members of the many affiliated garden clubs in Illinois are looking forward to one of the favorite autumn events of The Garden Club of Illinois. Monday, Sept. 9, Mrs. R. G. Beardsley of Atlanta, Ga., will present a flower arranging program at the annual Presidents' Council Day, to be held in the Red Lacquer Room of the Palmer House.

The meeting is open to all members of affiliated clubs and affords them an opportunity to meet state officers and chairmen, and members of other clubs and to exchange information on the many phases of garden club work.

ANOTHER "FIRST" will be added to Garden Club of Illinois history early in September when a course in Landscape Design is offered to the public. It will also be the first time this course has ever been offered in Illinois.

Set for Sept. 4-6, the Garden Club of Illinois, Inc., working with the University of Illinois College of Agriculture Landscape Extension Service, will present Landscape Design Study Course I. It will be held in the 8th Floor Auditorium of the Carsen, Pirie Scott & Co., Chicago, beginning at 9:30 each day. (S

Milling Firm Markets 'Fine' Textured Flour

A new form of flour representing the "most significant breakthrough in flour milling history" since the roller mill replaced the ancient millstone, is being introduced by General Mills, Inc. It is the Gold Medal Wondra brand of instantized flour—a completely new and different form of flour designed to save the consumer time and to provide a cleaner, easier-to-handle product.

The new "flour of the future" has resulted from long and extensive research culminating at the James Ford Bell Research Laboratories in Golden Valley, Minn.

IT WAS this interest in the betterment of the flour milling industry that prompted Washburn Crosby Company, General Mills' predecessor, to adopt a roller mill system similar to one being used at that time in Hungary. In the 1870's, the Washburn "C" mill in Minneapolis became the first automatic roller mill in the United States. Flour milling was transformed from a small grist mill basis to a great mill operation.

Because of Washburn's roller mill, finer flour was produced and in 1880 the company won the "Gold Medal" in flour competition at the International Millers Exhibition in Cincinnati. The company adopted the name and since then Gold Medal Flour has been the national leader.

The origin of flour milling is buried in the unwritten history of mankind. It occurred long before any kind of pictorial or written record. When both wheat growing and flour processing were first mentioned in the records, they appeared to be ancient institutions.

THE FIRST man ate only meat, fish, berries and fruit. But he soon discovered grain and found that no plant food was more nourishing and satisfying.

Perhaps an old man, whose tired jaws just couldn't chew any longer first thought of breaking up the grains between two stones instead of grinding them with his teeth. Whoever started it, others decided to follow and learn more skilled techniques.

Man's first grinding tool was a stone grasped in the fist. Stones had been used for cracking nuts, as country boys do to this day; and for cracking large bones to get the marrow, and sometimes for cracking skulls of people. Why not for cracking little hard grains?

USING THESE simple stones, man discovered another advantage besides relieving aching jaw muscles. When handfuls of grain had been broken up it was possible to pick out and brush away many pieces of the harsh outer shell. The result was more palatable—a fascinating discovery. Harsher meal was ground again to make it more pleasant and eventually sieves were constructed out of stretched and pierced hides, or loosely woven grass baskets.

Thus was the beginning of the flour industry.

Eventually the roller mill was developed, enabling millers to take the hard winter wheat and gradually reduce it to fine granules. Using this tool, man increased the flour quality and flour yields from a given amount of wheat.

Since 1928 General Mills has been credited with many advancements in flour making improvement, including fortifying flour to improve its nutritional value, the development of a formula for "enriched" flour, and introduction of the Bellera "Air Spun" process.

The new Gold Medal Wondra brand of instantized flour was slated to reach the market shelves by the end of this month. (SH

Dairy Products Rich in Protein

Dairy foods serve as a primary source of nutrients in achieving this recommended nutritional balance among diets for people of all ages. For example, one-fifth of the calcium in the skeleton must be replaced each year, and dairy foods provide nearly two-thirds of the body's calcium requirements.

Over a fifth of the protein, essential for growth and repair of body tissue, is derived from dairy foods. In addition, animal protein obtained from dairy foods helps the body to assimilate vegetable protein. Besides calcium and protein, dairy foods are major suppliers of vitamins, especially vitamins A and B.

'Orchid of Flavors' Sweet Sister to Cake Goodness

THERE'S OLDTIME goodness in this picnic cake flavored with pure vanilla extract. It finds its way from the oven to a picnic-party with ease, and features an all-in-one process of batter and topping baked together. (SH

What's more fun than a picnic-party? Especially if someone's been smart enough to bring a homemade picnic cake-in-a-pan. Covered with a nut and chocolate shot topping, it's rich throughout with the orchid of flavors, vanilla. It's easy to make and even easier to eat, for this fine-textured cake can be eaten out-of-hand.

VANILLA PICNIC CAKE

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups dark brown sugar, firmly packed
¾ cup (1½ sticks) butter or margarine
1 cup milk
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
2 eggs, unbeaten
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped nuts
1/3 cup chocolate decorettes

Sift together the first 4 ingredients. Add butter or margarine and cut it in to fine crumb consistency. (Reserve 1 cup of this mixture for topping.) Stir milk and pure vanilla extract into the remaining crumbs. Beat in one egg at a time.

Beat until batter is smooth after each addition. Turn batter into a well-greased, lightly floured 9 x 9 x 2-inch cake pan. Cut the remaining butter or margarine into the remaining 1 cup coarse crumbs. Stir in nuts and chocolate decorettes. Sprinkle over batter.

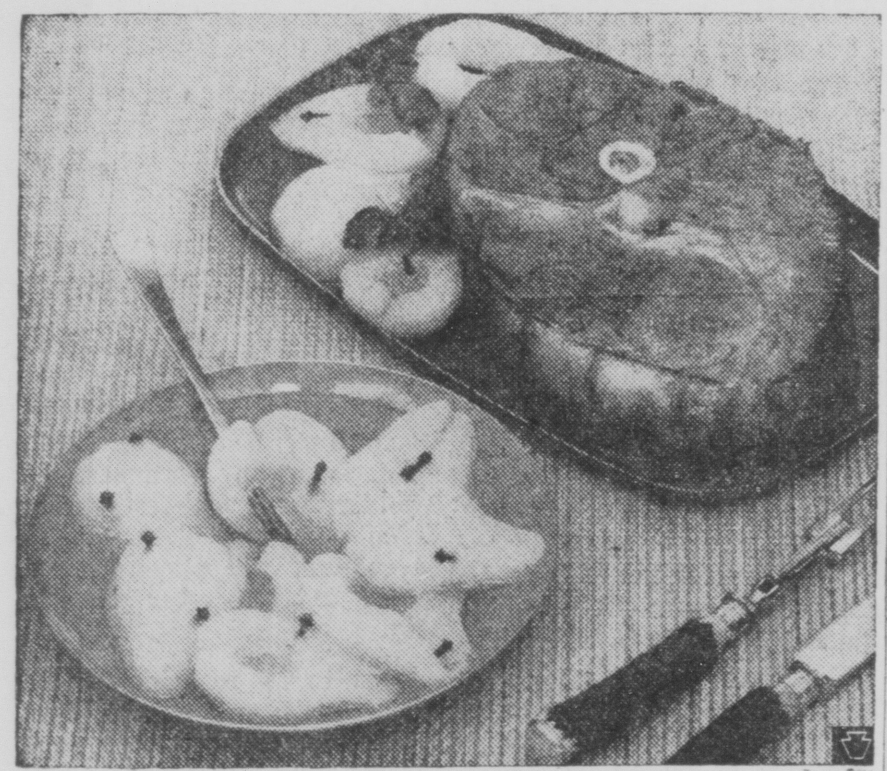
Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan. Serve cold. Yield: One 9-inch cake. (SH

Seasoning Steaks

A point to especially note when cooking steaks either in the broiler or on the outdoor grill is to season them after they have browned. Salt draws juices to the surface of the meat and would retard the browning.

Canned Meat Helpers 1-14 ital

Let the canned meats on your grocer's shelves help you in your summer kitchen duties. They are ready to serve in a jiffy, leaving you more leisure time to enjoy the outdoors. You'll be amazed at the varieties available, too.



DELICATELY SPICED fresh Bartlett pear halves complement a husky broiled slice of ham in this elegant, easy-to-fix main dish. Warm some rolls and toss a salad while the ham is broiling. With a made-ahead dessert, dinner's on the table in a jiffy.

California Bartlett pears are in some markets through October and even later. Buying tip: Select yellow-skinned pears to eat within a day or two. Green-skinned pears are fully mature and will be just as flavorful as those bought yellow-ripe if you store in a paper bag for a few days at room temperature.

HAM WITH SPICED PEARS

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
½ cup vinegar
1 stick (3 inches) cinnamon*
1 teaspoon whole cloves*
4 pieces (½ inch each) ginger root*
6 fresh California Bartlet pears
1 slice (2 lb.) center cut, ready-to-eat ham

Combine all ingredients except pears and ham in large saucepan; bring to boil. Pare, halve and core pears. Add to hot syrup and cook gently, turning occasionally, until fork-tender. Remove from heat. Cover and cool in syrup overnight. Brush ham with syrup. Broil, turning once and basting, to brown both sides. Stud pears with cloves and serve with ham. Makes 12 pear halves.

 Or ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon EACH ground cloves and ground ginger.

Milk Preferred

Americans drank an average of 129 quarts of milk in 1962, about the same as in 1961. Nutrition research and education programs, coordinated with advertising and other related promotion programs, have helped to maintain milk consumption levels.

School lunch and special milk programs have helped give young people a proper diet based on the basic four food groups. These programs have stimulated milk consumption across the nation.

Stuffed Tomatoes

A summer leftover idea combines diced cooked meat with diced celery and cooked peas. Moisten with mayonnaise. Chill and serve in tomato cups.

Milk Output

Dairy Farmers demonstrated the efficiency of American agriculture in 1962. From the smallest cow population on record, dairy producers obtained an all-time high milk output—125.8 billion pounds. Unfavorable weather conditions during 1962 in several of the leading dairy regions of the nation, made this production record all the more remarkable. (SH

The new "flour of the future" has resulted from long and extensive research culminating at the James Ford Bell Research Laboratories in Golden Valley, Minn.

IT WAS this interest in the betterment of the flour milling industry that prompted Washburn Crosby Company, General Mills' predecessor, to adopt a roller mill system similar to one being used at that time in Hungary. In the 1870's, the Washburn "C" mill in Minneapolis became the first automatic roller mill in the United States. Flour milling was transformed from a small grist mill basis to a great mill operation.

Because of Washburn's roller mill, finer flour was produced and in 1880 the company won the "Gold Medal" in flour competition at the International Millers Exhibition in Cincinnati. The company adopted the name and since then Gold Medal Flour has been the national leader.

The origin of flour milling is buried in the unwritten history of mankind. It occurred long before any kind of pictorial or written record. When both wheat growing and flour processing were first mentioned in the records, they appeared to be ancient institutions.

THE FIRST man ate only meat, fish, berries and fruit. But he soon discovered grain and found that no plant food was more nourishing and satisfying.

Perhaps an old man, whose tired jaws just couldn't chew any longer first thought of breaking up the grains between two stones instead of grinding them with his teeth. Whoever started it, others decided to follow and learn more skilled techniques.

Man's first grinding tool was a stone grasped in the fist. Stones had been used for cracking nuts, as country boys do to this day; and for cracking large bones to get the marrow, and sometimes for cracking skulls of people. Why not for cracking little hard grains?

USING THESE simple stones, man discovered another advantage besides relieving aching jaw muscles. When handfuls of grain had been broken up it was possible to pick out and brush away many pieces of the harsh outer shell. The result was more palatable—a fascinating discovery. Harsher meal was ground again to make it more pleasant and eventually sieves were constructed out of stretched and pierced hides, or loosely woven grass baskets.

Thus was the beginning of the flour industry.

Eventually the roller mill was developed, enabling millers to take the hard winter wheat and gradually reduce it to fine granules. Using this tool, man increased the flour quality and flour yields from a given amount of wheat.

Since 1928 General Mills has been credited with many advancements in flour making improvement, including fortifying flour to improve its nutritional value, the development of a formula for "enriched" flour, and introduction of the Bellera "Air Spun" process.

The new Gold Medal Wondra brand of instantized flour was slated to reach the market shelves by the end of this month. (SH

Dairy Products Rich in Protein

Dairy foods serve as a primary source of nutrients in achieving this recommended nutritional balance among diets for people of all ages. For example, one-fifth of the calcium in the skeleton must be replaced each year, and dairy foods provide nearly two-thirds of the body's calcium requirements.

Over a fifth of the protein, essential for growth and repair of body tissue, is derived from dairy foods. In addition, animal protein obtained from dairy foods helps the body to assimilate vegetable protein. Besides calcium and protein, dairy foods are major suppliers of vitamins, especially vitamins A and B.

Calls Many Campus Marriages 'Idiotic'

Today 60 per cent of our female students are dropping out before they finish their college training, some for purely scholastic reasons, but most because they are marrying at the age of 20 or less, or are involved in some kind of romantic entanglement.

"In an age when we find ourselves with an ever-increasing need for female brainpower, this loss is a serious one indeed," writes Martin Abramson for the Cosmopolitan Magazine in "Campus Romance: a Degree in Divorce."

"The fact that so many young women mistreat their obligations by confusing going-to-college with finding-a-husband can produce an atmosphere, on campus of a women's college, which seriously befogs the institution's immediate educational purpose and obscures the ultimate goal of women's education," says Dr. Thomas C. Mendenhall, the president of Smith College.

These marriages have been assailed as "idiotic" by Prof. William J. Goode, Columbia University sociologist, because the partners, while sexually mature, are emotionally immature and are stunting their intellectual growth.

PROOF THAT many campus marriages end in divorce is found in a study of a county which houses a representative American college — the University of Illinois. Norman W. Paget of the Child and Family Service found a startlingly high correlation of young marriages and divorces. Out of 364 couples granted divorces during the past year, 122 had married before the age of 20.

Sex codes have changed. Before World War II, the American college operated under a clearly defined code: premarital sex was not to be tolerated among the coeds, and any girl caught in a situation that suggested she had been having relations with a man was sent packing.

Now the campus has another code: one that proclaims that premarital sex is perfectly all right if the partners are in love.

DR. HERBERT H. Herskovitz a prominent Philadelphia Main Line psychoanalyst, points out that frequently it is the girl who initiates the sex activities. Dr. Winston Ehrmann made a study of sex habits among one thousand college students. He reports that between a quarter and a third of the time it was the girls who invited the intimacies.

How has this moral revolution come about? Judge Beatrice S. Burstein says, "Parents are so anxious for their children to be the belles of the ball they push them into early parties, early dating and situations they're not equipped emotionally to handle. They feel their children must be popular, otherwise they'll suffer a loss in status. But they don't seem to be aware they are playing with social dynamite."

The author suggests a solution requires a good deal of spade work, first on the part of parents who need to set better and firmer guide lines for their children to follow, and second on the part of the college administrators who should be doing a much better job of teaching students the implications of their sexual behavior rather than ducking the whole problem. 'Family in Crisis' Is Lecture Series Subject

Northwest Suburban family doctors, pediatricians and other physicians are invited to attend a series of scientific lectures, beginning Tuesday evening, Sept. 10, to hear nationally famous psychiatrists, sociologists and anthropologists discuss the "American Family in Crisis" at Forest Hospital, Des Plaines.

Dr. Talcott Parsons, one of America's leading sociologists, will open the series, which will extend through June of 1964.

The changing roles of family members, the swift decline in parental authority and control, and the effect such changes have upon the spread of mental illness will be the general topic of the lectures, it was announced.

THE FAMILY physician, or pediatrician is in a strategic position to detect emerging psychological disorders, according to Dr. Hyman Muslin, director of service in psychiatry at the Neuropsychiatric Institute, Chicago, and chairman of the Forest Hospital's new lecture series. "We are, therefore, especially eager for the doctors generally to join us in these discussions," Dr. Muslin stated.

The lectures and discussions, he explained, will be in the nature of an investigation into changing family life with special reference to psychological disorders which, in the opinion of many authorities, can be traced to "America's domestic revolution."

"Previously, the family was the arena for the dispensation of authority and control by the father," Dr. Muslin said. "This is no longer the case. The family has become, it would seem, only a meeting place for its members to share common interests. This radical change is not necessarily bad, but it is a change. American society has not caught up with it. Consequently, one detects what appears to be new and serious flaws in the moral make up of the American people. From the point of view of the clinician, there is no doubt but that pathology can be traced, in part, to this change. Moral rules are not being passed on, and the old fashioned standards of the father are not necessarily acceptable to the children."

OTHER SPEAKERS in the series include Dr. Ray L. Birdwhistell, professor of research in anthropology, Temple University Medical Center, Philadelphia (Wednesday evening, Oct. 9); Dr. Charlotte Babcock, professor of psychiatry, University of Pittsburgh (Nov. 13); Dr. Martin Grotjahn, clinical professor of psychiatry, University of Southern California (Jan. 8); Dr. Jules Henry, professor of sociology and anthropology, Washington University, St. Louis (Feb. 12); Dr. Erich Lindemann, professor of psychiatry, Harvard University and chairman of the department of psychiatry, Massachutsetts General Hospital (March 11); Dr. Theodore Lidz, professor of psychiatry, Yale University, School of Medicine (April 8) and Virginia Satir, ACSW, who will speak on June 10.

All lectures begin at eight p.m.

The Forest Hospital series is held annually as a professional educational service for Chicago-area psychiatrists and other mental health workers. No talks will be held in December or May. (S

Concordia Pair to Teach School in East Detroit

Community Camera (S

Two graduates of Concordia Teachers College in River Forest will be teaching at the same school in East Detroit this coming school term. They are the former Miss Gay Vogel, daughter of the Norman A. Vogels of 620 Echo Lane, Palatine, and David Traester, son of Mrs. Fred Traester, Grand Rapids.

On Aug. 3 they repeated wedding vows in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Palatine, at 7:30 p.m. The double ring rites were beautified with candelabra, daisies, white and yellow mums, and bows on the pews.

Officiating the service was Rev. Guy A. Vogel of Gregory, S. D., brother of the bride. Three hymns were sung by the congregation. Organ accompanist, Mrs. Sharon Stude, a classmate of the bride's, also played "Solemn Processional" and "Trumpet Voluntary."

MISS VOGEL chose a gown of dotted swiss over taffeta, designed with fitted bodice, three-quarter-length sleeevs and scalloped neckline, which had a lace and crystal bead trim. The bouffant skirt was accentuated by a bow at the back of the waist, and the fingertip veil and crown of seed pearls and sequins was a "borrowed item," provided by the bride's sister. Flowers were white shasta mums with yellow centers in Colonial style.

Carrying similar bouquets of yellow and white daisies were Mrs. Lee Kolzow of Chicago, who served her sister of matron of honor; and bridesmaids, Rosemarie Humphreys, Palatine; and two college classmates: Mary Beth Hasz from Colby, Wis. and Joanne Dull of Fort Wayne. Their gowns were fashioned from yellow dacron dotted swiss over taffeta.

A basket of yellow daisies was carried by Christine Traester of Grand Rapids; the flowers matched the 5-year-old's yellow taffeta dress with white dotted swiss pinafore. Cymbidium corsages were worn by both mothers. Mrs. Vogel selected a beige linen sheath and the groom's mother was attired in a blue silk ensemble.

The Rev. L. Grooters of Grand Rapids was best man. Ushers were Richard Winterstein of Round Lake; Paul Gruetzmacher, Pittsburgh; and David Kolzow, Chicago.

TWO-HUNDRED guests joined the newlyweds at their reception hosted at the Vogel home following the nuptials, after which the new Mr. and Mrs. Traester left for a two-week honeymoon in Northern Michigan.

Mr. Traester is an eighth grade teacher at St. Peter Lutheran School in East Detroit. This Fall his wife will join the teaching staff there instructing the fourth grade. The bride completed her earlier education at Palatine High School.

Garden Reception Follows Dinah Haynes' Wedding

A garden reception for 175 guests at the home of the bride followed the July 20 wedding of Miss Dinah Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Haynes of Mount Prospect, and John D. O'Brien, son of the Edward P. O'Briens of Venetian Village, Lake Villa.

The 5:30 p. m. double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Norman Herbert in the Community Presbyterian Church of Mount Prospect. The bride, gowned in a floor-length sheath of white silk linen, was escorted to the white-flowered candlelit altar by her father. Her attire was accented with a matching pillbox hat, imported silk fingertip veil, and a white bridal bouquet.

Preceding the bride were Mrs. Gay Smith, matron of honor from Arlington, Va., and the bridesmaids, the bride's two sisters, were Mrs. Susan Opdahl of DeKalb and Jessie of Mount Prospect, and Miss Karen Hazzared of Pecatonica, Ill.

PALE GREEN dresses with matching slippers and pillbox hats were worn by the bridesmaids and matron of honor, who carried white bouquets to complete their costumes.

Patrick O'Brien was his brother's best man and ushers were Gary Parisi, formerly of Villa Park, Donald Fechtner of Libertyville and a fraternity brother, Lenard Swenson of Chicago. cago.

A flowered silk dress was chosen by the bride's mother and Mrs. O'Brien was attired in a pale green satin brocade dress with matching jacket. Both had white accessories and white orchid corsages.

Both graduates of Northern Illinois University at DeKalb, the newlyweds will make their home in Bloomington, Ind., where Mr. O'Brien is doing graduate work in business administration at Indiana University.

Schaumburg Juniors' Dance, 'Round Up Time,' is Sept. 14

PRETTY COWGIRLS SUCH AS Mrs. David Mielke, Mrs. Raymond Kessell and Mrs. Robert Connell will greet guests in ordic Hills Country Club Sept. 14 when Schaumburg Junior Woman's Club stages a "Round Up Time" dance. Proceeds of the affair will go to local charities.

"Round Up Time," a dance presented by Schaumburg Junior Woman's Club, will be held Saturday, Sept. 14, at the rustic Nordic Hills Country Club. The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. with tickets available at the door.

Eighteen club members will be on duty at the club as hostesses, wearing short cowgirl costumes, and husbands of members will be working at the game tables attired in Western shirts and hats and carrying guns.

AT THE tables will be William Archbold, John Brandenburg, Robert Burke, Robert Connell, Donald Flynn, Donald Frostholm, Raymond Kessell, James King, Joseph Martino, David Mielke, John Nelson, Leonard Newendorp, Keith Paul, Leo Pacil, Gerald Rodway, Donald Sherman, Dalton Ulmer and Kenneth Wollenberg.

Music will be provided by Peter Petten from 9:30 to 1 a.m., after which prizes, donated by local merchants, will be distributed. Proceeds of the affair will go to local charities. (S

Comfort Is Vital In a New Mattress

In shopping for a mattress, start by looking for comfort to suit the sleeper, advises K. Virginia Seidel, University of Illinois extension home furnishings specialist.

To test comfort, she recommends that the person or persons who will use the bed stretch out on the mattress. This test gives a more realistic picture than merely pinching or sitting on the mattress.

Miss Seidel points out these other considerations in selecting mattresses:

Comfort depends in part on the firmness of the mattress. How firm it should be is a matter of personal preference.

A GOOD mattress is level and resilient, with evenly distributed support. By law it must be labeled with a description of all materials used in it.

The extra-large mattresses once sold only on custom order are now widely available. Measurements of these extra-large sizes such as "king," "queen," "extra-length" and "long boys," frequently vary with the brand. While these mattresses may offer added comfort, they may create a space problem in small bedrooms. Also the extra-large mattresses take extra-large sheets.

Finally, consider the mattress and springs as a unit. Each item depends on the other for top effectiveness. (S

The extra-large mattresses once sold only on custom order are now widely available. Measurements of these extra-large sizes such as "king," "queen," "extra-length" and "long boys," frequently vary with the brand. While these mattresses may offer added comfort, they may create a space problem in small bedrooms. Also the extra-large mattresses take extra-large sheets.

Finally, consider the mattress and springs as a unit. Each item depends on the other for top effectiveness. (S

Notre Dame Moms Plan Bridge-Fest

The Mother's Club of Notre Dame High School for Boys, Niles, is making arrangements for its annual bridge-fest, during which groups of eight, singles or couples, will play once a month from October through May.

Open to all residents of the area, couples will play the first Thursday evening of each month; time is flexible for other groups. Further details will appear in a later issue of this newspaper. (S

Scallop Tango Provides Cookout 'Change of Pace'

For that Labor Day cookout, Capered Scallop Tango will provide a dramatic change of pace for your guests who usually associate an outdoor barbecue with steaks, chicken, hamburger or hot dogs.

These scallops barbecue to tender perfection within a crisp and crusty coating. Served piping hot, their delicate seafood flavor is complemented by a cool, unusual tangy caper sauce prepared especially for this tasty dish.

The recipe for Capered Scallop Tango was devised by Louis J. Bartachek, Belle Plaine, Iowa, for Kaiser Foil's Cookout Championship held recently in Hawaii.

IN THE FINALS of this national barbecue competition "for men only," Bartachek prepared his marinated scallops with three coatings: one of flour, one of egg-and-milk, and one of buscuit mix and wheat germ blended. This tender coating produced the beautiful golden-brown crust which made the recipe so outstanding.

To protect the scallops from over-browning, Bartachek grilled them on a sheet of well-oiled foil laid directly on the grill.

GUESTS AT LABOR DAY COOKOUT will be delighted with your change-of-pace menu featuring Capered Scallop Tango. Spiced sauce, cool and tangy, will compliment flavor of delicate seafood.

CAPERED SCALLOP TANGO
(Serves 6)

2 lbs. scallops
½ cup French dressing
2 eggs, beaten
3 tablespoons milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup biscuit mix
⅓ cup wheat germ
½ cup flour
Cooking Oil
Quilted Foil, 14-inch heavy duty

Thaw scallops, if frozen. Place in flat dish and pour French dressing over. Let stand in refrigerator about 2 hours, turning occasionally. Combine eggs, milk and salt. Blend biscuit mix and wheat germ.

Remove scallops from marinade, roll in flour, then in egg mixture. Drain well. Roll in biscuit mixture. Place on well-oiled sheet of quilted foil and let stand for 10 minutes to set coating.

Grill scallops on the same foil until tender and brown, about 30 minutes. Turn often to avoid burning. Serve with sauce below.

TANGY CAPER SAUCE

Combine:
1 cup mayonnaise
¼ cup pineapple juice
½ cup chopped stuffed olives
2 tablespoons capers
1 teaspoon horseradish.
Mix well.

Here Are Tips on New Kitchen Counter

One of the most common steps in remodeling kitchens and bathrooms is the installation of a new counter surface.

Selection of counter surfacing depends upon the intended use of the counter, cost, installation problems, and the compatibility o fthe material with surrounding colors and textures.

The most satisfactory counter tops are those made to size as a complete unit, including counter material, backing, edging, and backsplash if the counter's use makes the latter desirable.

With the exception of laminated hardwood, counter materials are not self-supporting and require a backing. This backing is usually of exterior-type plywood. For all materials except ceramic tile, which must be set in place on the job, the backing is best affixed in a shop or factory where special equipment is available for making surfaces smooth and joints accurate.

THE FEWER joints there are in a counter surface, the better. Unless two pieces of material are well joined, the crack between them is difficult to keep clean and free from moisture. This is particularly important in kitchens and bathrooms.

If a counter top is not made of a continuous seet of material, the butt joint between the sheets should be so tight that there is no crevice or need for metal divider strips.

A continuous coved backsplash is preferred to a backsplash which requires a metal strip to conceal the joint between the counter top and the backsplash. Linoleum, vinyl, and some of the plastic laminates are flexible enough to permit coved backsplashes to be formed on the job. Molded backsplashes can be purchased in most of the other common counter materials.

THE FRONT and side edges of a counter are best finished with the surfacing material itself or with strips of stainless steel or chromium-plated metal. Care must be taken with metal stripping to avoid rough edges, particularly at corners. As a general rule, edging which is molded or applied at the shop is the most satisfactory, since tools to do the best job are available there.

For a listing of common counter top materials, along with their desirable characteristics and limitations, send 15 cents plus tax for Circular F9.1, "Counter Surfaces," to the University of Illinois, Small Homes Council - Building Research Council, Mumford House, Urbana, Illinois, 61803. (S

Countryside Sets Autumn Coffee, Sale

Clear skies and balmy weather are on order for Wednesday, Sept. 18, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This is the time and date set for the Autumn Harvest Coffee and Sale sponsored by the Countryside Farm School Auxiliary for Retarded Children to be held at the Barrington home of Mrs. B. J. Grigsby, 125 Buckley Road.

Offered for sale, in addition to bakery goods, will be handmade items of all kinds and an exciting array of good-as-new jewelry and knick knacks as well as many other items, revealed Mrs. Charles Motter, president of the auxiliary.

The school is located at Shirley and Plum Grove Roads, Palatine. (S

Nutrition at Best

Good taste and good nutrition are two reasons why the American consumer likes dairy foods. Increased public knowledge of nutrition and its importance in human health account for remarkable recent gains in the per capita consumption of cheese, ice cream, fluid non-fat and low fat milk, and strong acceptance of other dairy products. (SH

Ice Cream Popular

Ice cream and other frozen dairy foods are year in and year out favorite foods, with total consumption during 1962 at the all time high of 20 quarts per person, first recorded in 1959. Try Beef Short Ribs on Grill

All whose food budgets are feeling the pinch due to the many outdoor cookery feasts take note!

Beef short ribs, a low-priced meat cut, can be adapted to the charcoal grill. Just try this idea and see if all, including the budget, won't be impressed!

SINCE SHORT ribs are a less-tender beef cut, they shouldn't be cooked over the coals for the total time. Reba Staggs, expert on meat cookery, suggests this method: First braise the meat on your range in a tightly covered utensil. In the meantime start the fire so that the charcoal will be covered with a light gray ash when cooking begins.

When nearly tender, place the short ribs on the grill and brush them with your favorite barbecue sauce. Let the meat grill slowly to take on that delicious flavor.

BARBECUED SHORT RIBS
3 pounds beef short ribs
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup water
Barbecue Sauce

Brown short ribs in own fat. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and add water. Cover tightly and cook slowly about 1½ hours, or until almost tender. Place on grill 3 to 5 inches from glowing coals and brush with barbecue sauce.

Turn occasionally, brushing with additional barbecue sauce. Grill 30 to 45 minutes, or until done. 4 servings. (SH

Ham Joins Corn Bread

A HAM SANDWICH, Southern-style, gives you a jiffy, warm serving for lunchtime. Rather than regular bread beneath the ham, wholesome corn bread is used. (SH

In the midst of the celebrated August Sandwich Month, a specialty of the South comes into focus. It's an open-faced sandwich spotlighting two foods well known to southern cooks—ham and corn bread.

SOMETHING out of the ordinary in sandwiches, this hot and hearty treat reveals meaty slices of cooked ham perched upon corn bread squares and topped with a mushroom—green pea sauce.

The corn bread you'll prepare with ease from a handy packaged mix, and the sauce is ready in a jiffy, thanks to a can of condensed mushroom soup. Reba Staggs, meat expert, suggests this sandwich either as a leftover idea or for making from fully-cooked or canned ham.

Southern Ham Sandwich
8 slices cooked ham
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed mushroom soup
¼ cup milk
¼ teaspoon onion juice or onion powder
¾ cup cooked peas
4 corn bread squares (about 4x4 inches), split in half

Warm ham slices. Mix together mushroom soup, milk and onion juice or onion powder. Add peas and heat thoroughly. Top each corn bread square with a slice of ham.

Spoon mushroom soup mixture over ham, allowing about ¼ cup for each sandwich. 8 servings. (SH

Scallop Tango Provides Cookout 'Change of Pace'

For that Labor Day cookout, Capered Scallop Tango will provide a dramatic change of pace for your guests who usually associate an outdoor barbecue with steaks, chicken, hamburger or hot dogs.

These scallops barbecue to tender perfection within a crisp and crusty coating. Served piping hot, their delicate seafood flavor is complemented by a cool, unusual tangy caper sauce prepared especially for this tasty dish.

The recipe for Capered Scallop Tango was devised by Louis J. Bartachek, Belle Plaine, Iowa, for Kaiser Foil's Cookout Championship held recently in Hawaii.

IN THE FINALS of this national barbecue competition "for men only," Bartachek prepared his marinated scallops with three coatings: one of flour, one of egg-and-milk, and one of buscuit mix and wheat germ blended. This tender coating produced the beautiful golden-brown crust which made the recipe so outstanding.

To protect the scallops from over-browning, Bartachek grilled them on a sheet of well-oiled foil laid directly on the grill.

GUESTS AT LABOR DAY COOKOUT will be delighted with your change-of-pace menu featuring Capered Scallop Tango. Spiced sauce, cool and tangy, will compliment flavor of delicate seafood.

CAPERED SCALLOP TANGO
(Serves 6)

- 2 lbs. scallops
- ½ cup French dressing
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 3 tablespoons milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup biscuit mix
- ⅓ cup wheat germ
- ½ cup flour
- Cooking Oil
- Quilted Foil, 14-inch heavy duty

Thaw scallops, if frozen. Place in flat dish and pour French dressing over. Let stand in refrigerator about 2 hours, turning occasionally. Combine eggs, milk and salt. Blend biscuit mix and wheat germ.

Remove scallops from marinade, roll in flour, then in egg mixture. Drain well. Roll in biscuit mixture. Place on well-oiled sheet of quilted foil and let stand for 10 minutes to set coating.

Grill scallops on the same foil until tender and brown, about 30 minutes. Turn often to avoid burning. Serve with sauce below.

TANGY CAPER SAUCE

Combine:

- 1 cup mayonnaise
- ¼ cup pineapple juice
- ½ cup chopped stuffed olives
- 2 tablespoons capers
- 1 teaspoon horseradish.

Mix well.

Here Are Tips on New Kitchen Counter

One of the most common steps in remodeling kitchens and bathrooms is the installation of a new counter surface.

Selection of counter surfacing depends upon the intended use of the counter, cost, installation problems, and the compatibility o fthe material with surrounding colors and textures.

The most satisfactory counter tops are those made to size as a complete unit, including counter material, backing, edging, and backsplash if the counter's use makes the latter desirable.

With the exception of laminated hardwood, counter materials are not self-supporting and require a backing. This backing is usually of exterior-type plywood. For all materials except ceramic tile, which must be set in place on the job, the backing is best affixed in a shop or factory where special equipment is available for making surfaces smooth and joints accurate.

THE FEWER joints there are in a counter surface, the better. Unless two pieces of material are well joined, the crack between them is difficult to keep clean and free from moisture. This is particularly important in kitchens and bathrooms.

If a counter top is not made of a continuous seet of material, the butt joint between the sheets should be so tight that there is no crevice or need for metal divider strips.

A continuous coved backsplash is preferred to a backsplash which requires a metal strip to conceal the joint between the counter top and the backsplash. Linoleum, vinyl, and some of the plastic laminates are flexible enough to permit coved backsplashes to be formed on the job. Molded backsplashes can be purchased in most of the other common counter materials.

THE FRONT and side edges of a counter are best finished with the surfacing material itself or with strips of stainless steel or chromium-plated metal. Care must be taken with metal stripping to avoid rough edges, particularly at corners. As a general rule, edging which is molded or applied at the shop is the most satisfactory, since tools to do the best job are available there.

For a listing of common counter top materials, along with their desirable characteristics and limitations, send 15 cents plus tax for Circular F9.1, "Counter Surfaces," to the University of Illinois, Small Homes Council - Building Research Council, Mumford House, Urbana, Illinois, 61803. (S

Clear skies and balmy weather are on order for Wednesday, Sept. 18, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. This is the time and date set for the Autumn Harvest Coffee and Sale sponsored by the Countryside Farm School Auxiliary for Retarded Children to be held at the Barrington home of Mrs. B. J. Grigsby, 125 Buckley Road.

Offered for sale, in addition to bakery goods, will be handmade items of all kinds and an exciting array of good-as-new jewelry and knick knacks as well as many other items, revealed Mrs. Charles Motter, president of the auxiliary.

The school is located at Shirley and Plum Grove Roads, Palatine. (S

Nutrition at Best

Good taste and good nutrition are two reasons why the American consumer likes dairy foods. Increased public knowledge of nutrition and its importance in human health account for remarkable recent gains in the per capita consumption of cheese, ice cream, fluid non-fat and low fat milk, and strong acceptance of other dairy products. Historic Little Long Grove Church, Setting for Susan Kline's Wedding

Susan Lorraine Kline and Warren Thomas Ellsworth were married Aug. 3 in the historic little Long Grove Community Church. The New England simplicity of the building, which dates back to 1846, keynoted the quiet simplicity of the entire wedding, and formed an appropriate setting for the four o'clock double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Alfred Williams.

Given in marriage by her father, Susan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kline of Hawthorn Woods, wore candlelight ivory Moygashel linen for her marriage to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ellsworth of Shaker Heights, Heights, Ohio.

HER GOWN, made for her wedding by her mother, was banded in wide heavy lace which also outlined the below-elbow sleeves and the paneled watteau train. Made of the same linen and lace was the bride's tiny pill-box hat with its shoulder length ivory illusion veil. Her flowers were yellow and white roses and ivy.

Tall white lighted tapers and white daisies and gladioli in a long, low arrangement decorated the small chancel where Susan's brother, Henry, sang "Still As the Night" to an organ accompaniment. The church bell in the steeple peeled as the bride entered the church, to the music of Purcell's "Trumpet Tune," and again as the wedded couple left as the organist, Mrs. James Korbelik, played "Trumpet Voluntary."

DRESSES worn by the young women in the bridal party were also of linen, keyed to the midsummer wedding color theme of soft yellow and green. Maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Wren, returned from a summer in Mexico two days earlier. Bridesmaids were Frances Perry, Janet Daum, Kay Hilfert, who like Wren were Lawrence College classmates of Susan's, and her cousin, Lynda Kline of Mount Prospect.

Their yellow afternoon dresses fashioned with short sleeves and A-line skirts were trimmed in narrow matching fringe. All wore rings of ivy in their hair and carried yellow and white daisies and ivy.

Made of Capri olive linen was Mrs. Kline's sheath dress which included a short matching lace bolero. Her small pill-box hat was of chiffon in the same shade. She wore a white phalaenopsis orchid corsage, while the groom's mother wore pale green cymbidium orchids on her deeper green gown of silk peau, a sheath with overskirt. Her small hat was of palest beige feathers.

MR. ELLSWORTH'S best man was J. William Louy, childhood friend from Shaker Heights. Serving as an usher as well as soloist was Henry Kline. Other ushers were the bride's cousin, James Mott from Mount Prospect, and Harry "Rick" Edel from Chatham, N. J., and William Leeson of Barrington, Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity brothers of the groom's from Lawrence.

Following the ceremony a receiving line formed on the lawn overlooking the tiny lake at the Klines' home, decorated with yellow and white flowers, and a buffet supper was served from the porch to 110 guests who dined outdoors in perfect weather.

Significant was the handsome gold bow-knot pin, gift of her bridegroom, which Susa nwore on her tailored madras going-away suit as the couple left for a 2-week honeymoon which took them first to Miami. From there they flew to Bimini in the Bahamas, where they boarded a windjammer ship for a 10-day cruise of the islands with a 2-day stopover in Nassau, where the newlyweds in Nassau, where Carleton House.

RETURNING, THE couple flew to Tampa where the bride was introduced to Warren's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graffe.

The groom's parents hosted the bridal dinner Aug. 2 at Farman's Hotel in Lake Zurich, and on the wedding day, out-of-town guests and the bridal party were served brunch at the Mount Prospect home of the bride's aunt and uncle, the William T. Motts.

Susan, who formerly lived in Mount Prospect, attended Arlington High School one year and graduated from Ela-Vernon High School. She and Warren are both graduates of Lawrence College. They are now at home at 1534 N. 14th St., Sheboygan, Wis., where Warren returns to his teaching post at North High School and Susan will teach English at South High School. (S

Arlington Families United By Scott-Johann Nuptials

Two Arlington Heights families were joined July 27 when Nancy C. Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Graves, 910 S. Dunton, became Mrs. Robert A. Johann in a 3 o'clock double ring ceremony performed by Fr. Dougherty. The bridegroom is the son of the Norbert Baskets of white carnations and glads decorated St. James Catholic Church in Arlington Heights where Miss Scott approached the altar wearing a white full-length gown of silk organza over taffeta. Fashioned with long sleeves, fitted bodice and heart-shaped neckline, the bride's dress had accents of lace and seed pearls. An imported veil of silk illusion, held in place with a juliette cap of silk organza and pearls, completed her ensemble and she carried a bouquet of white carnations with a center of pink sweetheart roses.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Robert Kyska of Arlington Heights, as matron of honor. Although the dress of the matron of honor was in a copen blue, and those of the bridesmaids, Jane Johann and Lois Raupp, sisters of the groom, were in light blue, all were in a similar style in silk organza over taffeta.

THREE-YEAR-old Kelli Kyska of Arlington Heights, attired similarly to the bridesmaids, was her aunt's flower girl.

A blue silk organza dress with matching accessories and a white rose corsage was chosen by Mrs. Graves for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Raupp wore a beige chiffon dress accented with mink colored accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Bill Johann was his brother's best man and ushers were Tom Firnbach of Arlington Heights and another brother, Edward Johann.

ONE HUNDRED fifty guests attended the buffet held at The Colt in Arlington Heights, after which the newlyweds left for a few days' honeymoon in the Wisconsin Dells.

The new Mrs. Johann, a graduate of Arlington High, is employed at Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan and her husband, an employee of Brake Align in Arlington Heights, is a graduate of Springfield High School. (S

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

A Jolly Junior High Party Helps Girls Get Acquainted

By Dolores Haugh

If you are blessed with a girl who is starting Junior High, you can make this quite an event by having a Jolly Junior High Party. This is not only for fun but you will enable her to meet and get acquainted with her classmates as well as meeting them for yourself. At this age, of course, it will be an all girl party and so plan for giggles and silly noises galore.

INVITATIONS—

Using the school colors, make up invitations. We have chosen blue and white, and Central for the School. Cut out or purchase, if available, pennant stickers bearing the school name. Or make the invitation yourself out of velour paper in deep blue and add a large white "C" or initial of the chosen school. Make it double fold or mount it on plain white stationery and write the following inside:

There comes a time of life, my dear,

And it happens to be that time of year,

When grammar school is a thing of the past

And Junior High means friends that last.

So lets get together at the time we state,

We've planned it early so don't be late.

State time, and do make it early enough for dinner; place, private enough for dancing in socks and soundproof for giggles mentioned above and see to it transportation home is provided by yourself or other parents. No going home alone at this age.

DECORATIONS—

Since most of the football season will be starting, decorate the table with a dark blue cloth, white plates, napkins and centerpiece of white mums with letters of velour in blue spelling out the school name. Mount these in the center of each flower with thin wires taped to the paper letters. Criss cross pompoms, one for each guest for future use at school games, to surround the centerpieces, and act as take home favors.

Add blue tapers if you are sure they will be safe or use them but do not light them unless you supervise.

Pleat napkins and fasten to blue ribbon. Serve sit down or buffet style, the latter being more desirable for floor sitters. Have the gals park their shoes at the door and be sure you mention on the invitations to wear heavy socks for floor polishing dancing later.

MENU—

Mark with pennants the dishes selected and name all dishes. Junior High Sandwiches, built to order, using hot rolls sliced lengthwise provide the makings and let each gal make her own. Hot potato salad, jello, relishes, a cake baked in the initial of the school; this is done by making your favorite cake and then cutting it in strips and arranging them into the letter, frost in white and place on blue paper, preferably a shiny finish shelf paper.

Lots of coke, popcorn, apple-taffies and snackies for later on and the menu will fill the fancy of any junior miss.

ENTERTAINMENT—

Since most of these gals are new to the school they will want to learn a lot, such as cheers for the team, what to wear to class and who's who with teachers, so have a special guest who is an old hand at the school such as an older sister of a guest or even an old high school student friend of the family.

Records and gabbing will be the entertainment finishing up with some singing and dancing. And with Junior High gals, who needs entertainment? So let the gals mingle, the cokes tinkle and the guests will long remember this Jolly Junior High Party. (S

Historic Little Long Grove Church, Setting for Susan Kline's Wedding

Susan Lorraine Kline and Warren Thomas Ellsworth were married Aug. 3 in the historic little Long Grove Community Church. The New England simplicity of the building, which dates back to 1846, keynoted the quiet simplicity of the entire wedding, and formed an appropriate setting for the four o'clock double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Alfred Williams.

Given in marriage by her father, Susan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kline of Hawthorn Woods, wore candlelight ivory Moygashel linen for her marriage to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ellsworth of Shaker Heights, Heights, Ohio.

HER GOWN, made for her wedding by her mother, was banded in wide heavy lace which also outlined the below-elbow sleeves and the paneled watteau train. Made of the same linen and lace was the bride's tiny pill-box hat with its shoulder length ivory illusion veil. Her flowers were yellow and white roses and ivy.

Tall white lighted tapers and white daisies and gladioli in a long, low arrangement decorated the small chancel where Susan's brother, Henry, sang "Still As the Night" to an organ accompaniment. The church bell in the steeple peeled as the bride entered the church, to the music of Purcell's "Trumpet Tune," and again as the wedded couple left as the organist, Mrs. James Korbelik, played "Trumpet Voluntary."

DRESSES worn by the young women in the bridal party were also of linen, keyed to the midsummer wedding color theme of soft yellow and green. Maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Wren, returned from a summer in Mexico two days earlier. Bridesmaids were Frances Perry, Janet Daum, Kay Hilfert, who like Wren were Lawrence College classmates of Susan's, and her cousin, Lynda Kline of Mount Prospect.

Their yellow afternoon dresses fashioned with short sleeves and A-line skirts were trimmed in narrow matching fringe. All wore rings of ivy in their hair and carried yellow and white daisies and ivy.

Made of Capri olive linen was Mrs. Kline's sheath dress which included a short matching lace bolero. Her small pill-box hat was of chiffon in the same shade. She wore a white phalaenopsis orchid corsage, while the groom's mother wore pale green cymbidium orchids on her deeper green gown of silk peau, a sheath with overskirt. Her small hat was of palest beige feathers.

MR. ELLSWORTH'S best man was J. William Louy, childhood friend from Shaker Heights. Serving as an usher as well as soloist was Henry Kline. Other ushers were the bride's cousin, James Mott from Mount Prospect, and Harry "Rick" Edel from Chatham, N. J., and William Leeson of Barrington, Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity brothers of the groom's from Lawrence.

Following the ceremony a receiving line formed on the lawn overlooking the tiny lake at the Klines' home, decorated with yellow and white flowers, and a buffet supper was served from the porch to 110 guests who dined outdoors in perfect weather.

Significant was the handsome gold bow-knot pin, gift of her bridegroom, which Susa nwore on her tailored madras going-away suit as the couple left for a 2-week honeymoon which took them first to Miami. From there they flew to Bimini in the Bahamas, where they boarded a windjammer ship for a 10-day cruise of the islands with a 2-day stopover in Nassau, where the newlyweds in Nassau, where Carleton House.

RETURNING, THE couple flew to Tampa where the bride was introduced to Warren's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graffe.

The groom's parents hosted the bridal dinner Aug. 2 at Farman's Hotel in Lake Zurich, and on the wedding day, out-of-town guests and the bridal party were served brunch at the Mount Prospect home of the bride's aunt and uncle, the William T. Motts.

Susan, who formerly lived in Mount Prospect, attended Arlington High School one year and graduated from Ela-Vernon High School. She and Warren are both graduates of Lawrence College. They are now at home at 1534 N. 14th St., Sheboygan, Wis., where Warren returns to his teaching post at North High School and Susan will teach English at South High School. (S

Former Bakery Owner Retires to Own Kitchen

Foods from Abroad, Home Tempt 'Hubby'

by LOIS SEILER

Necessity prompted Mrs. Fred Petke to devise an appealing salad recipe. Her husband's special diet called for such foods as jello and cottage cheese, so this enterprising cook simply beat some partially thickened lime jello, folded in cottage cheese and crushed pineapple and turned it into a mold. The result: a salad both nutritious and delicious.

Several of Mrs. Petke's favorite recipes are European in origin and were used by her family in Germany for years. Although born in Chicago, Mrs. Petke spent her childhood in Germany, returning to the United States at the age of 18. She and her husband owned and operated bakeries in Chicago for 15 years, and while Mr. Petke is still employed as a baker, Mrs. Petke retired from the business two years ago and is enjoying spending her time in her own kitchen and garden.

Her German mother often made the interesting and unusual sour cream bean soup which is now a specialty in the Petke household. Mrs. Petke grows her own garden beans especially for this tasty soup. It combines such ingredients as ground round steak, beans, onions and potatoes which are cooked together until the vegetables are tender. Sour cream is folded in, and the soup may be served either hot or cold.

"Because it contains both meat and vegetables, this soup can be served as a complete meal," Mrs. Petke said. She usually accompanies it with garlic bread or rolls.

SOUR CREAM is also used in the cucumber salad which this good cook makes often during the summer months. She sprinkles cucumbers and onions heavily with salt, squeezes out the juices and mixes them with sour cream and chives. This old-time German salad is especially appealing with steaks as well as any number of other summertime meals.

Popular in Germany as well as America is another of this good cook's recipes. It is a delightful and refreshing dessert called Whipped Cream Delight.

"I've been making this recipe for years and years," Mrs. Petke said, "and it is very easy to put together."

The dessert calls for crushed pineapple, bananas, orange segments, miniature marshmallows and broken angel food cake or macaroons folded into whipped cream. Refrigerated until ready to use, this dessert is served topped with maraschino cherries.

Mr. and Mrs. Petke live at 913 Na-Wa-Ta in Mount Prospect. They have a son, Alfred, who is an engineering student, two married daughters, Mrs. Thomas Lytle and Mrs. Bernard Zimmer, and one grandchild.

Skillet Dish With Sausage

Looking for skillet entrees to serve for supper during the hot months? Your kitchen will stay cooler than if an oven entree were prepared.

THIS PARTICULAR skillet dish is a joy to eat as well as to cook. The meat is spicy pork sausage links and the sauce adapts a flavor from the cookery of the New Orleans region. Basically a zesty Creole sauce, it blends green pepper, onion, celery, canned tomato sauce and seasonings.

Serve pork sausage links on a mound of white rice, add a tossed salad and rolls, and your main course is complete.

Sausage links will remain plump and juicy when cooked slowly, covered in a small amount of water and then uncovered and browned.

PORK SAUSAGE LINKS— NEW ORLEANS

1½ pounds pork sausage links
2 tablespoons water
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 cup water
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green peper
½ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon savory
3 cups cooked rice

Place sausage links and 2 tablespoons water in cold frying pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Remove cover and brown links. Remove links and pour off drippings. Combine tomato sauce, 1 cup water, onion, green pepper, celery, sugar, Worcestershire sauce and savory.

Cook slowly 20 minutes. Add sausage links and cook until heated through. Serve over rice. Six servings. (SH

Foods from Abroad, Home Tempt 'Hubby'

by LOIS SEILER

Necessity prompted Mrs. Fred Petke to devise an appealing salad recipe. Her husband's special diet called for such foods as jello and cottage cheese, so this enterprising cook simply beat some partially thickened lime jello, folded in cottage cheese and crushed pineapple and turned it into a mold. The result: a salad both nutritious and delicious.

Several of Mrs. Petke's favorite recipes are European in origin and were used by her family in Germany for years. Although born in Chicago, Mrs. Petke spent her childhood in Germany, returning to the United States at the age of 18. She and her husband owned and operated bakeries in Chicago for 15 years, and while Mr. Petke is still employed as a baker, Mrs. Petke retired from the business two years ago and is enjoying spending her time in her own kitchen and garden.

Her German mother often made the interesting and unusual sour cream bean soup which is now a specialty in the Petke household. Mrs. Petke grows her own garden beans especially for this tasty soup. It combines such ingredients as ground round steak, beans, onions and potatoes which are cooked together until the vegetables are tender. Sour cream is folded in, and the soup may be served either hot or cold.

"Because it contains both meat and vegetables, this soup can be served as a complete meal," Mrs. Petke said. She usually accompanies it with garlic bread or rolls.

SOUR CREAM is also used in the cucumber salad which this good cook makes often during the summer months. She sprinkles cucumbers and onions heavily with salt, squeezes out the juices and mixes them with sour cream and chives. This old-time German salad is especially appealing with steaks as well as any number of other summertime meals.

Popular in Germany as well as America is another of this good cook's recipes. It is a delightful and refreshing dessert called Whipped Cream Delight.

"I've been making this recipe for years and years," Mrs. Petke said, "and it is very easy to put together."

The dessert calls for crushed pineapple, bananas, orange segments, miniature marshmallows and broken angel food cake or macaroons folded into whipped cream. Refrigerated until ready to use, this dessert is served topped with maraschino cherries.

Mr. and Mrs. Petke live at 913 Na-Wa-Ta in Mount Prospect. They have a son, Alfred, who is an engineering student, two married daughters, Mrs. Thomas Lytle and Mrs. Bernard Zimmer, and one grandchild.

COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

1 package lime jello
2 cups hot water
1 cup cottage cheese
1 cup crushed pineapple, drained

Dissolve jello in hot water. Let set until partially thickened. Then beat until foamy and fold in cottage cheese and pineapple. Turn into a mold or individual molds and chill until firm. Serves 4.

SOUR CREAM BEAN SOUP

1 pound ground round steak or chuck
1 pound green beans, fresh or frozen
1 small onion, cut up
2 cups diced potatoes
4 cups water
Salt to taste
1 pint commercial sour cream

Put all ingredients except the sour cream into a large saucepan. Boil until the potatoes and beans are done. Turn off heat and fold in sour cream. Serve warm or cold. Serve 4.

CUCUMBER SALAD

3 medium-size cucumbers
1 small Spanish onion, sliced thin
Salt
1 cup commercial sour cream
Chives
Pepper to taste

Peel cucumbers and slice thin. Combine cucumbers and onions and sprinkle heavily with salt. Let stand for 15 minutes. Squeeze out the juice. Combine cucumbers and onions with sour cream, little chives and pepper. Serve cold. Serves 4.

WHIPPED CREAM DELIGHT

½ cup crushed pineapple, drained
1 large banana, sliced
1 orange, peeled and sectioned
½ cup miniature marshmallows
½ cup macaroons or angel food cake, broken in small pieces
½ pint whipping cream, whipped to hold peaks

Fold all ingredients into whipped cream. Refrigerate until served. Serve topped with maraschino cherries. Serves 4. (H

COTTAGE CHEESE IS one of the primary ingredients used in the molded salad being prepared by Mrs. Fred Petke of Mount Prospect. Both nutritious and delicious, this salad and several German specialties are among this good cook's favorite recipes.

Salt Creek Problem Prompts Questions from Home Owner

Mr. Wilbur Harrs, Palatine Village President, submitted a statement printed in the August 15 issue of the Palatine Enterprise regarding a vocal few of us who are creating "much ado about nothing." I would like to submit some questions to Mr. Harris, as my wife and I purchased a home in Palatine in 1955 and were unwise enough to purchase this home along Salt Creek, which evidently is Palatine's open sewer.

Palatine either should or should not be a first class community. It will be one only by the deliberate choice of ourselves and our elected officials. A first class community includes superior schools, superior police protection, superior fire protection, superior village maintenance, and superior water and sewage facilities.

AS I recall, Candidate Harris pledged his efforts towards these goals if he were elected. He was elected, so as president, he should try and keep his pledges and rectify as many mistakes his predecessors made as is in his power. I believe he is trying to do this.

As I understand Mr. Harris's statement in the Enterprise, his basic comment is that half the residents of Palatine will have to accept a special assessment to separate the sewers, which will cost several million dollars, which will cause disruption of half of the streets and parkways in the village, and which will result in the loss of innumerable shade trees. This implies that Mr. Harris had examined this carefully or has had a survey run by a competent engineering firm. If he has, then he should be more specific. How many residents? Where do they live? What area will the Streets be torn up in? How many shade trees will we lose, and of these, how many are elms that will shortly succumb to the dutch elm disease?

MR. HARRIS also says—to separate the combined sanitary and storm sewer which exists in our village will cost several millions. I would like him to submit his source for this figure and be more specific.

If Mr. Harris's statements are based on pure speculation, as some of us believe, then he owes it to us to have qualified engineers make a study of the problem and publish the results.

Just because any community chooses to take a second class alternative to a problem doesn't mean it is correct, logical, or intelligent. If Mr. Harris would like to see 3-year-old children collecting used contraceptives from our open sewer I'll be happy to call him the next time it recurs.

Mr. Harris is right; we and almost all of the residents of Palatine purchased our homes since 1890. However, we purchased ours on the assurance of Mr. Harris's predecessor and the then Superintendent of Public Works that there was no danger of flooding and the creek never smelled.

I DON'T believe any facts have been established to back up Mr. Harris's statement that there is less sewage in Salt Creek today than before we hooked onto the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District. What is the bacterial count of the creek today and what was it before we were connected? Just how did connecting up cause this reduction?

Mr. Harris's comments about the vocal few of us who have generated a storm over the creek without explaining the alternatives will touch on few sympathetic ears. The alternatives are:

1. Do nothing. (Is this the attitude of our elected, appointed, and hired village oficials?)
2. Go ahead and start planning and ultimately build a separate sanitary and storm system. (This is the first class solution suggested by the head of the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District, not by the vocal few residents to whom Mr. Harris refers.)
3. Cover the creek throughout the village, make it one long sewer, pipe it all out to the village limits and let the people downstream and out of town worry about it.

These are our alternatives and our elected officials' alternatives, to make (or attempt to make) Palatine a first class community.

Our former village officials' actions are history. Whether our present village officials choose to act for us in a first class manner will become the history on which they and we will be judged.

Park Election Facts Recited

In response to G. R. Kongable's letter wherein he states that Elk Grove Village voters were duped, and scared into voting no on the recent park district referendum, I would like to open his eyes to a few facts once he gets through wiping the tears out of them.

Fact No. One: If G. R. Kongable had gotten out and campaigned for the post he sought he would have immediately became aware of the fact that the homeowners were far and away against a park district at this time.

Fact No. Two: There really were no outstanding candidates for the park commissioners posts and therefore the voters were reluctant to place such men in a position of authority.

Fact No. Three: The voters themselves realized they were being "had." Not by any anonymous group, but by the candidates themselves.

IF ANYONE was duped it was the forces behind the park district. They were duped by professionals who said we needed a park district. They were duped when they estimated the needs of the village. They were duped into making misleading statements, and most of all they were duped into thinking the voters were unaware of what is going on in the village.

Instead of crying and acting like a sore loser, G. R. Kongable would do well to thank the voters for defeating the referendum. It shows we are aware of our needs and intend to care for them as we see fit, not rushing headlong into obligations we neither need or are ready for just to kep up with the Joneses.

Elk Grove Village will get its park district, and when we do it will be a good one. One we can be proud of and one we'll be able to afford. We'll get good professionals to run it, people truly qualified, people we can trust to do a good job. not people who think we are dupes.

William Klemchen

Former Editor Receives Praise

With the departure of Melda Lynn, the Mount Prospect Herald loses a penetrating writer and thought provoking editor, while the people of Mount Prospect lose a friend and champion of the truth.

Although Melda handled editorials, news and feature stories with professional finesse, she really excelled in the accurate reporting and sound interpreting of the political scene in Mount Prospect.

Her untiring efforts have made Mount Prospect a better village.

She deserves many thanks for a job well done.

DuPage Roads Need Attention

How much longer will the motorists and the pedestrians have to put up with the old fashioned, narrow, rough, and dangerous roads? There is not one modern road in the whole northeast section of the DuPage County.

Three sides of O'Hare Field are bordered by these roads. Over 10 years ago a dangerous curve was established under the railroad underpass on Irving Park Road southwest of the air field. This was to accomodate a four lane road which never materialized, but three people have died in and near this underpass.

Driving on this high-crowned, narrow road when it is covered with wintertime ice is a task for only drivers with nerves of steel.

NOT ONLY are the roads so outmoded, but the shoulders are narrow, rough, and ungraded for the people who must walk, and the kids who want to ride their bikes.

Perhaps a proper shoulder in the area of Route 83 and Devon might have prevented the death of a boy on a bike two weeks ago. The only improvement I have seen in the local roads this year is a white line painted on the outside edge.

Where does the gas tax money go that is supposed to be used for roads?

Asks Protection Of Wild Flowers

In June the Roselle Garden Club discussed the picking of the wild flowers in the Bliomingdale Forest Preserve. Many of the flowers had been transplanted into the woods from an area that was being subdivided for homes. There is a state conservation law protecting these wild flowers, but too many persons don't realize such a law exists. Many of these floaers will become extinct in the area if they are picked, for flowers, such as the White Trillium needs to die down naturally if they are to bloom again. We are fortunate in having these flowers in our woods, so won't all of you people help to preserve them?

As a gentle reminder, Mrs. Harold Pettigrew, State Garden Club Conservation Chairman obtained permission from the Forest Preserve District in Wheaton to place signs in the preserve. With the aid of Mr. Pettigrew signs have been made of Red Wood. They have designs of flowers burned in them, and the wording, Do Not Pick Flowers, State Conservation Law.

I know that with this gentle reminder, all of our people will help to protect our wild flowers.

Civil Defense Agency Tells Purpose of Phone Listings

An item in your July 25, 1963, issue headed "Going Through the Motions" indicated a misunderstanding of the purpose of a telephone listing for Civil Defense.

During the Cuban crisis, so many people wanted to call their Civil Defense organizations for information and assistance but didn't know and could not get a phone number.

As a result, it was deemed advisable for all Civil Defense offices to have a telephone listing.

You may be interested to know the number had to be that of a local government office with 24-hour coverage. This is proper since Civil Defense is an emergency service of all levels of existing government.

IN REFERENCE to your remark on seeking peace, I assure you that we in Civil Defense who are trained in radiological defense, mass casualty care, and a host of other subjects, are aware of the effects of warfare and are, therefore, the most anxious of all to prevent the loss of life and suffering that must surely accompany such an action.

The community you mentioned is to be commended for seeking a phone listing so it may be called for aid. I'm sure the Civil Defense organization would welcome an interview with you or a member of your staff. Had this occurred earlier, your coverage of Civil Defense activities, listing who and where to call so it could be posted in the front of the phone book, might have made the listing unncessary.

Your interest in and support of Civil Defense is appreciated. Your assistance in directing the attention of the public to the need for Civil Defense can add measurably to the effectiveness of your local organization and, therefore, to the safety of your community.

Test Ban Treaty Rejection Asked

Most of the billions of tax dollars taken from us are claimed necessary because of our war with the leadership of Soviet Russia. Obviously then, ratification of a treaty which is the culmination of a succession of unilateral consessions on our part; aids and abets the military, political, ideological and propaganda posture of our stated enemy; and offers us only the dubious promises of people of bankrupt integrity without provision for verification or compliance by the signatories constitutes a victory for the Soviet Union and a defeat for us—and will be so recognized by the peoples of the world.

Dean Rusk says that regardless of the USSR's poor treaty record, "We must try." Contrariwise, all the evidence shows that the truth is: The way to achieve the respect of, and a non-belligerent attitude by, the Communists is by a resolute stand. When even lone prisoners, tortured and hounded, have won their freedom by sticking to their principles, fighting back with words and even attacking the propaganda of their captors, shall the elected leadership of our nation do less?

THE ALTERNATIVE is NOT nuclear war or annihalation. If we would but stop financing and helping Communist programs all over the world (and any objective analysis of world news shows that to be exactly what we are doing), Communistic expansion would fail. Time is not on their side, but on OURS. Their "wave" has no future—unless we hand it to them.

The test ban treaty is a step, not toward peace in the American sense, but toward peace in the Communist sense which means the total sovietization of the world. How do we know this? Because they have told us so again, again and again. Let us show them that we finally understand what they have been saying and doing by telling our Senators to vote NO on the test ban treaty.

A first class community includes superior schools, superior police protection, superior fire protection, superior village maintenance, and superior water and sewage facilities.

AS I recall, Candidate Harris pledged his efforts towards these goals if he were elected. He was elected, so as president, he should try and keep his pledges and rectify as many mistakes his predecessors made as is in his power. I believe he is trying to do this.

As I understand Mr. Harris's statement in the Enterprise, his basic comment is that half the residents of Palatine will have to accept a special assessment to separate the sewers, which will cost several million dollars, which will cause disruption of half of the streets and parkways in the village, and which will result in the loss of innumerable shade trees. This implies that Mr. Harris had examined this carefully or has had a survey run by a competent engineering firm. If he has, then he should be more specific. How many residents? Where do they live? What area will the Streets be torn up in? How many shade trees will we lose, and of these, how many are elms that will shortly succumb to the dutch elm disease?

MR. HARRIS also says—to separate the combined sanitary and storm sewer which exists in our village will cost several millions. I would like him to submit his source for this figure and be more specific.

If Mr. Harris's statements are based on pure speculation, as some of us believe, then he owes it to us to have qualified engineers make a study of the problem and publish the results.

Just because any community chooses to take a second class alternative to a problem doesn't mean it is correct, logical, or intelligent. If Mr. Harris would like to see 3-year-old children collecting used contraceptives from our open sewer I'll be happy to call him the next time it recurs.

Mr. Harris is right; we and almost all of the residents of Palatine purchased our homes since 1890. However, we purchased ours on the assurance of Mr. Harris's predecessor and the then Superintendent of Public Works that there was no danger of flooding and the creek never smelled.

I DON'T believe any facts have been established to back up Mr. Harris's statement that there is less sewage in Salt Creek today than before we hooked onto the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District. What is the bacterial count of the creek today and what was it before we were connected? Just how did connecting up cause this reduction?

Mr. Harris's comments about the vocal few of us who have generated a storm over the creek without explaining the alternatives will touch on few sympathetic ears. The alternatives are:

1. Do nothing. (Is this the attitude of our elected, appointed, and hired village officials?)

2. Go ahead and start planning and ultimately build a separate sanitary and storm system. (This is the first class solution suggested by the head of the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District, not by the vocal few residents to whom Mr. Harris refers.)

3. Cover the creek throughout the village, make it one long sewer, pipe it all out to the village limits and let the people downstream and out of town worry about it.

These are our alternatives and our elected officials' alternatives, to make (or attempt to make) Palatine a first class community.

Our former village officials' actions are history. Whether our present village officials choose to act for us in a first class manner will become the history on which they and we will be judged.

Park Election Facts Recited

In response to G. R. Kongable's letter wherein he states that Elk Grove Village voters were duped, and scared into voting no on the recent park district referendum, I would like to open his eyes to a few facts once he gets through wiping the tears out of them.

Fact No. One: If G. R. Kongable had gotten out and campaigned for the post he sought he would have immediately became aware of the fact that the homeowners were far and away against a park district at this time.

Fact No. Two: There really were no outstanding candidates for the park commissioners posts and therefore the voters were reluctant to place such men in a position of authority.

Fact No. Three: The voters themselves realized they were being "had." Not by any anonymous group, but by the candidates themselves.

IF ANYONE was duped it was the forces behind the park district. They were duped by professionals who said we needed a park district. They were duped when they estimated the needs of the village. They were duped into making misleading statements, and most of all they were duped into thinking the voters were unaware of what is going on in the village.

Instead of crying and acting like a sore loser, G. R. Kongable would do well to thank the voters for defeating the referendum. It shows we are aware of our needs and intend to care for them as we see fit, not rushing headlong into obligations we neither need or are ready for just to kep up with the Joneses.

Elk Grove Village will get its park district, and when we do it will be a good one. One we can be proud of and one we'll be able to afford. We'll get good professionals to run it, people truly qualified, people we can trust to do a good job. not people who think we are dupes.

Former Editor Receives Praise

With the departure of Melda Lynn, the Mount Prospect Herald loses a penetrating writer and thought provoking editor, while the people of Mount Prospect lose a friend and champion of the truth.

Although Melda handled editorials, news and feature stories with professional finesse, she really excelled in the accurate reporting and sound interpreting of the political scene in Mount Prospect.

Her untiring efforts have made Mount Prospect a better village.

She deserves many thanks for a job well done.

DuPage Roads Need Attention

How much longer will the motorists and the pedestrians have to put up with the old fashioned, narrow, rough, and dangerous roads? There is not one modern road in the whole northeast section of the DuPage County.

Three sides of O'Hare Field are bordered by these roads. Over 10 years ago a dangerous curve was established under the railroad underpass on Irving Park Road southwest of the air field. This was to accomodate a four lane road which never materialized, but three people have died in and near this underpass.

Driving on this high-crowned, narrow road when it is covered with wintertime ice is a task for only drivers with nerves of steel.

NOT ONLY are the roads so outmoded, but the shoulders are narrow, rough, and ungraded for the people who must walk, and the kids who want to ride their bikes.

Perhaps a proper shoulder in the area of Route 83 and Devon might have prevented the death of a boy on a bike two weeks ago. The only improvement I have seen in the local roads this year is a white line painted on the outside edge.

Where does the gas tax money go that is supposed to be used for roads?

Asks Protection Of Wild Flowers

In June the Roselle Garden Club discussed the picking of the wild flowers in the Bliomingdale Forest Preserve. Many of the flowers had been transplanted into the woods from an area that was being subdivided for homes. There is a state conservation law protecting these wild flowers, but too many persons don't realize such a law exists. Many of these floaers will become extinct in the area if they are picked, for flowers, such as the White Trillium needs to die down naturally if they are to bloom again. We are fortunate in having these flowers in our woods, so won't all of you people help to preserve them?

As a gentle reminder, Mrs. Harold Pettigrew, State Garden Club Conservation Chairman obtained permission from the Forest Preserve District in Wheaton to place signs in the preserve. With the aid of Mr. Pettigrew signs have been made of Red Wood. They have designs of flowers burned in them, and the wording, Do Not Pick Flowers, State Conservation Law.

I know that with this gentle reminder, all of our people will help to protect our wild flowers.

Civil Defense Agency Tells Purpose of Phone Listings

An item in your July 25, 1963, issue headed "Going Through the Motions" indicated a misunderstanding of the purpose of a telephone listing for Civil Defense.

During the Cuban crisis, so many people wanted to call their Civil Defense organizations for information and assistance but didn't know and could not get a phone number.

As a result, it was deemed advisable for all Civil Defense offices to have a telephone listing.

You may be interested to know the number had to be that of a local government office with 24-hour coverage. This is proper since Civil Defense is an emergency service of all levels of existing government.

IN REFERENCE to your remark on seeking peace, I assure you that we in Civil Defense who are trained in radiological defense, mass casualty care, and a host of other subjects, are aware of the effects of warfare and are, therefore, the most anxious of all to prevent the loss of life and suffering that must surely accompany such an action.

The community you mentioned is to be commended for seeking a phone listing so it may be called for aid. I'm sure the Civil Defense organization would welcome an interview with you or a member of your staff. Had this occurred earlier, your coverage of Civil Defense activities, listing who and where to call so it could be posted in the front of the phone book, might have made the listing unncessary.

Your interest in and support of Civil Defense is appreciated. Your assistance in directing the attention of the public to the need for Civil Defense can add measurably to the effectiveness of your local organization and, therefore, to the safety of your community.

Test Ban Treaty Rejection Asked

Most of the billions of tax dollars taken from us are claimed necessary because of our war with the leadership of Soviet Russia. Obviously then, ratification of a treaty which is the culmination of a succession of unilateral consessions on our part; aids and abets the military, political, ideological and propaganda posture of our stated enemy; and offers us only the dubious promises of people of bankrupt integrity without provision for verification or compliance by the signatories constitutes a victory for the Soviet Union and a defeat for us—and will be so recognized by the peoples of the world.

Dean Rusk says that regardless of the USSR's poor treaty record, "We must try." Contrariwise, all the evidence shows that the truth is: The way to achieve the respect of, and a non-belligerent attitude by, the Communists is by a resolute stand. When even lone prisoners, tortured and hounded, have won their freedom by sticking to their principles, fighting back with words and even attacking the propaganda of their captors, shall the elected leadership of our nation do less?

THE ALTERNATIVE is NOT nuclear war or annihalation. If we would but stop financing and helping Communist programs all over the world (and any objective analysis of world news shows that to be exactly what we are doing), Communistic expansion would fail. Time is not on their side, but on OURS. Their "wave" has no future—unless we hand it to them.

The test ban treaty is a step, not toward peace in the American sense, but toward peace in the Communist sense which means the total sovietization of the world. How do we know this? Because they have told us so again, again and again. Let us show them that we finally understand what they have been saying and doing by telling our Senators to vote NO on the test ban treaty.

Attends Banking School

John L. Frieburg, Jr., a cashier at the Bank of Arlington Heights, left Aug. 18 for a two week course at the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin.

This is Frieburg's second year in a course that requires two week attendance in each of three consecutive years for graduation. Throughout the year, between resident sessions, students are required to do extension work involving problems in all phases of banking.

The school is sponsored by the Central States Conference, composed of bankers' associations in 16 midwestern states. Thirteen hundred bankers are attending the course this year. (BB

1963-64 Terminates Korean GI Bill For Educational Purposes

The last full year of schooling for veterans taking education or training courses under the Korean GI Bill begins this September.

When this school year ends, only a half year of schooling will be obtainable under the program. Courses starting in September 1964, must come to a close on Jan. 31, 1965.

Congress has set this cut-off date for the Korean readjustment program of education and training for veterans without service - connected disabilities. The law gives no authority to the Veterans Administration to extend these benefits beyond these dates.

ORIGINALLY, Korean Conflict veterans were eligible for 36 months of readjustment courses but now only 17 months will remain before the final deadline when school classes resume this September.

To be eligible for such readjustment education or training, veterans must have had active service at any time between June 27, 1950, and Jan. 31, 1955. They also must have served at least 90 days and entered training within three years from their first discharge from that service. Re-enlistment does not extend the three year limit.

Eligible veterans may choose their own type of training in any school or establishment approved by an appropriate state agency.

THEY MAY enroll in schools or colleges; take on-the-job training; enroll in institutional on-the-farm training or other courses including flight training, cooperative or correspondence school courses.

Veterans will receive an allowance each month to meet part of their training and living expenses.

First step is to obtain the necessary application forms at the nearest VA Regional Office. This can be done by mail.

Korea Conflict veterans with service - connected disabilities come under a different program and have no deadline to cut off their training. (BB

1963-64 Terminates Korean GI Bill For Educational Purposes

The last full year of schooling for veterans taking education or training courses under the Korean GI Bill begins this September.

When this school year ends, only a half year of schooling will be obtainable under the program. Courses starting in September 1964, must come to a close on Jan. 31, 1965.

Congress has set this cut-off date for the Korean readjustment program of education and training for veterans without service - connected disabilities. The law gives no authority to the Veterans Administration to extend these benefits beyond these dates.

ORIGINALLY, Korean Conflict veterans were eligible for 36 months of readjustment courses but now only 17 months will remain before the final deadline when school classes resume this September.

To be eligible for such readjustment education or training, veterans must have had active service at any time between June 27, 1950, and Jan. 31, 1955. They also must have served at least 90 days and entered training within three years from their first discharge from that service. Re-enlistment does not extend the three year limit.

Eligible veterans may choose their own type of training in any school or establishment approved by an appropriate state agency.

THEY MAY enroll in schools or colleges; take on-the-job training; enroll in institutional on-the-farm training or other courses including flight training, cooperative or correspondence school courses.

Veterans will receive an allowance each month to meet part of their training and living expenses.

First step is to obtain the necessary application forms at the nearest VA Regional Office. This can be done by mail.

Korea Conflict veterans with service - connected disabilities come under a different program and have no deadline to cut off their training. (BB

Wins New Auto in Marathon Contest

Mrs. Diane Bittner, 205 S. Dunton St., Arlington Heights, has won a 1963 Comet sedan in Marathon's travel game, "Cross-Out."

W. E. Spears, Marathon's Chicago region sales manager, presented Mrs. Bittner with keys to the new Comet last week at Ray Harm's Marathon Service, located at State Road and Eastman. Participating in the presentation ceremony were R. J. Harm, service station dealer, and Dick Roto, President of Roto Mercury, Arlington Heights dealership which delivered the new Comet.

Mrs. Bittner played "Cross-Out" on a card given to her when she stopped at Ray Harm's Marathon Service. After submitting her winning card, she selected the Comet sedan from such prizes as a ladies' wardrobe, 16-foot boat with motor and trailer, 18-foot sailboat and a stereophonic radio phonograph combination.

A LONG-TIME user of Marathon products, Mrs. Bittner has had experience at winning prizes in Marathon promotions, having won a camera four years ago. She is employed as a teller at the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Assn. Her husband is an appliance repairman who also serves his community as a member of the volunteer fire department.

Mrs. Bittner was one of 1,957 winners just announced by area Marathon dealers. The new list represents those winners who submitted their "Cross-Out" cards during the week ended Aug. 16. Local winners are listed on posters at participating service stations, and each dealer also has a list of winners throughout the five-state area in which the game is being played.

Marathon dealers emphasized that, although the travel game officially ended Aug. 18, winning cards may be submitted through the end of September. They are urging those people who have collected "Cross-Out" cards, but not yet played them to check their cards closely against playing fields and to submit winning cards promptly. (BB

35th Year At Pure Oil

Fred Schiess, 1131 W. Prospect, Mount Prospect, this week is celebrating his 35th anniversary with The Pure Oil Company.

Schiess, a supervisor in the transportation accounting department, joined Pure Oil in 1928 as a bookkeeper in the company's general office. Since that time he has filled many key accounting positions within the crude oil purchasing accounting, producing accounting and transportation accounting departments.

From 1940 to 1944 he served as office manager of Pure Oil's Texas Producing Division office in Fort Worth, and was promoted to his present position in the company's general offices near Palatine in 1956. (BB

Salerno Invasion To Be Commemorated By Electric Company

The 20th anniversary of the invasion of Salerno, Italy, by the Allied Forces on Sept. 8, 1943, will have special significance at Automatic Electric Co., Northlake.

A glass-enclosed telephone switch occupies a place of honor in the company's offices as a memento of the historic occasion.

Built by Automatic Electric some 25 years ago, the switch is a remnant of a telephone system that served the U. S. S. Savannah during the invasion. It survived days and nights of continuous bombing, and months of submersion in the sea, before it was salvaged—still in good working condition.

The Savannah was one of more than 700 Allied ships covering 1000 square miles of the Tyrrhenian Sea off the shores of Salerno. The attack continued for five days until a beachhead was established and the American Fifth Army moved in and took over.

A light cruiser, the Savannah had helped blast a path for the Fifth Army. Struck by numerous bombs dropped from Axis planes, and with damaged compartments sealed, she continued to wreak havoc on the enemy fortifications. It was several months before the ship was able to put into dry dock for repairs.

One of the water-filled compartments contained the ship's telephone installation, an Automatic Electric system manufactured before the war.

The telephone equipment, battered and corroded by the merciless sea, was removed from the ship and returned to Automatic Electric.

Clarence Moll, former assistant superintendent in manufacturing, now retired, recalled that a number of switches were brought to the company's former plant on West Van Buren Street in Chicago.

"Salt water and fuel oil had left the equipment in a deplorable state," Moll said, "and it required considerable cleaning before we could test it. But, to our amazement, we found the switches to be operative, in spite of all that damage."

One switch was encased in glass and is enshrined at Automatic's new plant in Northlake, as a reminded of "the skillful teamwork of the many Automatic Electric employees who put their labor and their hearts, into the war effort."

30 Years At Pure Oil

Ralph E. Hughes, 244 S. Plum Grove, Palatine, this week is celebrating his thirtieth anniversary with The Pure Oil Co.

Hughes, a special representative in the producing executive department, joined Pure Oil in 1933 as a clerk in the company's old eastern producing division office in Newark, Ohio. In 1956 he was transferred to Pure Oil's Illinois producing division office in Olney, and since 1958 has been employed in his present position in the company's general offices now located near Palatine.

ILLINOIS GOVERNOR OTTO KERNER presents "meritorious achievement" plaque to Marshall Bennett (center) and Louis Kahnweiler in the Governor's Chicago office. The industrial realtors are partners in the firm of Bennett and Kahnweiler, exclusive agents for Centex Industrial Park. The award was made for the partners' efforts in bringing industry into Illinois.

Kerner Presents Plaque to Realtors

Two Chicago industrial realtors have been cited by Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner for their efforts in bringing industry into Illinois.

Marshall Bennett and Louis Kahnweiler, exclusive agents for Centex Industrial Park, which covers 2,000 acres and lies adjacent to O'Hare International Airport, were presented with a plaque in the governor's Chicago office at 160 North LaSalle St.

The award cites Centex Industrial Park "for meritorious achievement in bringing to Illinois new industries and providing modern, more efficient facilities for existing manufacturers, thereby enhancing the State's economy and increasing employment opportunities for its citizens."

The award follows the largest multiple ground-breaking ceremony in industrial real estate history last April when Gov. Kerner did the spade work, in less than two hours, at sites where 13 plants now are being built in the Park. (BB

Tell Hours For Center

It was announced this week that stores in the Golf-Mill Shopping Center, Golf Road and Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, will remain open Tuesday Sept. 3, until 9:30 p.m. Sept. 3 is the day after Labor Day.

Jim Parry, 16, of Morton Grove, was named first place winner in the Ford Custom Car Contest held recently at Hobby House Toyland at Golf-Mill.

E. G. MARSHALL, (left) star of the award winning television show "The Defenders" received a citation and appointment as an Honorary Special Assistant Attorney General of Illinois at the Aug. 13 luncheon meeting of the Family Law section of the American Bar Assoc. at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago. The citation commends Marshall for his contribution to the public awareness of the dignity of law. Presenting him the award are William G. Clark, (center) Attorney General of Illinois, and Stanton L. Ehrlich, chairman of the Family Law section. (BB

DiLucchio Tells Plans For Boilers

L. A. DiLucchio, 2911 Briarwood Drive, Arlington eHights, recently appointed general manager of Fitzgibbons Boiler Co. Inc. and of the Ames Iron Works Division, both of Oswego, N.Y., confirms the fact that both divisions will not continue to manufacture their present lines of boilers, but operations have already been expanded to include new models and additional products.

A revamped and enlarged special products division of Ames Iron Works, under direction of Eldon DePorter, is designing and fabricating hydrogen sulphide burning units, waste heat boilers, hot oil heaters, autoclaves and pressure vessels.

Draftsman Honored by Kraft Foods

Donald E. Jones, 1802 Bonita, Mount Prospect, has been honored by Kraft Foods for 10 years of service with the company. He is a mechanical draftsman.

The award, a gold tie clasp bearing a Kraft emblem, and a service citation certificate were presented Jones in an office ceremony by Clyde Wayne, supervisor of equipment design.

Completes Banking Classes

LaVerne M. Woods, assistant vice president, Wheeling Trust & Savings Bank in Wheeling, is one of 72 bank officers who has completed the three-year course of specialized instruction at the School of Consumer Banking.

Sponsored by the Consumer Bankers Association, with headquarters in Washington, D.C., in cooperation with the University of Virginia, the school is now conducting its 12th resident session.

The school's basic objective is to train bankers in the complex areas of consumer banking management and to help prepare them to serve the citizens of their community.

Graduation exercises on Aug. 16 marked the completion of the school's most successful year.

Webster Wins Goodrich Shoe Contest

Donald E. Webster of B. F. Goodrich Footwear has been named winner of the recent contest for sales performance in Elk Grove Village by J. C. MacKinnon, general manager of the footwear division. Announcement was made at the recent national sales meeting of the BFG footwear division in Chicago.

Winners were selected on the basis of the canvas shoe reorders in the period from April 15 through June 30, 1963. MacKinnon noted that the success of this program was such that it will be continued for the sales force next season.

Webster has been with the B. F. Goodrich Footwear three years. (BB

Camera Firm Breaks Ground In Des Plaines

Ground was broken in Des Plaines Friday for a new 102,000 square foot plant on an 8¼-acre site by Robertson Photo-Mechanix Inc., manufacturer of large precision cameras and Dycril platemaking equipment for printing, graphic arts, and industry.

THE NEW plant will consolidate the company's operations, including offices, research, engineering, and production, Previously the company was quartered in two separate buildings.

President Leonard S. Florsheim Jr., who officiated at the groundbreaking ceremonies, called the occasion a significant step forward in the vigorous growth of Robertson and indicative of the growing demand for the company's products both here and abroad.

The building, located at 250 Wille Road in Des Plaines, is scheduled to be open March 1, 1964. (BB

ILLINOIS GOVERNOR OTTO KERNER presents "meritorious achievement" plaque to Marshall Bennett (center) and Louis Kahnweiler in the Governor's Chicago office. The industrial realtors are partners in the firm of Bennett and Kahnweiler, exclusive agents for Centex Industrial Park. The award was made for the partners' efforts in bringing industry into Illinois.

Kerner Presents Plaque to Realtors

Two Chicago industrial realtors have been cited by Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner for their efforts in bringing industry into Illinois.

Marshall Bennett and Louis Kahnweiler, exclusive agents for Centex Industrial Park, which covers 2,000 acres and lies adjacent to O'Hare International Airport, were presented with a plaque in the governor's Chicago office at 160 North LaSalle St.

The award cites Centex Industrial Park "for meritorious achievement in bringing to Illinois new industries and providing modern, more efficient facilities for existing manufacturers, thereby enhancing the State's economy and increasing employment opportunities for its citizens."

The award follows the largest multiple ground-breaking ceremony in industrial real estate history last April when Gov. Kerner did the spade work, in less than two hours, at sites where 13 plants now are being built in the Park. (BB

Tell Hours For Center

It was announced this week that stores in the Golf-Mill Shopping Center, Golf Road and Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, will remain open Tuesday Sept. 3, until 9:30 p.m. Sept. 3 is the day after Labor Day.

Jim Parry, 16, of Morton Grove, was named first place winner in the Ford Custom Car Contest held recently at Hobby House Toyland at Golf-Mill.

E. G. MARSHALL, (left) star of the award winning television show "The Defenders" received a citation and appointment as an Honorary Special Assistant Attorney General of Illinois at the Aug. 13 luncheon meeting of the Family Law section of the American Bar Assoc. at the Conrad Hilton in Chicago. The citation commends Marshall for his contribution to the public awareness of the dignity of law. Presenting him the award are William G. Clark, (center) Attorney General of Illinois, and Stanton L. Ehrlich, chairman of the Family Law section. (BB

DiLucchio Tells Plans For Boilers

L. A. DiLucchio, 2911 Briarwood Drive, Arlington eHights, recently appointed general manager of Fitzgibbons Boiler Co. Inc. and of the Ames Iron Works Division, both of Oswego, N.Y., confirms the fact that both divisions will not continue to manufacture their present lines of boilers, but operations have already been expanded to include new models and additional products.

A revamped and enlarged special products division of Ames Iron Works, under direction of Eldon DePorter, is designing and fabricating hydrogen sulphide burning units, waste heat boilers, hot oil heaters, autoclaves and pressure vessels.

Draftsman Honored by Kraft Foods

Donald E. Jones, 1802 Bonita, Mount Prospect, has been honored by Kraft Foods for 10 years of service with the company. He is a mechanical draftsman.

The award, a gold tie clasp bearing a Kraft emblem, and a service citation certificate were presented Jones in an office ceremony by Clyde Wayne, supervisor of equipment design.

Completes Banking Classes

LaVerne M. Woods, assistant vice president, Wheeling Trust & Savings Bank in Wheeling, is one of 72 bank officers who has completed the three-year course of specialized instruction at the School of Consumer Banking.

Sponsored by the Consumer Bankers Association, with headquarters in Washington, D.C., in cooperation with the University of Virginia, the school is now conducting its 12th resident session.

The school's basic objective is to train bankers in the complex areas of consumer banking management and to help prepare them to serve the citizens of their community.

Graduation exercises on Aug. 16 marked the completion of the school's most successful year.

Webster Wins Goodrich Shoe Contest

Donald E. Webster of B. F. Goodrich Footwear has been named winner of the recent contest for sales performance in Elk Grove Village by J. C. MacKinnon, general manager of the footwear division. Announcement was made at the recent national sales meeting of the BFG footwear division in Chicago.

Winners were selected on the basis of the canvas shoe reorders in the period from April 15 through June 30, 1963. MacKinnon noted that the success of this program was such that it will be continued for the sales force next season.

Webster has been with the B. F. Goodrich Footwear three years. (BB

Kenneth L. Masimore Jr., 20 Midway Court, Bensenville, was among the approximately 395 senior and graduate students scheduled to receive bachelor and master degrees from Drake University. The school's summer commencement exercise was held Aug. 23, in the Drake Fieldhouse.

He was a candidate for the Bachelor of Science degree in the college of business administration. His major area of study has been accounting.

Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, president of the Iowa Association of Colleges and Universities (non-tax supported), delivered the commencement address.

At Seminar

Two college students from Arlington Heights attended the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity's eighth biennial management training seminar in Greencastle, Ind., Aug. 25-29.

They are George E. Bailey, 350 S. Belmont, Colgate University and Charles E. Elste, 716 N. Fernandez, Culver-Stockton College.

Designed primarily for undergraduate chapter officers, the five-day school at DePauw University featured seminars on scholarship, finance, chapter operations and public relations. (CC

At Indiana

Gayle Kompelien, 49 S. Ashland, Palatine, is among Indiana University students who begin teaching assignments this fall in junior and senior high schools throughout the Hoosier State.

This is the first of four groups of IU students entering secondary schools for 2-month internships during the new school year.

Gayle will teach music at Hammond High School and in Irving School in Hammond.

JAMES A BAKER, science teacher at Prospect High School, is participating in a special 10-week specialized science-education training course at Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, Oak Ridge, Tenn. Baker is one of 33 specially selected teachers from schools in 20 states and Uruguay enrolled in the program which is part of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission's efforts to stimulate interest of high school students in science careers.

Grinnell Tea

A Mount Prospect girl who will be a freshman at Grinnell College, Grinnell, Iowa, this fall, will be honored at a "Welcome to College" tea planned for Michigan Shores Club in Wilmette on Sept. 4.

Linda M. Todaro, 406 McArthur, and her mother, Mrs. Casper Todaro, will join other Grinnell girls and their mothers at the tea, sponsored by North Suburban Grinnell Women. Miss Marie H. Martin, 506 S. Elmhurst, an upperclasswoman at the college, will also attend. (CC in Inverness . . .

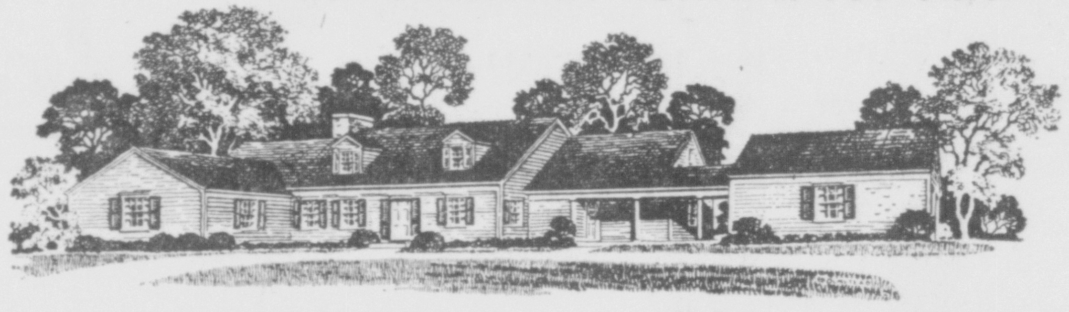
this beautiful home is for sale



Large, Cape Cod "farmhouse," located on private 18-hole golf course. 5 bedrooms, 3 baths, panelled den, separate dining room, cheerful kitchen. Large living room with fireplace. Beautiful big porch overlooking golf course. Basement with recreation room; 2-car garage. On 1 acre, beautifully landscaped, $62,500.

Homesites — 1 to 5 acres—$6,000 to $18,000. Inverness is a carefully planned village, a quarter century old, where homesites of one to five acres are beautiful — unusually so. Prudent building restrictions protect your living not only for today, but permanently. Only 35 commuter-minutes northwest of the Loop, Inverness combines every advantage of country living and city convenience in a most distinctive community.

Here, amid 1,800 acres of gently rolling hills, century-old trees and beautiful homes, is the site or the house just for you. A private 18-hole golf course and swimming pool, tennis and riding are right on the property. Churches, excellent schools, fast commuter service and shopping centers are all nearby.

Drive Out This Weekend. Drive out to beautiful Inverness! Come to the 4-silo office (open daily), the distinctive landmark on Baldwin Road just west of Northwest Highway (Route 14) between Palatine and Barrington. Inverness is very convenient to the Northwest Expressway and Toll Road.

New Playhouse to Open on Sept. 13

The Des Plaines Theatre Guild opens its new Playhouse at 620 Lee St., Des Plaines, on Friday, Sept. 13, with the initial performance of "Critic's Choice."

This Broadway comedy hit by Ira Levin, also well known for his dramatization of "No Time for Sergeants," tells the story of a leading drama critic whose wife writes a play.

The critic faces a choice between keeping his home scene happy by sending a substitute to review his wife's play, or maintaining his integrity by giving her play the panning he knows it deserves.

DON BAYLOR of Norridge sets the comic pace of the play with his direction of a cast that includes an Arlington Heights resident, Hazel Peck, of 811 Lynwood Ave. She plays the role of Charlotte Orr who, by her own admission, is the "best darned mother-in-law in existence."

Hazel's previous performances with the Guild were as Julia in "Sabrina Fair," Content Delville in "Separate Tables."

Bill Bucher, Des Plaines, who appeared in last season's "Tipsy Rebellion" and "Send Me No Flowers," is Parker Ballentine, the confused and bedeviled husband. The part of the precocious young son will be handled by 12-year-old Ray Ornberg, a "veteran" from the "Children's Theatre."

JIM WALSH, who has worked with theatre groups in New York and Los Angeles, appears as Dion Kapakos, an amorous director; Judy Herbst, Park Ridge, is Ivy London, Parker's seductive ex-wife, and Barbara Klekamp rounds out the cast in the role of the maid, Essie.

The play runs for three consecutive weekends, Sept. 13, 14, Sept. 20, 21, and Sept. 27, 28, and tickets may be obtained by calling 824-9309 or 824-8019. (Bill

Christl Hansen Art Featured at Bank

Mount Prospect artist, Christl Hansen, 110 S. Edward St., is currently featured in the Des Plaines National Bank's "Art Corner."

One of the founders of the Mount Prospect Art League and a member of the Des Plaines Art Guild, Mrs. Hansen teaches painting at the Northwest Suburban YMCA.

Winner of numerous art awards, the artist is a native of Coburg, Bavaria, and studied portrait and figure painting in school and privately in Germany.

SINCE COMING to the United States 10 years ago, she has continued her studies at the Art Institute of Chicago.

Last summer she returned to Europe to study with the expressionist painter, Oskar Kokoschka, at his School of Vision which has been chronicled in a number of national magazines, including Life and Newsweek.

Mrs. Hansen has had various one-man art shows in Chicago and the northwest suburbs, including a recent one at Le Petite Gourmet restaurant on Michigan Avenue in the city.

THE CURRENT display at the Des Plaines National Bank is representative of Mrs. Hansen's "talent for capturing children's personalities on canvas," commented Charles Burgess, bank president.

Mrs. Hansen's husband, Carl, was recently announced as campaign manager for Charles H. Percy, Republican candidate for governor. (Bill

Sahara Inn Food Treats Described

Two special Sunday food treats have been inaugurated at Gene Autry's Sahara Inn, 3939 N. Mannheim Road, Schiller Park, it was announced this week by Erwin H. Schlicht, general manager.

A new Pink Champagne Bruncheon, served from noon to 4 p.m., includes a choice of fruit juices, fresh fruits or hot bouillon and onion soup for appetizer; 12 entries including breakfast steak, lamb chops, hickory-smoked ham slice, as well as a wide variety of eggs, pancakes, waffles, rolls, and coffee, tea or milk, all served with a complimentary glass of famous Almaden pink champagne.

Sunday afternoons and evenings, Gene Autrey's Chuck Wagon Buffets are being served between 4 and 8 p.m., including wonderful range-size cuts of prime roast beef; these complete buffets offer a fabulous array of gourmet dishes in typical chuck wagon style.

Schlicht emphasized that both the Champagne Bruncheon and Chuck Wagon Buffets are prepared by the same chefs in the same modern kitchens which nightly serve the Sahara Inn's famous Sultan's Table. (Bill

Fruit Garnish

Have you thought of garnishing meat dishes with the season's fresh fruit? Bright fruits will add such an appealing color touch and flavor treat. Add a cluster of fresh berries to a pork or ham platter, chilled melon balls alongside a meat salad, or cherries, peach slices and fresh pineapple to a cold meat platter.

Sausage Dinner

Patties made from pork sausage are a good choice for a quick dinner. To prepare them a little differently, roll them in a beaten egg, then in crushed potato chips. Panfry very slowly until cooked through in melted lard or drippings. Garnish with minced parsley.

'Scope Dope' Is In ADCC on Okinawa

At least one local resident is a part of the team working in the Air Defense Control Center (ADCC) at Naha AB, Okinawa, the nerve center entrusted with the defense of the Ryukyu defense sector, a vast area covering one million square miles. He is A.3/C John J. Lynch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lynch, 62 Springinsguth Road, Weathersfield.

JOHN J. LYNCH

"Jay" is a "Scope Dope" and, as such, his responsibility is to write SDRAWKCAB on a gigantic transparent plotting board reaching two stories high. He is part of a team working on one of two levels on the board, writing letters, numbers and symbols which show locations and other information about every aircraft in the sector.

THE NOTATIONS on the plotting board are written backwards so the men with the responsibility for the defense of the sector sitting in an amphitheatre-like hall to the front can easily see and read all data.

Airman Lynch attended Palatine High School before his enlistment in November 1962. He will spened one more year on Okinawa. Friends wishing to write to "Jay" may address his letters c/o Naha AB, Okinawa.

Talks Slated on Business Problems

Chicago area businessmen will be offered a comprehensive program of management development courses and conferences during the 1963-64 Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry program.

Lloyd Norris, 200 S. Ioka Ave., Mount Prospect, director of management training and communications of the association, announced the year's schedules recently.

Topics of day or half-day conferences will range from "Should Your System be Automated" to "Quantitative Techniques in Solving Business Problems and Linear Programming."

The programs will be held in various sections of the metropolitan area, beginning Sept. 16.

Tax conferences on the new Internal Revenue Service travel and entertainment expense rules will be conducted in September by IRS experts.

For further information, contact Norris at FR 2-7700.

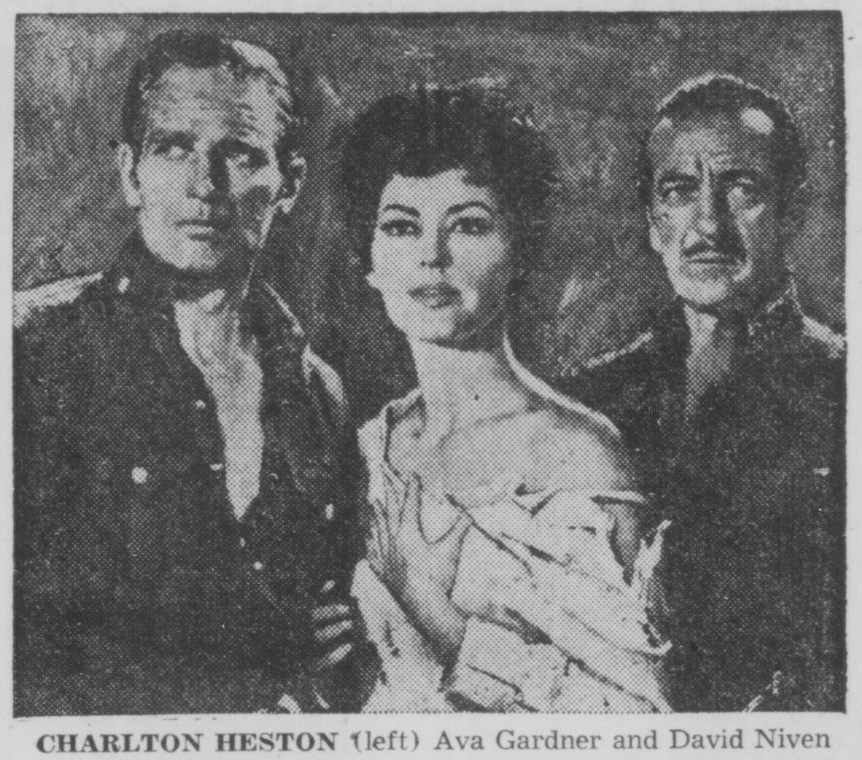
Mystery Coming to Old Orchard

The first Midwest professional performance of the British mystery-comedy, "We Must Kill Toni," will open Wednesday, Sept. 4, in the Country Club Theatre of the Old Orchard Country Club, Rand and Euclid, Prospect Heights.

Written by Ian Stewart Black, the play centers around the incongruous attempts of two penniless brothers to either murder or marry their cousin, Toni, who has inherited the money and estate of their grandmother.

TO FEATURE Barbara Simpson as Toni, the play stars Norman Rice and Ralph Foody as her cousins. Reva Rose will also appear in the play.

Robert Borlek will direct the play.



CHARLTON HESTON (left) Ava Gardner and David Niven star in Samuel Bronston's multi-million dollar production of "55 Days At Peking," played against the backdrop of the Boxer Uprising in China. Heston portrays a United States Marine Corps major, Miss Gardner a glamorous Russian noblewoman and Niven a British diplomat. Now showing at the Catlow Theatre.

Announce Policies

Begining in September, the Clark Theatre, 11 N. Clark, Chicago, will initiate two new policies.

For the first time in many years the Clark will depart from its usual presentation of two different movies each day.

EVERY Thursday there will now be only one feature length movie combined with shorts. There will also be a special admission price of only 50 cents on Thursdays.

The rest of the days of the month will continue on a double feature basis.

ANN-MARGRET "belts" one of the many hit tunes in "Bye Bye Birdie," now at the Des Plaines Theatre with Janet Leigh, Dick Van Dyke, Maureen Stapleton and Bobby Rydell also starred. The Kohlmar-Sidney production, based on the Broadway hit, is a Columbia release in Panavision and Eastman Color.

The Federation reported that in 1962 — the first year the protectors were mandatory — the number of injuries of this type declined 50 per cent from the 1961 total.

Murray State College in Kentucky has claimed Chuck Close, the greatest scorer in Arlington High School basketball history and a state champion in tennis. Baseball and football standout Rog Lindstrom will attend New Mexico State University, and Hal Selleck, third in state wrestling at 180 pounds and a football letterman, is set on Southern Illinois University in Carbondale. Basketball star Gary Brodman will attend the University of Iowa.

Hottest prep prospect in Illinois football this fall may be Ron Bess of Bloomington. An All-State halfback as a junior, Bess is West Point's No. 1 pick of any back in the country. Bess has offers from 24 major schools and has been told by West Point coaches he could beat out any back on their first four teams right now. Illinois has reportedly told Bess that he was better than any back they had last year.

Today's children are measurably stronger and better conditioned than the school children of a few years ago. In a report to President Kennedy, the President's Council on Physical Fitness said studies involving 119,904 children show that four out of every five children tested during the 1962-63 school year passed a minimum test of strength, ability, and flexibility. This compared to only two of every three tested in 1961.

Downers Grove is loaded. That's the word you hear when you talk to area coaches about football prospects in the West Suburban Conference. Dick Carstens has 17 lettermen and three all-conference linemen to work with in preparing the Trojans for their opener with Naperville. Downers will serve as Arlington's Homecoming opponent on Friday, Oct. 11.

Paul Judson, former Hebron High School and University of Illinois basketball star, is going back to coaching after working in the insurance field for three years. Judson will join another former Illinois captain, Johnny Paul, at Dundee High School in the North Suburban Conference. With a new school slated at Dundee it wouldn't be surprising if Judson soon is head coach at one of the two schools.

What Illini fan can forget those classy fast breaks of Judson and Billy Ridley in the mid-1950's when Harry Combes' cagers battled for the Big Ten titles?

The National Football League rarely tampers with rules, and the changes for 1963 are minor. But one thing voted in was a crackdown on profanity. Coaches or players who resort to it can be tossed out of the game and fined.

This prompted one official to comment: "It's going to be a real hardship for some. They're going to have to change a habit of years. In fact, some are going to have to keep still altogether, because they use profanity even in normal conversation, much less when they're barking at one of our decisions."

The 1962-63 bowling season's most fantastic split conversion performance may belong to George Schullo of Spooner, Wis. In league play and in successive frames Schullo converted the 5-7-9, 4-7-10, and 4-6-7-10!

Deadline for Entries Friday

Third Mixed Doubles Tennis Tournament to Open Saturday

Only one day remains for filing entries in Paddock Publications' Third Annual Mixed Doubles tennis tournament.

Entries must be filed with Don Johnson (437-1927) or Yvonne Foley (CLearbrook 5-6307) by 8 p.m. Friday for the tournament that will get under way Saturday.

Competition is scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday with play resuming on Sunday. The finals tentatively are set for Labor Day Monday, according to Johnson.

Trophies will be presented to the two top teams in the tournament that is open to all area tennis players. It is not necessary to have a partner when filing an entry.

JOHNSON reported at the outset of the week that he expects at least 20 couples in the Mixed Doubles tourney, a record for the net attraction that was initiated in 1961. Nineteen couples participated in the first tournament.

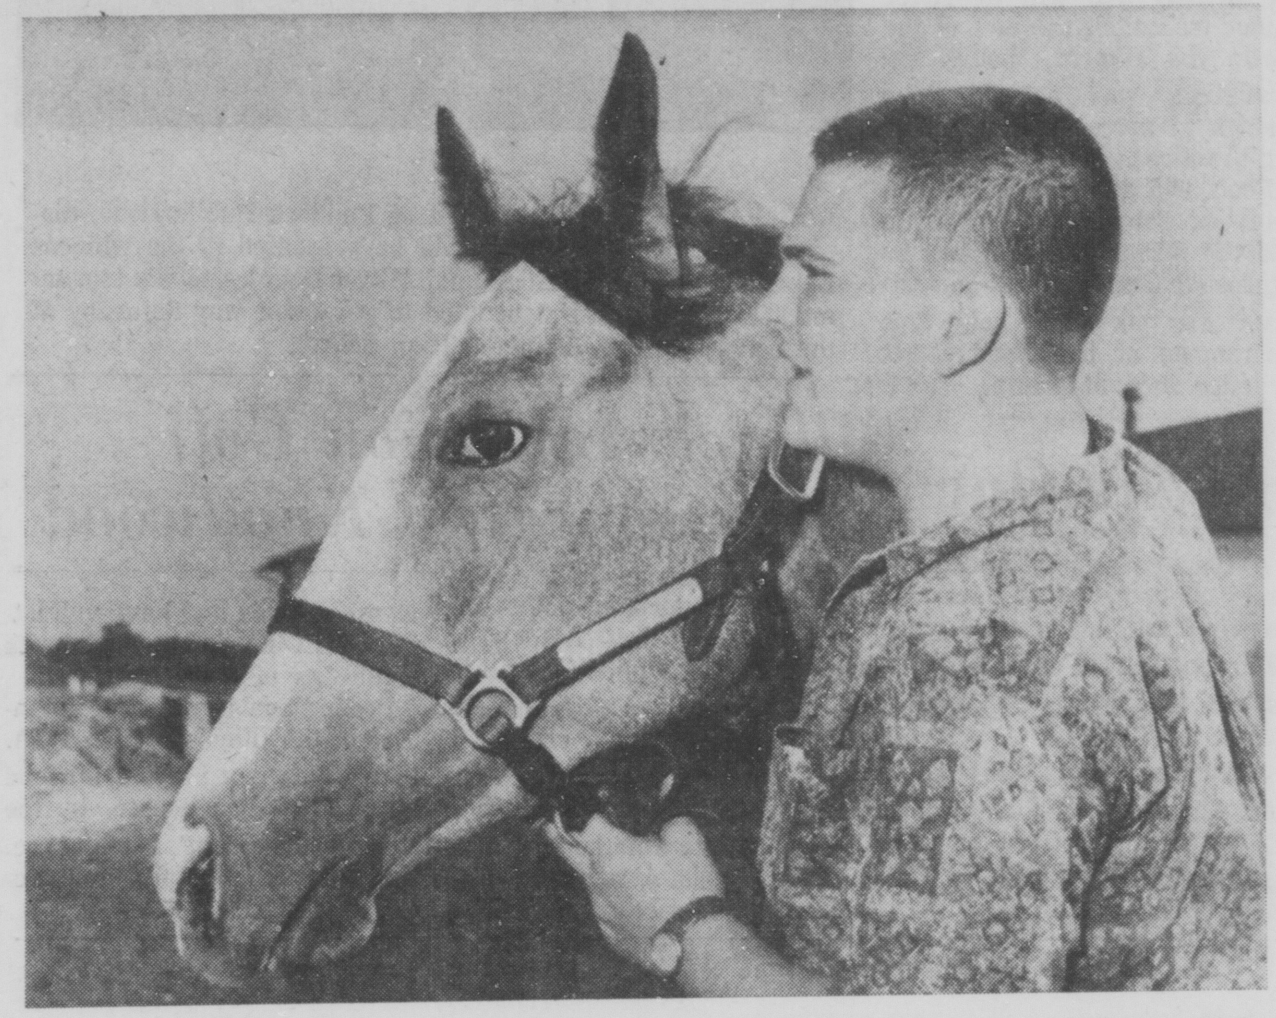
Bob and Marjorie Fink of Palatine won the championship last year with a 6-3, 6-4 victory over Yvonne Foley of Mount Prospect and Larry Brown of Arlington Heights. The Palatine entry had received the second seed in the pre-tourney rankings.

Mrs. Foley, former Danish Women's Jr. champion, and Brown have been in the finals for two straight years although not on the same team.

IN 1961 Yvonne teamed with Bill Thompson of Arlington Heights for a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Brown and Ruth Rees of Arlington. Brown is a former tennis standout at the University of Michigan.

The Arlington Tennis Club, an active group in the North and West Suburban tennis league, has organized the Mixed Doubles tournament for three years and again will furnish several of the performers in the weekend headliner.

Admission is free for the tennis action on the courts just west of Arlington High School.



TAZUA, TWO-YEAR-OLD filly owned by George M. Humphrey, former U. S. Secretary of the Treasury, is an outstanding candidate for Saturday's $200,000 Lassie at Arlington Park. Tommy Stevens, Jr., son of the youngster's trainer, poses with the Eastern Invader.

Mt. Prospect Man to Serve On Boat Crew

A Mount Prospect man will serve on the crew representing the Chicago Harbor fleet in the World's Championship of Star class sail boats, the oldest one-design class in yachting today.

Edward W. Schnabel, Jr., of 812 S. Emerson St., Mount Prospect, will join skipper Eugene Corley in the event scheduled for Sept. 8-14 at the Belmont Harbor Station of the Chicago Yacht Club.

Eight Game Card Slated

'X' Key to Falcon Football Fortunes

Coach Bob Scott of Forest View High is working hard this week to get the man called "X" and 26 other lettermen ready for the September 13 opener with Palatine.

"X" is Scott's term for Ralph Kaspari, a Falcon halfback. The designation simply means that Ralph is versatile and can adapt himself to a number of football positions.

Last season, for example, Ralph ran for more than 500 yards from scrimmage, passed for 78 more, including a touchdown, did the punting, played defensive halfback, and scored eight touchdowns.

If it were possible, or necessary, Kaspari could probably play any position on the field without hurting the team. He's most valuable as a running halfback, however, and that's where he will most likely stay.

Scott indicates he is happy with the team's performance so far and feels there is room for improvement on the Falcon's 6-2 showing in junior varsity ball last year.

But the schedule is formidable. Besides Palatine, a tough club which has 17 returning lettermen, there is East and West Leyden, Prospect, last year's Interim Conference champion, Dixon, Deerfield, Maine West and Glenbrook North.

This includes four games in the newly created Mid-Suburban League which includes Prospect, Maine West, Glenbrook North, Deerfield and Glenbrook South. The later will not field a varsity team this fall. Although Forest View will play several old Interim League schools, only league games will count in the standings.

Scott's biggest problem is to find a quarterback. Last season

14 Fillies May Enter Feature

Lindheimer Handicap Scheduled for Monday

The parade of "hundred granders" continues at Arlington Park this week with presentation on Saturday of the $100,000 added Arlington Lassie Stakes for two-year-old fillies. Friday's feature is the $25,000 added Lincoln for Illinois bred juvenile colts and geldings.

On Monday the $100,000 Benjamin F. Lindheimer Handicap for three-year-olds and up will be held at one and one-half miles on the turf. The $25,000 Warren Wright for three-year-olds held at one and one-eighth miles, will be staged Wednesday, Sept. 4.

The Lassie is first of the two world's richest races for two-year-olds to be run here this year—the second is the estimated $350,000 Arlington-Washington Futurity on Sat., Aug. 31. Right now it's possible that 14 fillies will leave the barrier in Saturday's Lassie — and in that event the gross pot will approximate $200,000 with the winner hauling down an estimated $90,000.

Just shipped in was Wheatley Stable's Sorority winner, Castle Forbes, who is expected to supplement to the Lassie at a $15,000 fee. Two other Bill Winfrey-trained fillies also will be on hand, both Lassie eligibles—Beautiful Day and Bold Queen.

THE LOCAL guard is ready for the above. J. Kel Houssels' Sari's Song, who galloped off with last week's Princess Pat here under Bill Shoemaker, is ready for the race of her life. She had accounted for the Hollywood Lassie before shipping to Chicago and in her first try over the strip here she was beaten narrowly by Bride of Note in Majorette Stakes. However, she gained revenge aplenty on the latter in the Pat as Bride of Note faded to finish fourth.

Other Lassie candidates include Arnold Winick's Ye-Cats, Fred W. Hooper's Roman Goddess, Mrs. John Olin's Merry Intent, Rex C. Ellsworth's Duchess Khaled, Gray Willow Farm's Put on Airs and Kahgahgee and Fourth Estate Stable's New Lede, among others.

Friday's Lincoln will mark another appearance of Hank Maggio's Big H., winner of the Prairie Beau recently, with Don McKellar's Primer hero, Morning Mail, back for the test. Mrs. Olga Arida's Fast Jet, a recent winner here, also is being pointed for the Lincoln which is the annual blue ribbon race for the male local-bred set.

IN SATURDAY'S $113,150 Washington Park handicap at Arlington Crimson Satan finished two lengths in front of Piper's Son but had to withstand a foul claim in the victory.

Crimson Satan moved off to a slow start in the mile and a furlong event but turned in a nifty stretch drive to win going away. Piper's Son finished a neck in front of B. Major.

Complete Classic Schedule

Schedule has been completed for the Paddock Classic Traveling League, which will open competition at Pioneer Lanes Saturday, Sept. 7.

The high flying league, fastest in the suburban area, has moved one of its franchises from Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine to Rick Casares Pro Bowl at Buffalo Grove. Lack of enough 190-average bowlers in the Palatine area necessitated the change.

Opening night's competition includes:

Pioneer Lanes vs. River Rand, Jeffery Lanes vs. Country Lanes, Rolling Meadows Bowl vs. Rick Casares Pro Bowl, Morton Pontiac of Beverly Lanes vs. Gunnell's Lanes.

Wiederhold Places 3rd In Jamboree

Kyle Wiederhold of Arlington Heights finished third in the midget boys' 50 yard dash Saturday in the state finals of the Eighth Annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree.

Competition was held on a rain-swept Bloomington High School athletic field.

Wiederhold, the only area entry in the state finals, finished behind Patrick Kinsella of Bloomington-Normal and Gail Murphy of Alton in the 50. Kinsella was clocked in :06.8.

Governor Otto Kerner addressed the 600 contestants at the awards ceremony which concluded the two-day meet.

The Jamboree, a track and field program for boys and girls 10 to 15 years of age, is sponsored annually by the Illinois Youth Commission and the Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Finalists entered in the state meet were selected through local and sectional competition held throughout the state earlier this summer.

Family Cooperation: That's Rob Roy Story

by M. W. PRELLBERG JR.

Our country is famous for the individual success stories that generate from the free enterprise system. The usual success story qualities of hard work, perserverance, foresight and a touch of luck are ingredients that enabled an area sports enthusiast to attain a boyhood dream — the ownership of a golf course.

This respected gentleman is Pat McDonald, the proprietor of the 27-hole Rob Roy Golf Club in Prospect Heights and part owner of the 9 hole Bit O'Heather Golf Club in Woodstock.

The ex-Rolling Green Country Club professional is the first to admit, however, that his success is as much a result of unified family support as well as his own efforts. This family cooperation is still the backbone of the Rob Roy operation today.

Aside from the financial security that is now his, the living pattern of Pat McDonald, and his family is somewhat similar to that of his boyhood days at Forest Park, Ill. Born in 1905 Pat's environment for the first 20 years centered around golf and horses. His father was a trainer at the Harlem Race Track, and this track had on its grounds a 9 hole golf course known as the Harlem Golf Club.

At the age of 12 the McDonald boy began earning part of his keep at home by caddying at the club. His wages consisted of 15 cents for a 9 hole round and 50 cents for a "car wheel" or 18 hole round.

As is true of many of the golf success stories of today, this athletically inclined youngster took up the game of golf via the Monday caddy day golf games.

His interest and ability at the game eventually earned him the job of caddymaster, and at the age of 18 Pat McDonald became the club's Assistant Pro.

Having learned the art of club making, club repairing and teaching, which were necessary functions of a pro in that era Pat moved away from the Harlem Golf Club links in 1925 and took over the head pro job at Ruth Lake C. C. in Hinsdale.

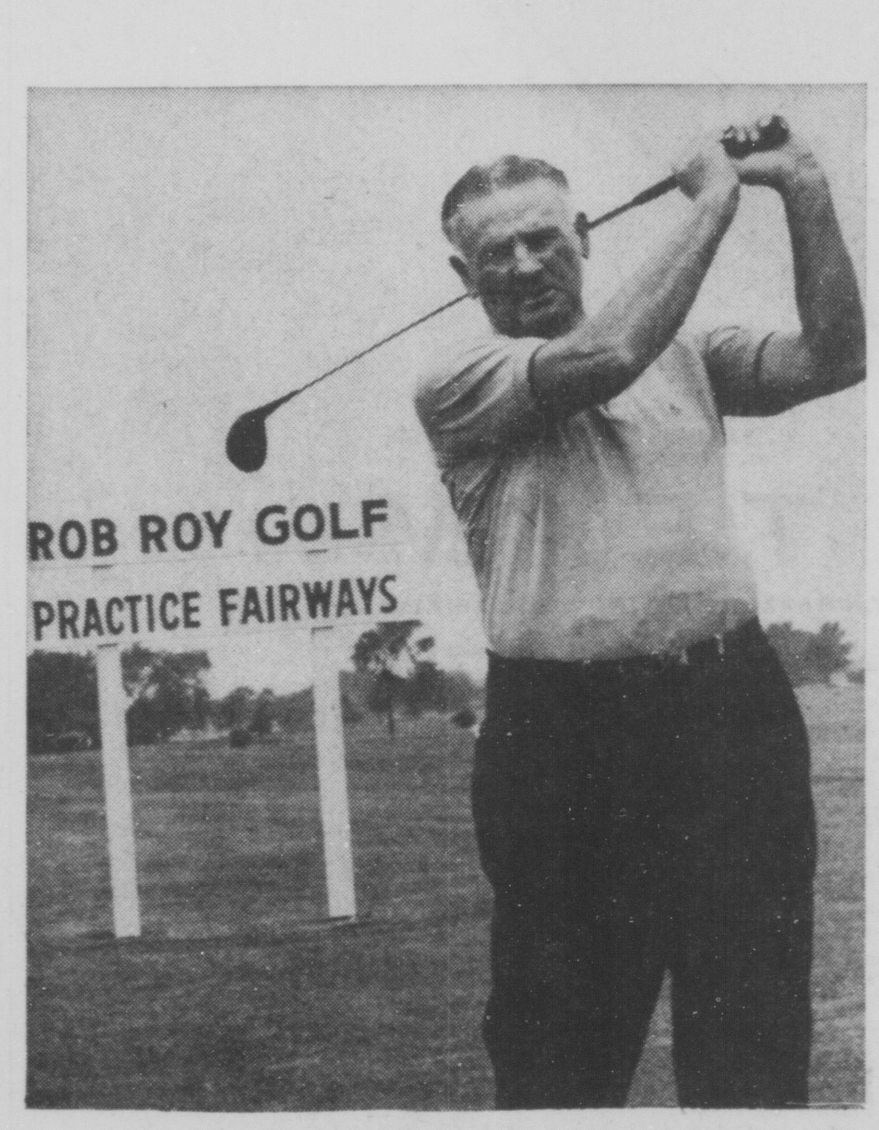
Four years later, in 1930, he was selected to become the head pro at Rolling Green C. C., not knowing that this move would lead him closer to achieving his life's ambition.

For the next 15 years Pat concentrated on his Rolling Green job and the providing of a subsistence for his wife and five children, all of whom would later play a big part in the success of the Rob Roy venture.

In 1944 with World War II drawing to a close, Pat felt that the Arlington Heights area would be destined to develop and the popularity of golf along with it. As good fortune would have it, about that time a group of Des Plaines area businessmen offered the McDonalds a chance to operate the Rob Roy club on a lease basis, and Pat accepted.

One year later the course was offered for sale to him on a reasonable down payment basis, and the McDonalds responded to the challenge.

Pat recalls that the first five years were tough years, but the family never became discouraged. With his three boys—Pat Jr., Mike and Bob—helping to take care of the grounds, and his wife and two daughters—Pearl and Mary Ann—handling the kitchen duties, the Rob Roy Golf Club soon developed into one of the most popular public fee courses in the Chicago area.



PAT McDONALD OF ROB ROY

Even though hard work was a trade mark of the family during these critical years, the boys found time to play a prominent role in the Arlington High athletic program. Pat Jr. earned his laurels in the early 1940's as a standout varsity halfback and track man. Mike quarterbacked the varsity football squad and was a key man on one of Arlington's first golf teams in the mid 1940's.

Approximately 10 years later another McDonald, Bob, was playing varsity football and golf for the Cardinal squads. Bob was a prominent member of Arlington's State Championship Golf Team. He earlier had won the Chicago District Boy's Golf Championship in 1950, and just recently earned a golf title at his Army post at Fort Bliss in El Paso, Tex.

Not to be outdone by their brothers, Pearl and Mary Ann McDonald also developed into respected golfers in the female golfing circles in the 1950's.

However, golf is not all of the McDonalds' sporting ventures. Never forgetting his early years at Harlem Park Race Track, Pat ventured into the breeding and racing of horses a few years ago. Today he is the proud owner of Rob Roy Farms in Woodstock and races these Illinois bred horses at Arlington Park and other tracks throughout the country.

One of the Rob Roy Farm's horses, El Mistero, is the current holder of the mile-and-a-half track record at Arlington Park, which was set on Sept. 5, 1960. Pat's current interest is centered around a pair of two year olds named Rosy Ross and Royal Ribbon.

This popular local sports celebrity is known for his interest in encouraging the youth of our area to develop an interest in the game of golf. Pat, while a pro at Rolling Green and even during his toughest years at Rob Roy, was continually helping youngsters to somehow acquire that precious set of clubs.

Today one of his most cherished honors is being one of the select group in the Club of Champions at the St. Mary's Training Academy in Des Plaines .

Pat's financial status has changed since his acquisition of Rob Roy but not his respect for hard work. He has turned over the major responsibility for operating the club to his boys, and has focused his efforts on the driving range adjacent to the course. Pat spends a long day operating the range and conversing with his many friends and acquaintances that patronize the facilities.

The McDonalds feel they owe a great deal to the public and the public fee golfer and plan to continue to maintain and improve Rob Roy as a public fee course. Not the least of these improvements is Pat's present project of making his driving range the finest in the area.

14 Fillies May Enter Feature

Lindheimer Handicap Scheduled for Monday

The parade of "hundred granders" continues at Arlington Park this week with presentation on Saturday of the $100,000 added Arlington Lassie Stakes for two-year-old fillies. Friday's feature is the $25,000 added Lincoln for Illinois bred juvenile colts and geldings.

On Monday the $100,000 Benjamin F. Lindheimer Handicap for three-year-olds and up will be held at one and one-half miles on the turf. The $25,000 Warren Wright for three-year-olds held at one and one-eighth miles, will be staged Wednesday, Sept. 4.

The Lassie is first of the two world's richest races for two-year-olds to be run here this year—the second is the estimated $350,000 Arlington-Washington Futurity on Sat., Aug. 31. Right now it's possible that 14 fillies will leave the barrier in Saturday's Lassie — and in that event the gross pot will approximate $200,000 with the winner hauling down an estimated $90,000.

Just shipped in was Wheatley Stable's Sorority winner, Castle Forbes, who is expected to supplement to the Lassie at a $15,000 fee. Two other Bill Winfrey-trained fillies also will be on hand, both Lassie eligibles—Beautiful Day and Bold Queen.

THE LOCAL guard is ready for the above. J. Kel Houssels' Sari's Song, who galloped off with last week's Princess Pat here under Bill Shoemaker, is ready for the race of her life. She had accounted for the Hollywood Lassie before shipping to Chicago and in her first try over the strip here she was beaten narrowly by Bride of Note in Majorette Stakes. However, she gained revenge aplenty on the latter in the Pat as Bride of Note faded to finish fourth.

Other Lassie candidates include Arnold Winick's Ye-Cats, Fred W. Hooper's Roman Goddess, Mrs. John Olin's Merry Intent, Rex C. Ellsworth's Duchess Khaled, Gray Willow Farm's Put on Airs and Kahgahgee and Fourth Estate Stable's New Lede, among others.

Friday's Lincoln will mark another appearance of Hank Maggio's Big H., winner of the Prairie Beau recently, with Don McKellar's Primer hero, Morning Mail, back for the test. Mrs. Olga Arida's Fast Jet, a recent winner here, also is being pointed for the Lincoln which is the annual blue ribbon race for the male local-bred set.

IN SATURDAY'S $113,150 Washington Park handicap at Arlington Crimson Satan finished two lengths in front of Piper's Son but had to withstand a foul claim in the victory.

Crimson Satan moved off to a slow start in the mile and a furlong event but turned in a nifty stretch drive to win going away. Piper's Son finished a neck in front of B. Major.

Complete Classic Schedule

Schedule has been completed for the Paddock Classic Traveling League, which will open competition at Pioneer Lanes Saturday, Sept. 7.

The high flying league, fastest in the suburban area, has moved one of its franchises from Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine to Rick Casares Pro Bowl at Buffalo Grove. Lack of enough 190-average bowlers in the Palatine area necessitated the change.

Opening night's competition includes:

Pioneer Lanes vs. River Rand, Jeffery Lanes vs. Country Lanes, Rolling Meadows Bowl vs. Rick Casares Pro Bowl, Morton Pontiac of Beverly Lanes vs. Gunnell's Lanes.

Wiederhold Places 3rd In Jamboree

Kyle Wiederhold of Arlington Heights finished third in the midget boys' 50 yard dash Saturday in the state finals of the Eighth Annual Illinois Junior Sports Jamboree.

Competition was held on a rain-swept Bloomington High School athletic field.

Wiederhold, the only area entry in the state finals, finished behind Patrick Kinsella of Bloomington-Normal and Gail Murphy of Alton in the 50. Kinsella was clocked in :06.8.

Governor Otto Kerner addressed the 600 contestants at the awards ceremony which concluded the two-day meet.

The Jamboree, a track and field program for boys and girls 10 to 15 years of age, is sponsored annually by the Illinois Youth Commission and the Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Finalists entered in the state meet were selected through local and sectional competition held throughout the state earlier this summer.

Family Cooperation: That's Rob Roy Story

by M. W. PRELLBERG JR.

Our country is famous for the individual success stories that generate from the free enterprise system. The usual success story qualities of hard work, perserverance, foresight and a touch of luck are ingredients that enabled an area sports enthusiast to attain a boyhood dream — the ownership of a golf course.

This respected gentleman is Pat McDonald, the proprietor of the 27-hole Rob Roy Golf Club in Prospect Heights and part owner of the 9 hole Bit O'Heather Golf Club in Woodstock.

The ex-Rolling Green Country Club professional is the first to admit, however, that his success is as much a result of unified family support as well as his own efforts. This family cooperation is still the backbone of the Rob Roy operation today.

Aside from the financial security that is now his, the living pattern of Pat McDonald, and his family is somewhat similar to that of his boyhood days at Forest Park, Ill. Born in 1905 Pat's environment for the first 20 years centered around golf and horses. His father was a trainer at the Harlem Race Track, and this track had on its grounds a 9 hole golf course known as the Harlem Golf Club.

At the age of 12 the McDonald boy began earning part of his keep at home by caddying at the club. His wages consisted of 15 cents for a 9 hole round and 50 cents for a "car wheel" or 18 hole round.

As is true of many of the golf success stories of today, this athletically inclined youngster took up the game of golf via the Monday caddy day golf games.

His interest and ability at the game eventually earned him the job of caddymaster, and at the age of 18 Pat McDonald became the club's Assistant Pro.

Having learned the art of club making, club repairing and teaching, which were necessary functions of a pro in that era Pat moved away from the Harlem Golf Club links in 1925 and took over the head pro job at Ruth Lake C. C. in Hinsdale.

Four years later, in 1930, he was selected to become the head pro at Rolling Green C. C., not knowing that this move would lead him closer to achieving his life's ambition.

For the next 15 years Pat concentrated on his Rolling Green job and the providing of a subsistence for his wife and five children, all of whom would later play a big part in the success of the Rob Roy venture.

In 1944 with World War II drawing to a close, Pat felt that the Arlington Heights area would be destined to develop and the popularity of golf along with it. As good fortune would have it, about that time a group of Des Plaines area businessmen offered the McDonalds a chance to operate the Rob Roy club on a lease basis, and Pat accepted.

One year later the course was offered for sale to him on a reasonable down payment basis, and the McDonalds responded to the challenge.

Pat recalls that the first five years were tough years, but the family never became discouraged. With his three boys—Pat Jr., Mike and Bob—helping to take care of the grounds, and his wife and two daughters—Pearl and Mary Ann—handling the kitchen duties, the Rob Roy Golf Club soon developed into one of the most popular public fee courses in the Chicago area.

Even though hard work was a trade mark of the family during these critical years, the boys found time to play a prominent role in the Arlington High athletic program. Pat Jr. earned his laurels in the early 1940's as a standout varsity halfback and track man. Mike quarterbacked the varsity football squad and was a key man on one of Arlington's first golf teams in the mid 1940's.

Approximately 10 years later another McDonald, Bob, was playing varsity football and golf for the Cardinal squads. Bob was a prominent member of Arlington's State Championship Golf Team. He earlier had won the Chicago District Boy's Golf Championship in 1950, and just recently earned a golf title at his Army post at Fort Bliss in El Paso, Tex.

Not to be outdone by their brothers, Pearl and Mary Ann McDonald also developed into respected golfers in the female golfing circles in the 1950's.

However, golf is not all of the McDonalds' sporting ventures. Never forgetting his early years at Harlem Park Race Track, Pat ventured into the breeding and racing of horses a few years ago. Today he is the proud owner of Rob Roy Farms in Woodstock and races these Illinois bred horses at Arlington Park and other tracks throughout the country.

One of the Rob Roy Farm's horses, El Mistero, is the current holder of the mile-and-a-half track record at Arlington Park, which was set on Sept. 5, 1960. Pat's current interest is centered around a pair of two year olds named Rosy Ross and Royal Ribbon.

This popular local sports celebrity is known for his interest in encouraging the youth of our area to develop an interest in the game of golf. Pat, while a pro at Rolling Green and even during his toughest years at Rob Roy, was continually helping youngsters to somehow acquire that precious set of clubs.

Today one of his most cherished honors is being one of the select group in the Club of Champions at the St. Mary's Training Academy in Des Plaines .

Pat's financial status has changed since his acquisition of Rob Roy but not his respect for hard work. He has turned over the major responsibility for operating the club to his boys, and has focused his efforts on the driving range adjacent to the course. Pat spends a long day operating the range and conversing with his many friends and acquaintances that patronize the facilities.

The McDonalds feel they owe a great deal to the public and the public fee golfer and plan to continue to maintain and improve Rob Roy as a public fee course. Not the least of these improvements is Pat's present project of making his driving range the finest in the area.

Passing Wizard Bork Teases Pirates With Accurate Right Arm

Any North Suburban scout in attendance Tuesday morning at the Palatine practice field would have gone home with a big smile on his face.

His scouting report would have read to the effect that the way to move the oval against the Pirates was to put it in the air. Throw. Throw. Throw. Heck, that skinny guy in the pink sweatshirt and blue shorts shot their defense so full of holes they looked like victims of Fearless Fosdick.

Charley Feutz watched the exhibition too, and any concern he may have had over the leaks in his secondary was masked by the glow one gets from watching an artist at work. He has plenty of time to tighten up his pass defense, but regardless of how proficient they become at waylaying enemy aerials, the Pirate problems will never be more difficult than they were Tuesday morning when they tried to thwart the efforts of one George Bork.

BORK, of course, is the passer supreme at Northern Illinois and holder of a bushel full of national records. His presence at the Pirate workout was the work of assistant Al Eck, a Little All-American end at the DeKalb school a few years ago.

Bork, who left for his own pre-season practice yesterday (Wednesday), was scheduled to lend a hand in Tuesday afternoon's workout as well, but had to cancel out in favor of an interview with Sports Illustrated magazine.

Otherwise, the Pirates first week of practice was an uneventful one. Feutz reported no dropouts, but one letterman, John Heisel is among the missing. The veteran guard has moved, and will be playing his football this season at Mount Carroll.

Another promising note is the fact that there have been no injuries of graver nature than the usual quota of sprains and bruises. Halfback Duane Brooks is not going at full speed, but his tender foot is not the result of football.

THE SPEEDY senior had several plantar warts removed on Monday and will be under minor treatment the rest of the week. His ailment, though aggravating, was not serious enough to necessitate his missing practice.

Feutz will get some of the answers on Saturday morning. He and the rest of the staff will be interested observers when the team has its first game-type scrimmage at the Wood Street practice field at 9 a.m.

Hole-in-One

A Chicago man recorded the first hole-in-one at the new Arlington Park golf course when he dropped in an eight-iron shot on the 135-yard 11th hole last week.

Jim Florence, of 2219 N. Rockwell, Chicago, posted a round of 32, two over par. He was playing with Frank Maurici of Chicago.

Illinois Invitation Golf Tournament at Knollwood

The 14th Annual Illinois Invitation Championship of the Chicago District Golf Association and Illinois Section, PGA will be held at Knollwood Club in Lake Forest on Sept. 16, 17 and 18. 18.

Entries will be limited to professionals and amateurs who reside in Illinois. Amateur contestants must be members of CDGA member clubs and have validated CDGA handicap cards with handicaps of 6 or under.

Professionals must be members of the Illinois Section PGA. In addition, six players may be invited to participate by the joint tournament committee. Entry fee is $25.00 for both professionals and amateurs.

Cards to Entertain Three League Powers Under Lights in '63

When queried on title possibilities in the forthcoming West Suburban Conference football scramble, area buffs generally lean toward the outfits that finished 1-2-3 last fall.

Hinsdale (monotonous isn't it?), Downers Grove, and LaGrange all have solid support from conference appraisers, and it wouldn't surprise too many observers if this trio repeated in 1963.

It's nothing new for Hinsdale and LaGrange to be ranked among the pre-season favorites. Actually, the Red Devils and Lions have combined for twenty-one varsity football titles in West Suburban play.

LaGRANGE heads all schools with twelve gridiron crowns, four since 1950. Hinsdale has picked up nine titles and eight have come since 1951. The Devils currently are riding on a string of three straight flags.

Downers Grove is a relative newcomer to the ranks of the powerful in the West Suburban. The Trojans have won only two titles and have not grabbed a crown since 1949 although they've been among the leaders in recent years.

Hinsdale, LaGrange, and Downers Grove all will make appearances on the Arlington High School field this fall as the Cardinals enjoy one of their most attractive home schedules in many seasons.

1963 Schedule

VARSITY AND SOPH

Sat., Sept. 14, E. Leyden (T), 12:00
Sat., Sept. 21, York (T), 12:00
Fri., Sept. 27, Hinsdale (H), 6:00
Sat., Oct. 5, Maine East (T), 12:00
Fri., Oct. 11, Downers (H), 6:00
Fri., Oct. 18, LaGrange (H), 6:00
Sat., Oct. 26, Glenbard W. (T), 12:00
Fri., Nov. 1, Riverside (H), 6:00

HINSDALE will come to town on Friday evening, Sept. 27, for Booster Club Night. Downers Grove will be here Friday, Oct. 11, for Homecoming, and LaGrange will furnish the opposition on Dads' Night, Friday, Oct. 18.

Riverside - Brookfield rounds out the Cardinal home slate on Friday, Nov. 1.

Arlington will make road appearances at East Leyden (Saturday, Sept. 14); York (Saturday, Sept. 21); Maine East (Saturday, Oct. 5); and Glenbard West (Saturday, Oct. 26).

UNUSUAL aspects of Arlington's 1963 schedule are the Saturday encounter at Maine East and Friday fray with Riverside-Brookfield. Normally, games at Maine always are played on Friday evenings under the lights, and the season finales are staged on Saturday afternoons.

All varsity games on Saturday will be preceded by frosh-soph preliminaries at 12 noon. All Friday evening battles will be preceded by six o'clock preliminaries.

Arlington's head coach Al Allen and his staff sent the gridders through three drills daily at the outset of the week in preparation for the opener at East Leyden. The first four days of practice were spent on conditioning in accordance with Inter-Suburban league policy.

A rundown on personnel on the 1963 Cardinal varsity will appear in next week's soprts section.

Only Two Lettermen Back From Knights' '62 Interim Champs

With only two lettermen returning from last year's Interim League champions, Prospect High coach J. O. Jackson has a tough re-building job ahead of him before the Sept. 14 opener with North Chicago.

The Warhawks (9-0) won the Tri-County championship last year and should provide Jackson's untried juniors and seniors with some slam bang football in the opener.

The Knights will play an eight game schedule this year, their first in the newly formed Mid-Suburban League. Other entries include Forest View, Maine West, Glenbrook North, Deerfield and Glenbrook South. The latter will not compete on a varsity level this year.

PROSPECT FACES two more non-league opponents — Willowbrook and Proviso West—before the first conference game with Forest View on Oct. 4.

Besides Jim McMillan, a junior halfback, and Ron Kunz, an end, Jackson will have largely last year's junior varsity team which won seven and lost one last year.

Also back is Mike Robinson, a 300-pound lineman who came to Prospect last year as a transfer student from Notre Dame of Niles, but was ineligible for football.

Bob Mitchell, a transfer from California, should also help in the line.

UP FROM the Jayvee squad are quarterbacks Mike Phillips and Dave White; ends Greg Melzer and Greg Kowal; halfbacks Grant Gentry and Tom Clow; fullbacks Wayne Kuklinski and Rick Lytle; center Ken Johnson; tackle Steve Johnson; and guards Bill Murphy and Gary Cook.

About 35 boys turned out for varsity practice. Jackson expects to shift several between the varsity and jayvee squads before the season gets under way.

Race Tightens in Scratch Division

Only two points separate the top three teams in the Old Orchard Scratch golf league thanks to a stunning victory by 444 Press last week.

The eleventh place squad took six points from league-leading Arlington Realty and now Black's Memorial Home is just one-half marker shy of the coveted top position.

Black's took six and one-half points from Pitzen Movers, and third place Peters & Co. Realtors claimed five and one-half from the Beverly bowlers.

The top rounds were posted by Lou Sabo (35) and Bruno Waara (36). Dave Borgardt collected an eagle three on the 510 yard fifth hole.

The two-ball event at Vernon Hills Country Club will be played Sept. 15 instead of Sept. 8 as previously announced.

The standings:

Arlington Realty	70
Black's Memorial Home	69½
Peters & Co.	68
Colt Restaurant	63
Dean's Landscaping	59½
L-Nor Cleaners	59
Nelson Realty	56½
Lohr's Pharmacy	53½
Beverly Lanes	45
FBK, Inc.	45
444 Press	44
Pitzen Movers	38½

New Seats

Michigan State this summer replaced 10,000 seats in Spartan stadium, some of which dated back to the original stands built in 1924.

Falcons

he went with Russ Barger and Mike Griesman. Both boys are back but should get some competition for the job from Joe Mueller, a converted end who missed most of last season with a leg injury, and Dale LeFevre, a newcomer.

There are some transfers who should also help, including Jim Jenkins, a halfback from Kalamazoo, Mich.; Jim Gavros, a transfer from Chicago; and Georgis Bonazzo, an exchange student from Italy, who has soccer experience. Gavros and Bonazzo are ends.

The only injury so far is Chuck Lemke, a starting guard, who injured his right knee in a swimming mishap, and has not been able to practice.

CHICAGOLAND'S OWN challenger in Saturday's $200,000 Lassie at Arlington Park is Ye-Cats, owned by Arnold Winick of Glenview. The young filly joins groom Jim Norton and "Fluff" in learning about cats.

Arlington's head coach Al Allen and his staff sent the gridders through three drills daily at the outset of the week in preparation for the opener at East Leyden. The first four days of practice were spent on conditioning in accordance with Inter-Suburban league policy.

A rundown on personnel on the 1963 Cardinal varsity will appear in next week's soprts section.

Only Two Lettermen Back From Knights' '62 Interim Champs

With only two lettermen returning from last year's Interim League champions, Prospect High coach J. O. Jackson has a tough re-building job ahead of him before the Sept. 14 opener with North Chicago.

The Warhawks (9-0) won the Tri-County championship last year and should provide Jackson's untried juniors and seniors with some slam bang football in the opener.

The Knights will play an eight game schedule this year, their first in the newly formed Mid-Suburban League. Other entries include Forest View, Maine West, Glenbrook North, Deerfield and Glenbrook South. The latter will not compete on a varsity level this year.

PROSPECT FACES two more non-league opponents — Willowbrook and Proviso West—before the first conference game with Forest View on Oct. 4.

Besides Jim McMillan, a junior halfback, and Ron Kunz, an end, Jackson will have largely last year's junior varsity team which won seven and lost one last year.

Also back is Mike Robinson, a 300-pound lineman who came to Prospect last year as a transfer student from Notre Dame of Niles, but was ineligible for football.

Bob Mitchell, a transfer from California, should also help in the line.

About 35 boys turned out for varsity practice. Jackson expects to shift several between the varsity and jayvee squads before the season gets under way.

Race Tightens in Scratch Division

Only two points separate the top three teams in the Old Orchard Scratch golf league thanks to a stunning victory by 444 Press last week.

The eleventh place squad took six points from league-leading Arlington Realty and now Black's Memorial Home is just one-half marker shy of the coveted top position.

Black's took six and one-half points from Pitzen Movers, and third place Peters & Co. Realtors claimed five and one-half from the Beverly bowlers.

The top rounds were posted by Lou Sabo (35) and Bruno Waara (36). Dave Borgardt collected an eagle three on the 510 yard fifth hole.

The two-ball event at Vernon Hills Country Club will be played Sept. 15 instead of Sept. 8 as previously announced.

The standings:

Arlington Realty	70
Black's Memorial Home	69½
Peters & Co.	68
Colt Restaurant	63
Dean's Landscaping	59½
L-Nor Cleaners	59
Nelson Realty	56½
Lohr's Pharmacy	53½
Beverly Lanes	45
FBK, Inc.	45
444 Press	44
Pitzen Movers	38½

New Seats

Michigan State this summer replaced 10,000 seats in Spartan stadium, some of which dated back to the original stands built in 1924.

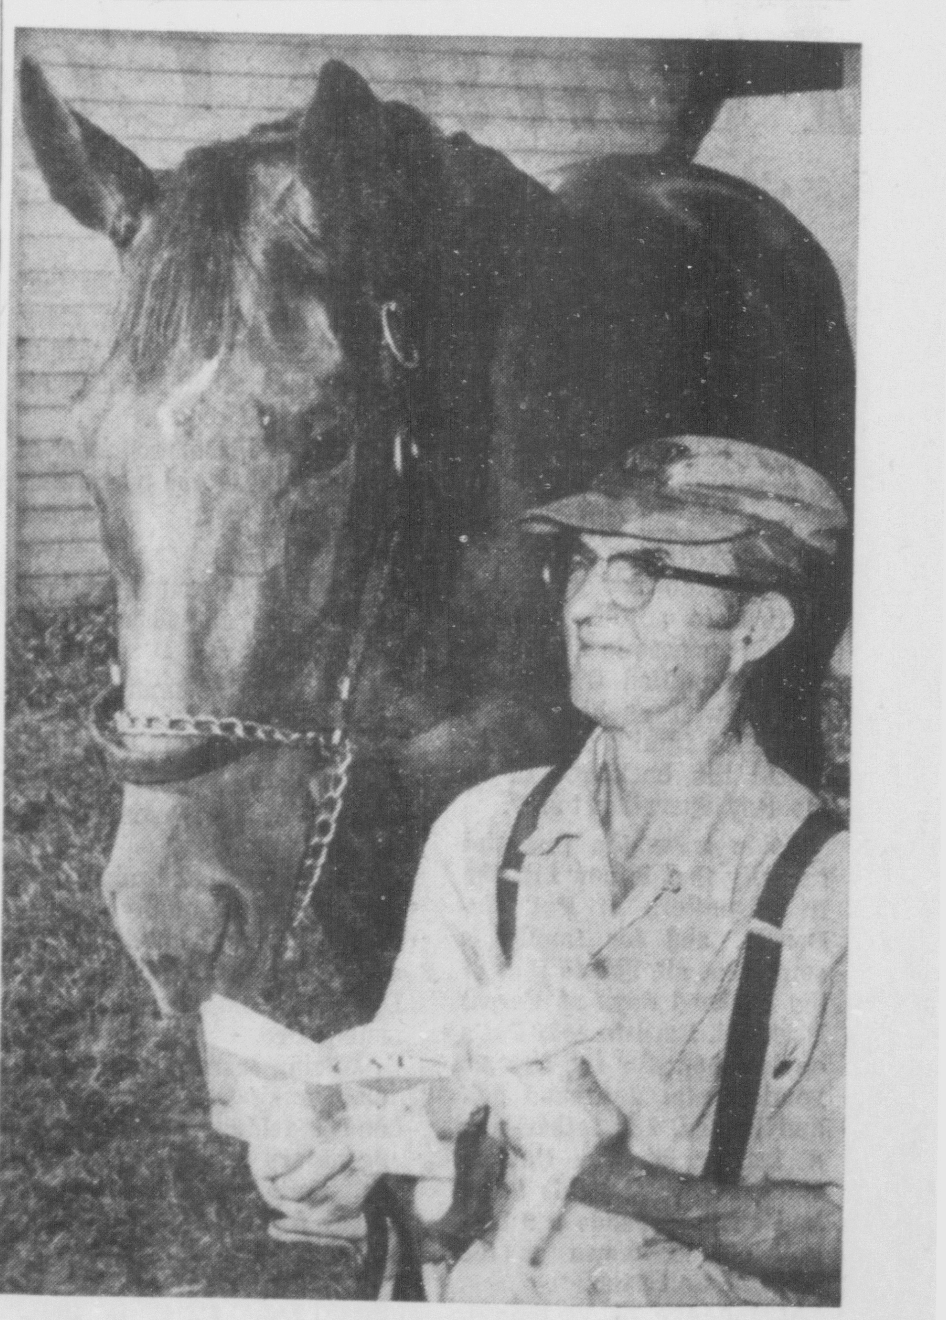
he went with Russ Barger and Mike Griesman. Both boys are back but should get some competition for the job from Joe Mueller, a converted end who missed most of last season with a leg injury, and Dale LeFevre, a newcomer.

There are some transfers who should also help, including Jim Jenkins, a halfback from Kalamazoo, Mich.; Jim Gavros, a transfer from Chicago; and Georgis Bonazzo, an exchange student from Italy, who has soccer experience. Gavros and Bonazzo are ends.

The only injury so far is Chuck Lemke, a starting guard, who injured his right knee in a swimming mishap, and has not been able to practice.



CHICAGOLAND'S OWN challenger in Saturday's $200,000 Lassie at Arlington Park is Ye-Cats, owned by Arnold Winick of Glenview. The young filly joins groom Jim Norton and "Fluff" in learning about cats.

HINTS TO SHARPEN your weather eye:

From the sad but true department, here's a good one. The further an outdoor enthusiast removes himself from the convenience of civilization, and the more exposed he is to the elements, the further he is also from modern weather prediction.

A few old weather myths are pretty good company when radar, barometers, hydrometers, hygrometers and a national warning network won't fit into the knapsack.

Foremost among all prediction instruments are the clouds. They consist of condensed water vapor in the air, but that doesn't always mean the water will come down. The first proverb to remember is, "The higher the clouds, the finer the weather."

But with this rule comes the first limitation. Apply it only to fleecy cumulus cloud forms.

Highest of all clouds, the cirrus, are often formed by upward air currents in front of a general storm. When the first silky strands give way to closely spaced, small, white patches, an old myth rings true:

"Mackerel scales and mares' tails make lofty ships carry low sails." The storm should come in a day or so.

More immediate warning comes on the front edge of the storm with lower and upper winds running in different directions: "Whene'er the clouds do weave 'twill storm before they leave."

Within the storm, the clouds drop lower and lower, prompting one outdoorsman to write, "When the mists begin to nod, fisher then put by your rod."

When clouds of an isolated thunderstorm develop it is good to remember that clouds developing before noon are more likely to yield rain than those developing in the afternoon, since continued heating of the ground will cause air to raise and condense its water within the cloud. At night, with ground cooling, these clouds will tend to shrink or disappear.

Clouds are a good key to the coming of rain and storm, but the rain itself often tells of its own passing.

Good gray goose-hunting days building up to a rain generally mean a long period of overcast and storm. Fast-developing storms will likely be gone as quickly as they came.

Intermittent sunshine and rain tell their own story: "Sunshine and shower, rain again tomorrow." A small raincloud often denotes local conditions of disturbance, so the same or worse conditions may be present on the following day.

Almost everything seen in the woods, fields, mountains, or in the outdoor camp, can speak of the coming weather.

Smoke from the campfire, for instance, can be a rain warning. Smoke cloud will hang low over the fire or drift slowly earthward when the atmospheere is moisture-laden and rising air currents are stifled — both common pre-rain conditions.

But the same conditions are also conducive to good hunting, since scent is not easily carried under damp conditions. Thus an old saying which deserves more than a grain of salt:

"If the smoke of a morning pipe hangs a long while in the air a good hunting day always follows."

Handier still in areas with any amount of standing water, your nose can tell you of a sharp drop in barometric pressure before a storm.

Gas from decaying deposits of leaves and plants forms bubbles in mud or under water. When the barometric pressure drops the bubbles expand and come to the surface more freely, making the surrounding area smell somewhat like dead fish.

Sound also carries better — though less offensively — in the dense, still atmosphere and low pressure before a storm.

Undeniably the most magnificent of prediction tools is the rising or setting sun. A brilliant red sunset or an evening rainbow foretell a fair day to follow, while the same signs in the morning hold forth nothing but gloom.

In rhyme form: "Evening red and morning gray/Help the traveller on his way;/Evening gray and morning red/bring down rain upon his head."

All the signs are best combined for dependability, and practice at home where mistakes aren't serious will give the outdoorsman a good indication of what success he may expect in the field.

It should be surprising.

Biggest Weekend Of Season Slated For O'Hare Track

The biggest and busiest weekend of auto racing for the 1963 season is coming up at O'Hare Stadium with stock cars slated for action Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights over the asphalt surface at Mannheim and Irving Park Rds. First race nightly is 8:30 p.m. There will be no races Friday.

Headlining the card Saturday will be the fourth annual O'Hare 200 lapper for late model convertibles. This longest race of the year with the exception of the "500" will feature a stellar field headed by current point leader Gene Marmor of River Grove and the winner of last year's race, Bill Lutz of Melrose Park.

Other leading threats include Terry Parker and Jerry LaBellow of Chicago's northwest side, Rob Chauncey of Elk Grove, Tom Armstrong of Glendale Heights, Ron Hieber of Franklin Park and Elmer Musgrave of Niles. Cadet action will also be presented.

The Cadets will have their "big one" of the year Sunday night. It will be a 100-lap Season Championship starting a field of at least 30 top amateur entries. Then Monday night, it'll be the 100-lap Season Championship for the late model converts. These two events will see the official crowning of the 1963 O'Hare Stadium driving champions.

16-Inch Crown Still Undecided

The final outcome of the Arlington Heights Park District league is still up in the air.

The game played between the Village and Tody's Lounge was a replay of a tie earlier in the season. This game was to decide one of the two things; if the Village won they would force a play-off for the championship with the Greens, or if they lost the Greens would have the title.

However, neither situation occurred. At the end of five innings, the score was tied and darkness was a prime factor. The umpires decided to play one more inning. The Village was up first and was retired without scoring when Tody's Lounge executed a double play. A rhubarb on the play followed in which one of the Village players was ejected from the game.

A few minutes later the official ruled the game a forfeit against the Village for too long of a delay in fielding a team for the last half of the sixth inning.

At present the outcome is pending the decision of an appeal filed by the Village team with the Umpires Protective Association of Chicago.

Should the appeal be denied, the Greens will win the championship with a 12-2 win record as compared to an 11-3 record for the Village.

Rained Out

Arlington's Hustlers were rained out Sunday in the season windup.

The area baseball representative, formed late in the summer, concluded play with one victory in four games.

Lions 6-11 in League

Now Larry Nomellini can relax until basketball season.

Larry completed another coaching assignment last week. His baseball Lions concluded play in the Winnemac Park baseball league.

The St. Viator High School coach "retires" now until the hardwood season opens in November.

Nomellini was satisfied with his squad's play in the Winnemac league, but, like any coach, he would have settled for a few more wins.

"WE LOST several close games," he reported. "Actually, we got what we expected out of playing in a league with older boys. Our younger players gained some poise that should help them next year."

The Lions of Arlington Heights, a group made up of freshmen and sophomores at St. Viator High School, registered a 6-11 record in league play against more advanced competition.

"We had our two remaining games cancelled," Nomellini added. "A game was rained out Saturday and we only got in three and one-half innings Friday against Wildwood, the league champion."

THE LIONS gave Wildwood a stiff argument for those three-plus frames, trailing only 3-2 when darkness set in.

John Loughman started on the hill, fanning six and allowing four hits. He was hit hard in the third when Wildwood pushed over its three runs.

The Lions scored single runs in the third and fourth. Dennis Wilkinson walked and scored on the lead end of a double steal in the third. Loughman rode across in the fourth after receiving a free pass. Bill Kaveny doubled, and a balk sent the pitcher home.

Kaveny had a single and double in the four innings. Dan Collins and Gary Drabant collected singles.

Lanes Edges Pioneers

The Arlington Lanes 16-inch softball team captured the Arlington Heights Park District Classic league championship by winning a close decision in its final game.

Matched against the Pioneers, Arlington Lanes needed a win to take the league crown. The contest was close all the way, with the lead changing hands three times. The Pioneers pulled up to within one run in the sixth inning, but were unable to score in the seventh.

So Arlington Lanes won its sixth one run victory, 7-6, plus its first softball title in as many tries.

Squirrel Hunting Dates Set

SPRINGFELD, ILL., (UPI)—Squirrel hunting season in the northern conservation zone of Illinois will begin at sunrise, Sept. 1, and end at sunset Oct. 31, the Illinois Department of Conservation announced this week.

Hunting hours are from sunrise until sunset every day of the season.

The daily kill limit is five squirrels and the possession limit is 10 squirrels, except that on the first day of the season the daily limit and the possession limit are both five squirrels.

It is unlawful to kill white squirrels in Illinois.

The northern conservation zone includes all counties north of Calhoun, Jersey, Madison, Bond, Fayette, Effingham, Jasper, and Crawford.

St. Viator Prepares For Sept. 15 Opener With DeSales Eleven

An ambitious nine-game schedule faces St. Viator's varsity football Lions this fall with the opener only two weeks away.

Gradually taking shape under the guidance of head coach Joe Gliwa St. Viator will launch its campaign on Sunday, Sept. 15, against St. Francis DeSales.

Gliwa's Lions will play eight of its games on Sunday. Only a trip to Little Flower on Sept. 21 will be staged on Saturday.

GLIWA AND HIS staff have been working with approximately 200 candidates on all levels. Assistant coach Frank Mariani estimated at the outset of the week that there were 65 candidates on the varsity, 35 on the sophomores, and 90 with the freshmen.

"We've been adding more freshmen this week," Mariani said.

The sophomores will get underway in the preliminary with St. Francis while the frosh are scheduled to kick off their campaign against Glenbrook Saturday, Oct. 5.

GLIWA, MARIANI, Bob Zember, and Tom Hanson comprise the coaching staff at St. Viator with Gliwa and Mariani working directly with the varsity candidates.

Gliwa is in his first year as head man of the varsity Lions after working as the varsity line coach at Holy Trinity High School, his alma mater. He is the third head varsity coach at St. Viator in the school's three years.

Following the home opener with St. Francis DeSales on Sunday, Sept. 15, St. Viator will journey to Little Flower for soph and varsity frays Saturday, Sept. 21.

THE LIONS hit the road again Sunday, Sept. 29, for a battle with St. Edward of Elgin, and they will be seeking some revenge in that contest. St. Ed's belted the locals, 47-0, last fall, handing them their first reversals in three outings.

Five straight Sundays of Chicagoland Prep league competition follow the trip to Elgin with St. Mel (Oct. 6), St. Patrick (Oct. 13), DeLaSalle (Oct. 20), St. George (Oct. 27), and Holy Cross (Nov. 3).

The games with St. Patrick DeLaSalle, and St. George will be played before the home fans.

St. Viator concludes the 1963 season with a trip to Rockford Boylan Central on Sunday, Nov. 10. Boylan whipped the Lions, 26-13, in last year's finale.

Waterfowl Seasons Liberalized; Bigger Bag Limits Revealed

Duck hunters in the Mississippi Flyway will have bigger bag limits and a longer season to look forward to this fall.

Some restrictions remain on species of ducks still in short supply but the daily limit of four ducks and the possession limit of eight is double that of 1962, the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Department of the Interior, said today.

States in the Mississippi Flyway will have the option of choosing a duck season of 35 consecutive days or split seasons totaling 32 days. The states will select their seasons within the extended period starting Oct. 5 and ending Jan. 5.

THE DAILY BAG limit on mallards and black ducks will be two mallards or two blacks or one of each, with the possession limit set at four. Hunters in this flyway are also allowed a bag and possession limit of two wood ducks, the same as in 1962.

Last year's bonus season on scaup (bluebill) ducks throughout the flyway was restricted this year, with only that portion of Louisiana below Highway 190 being open to extra scaup in the bag. The restriction was made to protect diving ducks, primarily the canvasback, redhead and ringneck, now at low population levels.

Despite an increase in canvasback and redhead populations this summer, these species are still 10 to 15 per cent below average in numbers and a closed season on them was ordered.

THE DAILY bag and possession limit on coot was increased to eight and 16 this year as a result of relatively high cost production on the major breeding grounds.

Restrictions were continued on mallard and black duck, the Bureau said, because these species have not fully recovered from all-time lows in 1962. The Bureau hopes to increase the breeding populations of these ducks by at least 10 per cent in 1964 to take advantage of the improved water conditions in Canada.

Average mallard production—about 1.3 young per adult— is anticipated this year. The abnormally low 1963 breeding population, coupled with delayed improvements in much of the Canadian breeding grounds this summer forecast only a moderate increase in the mallard flight this fall.

THE STAGE IS set for the comeback of the mallard and other scarce ducks in 1964, the Bureau added, but 1963 is not the year to kill off all the actors.

Mississippi Flyway states may also select a 70-day goose season, consecutive or split, within the period Oct. 1 to Jan. 15. The daily bag and possession limit on geese will be five.

The goose limit may not include more than two Canadas or its subspecies, or one Canada or its subspecies and one whitefront goose, or one whitefront. The Canada goose season will remain closed this year in Louisiana and Arkansas, where attempts to re-establish wintering grounds for Canadas are being continued.

Goose kill quotas established by the Bureau in Conjunction with the state conservation department include a quota of 12,000 for the so-called Horicon area in Wisconsin, 20,000 for the Horseshoe Lake area in Illinois and 25,000 for the Swan Lake area in Missouri.

WISCONSIN has been allowed to set two separate goose seasons, one for the Horicon area and another for the remainder of the state. The Bureau also approved a request by Wisconsin to open the goose season in the Horicon area as early as Sept. 20.

Tennis Club Falls

Arlington's Tennis Club concluded its summer competition in the North and West Suburban league by falling in two matches last weekend.

Wheaton handled the locals 4-3 in the battle for the "B" division championship although Arlington won three of the five singles tests.

Des Plaines toppled Arlington 3-2 in the playoff for third place in the women's division .

Registering singles wins for Arlington against Wheaton were Bill Thompson (6-3, 7-5 over Ken Blewitt), Don Johnson (6-2, 2-6, 6-4 over Wes Dusek), and Bob Sir (7-5, 6-3 over John Teas).

Wheaton wrapped up wins in both doubles matches for the victory.

SARI'S SONG, California two-year-old filly champion, passes her "physical" from Veterinarian Harvey Tableman. Sari's Song will be early favorite Saturday in Arlington Park's $200,000 Lassie, world's richest race for fillies.

Prospect Harriers Get Ready

With seven returning lettermen among 22 varsity candidates, Prospect High cross country coach Dick Calisch will have to go some to improve on his 6-0-1 record last season.

Although his team was unbeaten, the Knights still managed to finish second in the 13-team Interim Conference. The rare tie prvented a share of the championship with Willowbrook.

Returning lettermen include seniors Bob Carr, Ed Schuppenhauer and Dave Thomas, plus juniors Gary York, Gust Filantres, and Ed and George Schneider.

Joe Wanner will coach the frosh-soph team which starts practice Tuesday.

Weather— Fair Wind And Foul

(This is another in a series of articles directed to the operator of a small boat. These articles have been prepared by the public relations office of the Waukegan Power Squadron, a unit of the United States Power Squadrons, a nationwide organization dedicated to the promotion of safety afloat.)

by ALFRED RICHTER

Jokes and jingles galore have been written about the weather, and the changes of weather have been the butt of jests for generations. But weather is a serious topic to the boatman, for the sea has no sense of humor, and she is a dangerous enemy in foul weather.

Weather is so important that the United States Power Squadrons, a national organization dedicated to safety at sea, teaches a special course on the subject for its members. But weather also is discussed in the free piloting classes which are open to the public.

Good weather means joyous days afloat, cool evenings, and pleasant sleeping on a gently rolling craft. But when you see dark thunderhead clouds gathering in the sky, stay in port. If you are cruising when they begin piling up, head for the nearest shelter in a hurry and go out again only after it clears, regardless of the comments of your passengers. There are very few old, reckless yachtsmen.

IF A SUDDEN storm or squall strikes before you can reach a protected area, have everyone sit on the bottom of the boat (in a cruiser, go below into the cabins) to keep the center of gravity as low as possible. Head the boat into the storm and slacken speed to the point where the vessel is just making headway. If the motor conks out, drop an anchor overboard on a long, long line.

How do you know what the weather will be like? First, you can call the nearest Weather Bureau or Coast Guard station before you leave port. Radio stations broadcast weather forecasts at regular intervals, and as a last resort, ask local people or check the daily newspaper.

But one thing is certain: when the yacht club or Coast Guard station is flying a small craft or storm warning flag, it's no time to be offshore in a small boat. At night, these stations use red and white lanterns to send out warnings.

UNDER THE present system, a small red pennant (triangular flag) is the "small craft" warning (winds up to 38 m.p.h.), and its equivalent night signal is a red light over white.

If there are two red pennants, it signifies a "gale" (winds up to 54 m.p.h.). At night a white light over a red one means the same thing.

Whole gale (winds up to 73 m.p.h.) is signified by a square red flag with a small black square in the middle. At night this is shown by two red lights, one above the other.

Old Orchard Ladies League

Event of the day in the Old Orchard ladies golf league was Two-Ball Foursome, Low Net and Low Gross.

Winners on the sporty nine were Harriet Rahn and Kay Cashmore (low net) and Elsie Kusch and Esther Phillips (low gross).

Winners on the first nine were Pat Sullivan and Evelyn Sage (low net) and Shirley Sumner and June Nebel (low gross).

Beverly Lanes Classic Again 8-Team League

The Beverly Lanes Classic Bowling league will again operate as an eight-team unit, it was announced this week by manager Les Zikes, Jr.

The league team average will range from 910 to 929 with four new squads this year.

There are a few openings for men averaging 180 and up. Contact Beverly Lanes at CLearbrook 3-5238 for any information.

Double Win Over Yanks Gives Nats Little League Title

The Senators won the Mount Prospect Little League Minor A championship last week with a double win over the Yankees behind the pitching of Rick Christopher and John Sullens and the timely hitting of Scott Szala.

The Senators, managed by George Spanske, turned in a 15-1 season record. The only loss was administered earlier this year by Pete Petran's Yanks.

Christopher fired a three-hitter to win the first game, 7-0. He walked five and struck out eight in outdueling Kurt Koentopp, who gave up seven hits, walked six and fanned seven.

John Schanken, who crashed out three hits including a double, led the Senator attack, and also contributed an outstanding defensive game behind the plate.

Bill Weise, George Spanske, Jeff Boyle, Ken Mikolajczyk, Tim Gaffney, Bruce Borge, Szala and Sullens helped Christopher in the field.

Szala and Weise blasted triples and Boyle had a double. McKay led the Yankee attack with two hits.

Szala clouted a pair of homers and a single to pace the seven-hit Nat attack in the second game which they won, 12-10.

Sullens (two hits) faned 13 in picking up the win. Frantell took the loss. Dooley's two hits led the Yanks. Frantell also had a triple.

Szala and Schanken turned in fine plays in the outfield.

It's Official! Goetz Wins Title

Goetz Upholstery is the champion of the Friday night golf league at Arlington Country Club.

Goetz has an insurmountable lead now with only one more night remaining in the 1963 season.

There still is a stiff battle for second and third to headline the concluding activity.

Paul Forslund had the best nine of the season with a 35. His card showed four birds, four bogies and one par for a par 35 on the back nine. He used only nine putts and his birds were the results of chipins off the greens from 10 to 30 yards.

Forslund also won low net with a 26. Other birdie shooters were Erven on 14 and 16, Barnett on 13 and 14, Abrahamson and Knight on 17, Helfers on 11, and Foster on 14 and 17.

Top Area Bowler

Les Zikes Named Beverly Manager

Les Zikes, Jr., one of the leading bowlers in the Chicago area, has been named manager of Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights.

Zikes replaces Walter Schwaller, who has resigned.

The new Beverly Lanes manager is a member of the Old Fitzgerald team in the Chicago Classic league, the ABC and Illinois State champion. He also is one of nine bowlers on the United States team that will bowl in the world tournament in Mexico City in November.

ZIKES ALSO will bowl with the Morton Pontiac team in the Paddock Classic league. Beverly Lanes is a franchise holder in this division.

"Our goal at Beverly Lanes," says Zikes, "is to create a friendly atmosphere so the bowler will enjoy coming here. We will have tournament conditions on the lanes at all times. We will have programs to help the beginning bowlers, and there always is someone to help the regular bowler."

Beverly Lanes has added many improvements over the year with the lanes completely resurfaced for tournament conditions. The AMF "Sparemaker" also has been installed.

ZIKES ALSO will bowl with the Morton Pontiac team in the Paddock Classic league. Beverly Lanes is a franchise holder in this division.

"Our goal at Beverly Lanes," says Zikes, "is to create a friendly atmosphere so the bowler will enjoy coming here. We will have tournament conditions on the lanes at all times. We will have programs to help the beginning bowlers, and there always is someone to help the regular bowler."

Beverly Lanes has added many improvements over the year with the lanes completely resurfaced for tournament conditions. The AMF "Sparemaker" also has been installed.

Bill McCallum Cops Low Net, Gross Awards

Weather has been a problem on and off for the last four weeks in the St. Emily's golf league and last Friday night was no exception.

Play started under overcast skies and high humidity, and before the night was over the players once again got a taste of rain during their rounds.

The heavy air did nothing to improve scores with no one breaking that magic 40. Larry Quinnette, Larry Zysko, and Bill McCallum all turned in respectable 41s to tie for low gross for the night.

QUINNETTE HAD a one over par going into the eighth hole but it proved to be a jinx for him or he would have easily broken the 40's. Zysko had a very erratic beginning but finished strong to earn his share of low gross.

McCallum has been "a long time coming" this season, but he was red hot last week and finished in a tie for low gross and low net (30). Bill captains Thunderbird Bowl.

The Bank gained one-half point on its lead and this leaves the pace-setters 27½ points in front of the nearest contender. However, there is a tight battle for second with only seven and one-half points separating fifth from second.

J & B VILLAGE Market and Keefer's Pharmacy, who started the night tied with 90 points, concluded activity by winning seven markers for a one-point bulge. Jim's Standard had rough going and only picked up four and one-half markers, slipping to fourth.

There were six birds scored by Ed Miller, Ray Braun, Jay Wcislo, Ed Wagner, Dick Wallner, and Bill McCallum.

The real battle of the night was supposed to be between Paul Seleski and his son, Mike. The stage was set, but Mike moved off to a slow start. It looked like a cinch for Dad, but Mike came back strong and tied the score heading into the ninth.

Paul's experience showed forth on No. 9. It had to as he had given his son a stroke and needed two to beat him. He got those two.

Safford Shocks Illinois Range In Golf Action

Safford Stamps, content to playing the role of runnerup for most of the season, climbed to within one point of the lead last week in St. Raymond's golf competition.

Safford trounced Illinois Range and now rests only one marker behind the team that tied for the title in Paddock Publications' tournament.

League No. 2 has Meeske's in first place with a comfortable lead over second place McMahon's. However, the league leaders are not home free as they must play Ackerman Insurance, the loop's hottest team, on the final night of play.

Thursday will mark the final night of league competition and will determine the leaders in each league. The leaders then will play for the St. Raymond's championship.

Leaders Fall, Race Tightens Even More In Tuesday Division

One-sixth of a point separated the top two teams of the Tuesday division of the Mount Prospect Twilight league last week as Kruse's Tavern and Restaurant lost its second consecutive crucial match while the pursuers, second place Annen and Busse, triumphed.

Phil's Pure Oil, by virtue of a spectacular contribution by "A" player Andy Raab, played the role of spoilers in Kruse's drive for the championship as they defeated the Schlitzers 6½-3½.

Raab scored a 39 which, coupled with his eight handicap, gave him a net of 31 and two points in his match with Freddie Jilek plus a bonus point for low individual net. Jilek, playing his usual steady game, turned in a 42 but his handicap of 6 was too low to do him any good.

RESULTS OF the other Kruse matches indicate that the old leveler, handicap, was finally catching up with the Schlitzers. Kruse's top point winner, "C" player Don Snyder, possessor of a seven handicap, came home with a 40, but the effort gained him but ½ point as George Laubenheimer with a 46 and a 10 handicap took 1½ points in their match. "D" players Art Skelton and Clyde Peterson, with about equal handicaps tied their match with one point each.

Only big winner for the Schlitzers was "E" player Roy Stevens, who gained two points in his match with Ernie Hagberg.

Phil's Oil was awarded the final point for low team individual net.

ACTUALLY THE odds favored Annen and Busse to gain a few points on Kruse's in this semi-final match of the season inasmuch as the schedule called for the Realtors to take on the weak Mount Prospect Bowling Lanes team. They quickly took full advantage of the opportunity and had no trouble picking up seven points to their opponents' three.

"A" player Glenn Adams scored all the points for the Bvowling Lanes, coming in with the low score of the session, a 37 over the back nine.

The scene is now set for the big payoff as Kruse's meet Annen and Busse on the final night of play. Statistically, the title will have to go to one of these two teams as none of the others can possibly accumulate enough points to capture first place.

THE BIG BATTLE now is for the second and third place trophies. Keefer's Pharmacy chalked up another victory, an 8-2 win over Licht's Paint Store and remained in third. Their claim to this position was sharply challenged by the amazing Wille Lumber team who annihilated Golden Isle Restaurant 9½-½. The Lumbermen have now accumulated 29½ points in three nights of play which must be some sort of league record.

In the remaining matches Kirchhoff Insurance moved up a couple of notches in the league standings after its decisive 8-2 victory over Mount Prospect Electric Construction Co. Finally, Winkelman's Shell Service fought Illinois Range to a 5-5 deadlock.

Low shooters for the night were Glenn Adams with a 37 and Andy Raab with a 39.

Birdies were reported by A. Raab No. 4, G. Laubenheimer No. 7, G. Adams and K. Shipley No. 10, C. Robinson No. 10 and 13, and Bud Springer No. 13.

Morton's Golfers Hold Big Lead in Monday Night Play

Morton Pontiac holds a big lead with only one more night remaining in the Monday night league at Mount Prospect Country Club.

Morton took eight points for the second straight week, and Carl's Food Shop picked up eight to move into third place.

Moler's Barber Shop, the most improved team in the league, also picked up eight markers and has a chance to move into third. The top three teams will get trophies.

Len Arnold took low gross with a 38, and Art Peterson headed low net with 47-17-30.

Posting birdies were Howard Ross, Dave Brome, H. S. Feige, Doug Sturgeon, and George Dresser.

Gus Knaack picked up two points, but Jack Flick collected three to throw the tight battle for the individual point award into a tie. Both men have 26 points. Dick Fox is next in line with 23.

Pro Sport's Golfers Claim 5-Point Lead In Friday Division

Playing the same fine golf that saw them finish in a tie for third in the recent Paddock Publications tournament, the Pro Sport Shop five, led by Captain Erwin Kokes, last Friday Night piled up a 9:5 to 2.5 victory over the FBK Realtors and now holds a five point lead with only one week's play left in the Friday Night Twilight League at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

It was a team victory all the way as every one of the Pro Sport Shoppers either won or halved his match to help maintain the five point bulge they own over Dick Piehl and his second place Jim's Standard Servicemen.

Captain Erwin Kokes led the way for his Pro Sport Shoppers as he downed Ken Borrows with a 41 that included a birdie on the long 443 par four second at Mount Prospect.

TEAMMATE Herman Falldin followed suit with a fine gross 40 - net 33 to beat Bob Gits of the F.B.K. Realtors. Holmes McLendon and Joe Graffeo also won their matches, while John Burck halved his match with Ken Arnold.

With only one more night of competition left in the 1963 season, the leaders for most of the season, Captain Dick Piehl and his Jim's Standard Servicemen, are beginning to wonder if time has not already run out on them.

Determined to cut into the leader's lead, Dick Piehl led his Jim's Standard Servicement to a 8.5 to 2.4 victory over Dick Wood's Doyno Motors quintet but the best they could do was to gain one point in their race for the lead.

The long hitting Piehl fired one of the best rounds of the season as he toured the tough back nine at Mount Prospect in a par 35 that included birdies on the 268 yard 13th and the 341 yard 18th. Although teammates Joe Kubik and Dick Stone both won their matches and Walt Czeropski halved his match, the effort was not good enough to gain substantial ground on the leader.

ALTHOUGH beaten by Joe Kubik, Ed Berset made his match close with a birdie 3 on Mount Prospect's 268 yard 13th.

Moving from fifth to third in the standings were the Meeske Super Marketeers led by Captain Ken Sophie as they downed Stan Shaw's Keefer Pharmacists 7 to 4.

The outstanding performance in this move into contention was carded by Bert Hillstrom when he fired a fine 39 over Mount Prospect's back nine.

Another big move in the standings was turned in by Captain Bill Harner and his Arlington Cameramen as they leaped from seventh to fourth in the standings with a 7.5 to 3.5 win over Ray Felitto's Wille Fuel and Lumbermen.

CAPTAIN Bill Harner showed the way with his fine 37 while No. 2 man Bob Harrison carded a gross 39, net 30 to win his match from Lumberman Dick Haden.

Matching Dick Piehl's great performance was Captain Dudley Hartman of the Esquire Barbers who downed Joe Wylie of the Williams Gray Co. five with a par 35 on the front nine at Mount Prospect. Hartman's par performance included birds on the 160 yard seventh and the 285 yard ninth.

Pinch-Hitter Aids C.P. in Golf Victory

C. P. Floor edged Gunnell's 4½ to 2½ in the Rob Roy Tuesday league thanks to pinch-hitter Filluing's 44-9-35 performance.

The win stretched C. P.'s lead from 7½ to ten points as Joy-Di tumbled to the service station squad, 5-2.

Only 14 points remain unaccounted for, and C. P's 10-point lead leaves them requiring any combination of four to close the door on first place.

Second and third places are also cash-in positions and five other teams are very much in contention. That includes the teams down to the barbers who knocked off the golf center, 5-2. Tom Brogan's 34 made the one-two punch for the winners.

BORCHARDT'S moved into third by beating the pharmacy team, 5-2, on Leo Kazmierzak's fine 40-5-35. The winners have moved from 12th place, where they spent the first four weeks, to third only one and one-half points out of second.

L-Nor Cleaners made it four straight wins by turning back Kelter Realty 4½ to 2½. Leading the squad to victory was captain and sponsor Virgil Rolfs with a 40-4-36.

Webber Paint, behind Warren Erven and Stan Pieterzak, subdued Rankin Radio 5-2. Rodewald Dairy bested Kirchhoff Insurance 5-2, but had one of the hottest matches of the season ending in a deadlock. The players involved were Bert Casteel and Wayne Rolfs whose cards read like this:

Par	443 544 444—36
Casteel	444 545 444—38-3-35
Rolfs	443 554 445—38-3-35

The tie left the balance of the scoring to the remaining three teammates on each team and Joe Zanini came through for the dairy men with a 41-4-37.

The team play was unusually tight this week. Normally two or three teams wind up within three or four strokes in team total. This week there was one tie and four matches were within four strokes.

Players are requested to register for the banquet and Sundat 18-hole tournament.

Jake's Pizza Handles Wille For Loop Title

Jake's Pizza captured the team championship for the second straight year in the Mount Prospect Park District softball league.

Jake's whipped Wille's Tavern 16-13 to remain unbeaten during the entire playoff.

The Second Division crown will not be determined until Thursday night, Aug. 29, when a playoff will be held between Stan's Standard and Lincoln Loggers.

Stan's defeated Lincoln Loggers Monday evening, 12-6.

St. Colette Golf

Quadriga Claims 2nd Round Title

Quadriga Manufacturing Co. won the second round title in the St. Colette golf league by edging second place Clark Brass, 3½ to 2½.

The difference of one point was accounted for on a win by Simonsen. Dack, Ulbrich, and Dolleslager tied their matches.

Jim's Service took possession of second place by whipping F. J. Die Mold 5½ to ½. Schramm, Cremerius, and Schwartz won their matches while Niesen tied his. Schramm's low net of 38-6-32 accounted for Jim's extra point.

Clark Brass, Quality Steel and Bugiel's Bakery ended in a tie for third place while first round winner F. J. Die Mold dropped to seventh.

An 18-hole playoff between the winner of the first round, F. J. Die Mold, and second round winner Quadriga is 37-2-35 and Bill Keppen's 43-9-two teams will battle for eight points and the league trophy.

The division tournament will be held October 5th at Old Orchard Country Club followed by a banquet in the event. All league members, former members, sponsors and friends are invited to play in the tournament and attend the banquet.

The standings:

Their claim to this position was sharply challenged by the amazing Wille Lumber team who annihilated Golden Isle Restaurant 9½-½. The Lumbermen have now accumulated 29½ points in three nights of play which must be some sort of league record.

In the remaining matches Kirchhoff Insurance moved up a couple of notches in the league standings after its decisive 8-2 victory over Mount Prospect Electric Construction Co. Finally, Winkelman's Shell Service fought Illinois Range to a 5-5 deadlock.

Low shooters for the night were Glenn Adams with a 37 and Andy Raab with a 39.

Birdies were reported by A. Raab No. 4, G. Laubenheimer No. 7, G. Adams and K. Shipley No. 10, C. Robinson No. 10 and 13, and Bud Springer No. 13.

Team standings August 20:

Morton's Golfers Hold Big Lead in Monday Night Play

Morton Pontiac holds a big lead with only one more night remaining in the Monday night league at Mount Prospect Country Club.

Morton took eight points for the second straight week, and Carl's Food Shop picked up eight to move into third place.

Moler's Barber Shop, the most improved team in the league, also picked up eight markers and has a chance to move into third. The top three teams will get trophies.

Len Arnold took low gross with a 38, and Art Peterson headed low net with 47-17-30.

Posting birdies were Howard Ross, Dave Brome, H. S. Feige, Doug Sturgeon, and George Dresser.

Gus Knaack picked up two points, but Jack Flick collected three to throw the tight battle for the individual point award into a tie. Both men have 26 points. Dick Fox is next in line with 23.

The standings:

Pinch-Hitter Aids C.P. in Golf Victory

C. P. Floor edged Gunnell's 4½ to 2½ in the Rob Roy Tuesday league thanks to pinch-hitter Filluing's 44-9-35 performance.

The win stretched C. P.'s lead from 7½ to ten points as Joy-Di tumbled to the service station squad, 5-2.

Only 14 points remain unaccounted for, and C. P's 10-point lead leaves them requiring any combination of four to close the door on first place.

Second and third places are also cash-in positions and five other teams are very much in contention. That includes the teams down to the barbers who knocked off the golf center, 5-2. Tom Brogan's 34 made the one-two punch for the winners.

BORCHARDT'S moved into third by beating the pharmacy team, 5-2, on Leo Kazmierzak's fine 40-5-35. The winners have moved from 12th place, where they spent the first four weeks, to third only one and one-half points out of second.

L-Nor Cleaners made it four straight wins by turning back Kelter Realty 4½ to 2½. Leading the squad to victory was captain and sponsor Virgil Rolfs with a 40-4-36.

Webber Paint, behind Warren Erven and Stan Pieterzak, subdued Rankin Radio 5-2. Rodewald Dairy bested Kirchhoff Insurance 5-2, but had one of the hottest matches of the season ending in a deadlock. The players involved were Bert Casteel and Wayne Rolfs whose cards read like this:

Par	443 544 444—36
Casteel	444 545 444—38-3-35
Rolfs	443 554 445—38-3-35

The tie left the balance of the scoring to the remaining three teammates on each team and Joe Zanini came through for the dairy men with a 41-4-37.

The team play was unusually tight this week. Normally two or three teams wind up within three or four strokes in team total. This week there was one tie and four matches were within four strokes.

Players are requested to register for the banquet and Sundat 18-hole tournament.

The standings:

Pro Sport's Golfers Claim 5-Point Lead In Friday Division

Playing the same fine golf that saw them finish in a tie for third in the recent Paddock Publications tournament, the Pro Sport Shop five, led by Captain Erwin Kokes, last Friday Night piled up a 9:5 to 2.5 victory over the FBK Realtors and now holds a five point lead with only one week's play left in the Friday Night Twilight League at the Mount Prospect Country Club.

It was a team victory all the way as every one of the Pro Sport Shoppers either won or halved his match to help maintain the five point bulge they own over Dick Piehl and his second place Jim's Standard Servicemen.

Captain Erwin Kokes led the way for his Pro Sport Shoppers as he downed Ken Borrows with a 41 that included a birdie on the long 443 par four second at Mount Prospect.

TEAMMATE Herman Falldin followed suit with a fine gross 40 - net 33 to beat Bob Gits of the F.B.K. Realtors. Holmes McLendon and Joe Graffeo also won their matches, while John Burck halved his match with Ken Arnold.

With only one more night of competition left in the 1963 season, the leaders for most of the season, Captain Dick Piehl and his Jim's Standard Servicemen, are beginning to wonder if time has not already run out on them.

Determined to cut into the leader's lead, Dick Piehl led his Jim's Standard Servicement to a 8.5 to 2.4 victory over Dick Wood's Doyno Motors quintet but the best they could do was to gain one point in their race for the lead.

The long hitting Piehl fired one of the best rounds of the season as he toured the tough back nine at Mount Prospect in a par 35 that included birdies on the 268 yard 13th and the 341 yard 18th. Although teammates Joe Kubik and Dick Stone both won their matches and Walt Czeropski halved his match, the effort was not good enough to gain substantial ground on the leader.

ALTHOUGH beaten by Joe Kubik, Ed Berset made his match close with a birdie 3 on Mount Prospect's 268 yard 13th.

Moving from fifth to third in the standings were the Meeske Super Marketeers led by Captain Ken Sophie as they downed Stan Shaw's Keefer Pharmacists 7 to 4.

The outstanding performance in this move into contention was carded by Bert Hillstrom when he fired a fine 39 over Mount Prospect's back nine.

Another big move in the standings was turned in by Captain Bill Harner and his Arlington Cameramen as they leaped from seventh to fourth in the standings with a 7.5 to 3.5 win over Ray Felitto's Wille Fuel and Lumbermen.

CAPTAIN Bill Harner showed the way with his fine 37 while No. 2 man Bob Harrison carded a gross 39, net 30 to win his match from Lumberman Dick Haden.

Matching Dick Piehl's great performance was Captain Dudley Hartman of the Esquire Barbers who downed Joe Wylie of the Williams Gray Co. five with a par 35 on the front nine at Mount Prospect. Hartman's par performance included birds on the 160 yard seventh and the 285 yard ninth.

St. Colette Golf

Quadriga Claims 2nd Round Title

Quadriga Manufacturing Co. won the second round title in the St. Colette golf league by edging second place Clark Brass, 3½ to 2½.

The difference of one point was accounted for on a win by Simonsen. Dack, Ulbrich, and Dolleslager tied their matches.

Jim's Service took possession of second place by whipping F. J. Die Mold 5½ to ½. Schramm, Cremerius, and Schwartz won their matches while Niesen tied his. Schramm's low net of 38-6-32 accounted for Jim's extra point.

Clark Brass, Quality Steel and Bugiel's Bakery ended in a tie for third place while first round winner F. J. Die Mold dropped to seventh.

An 18-hole playoff between the winner of the first round, F. J. Die Mold, and second round winner Quadriga is 37-2-35 and Bill Keppen's 43-9- two teams will battle for eight points and the league trophy.

The division tournament will be held October 5th at Old Orchard Country Club followed by a banquet in the event. All league members, former members, sponsors and friends are invited to play in the tournament and attend the banquet.

The standings:

Quadriga Mfg. Co.	30½

The Way We See It

Annexation Dispute

A curious sort of land rush for unincorporated acreage has fired an annexation dispute between two northwest suburban communities which may eventually have far-reaching impact on the future development of north Cook County.

The argument between Hoffman Estates and South Barrington has been heard in Circuit and Superior Courts and centers over a proposed 700-acre subdivision called Howie-in-the-Hills.

Despite protests from South Barrington, Hoffman Estates "jumped" the toll road and annexed the area, a move which prompted South Barrington to challenge the legality of the annexation. The lower courts have disallowed the Hoffman annexation, and the county is standing watch over the foundations which bear voided Hoffman Estates building permits. The final ruling will probably be made by the Illinois Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, each community claims that most of the inhabitants of the disputed area want to incorporate in the claimant's village.

There is more at stake here than merely 700 acres and a dozen Howie-in-the-Hills basements:

—What effect will this litigation have on the growth of other villages? If Hoffman Estates is not allowed to "jump" the tollway, will expansion of suburbs such as Wheeling, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, and Elk Grove Village be similarly restricted?

—Illinois is much less restrictive about annexations than some states. Is it time for the state to develop tighter controls to curb villages which attempt to extend far beyond their existing population centers?

—Basic to the controversy is determination of the future "character" of the contested area. Howie-in-the-Hills is only part of the undeveloped southwest corner of Palatine Township; the annexation decision might suggest the future of an area two-and-a-half miles wide and three miles long.

Hoffman Estates citizens are respectable, taxpaying suburbanites whose homes are built on considerably less acreage than that which supports the "country estate" domiciles of South Barrington gentry. Annexation of the land to Hoffman would mean slicing Howie's hills into plots — some as small as a quarter acre — rather than the full acre sites required by county zoning or the five acre minimum of South Barrington.

One Hoffman village trustee has said that land owners will get double their return if the land stays with Hoffman Estates.

South Barrington also wants the acreage but would rather leave Howie to the hills. It would like to see the land developed into "estate" sites comparable to those already within the rural community which sprawls across two northwest townships. These residents are anxious to protect their investments from any depreciating factors; ironically, Hoffman Estates has been disturbed at Elk Grove Village's westward expansion for much the same reason — smaller lot sizes!

The eventual development of the area may not be decided at all by the courts or philosophic debate. For ultimately, the land buyers will have to meet the demands of the metropolitan housing market. If there are enough clients interested in buying seed and fertilizer by the truckload, then perhaps full-acre tracts will remain. If, however, the purchaser's mortgaging power is limited to smaller sites, unincorporated areas such as this will eventually become typical blocks of homes, schools, churches, and shopping centers.

This need not mean desecration, however. Howie's hills have a sort of parceled pride.

A Unique 'Industry'

Next week hundreds of thousands of suburban youngsters will return to the classroom. They will be greeted by thousands of teachers in several hundred schools. When one considers the numbers involved, one realizes that education is suburbia's number one industry. Education employs more people and expends more money than any other area undertaking.

While few residents pause to reflect upon the magnitude of the educational process, few fail to realize its importance. Parents think in terms of their offspring, teachers consider the needs of their classes, and administrators must govern schools or entire districts. But through it all, a generation is being educated, a generation which will cope with problems which we have failed to solve.

This educational process, this industry, must provide individuals with a background of learning which will spark new ideas and new approaches. The classrooms must be sales offices in which the client becomes eager to buy if the world is to become a satisfied customer.

The return to school is a nostalgic event. It recalls some 12 or 16 returns to school, some eight or nine great teachers, and hundreds of faces that belonged to the school days era of our lives. Our schools were different, our enrollments smaller, our subject matter less varied, but one factor hasn't changed. The industry still relies upon the teacher-student relationship.

This exchange between the instructor and the learner is still the most important part of the process, and regardless of the growth of numbers, schools will still have to rely on individuals working with individuals. Safe from machines, teachers need fear only the sort of automation which comes from reading the same subject matter every year or treating the boy in the first row as if he were last year's first row boy.

Education is a peculiar industry with goals and by-products, with successes and shortcomings. Its dividends are not punishable and no year-end report offers criteria for sound evaluation. But each year we go back, as the hundreds of thousands of youngsters will do next week. Few industries demand such faith, and fewer deserve it.

Clean Air Crusaders

A recent complaint about dust conditions arising from grading for the rerouting of Route 53 brought to our attention a new government agency, the Cook County Air Pollution Bureau. This agency, in existence since April, is dedicated to keeping the air pure.

While the agency is not yet fully equipped, it has already begun campaigns against open burning in dumps and has provided a model ordinance which has been adopted by several Cook County communities. The bureau is investigating several complaints against concrete batching plants and is cooperating with air pollution authorities in Chicago and at the state and federal level.

Whether the problem is simply the watering down of road beds or the technical analysis of industrial smoke, the Cook County Air Pollution Bureau is a giant step towards solution. We applaud the new agency and hope to proclaim its praises with breaths of clean air.

Issues Report For Labor Day

by OTTO KERNER
Governor

Labor Day, 1963 should be a joyous occasion for most Illinoisans.

More persons are working in our state than ever before, at higher wages. Our unemployment rate is consistently below the national average and the rates in other industrial states. The evidence shows Illinois is moving strongly and steadily toward new heights of economic development and opportunity.

IN EACH of the last 12 months, all-time records have been set for employment in that particular month. Disregarding such variables as seasonal and agricultural jobs, the number of persons employed during July — the last month for which figures are available — was 3,616,400, an all-time record.

The average weekly earnings of production workers in Illinois manufacturing plants for the same month was $108.89, down one cent an hour from the record average of the month before. One example of how our state compares in this field: the average weekly earnings of manufacturing workers in Illinois exceeded $100 as early as May 1951, while the average for the United States exceeded $100 for the first time this June.

Marked improvements have been made in less heralded, but equally important areas. For instance, we have stepped up the number and quality of safety inspections to ensure compliance with health and safety rules. The result has been that the labor injury rate has dropped to an all-time low — 14.8 injuries reported per 1,000 workers.

THIS IS NO time, of course, to rest on our oars. While substantially under the average and below previous years, our state has some 190,000 persons unemployed.

We are redoubling our efforts to whittle down the unemployment rolls, through such cooperative programs as the Manpower Development and Training Act, which has already led to 9,000 persons being equipped with skills that are and will remain in demand.

If we continue to build upon this and other programs initiated in the past few years and persevere in enlarging our cooperative efforts involving business, industry, labor, local communities and the state government, the economic future of our state is bright.

Prospect Suspects He's...

Unworthy Customer

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

I don't know if I will buy a Rolls-Royce after all.

I was willing to. They had me convinced. But then, at the end of their advertising appeal, they wrote something that has me puzzled.

The ad began: "No one would contend that $17,000 is a small amount to pay for a motor car."

I agreed with that statement 100 per cent.

Then they told how the Rolls-Royce was "a seriously intended machine" and I agreed with that, too. No one would pay $17,000 for an automobile just to get laughs, especially when he can listen to Soupy Sales for nothing.

CUMMINS

It was good to know that the instrument dials on the Rolls-Royce are readable and that the brakes will stop the car in time even if it is going 100 miles per hour.

Also, one is grateful to the eight nice-smelling animals (species unspecified) who gave their lives so that their hides might upholster the car's interior with a "delicious odor of luxury."

The ad said: "Luxurious, yes — but extravagant, no. This is how the experienced Rolls-Royce owner comes to feel about his motor car. Far from being a frivolity it is often his proudest, his noblest possession." How true that is!

BUT NOW we come to the part that puzzled me: "For according to Royce's motto in the entrance hall of the plant at Crewe, QUIDVIS RECTE FACTUM QUAMVIS HUMILE PRAECLARUM."

Miss Butler, my Latin teacher of revered memory, would be ashamed of me if she knew that I looked for the little asterisk at the end of that sentence indicating that a translation would be provided after another asterisk at the bottom of the page.

There were no asterisks.

Then the enormous truth hit me. Rolls-Royce owners are expected to be able to read Latin. I was in grave danger of being proved unworthy of ownership.

WHAT DOES IT mean? QUIDVIS RECTE FACTUM QUAMVIS HUMILE PRAECLARUM. I am working on it daily.

"FACTUM" seems easiest. It probably has something to do with "fact." Also, I think "HUMILE" will fall into place. It probably refers to the humility that is expected in the Rolls-Royce family.

"QUIDVIS" and "QUAMVIS" very likely go together in some way. They seem to be pronouns, although rather odd ones. It would appear that they have some relationship to the word "kumquat." Quidvis kumquat quamvis. This is really tough going.

I AM TRYING everything. I thought that this motto might be well known in automotive circles so I asked various gas station and car wash employes the meaning of "Quidvis recte factum quamvis humile praeclarum."

I received a wide variety of answers, none of which gave the meaning and few of which were printable.

One fellow gave a translation that was in such shockingly bad taste that I am sure he made it up.

A MAN AT the car wash said Parnelli Jones might know. But I haven't been able to locate Mr. Jones.

If I can't crack this thing soon, I may have to settle for a Cadillac.

Keynoter, 18, Cautions Youth To Hold for 'Higher Vision'

CHAMPAIGN, (UPI) — An 18-year-old keynote speaker last week told 3,500 delegates to the National Order of the Arrow conference that the youth of today must be honest in failure and humble in success.

Frank Bush Jr., of Palo Alto, Calif., said "To some, the 'higher vision' means getting money; to others peace at all costs; to others it is their name in lights, success, prestige, or becoming chairman of the board.

"To me the 'higher vision' that a man can grasp is himself."

BUSH, WHO was chairman of the National Explorer Delegate Conference held last year in Ann Arbor, Mich., spoke on the theme of the conference here, "Catch the Higher Vision." The Order of the Arrow is an honor camping order of the Boy Scouts of America.

"Self reliance is one of the most important attributes," he said. "This quality is the very heart of freedom, a man's right to choose his own destiny. We must become honest in failure, humble in success."

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner also addressed the conference in the Asembly Hall on the University of Illinois campus.

Critic's Corner

Hail to the Basement!

by HESTER KLINE
News Editor, Rolling Meadows Herald

"You have to have a basement — some place the kids can come back to and look at the keepsakes and stuff they didn't want to take with them," said a friend the other night, as the conversation turned to retirement homes.

KLINE

He recalled his mother's big house on a tree shaded street in a little Kansas town. The attic was full of memorabilia and summer-time visits were never complete without a trip up the old stairway to browse through the oddments that brought to mind so many happy times of yesteryear.

The cubic foot cost of today's homes has made us a generation of throw-awayers. We just can't afford room to save those first grade drawings, the laboriously hand-made gifts of childhood, much-loved but outgrown toys, sports equipment, playbills and dance programs recalling enjoyable evenings, the graduation dress ("What am I going to do with it?" one recent bride wailed as she surveyed the billowing white cloud that is her wedding dress), the Tom Swift books.

An inveterate saver myself, our friend struck a responsive chord. There should be some way to preserve a touch of childhood for our children to come back to. They are going out into an even more disturbed world than did our generation. They will find an even greater need to occasionally recall the serenity of their youth.

Most of us lived in the same home throughout our childhood. Perhaps it was a city apartment where there wasn't much room to accumulate keepsakes, but the furniture, the walls, the neighborhood were dearly familiar. Contrast that life with today's mobile population. Some youngsters attend a different school nearly every year.

Even if a family stays in the same community, there are apt to be changes as highways sweep through, new housing developments spring up, industry moves in. A town soon loses its old character. And in this age of planned obsolescence there's hardly time to get acquainted with the furniture before it needs replacing.

So more than ever before, we need to save things to link today with yesterday, to give our children a sense of having a place to come home to, some roots in their immediate past so they won't feel cut adrift.

Our children are quick to tell us that they inherited all the bad things in the world today from us and our forebears. Henry Ford invested millions of dollars in preserving the best of the past for coming generations to view and learn that the good things of today, too, are built on yesterday.

So here's a salute to the basement — let's include in our plans a little space where we can preserve a bit of the past.

But each year we go back, as the hundreds of thousands of youngsters will do next week. Few industries demand such faith, and fewer deserve it.

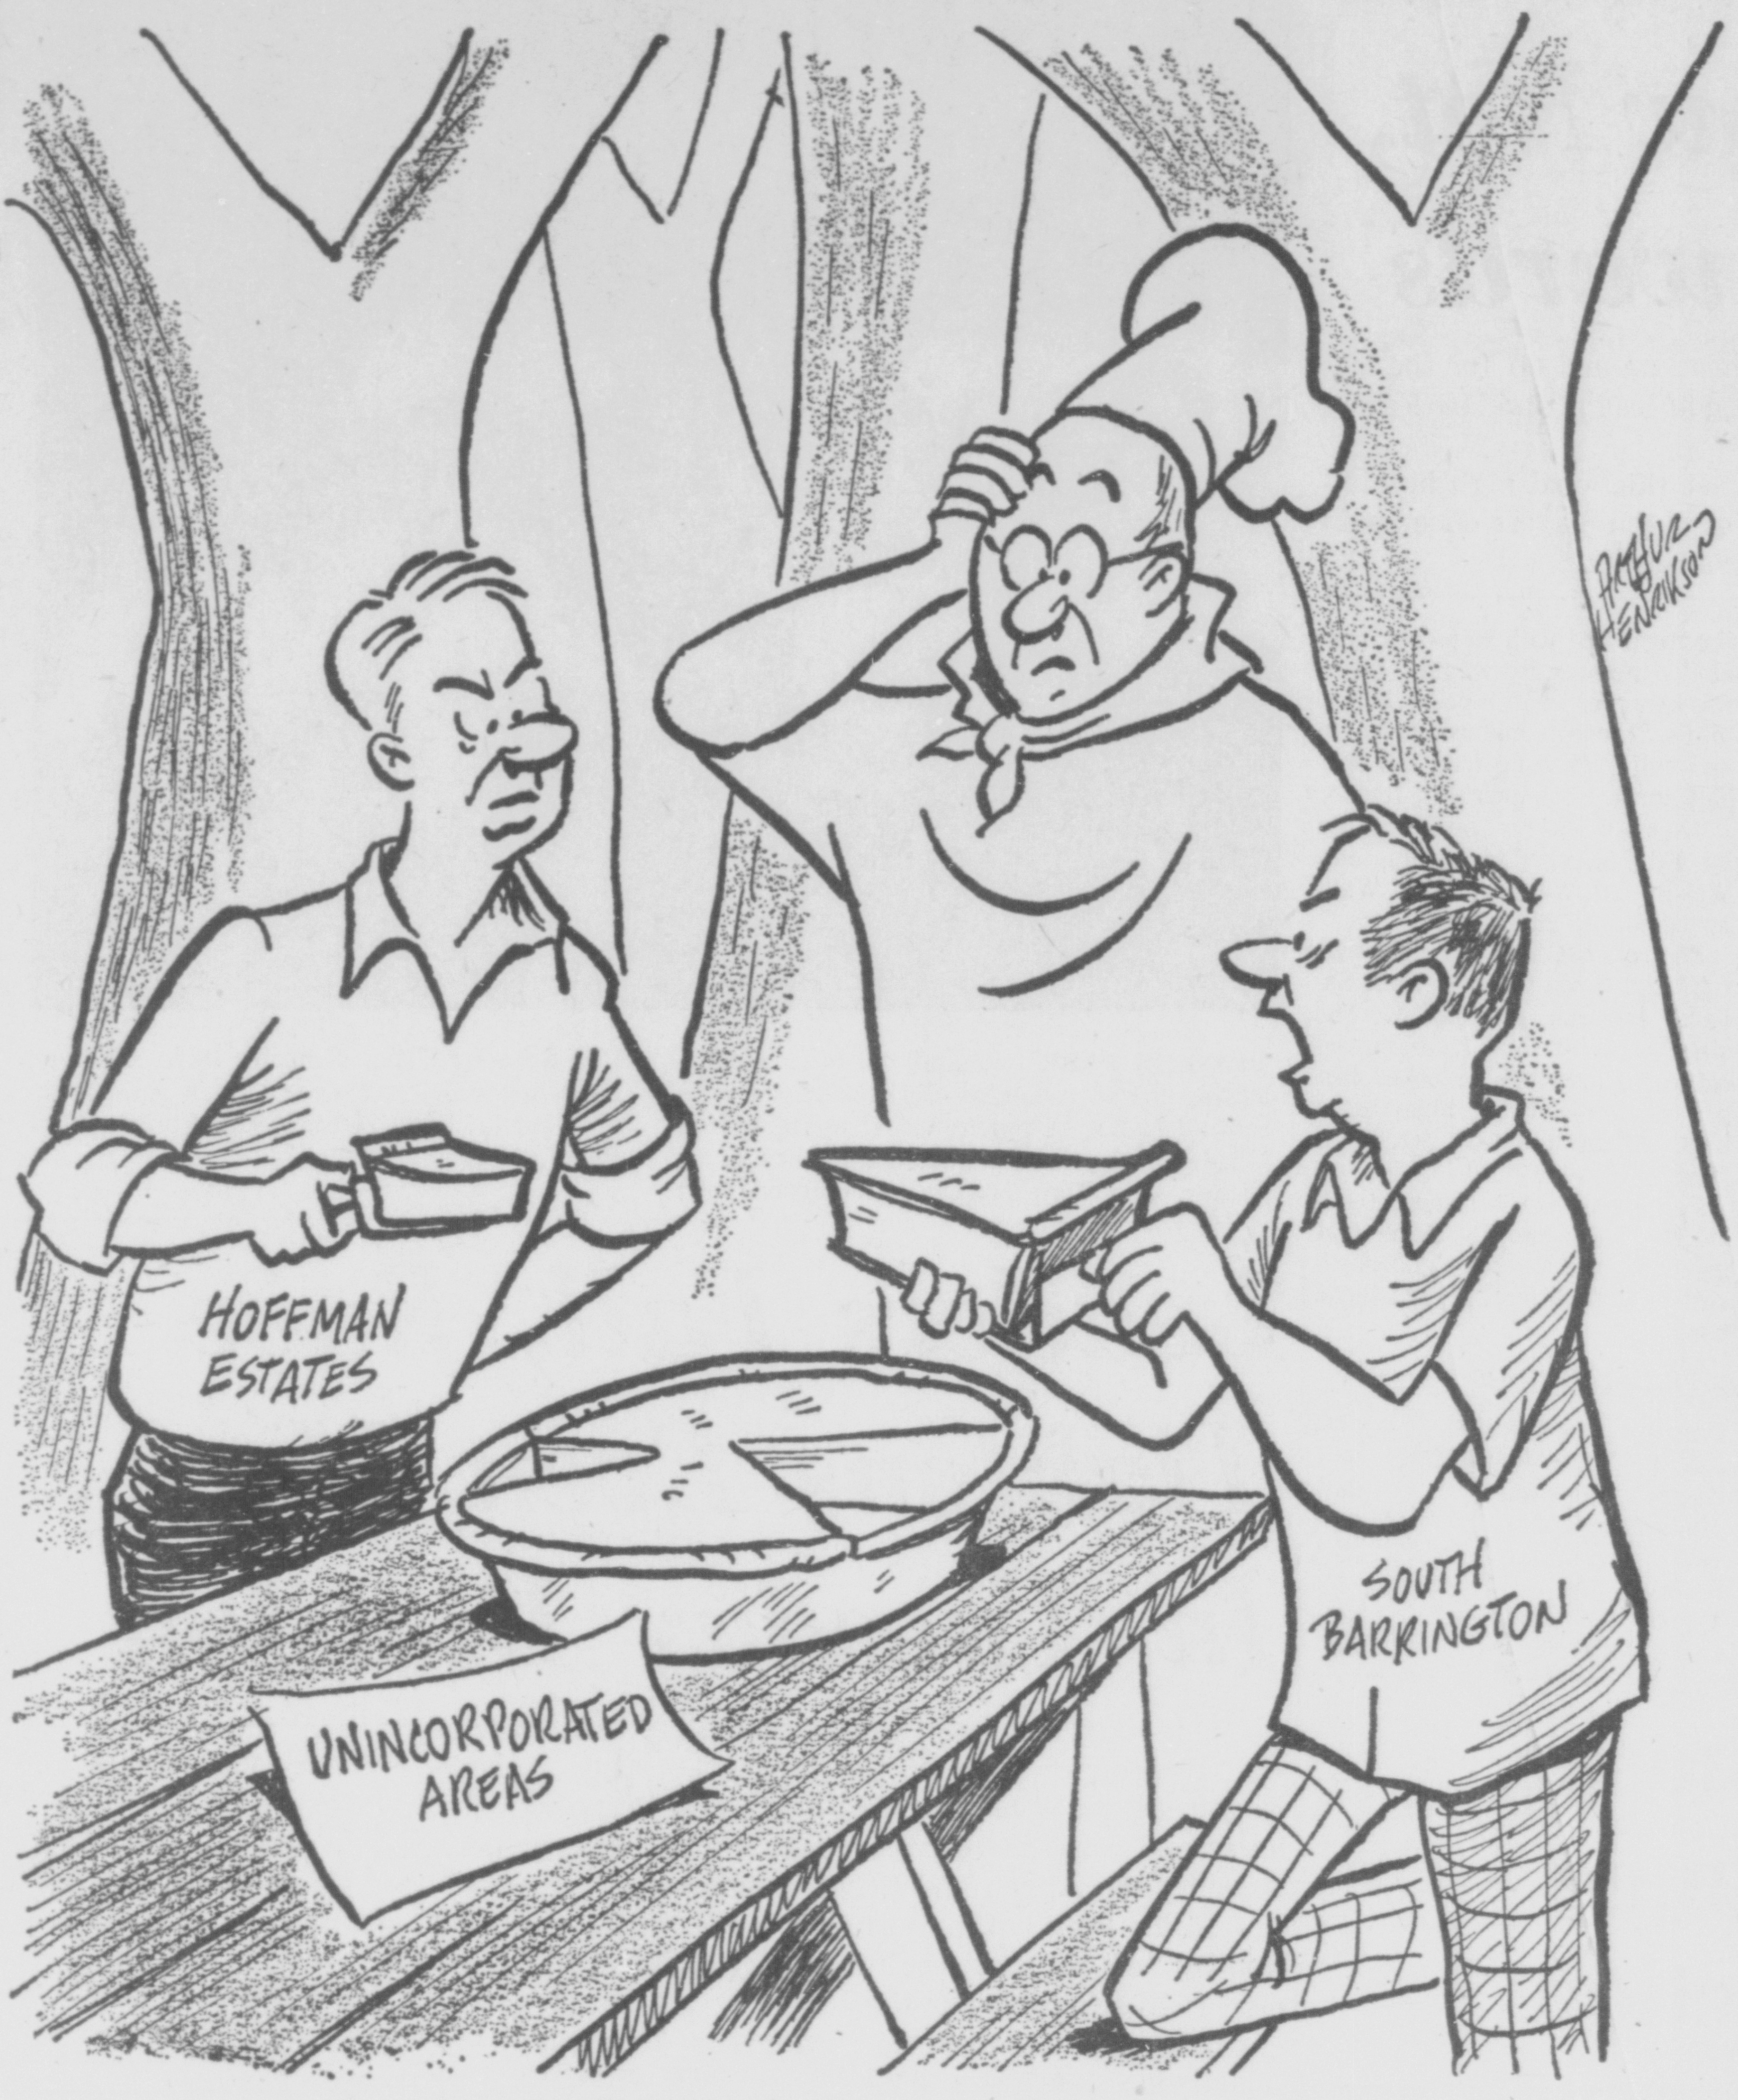
Clean Air Crusaders

A recent complaint about dust conditions arising from grading for the rerouting of Route 53 brought to our attention a new government agency, the Cook County Air Pollution Bureau. This agency, in existence since April, is dedicated to keeping the air pure.

While the agency is not yet fully equipped, it has already begun campaigns against open burning in dumps and has provided a model ordinance which has been adopted by several Cook County communities. The bureau is investigating several complaints against concrete batching plants and is cooperating with air pollution authorities in Chicago and at the state and federal level.

Whether the problem is simply the watering down of road beds or the technical analysis of industrial smoke, the Cook County Air Pollution Bureau is a giant step towards solution. We applaud the new agency and hope to proclaim its praises with breaths of clean air.

No–My Size Is the Best Size



Prospect Suspects He's...

Unworthy Customer

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

I don't know if I will buy a Rolls-Royce after all.

I was willing to. They had me convinced. But then, at the end of their advertising appeal, they wrote something that has me puzzled.

The ad began: "No one would contend that $17,000 is a small amount to pay for a motor car."

I agreed with that statement 100 per cent.

Then they told how the Rolls-Royce was "a seriously intended machine" and I agreed with that, too. No one would pay $17,000 for an automobile just to get laughs, especially when he can listen to Soupy Sales for nothing.

CUMMINS

It was good to know that the instrument dials on the Rolls-Royce are readable and that the brakes will stop the car in time even if it is going 100 miles per hour.

Also, one is grateful to the eight nice-smelling animals (species unspecified) who gave their lives so that their hides might upholster the car's interior with a "delicious odor of luxury."

The ad said: "Luxurious, yes — but extravagant, no. This is how the experienced Rolls-Royce owner comes to feel about his motor car. Far from being a frivolity it is often his proudest, his noblest possession." How true that is!

BUT NOW we come to the part that puzzled me: "For according to Royce's motto in the entrance hall of the plant at Crewe, QUIDVIS RECTE FACTUM QUAMVIS HUMILE PRAECLARUM."

Miss Butler, my Latin teacher of revered memory, would be ashamed of me if she knew that I looked for the little asterisk at the end of that sentence indicating that a translation would be provided after another asterisk at the bottom of the page.

There were no asterisks.

Then the enormous truth hit me. Rolls-Royce owners are expected to be able to read Latin. I was in grave danger of being proved unworthy of ownership.

WHAT DOES IT mean? QUIDVIS RECTE FACTUM QUAMVIS HUMILE PRAECLARUM. I am working on it daily.

"FACTUM" seems easiest. It probably has something to do with "fact." Also, I think "HUMILE" will fall into place. It probably refers to the humility that is expected in the Rolls-Royce family.

"QUIDVIS" and "QUAMVIS" very likely go together in some way. They seem to be pronouns, although rather odd ones. It would appear that they have some relationship to the word "kumquat." Quidvis kumquat quamvis. This is really tough going.

I AM TRYING everything. I thought that this motto might be well known in automotive circles so I asked various gas station and car wash employes the meaning of "Quidvis recte factum quamvis humile praeclarum."

I received a wide variety of answers, none of which gave the meaning and few of which were printable.

One fellow gave a translation that was in such shockingly bad taste that I am sure he made it up.

A MAN AT the car wash said Parnelli Jones might know. But I haven't been able to locate Mr. Jones.

If I can't crack this thing soon, I may have to settle for a Cadillac.

Keynoter, 18, Cautions Youth To Hold for 'Higher Vision'

CHAMPAIGN, (UPI) — An 18-year-old keynote speaker last week told 3,500 delegates to the National Order of the Arrow conference that the youth of today must be honest in failure and humble in success.

Frank Bush Jr., of Palo Alto, Calif., said "To some, the 'higher vision' means getting money; to others peace at all costs; to others it is their name in lights, success, prestige, or becoming chairman of the board.

"To me the 'higher vision' that a man can grasp is himself."

BUSH, WHO was chairman of the National Explorer Delegate Conference held last year in Ann Arbor, Mich., spoke on the theme of the conference here, "Catch the Higher Vision." The Order of the Arrow is an honor camping order of the Boy Scouts of America.

"Self reliance is one of the most important attributes," he said. "This quality is the very heart of freedom, a man's right to choose his own destiny. We must become honest in failure, humble in success."

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner also addressed the conference in the Asembly Hall on the University of Illinois campus.

Critic's Corner

Hail to the Basement!

by HESTER KLINE
News Editor, Rolling Meadows Herald

"You have to have a basement — some place the kids can come back to and look at the keepsakes and stuff they didn't want to take with them," said a friend the other night, as the conversation turned to retirement homes.

KLINE

He recalled his mother's big house on a tree shaded street in a little Kansas town. The attic was full of memorabilia and summer-time visits were never complete without a trip up the old stairway to browse through the oddments that brought to mind so many happy times of yesteryear.

The cubic foot cost of today's homes has made us a generation of throw-awayers. We just can't afford room to save those first grade drawings, the laboriously hand-made gifts of childhood, much-loved but outgrown toys, sports equipment, playbills and dance programs recalling enjoyable evenings, the graduation dress ("What am I going to do with it?" one recent bride wailed as she surveyed the billowing white cloud that is her wedding dress), the Tom Swift books.

An inveterate saver myself, our friend struck a responsive chord. There should be some way to preserve a touch of childhood for our children to come back to. They are going out into an even more disturbed world than did our generation. They will find an even greater need to occasionally recall the serenity of their youth.

Most of us lived in the same home throughout our childhood. Perhaps it was a city apartment where there wasn't much room to accumulate keepsakes, but the furniture, the walls, the neighborhood were dearly familiar. Contrast that life with today's mobile population. Some youngsters attend a different school nearly every year.

Even if a family stays in the same community, there are apt to be changes as highways sweep through, new housing developments spring up, industry moves in. A town soon loses its old character. And in this age of planned obsolescence there's hardly time to get acquainted with the furniture before it needs replacing.

So more than ever before, we need to save things to link today with yesterday, to give our children a sense of having a place to come home to, some roots in their immediate past so they won't feel cut adrift.

Our children are quick to tell us that they inherited all the bad things in the world today from us and our forebears. Henry Ford invested millions of dollars in preserving the best of the past for coming generations to view and learn that the good things of today, too, are built on yesterday.

So here's a salute to the basement — let's include in our plans a little space where we can preserve a bit of the past.

Kerner Praises Economy

Issues Report For Labor Day

by OTTO KERNER
Governor

Labor Day, 1963 should be a joyous occasion for most Illinoisans.

More persons are working in our state than ever before, at higher wages. Our unemployment rate is consistently below the national average and the rates in other industrial states. The evidence shows Illinois is moving strongly and steadily toward new heights of economic development and opportunity.

IN EACH of the last 12 months, all-time records have been set for employment in that particular month. Disregarding such variables as seasonal and agricultural jobs, the number of persons employed during July — the last month for which figures are available — was 3,616,400, an all-time record.

The average weekly earnings of production workers in Illinois manufacturing plants for the same month was $108.89, down one cent an hour from the record average of the month before. One example of how our state compares in this field: the average weekly earnings of manufacturing workers in Illinois exceeded $100 as early as May 1951, while the average for the United States exceeded $100 for the first time this June.

Marked improvements have been made in less heralded, but equally important areas. For instance, we have stepped up the number and quality of safety inspections to ensure compliance with health and safety rules. The result has been that the labor injury rate has dropped to an all-time low — 14.8 injuries reported per 1,000 workers.

THIS IS NO time, of course, to rest on our oars. While substantially under the average and below previous years, our state has some 190,000 persons unemployed.

We are redoubling our efforts to whittle down the unemployment rolls, through such cooperative programs as the Manpower Development and Training Act, which has already led to 9,000 persons being equipped with skills that are and will remain in demand.

If we continue to build upon this and other programs initiated in the past few years and persevere in enlarging our cooperative efforts involving business, industry, labor, local communities and the state government, the economic future of our state is bright.

SALE—our first at
THE KNITTERS NOOK

Odds & ends of several things —Closeout on some yarns.

EXAMPLES
Closeout of Bernat Ashrakhan yarn.
Closeout of a few handwoven & hand loomed skirt lengths—matching yarn is available for some of them.
Closeout of our Notepaper & Wrapping paper.

To accomplish this we do need time—so we are closing the day after Labor Day—Tuesday—as well as our regular closing on Wednesday. The Sale will start THURSDAY, September 5th. See you then.

"How can a Seventh Son of a Seventh Son be a loser?"

A Day at the Races

Photographed by Larry H. Cameron

Win?

"Well, Martha, there's always bridge."

On a damp and chilly October afternoon in 1927, Arlington Park ran its first race before 10,000 fans wrapped in motor robes and furs. By present day standards it was a modest inaugural; today the luxurious $9 million park—headquarters for America's finest summer thoroughbred racing—provides every convenience for patron comfort.

Located at Northwest Highway and Wilke Road in Arlington Heights, the park attracts some 17,000 fans a day—26,000 to 30,000 on Saturday, as many as 34,000 on July 4 and Labor Day.

During the 1962 season, a total of 1,200,000 people visited the track. They wagered $101,134,199 and won nearly $86,000,000. More than a million dollars went to the state treasury, and horsemen shared in the awards with a record distribution of $3,600,000 in stakes and purses.

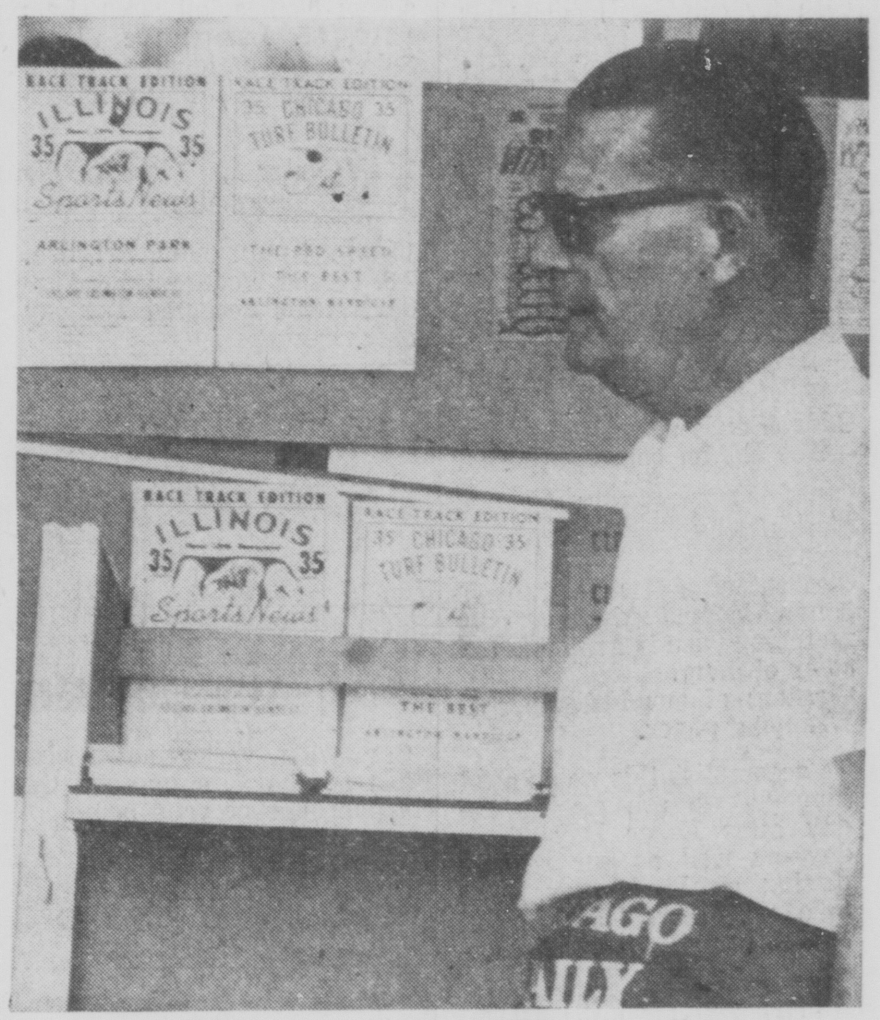
Much has changed since that opening day 36 years ago. But one thing remains the same—the diversity, devotion, and dedication of the fan.

There's a democracy to the grandstand which knows no restrictions in age, sex, or social status. Racing appeals to all kinds, types, sizes and shapes—and they'll be out in force next week for Arlington's spectacular climax to 73 days of racing—the $350,000 Arlington-Washington Park Futurity, the world's richest horse race.

Larry H. Cameron, chief photographer for Paddock Publications, recently spent an afternoon at the park to capture in these candid photos some of the color, fervor, and excitement which characterize racing enthusiasts.

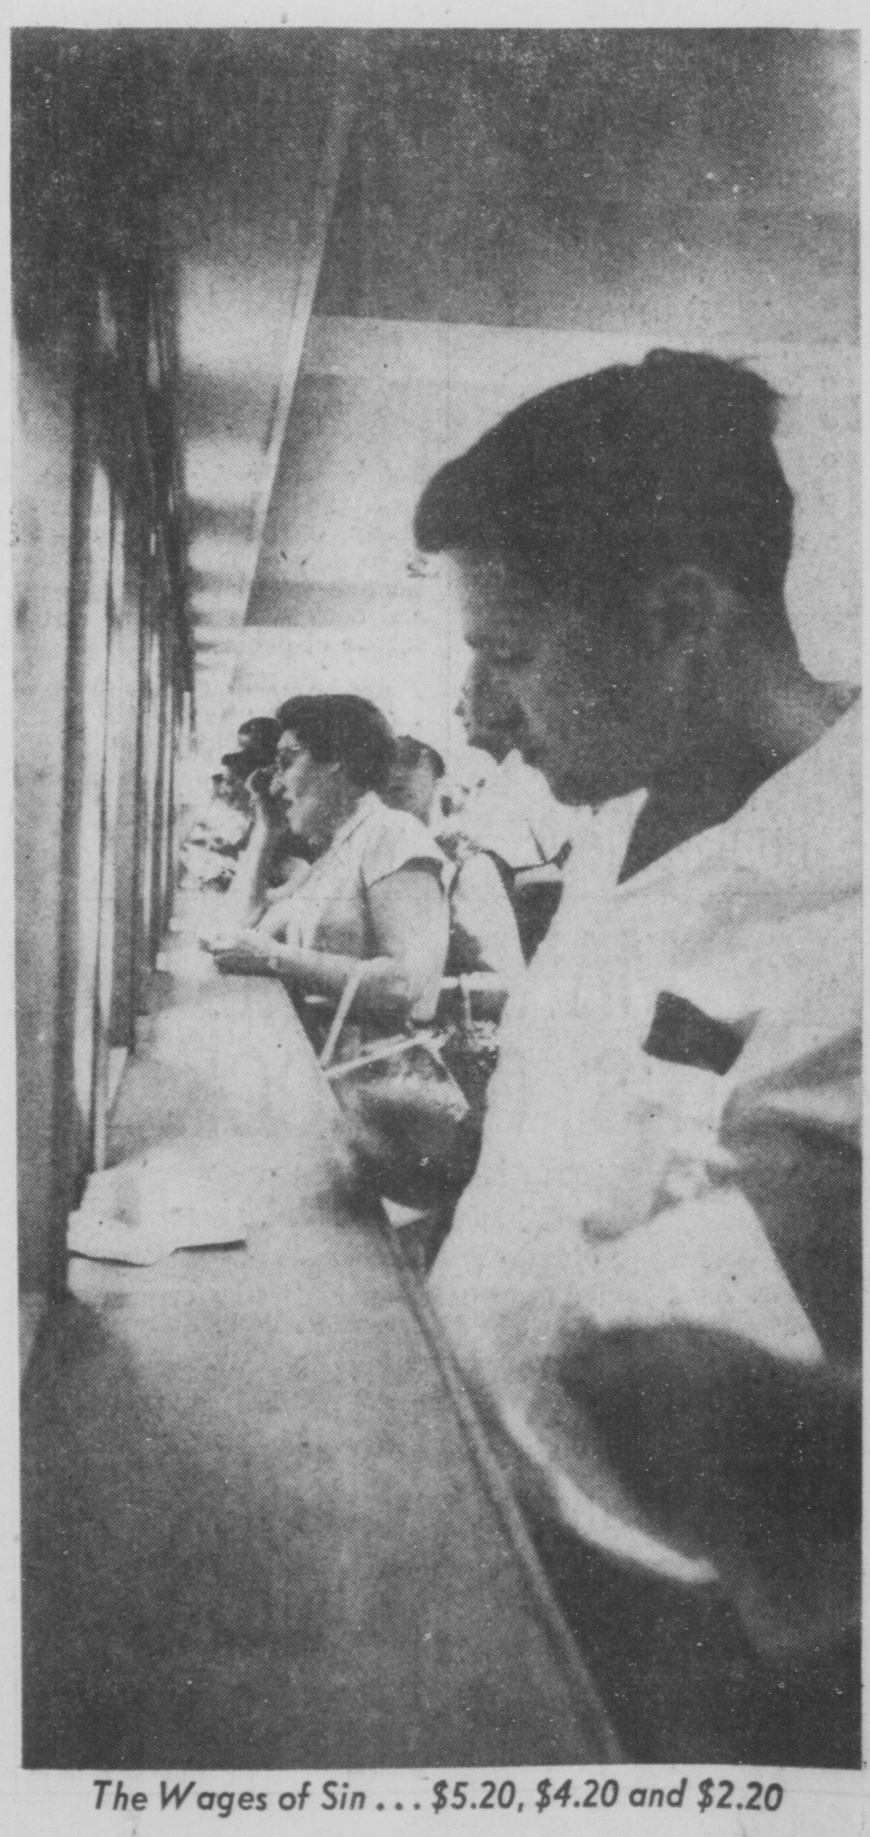
THURS., AUG. 29, 1963

"There oughta be a law against horses like that."

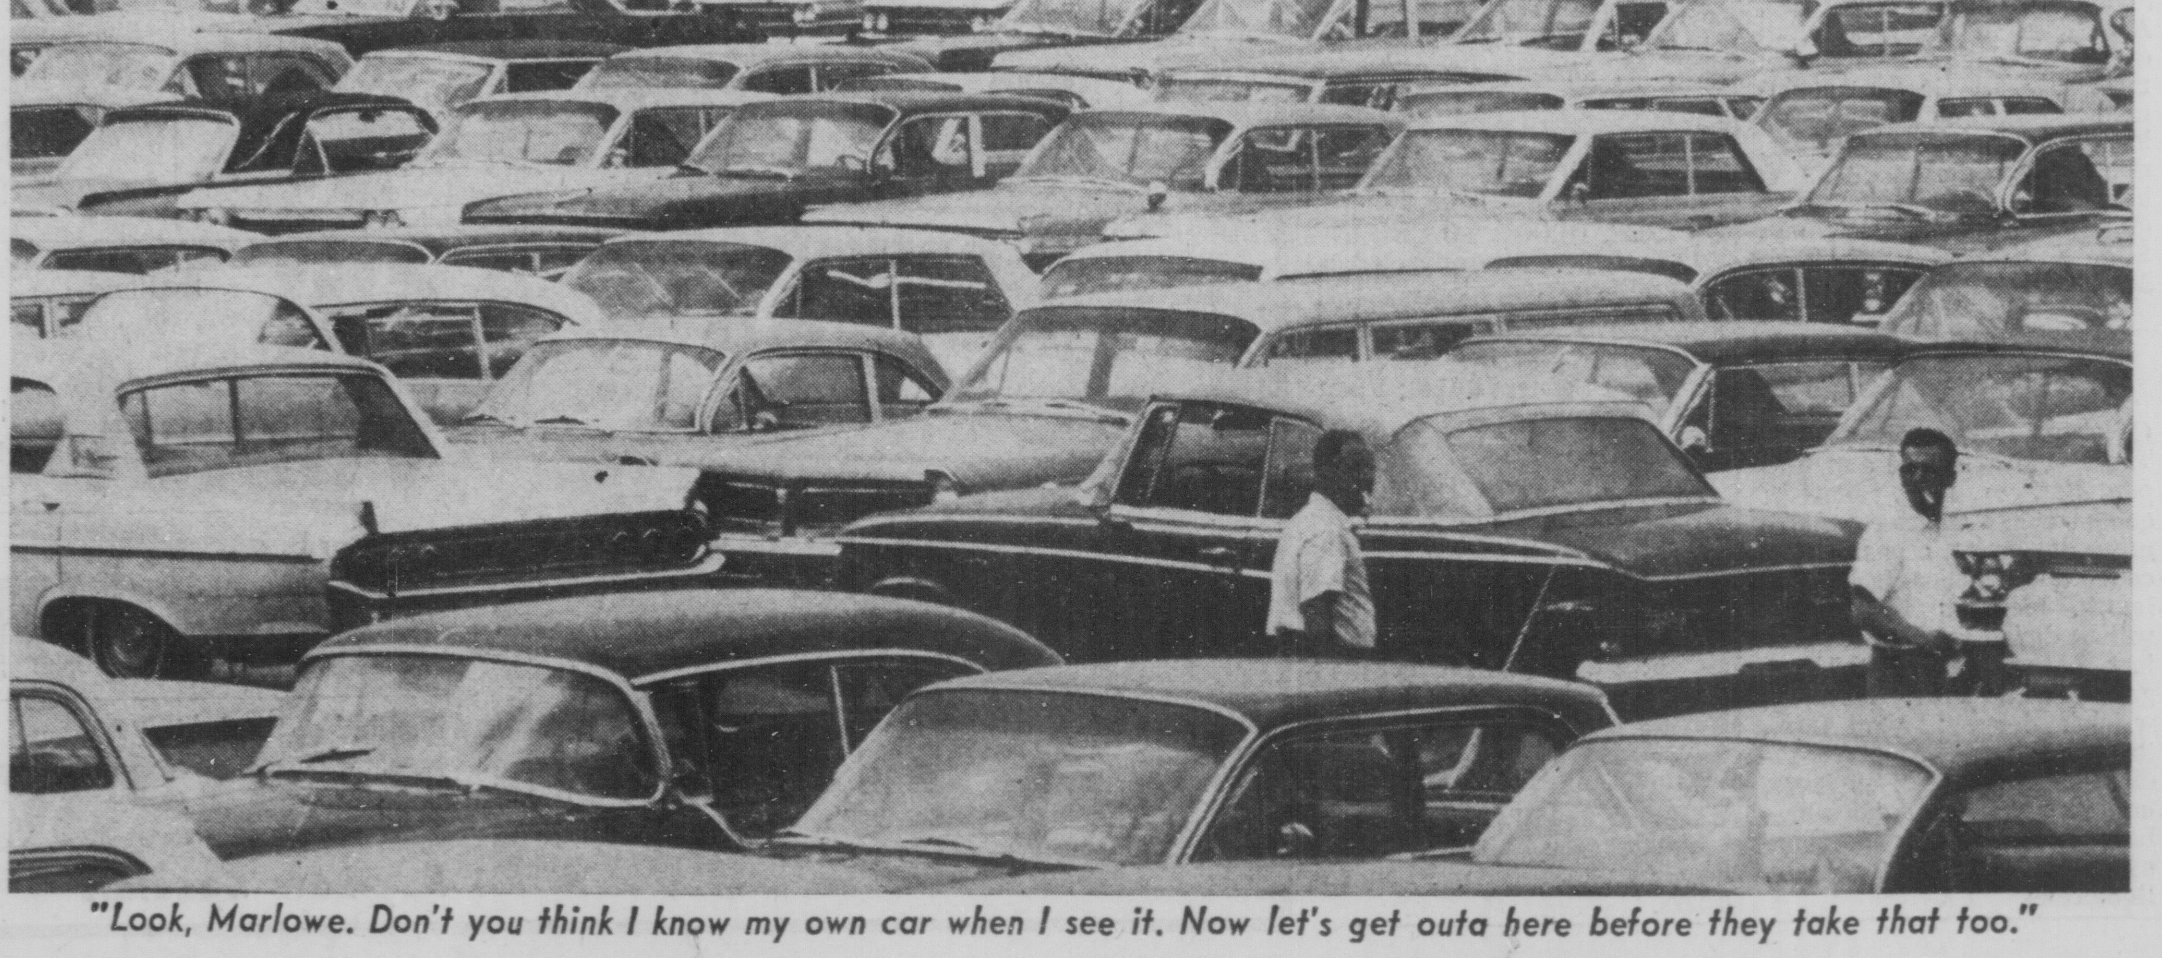


"Psssst — Buddy, got a horse."

Place?



The Wages of Sin . . . $5.20, $4.20 and $2.20



"Look, Marlowe. Don't you think I know my own car when I see it. Now let's get outa here before they take that too."
